around muleshoe

Spirit Wind '90 will be performing at the First United Methodist Church today, Sunday, June 10, at 5 p.m.

Singing with the choir for the second year will be Amy Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyce Turner and Courtney Graves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Graves.

Everyone is invited to come out and share in this inspirational music, said a spokesperson for the First United Methodist Church.

The Jennyslippers will meet at noon on Tuesday, June 12, at the Depot.

You are encouraged to become a member of this very active women's civic organization.

Muleshoe's Mayor, Darrell Turner, signed a proclamation declaring Wednesday, July 4, 1990, as Lee Horsley Day in Muleshoe.

Horsley will be in Muleshoe for the Mule Plex Production Co., Inc.'s Family Fun Nights on July 2-3 and for the July 4th Independence Day Celebration.

He and his family will ride in the July 4th parade at 10 a.m. on July 4th and will hold an autograph session following the MAC drawing on Main Street at 2 p.m. on that day.

Local Youths In PGA Golf

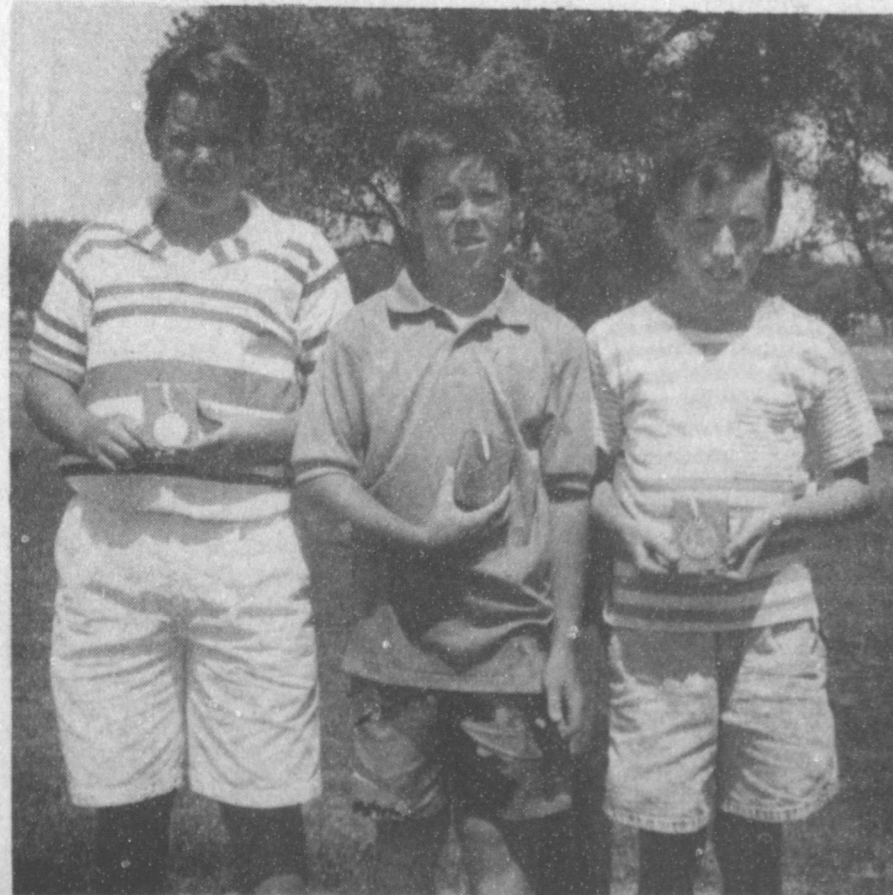

The first round of summer golf on the Junior PGA Tour was played in Muleshoe Tuesday, with out of town players taking most of the top places.

In the 10-11 year old division, first was Corey Driskill of Lubbock; second place winner was Kyle Embry of Muleshoe and in third place was Stefan Sutton, also of Muleshoe.

In the 12-13 year old division, first place winner was Collin Coe, Plainview; Derrick Pursley, Andrews, second and Don Galvey, Andrews, was third.

Dustin Bishop, Lubbock, was first place winner in the 14-15 year old division; Rick Hicks, Brownfield, was second and Mitchel McCaleb, Brownfield, was third.

For the 16-17 year olds, Richard Davila, Lubbock, was first; Ross Rushing, Lubbock, was second and Volney Corn, Lawton, Okla., was third.

STORM AFTERMATH IN SUDAN AREA--An unconfirmed tornado and a hailstorm damaged several homes and farms last week in the Sudan area, including this home, five miles southeast of Sudan. The home is the Jan and Shirley Fisher home. Powerlines were cut down by a possible tornado. Nineteen poles were down. Several crops were reported to be hauled out along FM37. Some crops were under water and other fields were left with stalks. At the John W. Humphreys home, several windows were knocked out by hail, along with hail damage to some tractors. Several trees were also uprooted. (Photo Courtesy of Ann Gaston)

ASC Final Certification Date; Measuring Service Highlighted

The following information has been released by Danny Noble, CEO of the Bailey County ASCS office:

FINAL CERTIFICATION DATE

The final date to certify or request for aerial measurement service on all spring seeded crops, conservation use acreage (CU), and ACR, is July 16, 1990. A complete acreage report must be filed including all program crops, sunflowers, soybeans, alfalfa, vegetables, etc. by this deadline.

An accurate certification is very important so don't guess. The reported acreage cannot differ from the measured acreage by more than the larger of 1.0 acre or five percent of the farm could be ineligible for program benefits.

MEASURING SERVICE

Remember!! As soon as we get your farm measured, you will be notified of the measured acreage and you only have five workdays in which to adjust (if any) and certify your acres in this office. Please notify this office if you have to adjust prior to destroying any crop.

Bailey County is required to perform all 'measurement service requests by no later than August 30, 1990. These requests will be performed on a first-come-first-serve basis as time permits. Producers are encouraged to request this service by June 22, 1990. Failure to file this request may result in requests not being performed and producers are being required to file an acreage report on their own. Your cooperation in this matter will be appreciated.

FAILED ACRES

Any program crop that has failed due to drought, excessive moisture, hail, or for any reason beyond the producers' control, must be certified and an ASCS-574 (Disaster Application) filed before the crop is disturbed.

Producers who have crop insurance must certify the total crop acres and turn it in to your insurance agent for appraisal. Producers who do not have FCIC must certify the total crop acres and we (ASCs) must appraise and measure the total acres that failed and that will be left standing.

TEAMS Testing Slated In July For Students

In accordance with provisions allowed by Section 101.1, paragraph (b) of the Texas Administrative Code, the following administration dates for the out-of-school exit level assessment to be conducted by the education service centers have been designated, according to Linda Marr, high school counselor in Muleshoe.

The English language arts and mathematics subject area TEAMS exit level tests will be administered in Muleshoe on July 17 and 18, respectively, she said.

Mrs. Marr commented, "This July administration is limited to individuals who have completed all requirements for graduation or will do so by August 31, 1990, but have not passed one or both sections of the TEAMS exit level test.

"Students enrolled in summer school classes or tutorials who plan to complete graduation requirements by August 31, 1990, also will be eligible to register for this administration," she added.

Friday, June 22 is the registration deadline with the English Language Arts Test administration on Tuesday, July 17 and the Mathematics Test administration on Wednesday, July 18.

Any questions concerning the 1990 July out-of-school exit level TEAMS test should be directed to Linda Marr, high school counselor, telephone 272-3080.

Muleshoe Heritage Foundation will sponsor an 'Old Fashioned Box Supper/Auction' on Friday, June 15, in the Bailey County Coliseum arena.

Doors will open at 5:30 p.m. and the auction will begin at 6 p.m. Each box supper will contain a complete meal for two or more people and will be sold to the highest bidder, according to Heritage Foundation officers.

R. L. Scott and Sons will be the auctioneers for all items. Bidding will continue until all boxes have been sold.

Heritage Foundation volunteers are working to make this an enjoyable and entertaining event. They say the coliseum will be decorated with a beach and boardwalk theme.

Everyone in the community and surrounding area is invited to bring their beach towels or blankets for a picnic on the beach and join in the fun. Ice cream and balloons will be sold to add to the festive atmosphere of sun and sand.

In conjunction with the Box Supper Auction, there will be both a 'Silent Auction' and a 'Service Auction.'

Items in the Silent Auction include: an Arlene Phelps painting; a silk flower arrangement from Something Special; a Mule Train Watercolor by Cliff Black; a framed needle point by Anette Bonds; a hand painted silk scarf by Rheata White and a Dhurrie Rug from Country Junction.

Also, a Mr. or Mrs. Frosty Christmas yard ornament by Cathy Embry; an enamel by Marie Lenau; a native grass arrangement by Ann Mount; and a box of beef from the Cage Ranch.

Items in the 'Service Auction' will include: Four cake decorating lessons from Ann Johnson; Bed and Breakfast from Joan and Charles Lewis; a swim party from Rhonda Myers; an interior or exterior Christmas light labor from Dale Hughes; a wardrobe analysis from Marilyn Young; an anniversary dinner for two from Dana Heathington; and a family sitting portrait from Lonnie Adrian.

And, a pair of custom earrings from Hellen Adrian; a one time yard maintenance from Danny May; five free gift wraps from Dawn Williams; a fajita dinner by Bruce Barrett; two yard mowings from Gonzalo Lozano; six car washes from Robert Hooten; a hair perm from Pat Young; an EKG from Terry Hutto; and a special occasion cake from Carol Cox (not decorated).

The Muleshoe Heritage Foundation is currently making plans to have the Janes Ranch House open for tours on the July 4 weekend so everyone can see firsthand the progress being made on restoration of the house. All proceeds from the Box Supper Auction will be used to help finish this and for other projects at the Heritage Center.

Heritage Foundation officers said this will be a full night of family entertainment in Muleshoe with both the Box Supper Auction and the Country Car-

Muleshoe Schools Set For 'Extra' Funding

This week, Governor Bill Clements finally approved and signed a new school bill, as mandated by a federal court.

It took the sixth Special Session of the Legislature for the compromise bill to be approved.

For Muleshoe, Dr. Tom Alvis, assistant superintendent for business, said Muleshoe will get a little more money with the new bill, but cautioned that it is "designated money" which will have to be spent in "certain ways."

He said he had no figures at this time as to how much Muleshoe will receive from the new funding, as it will be based on the tax rate and some other factors.

"We can't speak about a tax increase until we see where the designated money will be spent," he said. "However, at this time, we really don't anticipate a tax increase."

A partial breakdown of the approved bill follows:

Article I. Finance

Senate Bill I is a $528 million, two-tiered, five-year phase-in school finance plan.

ADA. It determined by the daily attendance as averaged each month of the minimum school year. Next year ADA shall not be less than 98 percent of the number of students that districts had in the 1989-90 school year. In addition, the bill allows districts that experience a decline of two percent or more in their ADA due to military base closing to be funded on the basis of their previous year's

WEDDING PLANS REVEALED--Randall and Patti Cross of Pampa announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Kendall Renea Cross and Kevin Shane McAlpin, son of Willie and Jackie McAlpin of Sudan. Vows will be exchanged on August 11, in the First United Methodist Church in Canyon. The bride elect is a 1983 graduate of Pampa High School and a 1987 graduate of West Texas State University. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority Council for Exceptional Children and presently teaches in the Irving Independent School District. McAlpin is a 1985 graduate of Canyon High School and a December 1989 graduate of West Texas State University, where he was a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. He presently attends Parker Chiropractic College in Dallas. (Guest Photo)

What Other Reason

Man at the gate: Is your mother home?

Boy: Say, you don't suppose I'm mowing the lawn because the grass is long do you?

Always

Business man--About the little bill of yours, sir, when can I hope for payment?

Payee--Always.

Creative Living

by: Sheryl Borden

Information on Southwestern decor, gestational diabetes, and chocolate will be the featured topics on "Creative Living" on Tuesday, June 12 at 12 noon and Saturday, June 16 at 2 p.m. (All times are Mountain.)

Southwestern decor is becoming popular all across the country. Kaye Willmon, decorator with Inside Source Designs in Albuquerque, N.M., will share some very contemporary southwestern looks by using bright colors that are not usually associated with the southwest.

Dr. Lois Jovanovic-Peterson, research scientist from Santa Barbara, CA, is going to discuss gestational diabetes, which is a temporary, but very serious condition. Statistics show that gestational diabetes affects up to 10 percent of all pregnancies and is the most common cause of complications during pregnancy.

Donna Nordin, chef with Cafe Terra Cotta, in Tucson, AZ, also serves as a spokesperson for the Ghirardelli Chocolate Co. She is going to demonstrate glazing chocolate and explain how this differs from tempering chocolate. Ms. Nordin will discuss the importance of melting chocolate correctly, tell how to thin chocolate, and talk about the different forms of chocolate that are available.

On Tuesday, June 12 at 9:30 p.m. and on Thursday, June 14 at 12 noon, "Creative Living" will present information on a new cheese diet, a new product for repairing metal, and recipes for products grown in Oregon.

Donna Haverstock, representing Norwegian Dairies, will create some delicious low calorie cheese recipes that allow people wanting to lose weight to still be able to enjoy one of their favorite foods--chese. The key point in this concept is using cheese in limited quantities. Ms. Haverstock lives in Key West, FL.

Mac McCrory will introduce a product called Metal Fix. This product is the solution to repairing rusted metal and is easy to work with. Mr. McCrory lives in Greensboro, NC and his company is called Dymark.

Cathi McLain represents the Oregon Department of Agriculture and will share some recipes made from Oregon fruits. Oregon is home to a variety of hybrid berries, including the marionberry, which is a cross between a wild blackberry and a red raspberry. Ms. McLain is from Salem, OR.

"Creative Living" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden. The show is carried on more than 100 PBS stations in the United States, Canada, Guam and Puerto Rico and is distributed by Pacific Mountain Network, Denver, Co. Viewers can request copies of materials offered on the show by sending one 25 cent stamp for each handout requested. Send the stamps, along with your name, address and booklets requested

CHEESE DIET

HAM & CHEESE CALZONE
Vegetable cooking spray
1/2 cup each red and yellow or green peppers
1/4 cup mushrooms, sliced
Minced garlic clove
1 6" pita bread
1 tablespoon Parmesan cheese
1 slice lean ham, cut into strips
1 tablespoon parsley, chopped
1 oz. shredded Jarlsberg cheese

Coat small skillet with vegetable cooking spray. Heat peppers, mushrooms and garlic, adding small amount of water if necessary, until soft. Make slit in pita bread and stuff with vegetables, ham, parsley and Jarlsberg cheese. Sprinkle on Parmesan cheese and black pepper, to taste. Wrap in foil and bake at 350F for 15 minutes or until cheese melts. Makes one serving.

SEAFOOD RANGOON

Vegetable cooking spray
2-3 oz. snapper, sole or other mild, white fish fillets
1 oz. shredded Jarlsberg cheese
Fresh lime
1/2 cup tropical fruit mix or other fruit combination, packed in water or light syrup
Spray baking pan with vegetable cooking spray. Place fillets on pan and place 1/2 oz. of cheese on each. Bake at 350F for 10 minutes or until cheese melts. Meanwhile, heat fruit mix with a squeeze of lime in small saucepan, until warm. Spoon fruit and juice over fish. Salt and pepper to taste, if desired.

GJETOST SUNDÆ
1/2 tablespoon skim milk
1/2 oz. thinly sliced Gjetost

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Miss Gore, Fincher

Shelley Denise Gore and Robert Reid Fincher exchanged marriage vows in a double ring ceremony on Saturday, May 26 at 1 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Sudan. The Rev. Cliff Hargrove read the marriage vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gore of Sudan and the granddaughter of Mrs. Golden Petty of Roscoe. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Knox Fincher, Jr. of Memphis, Tennessee. He is the grandson of Mrs. Ethyl Hare of Memphis.

Mrs. Georgeann Rasco, organist, played nuptial selections as the guests arrived. Charles Schovasja and Miss Penni Hargrove sang "Flesh of My Flesh" as the parents were seated and "Surround Me With Your Love" during the wedding ceremony.

Vows were exchanged before a brass arch, decorated with greenery and three large aqua bows. Flanking the arch were two large, fresh, spring flower arrangements. Smaller, fresh flower arrangements adorned the front of the church, as well. Pews were marked with large aqua bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of white taffeta, trimmed in lace, sequins and pearls. The fitted bodice was designed with a sweetheart neckline which was edged in lace. The front bodice was overlaid with appliques of lace and lace flowers, pearls, and accented with iridescent sequins.

The full, elbow-length sleeves were adorned with lace and sequins, with special attention drawn to the middle of each sleeve, where fabric flowers and sprays of pearls gathered the fabric.

The deep V-shaped back of the gown was constructed of sheer illusion and edged by lace and sequins. An additional V-back was formed below the sheer fabric with taffeta, overlaid by lace applique, pearls and sequins. Covered buttons ran the entire length of the back bodice.

An additional skirt, which gave rise to the semi-cathedral length train, was gathered over the base skirt. The overskirt did not meet completely in the front, resulting in softly draping edges which gracefully framed the highly decorative front of the underskirt. Appliqued lace flowers, sheer illusion net, as well as pearls and sequins, composed the elaborate focal center of the front skirt. Deep V-inserts of lace edged the entire full train of the gown.

To complete her ensemble, the bride selected a V-front headpiece with a dramatic, eight-point centerpiece on the left-side. The focal point was composed of pearls, with additional sprays of multi-sized pearls emerging from its center. From the base of the centerpiece were numerous sprays of small pearls, which draped across the bride's shoulder. A short, tiered pour of netting arose from the back of the headpiece, which was decorated with single sequins and pearls.

The bride carried a traditional, cascading bouquet of bridal white roses, stephanotis, babys breath, lavender freesia, lily of the valley and baltic ivy, tied with thin, aqua ribbons.

Matron of honor was Ginger Harper of Sudan, cousin of the bride. Tammy Lamkin of San Antonio, served as her sister's bridesmaid. They each wore a street length dress of a lilac, aqua, pink, and white floral print. The short sleeved dresses had a V-neck, fitted bodice with a V waist, and matching fabric bows on each shoulder.

The attendants each carried white lace fans adorned with sprays of lily of the valley, baltic ivy, lavender freesia, pink alstroemeria, and thin, aqua streamers.

Melissa Gore of Levelland, cousin of the bride, served as the flower girl. She wore a similar dress to that of the bridesmaids and carried a white lace and satin basket filled with pink flower petals.

The groom's father, Robert Knox Fincher, Jr., served as best man. Groomsman was Kent Nelson of Memphis, Tennessee, the groom's cousin. Royce Petty of Amherst, cousin of the bride, and John Fritz of Lubbock served as ushers. The male members of the wedding party wore charcoal gray suits. The groom, groomsmen and father of the bride wore light grey vests and straight ties; whereas, the ushers wore aqua bow ties and cummerbunds.

Lisa Fritz of Lubbock registered the guests as they entered the church. The registration table was covered with a floor length ivory cloth and adorned with an arrangement of fresh, spring flowers.

A reception in the church's fellowship hall followed the wedding ceremony. Michele Gore of Levelland, aunt of the bride, served as the reception hostess. The bride's table was covered with a floor length ivory lace table cloth. The centerpiece was a silver candelabra with tall, white candles. The three tiered white wedding cake was adorned with spring-colored silk flowers, babys breath and greenery. Serving the cake, mints and punch from the bride's table were Gwenna and Robin Gore, cousins of the bride.

The groom's table was covered with a floor-length ivory cloth. The centerpiece was a pink azalea plant, decorated with a large, aqua bow and ribbon. A silver urn was used for the coffee. A double heart-shaped chocolate cake, with decorative chocolate icing, and mixed nuts were served by the groom's sisters, Carole and Susan Fincher.

The table which displayed the wedding gifts was covered with a floor length ivory cloth. A photograph of the bride in her wedding gown was featured on the table, as well as a bunny bride and groom, which was a wedding gift made by Gwenna Gore. The bridal bouquet and bridesmaids fans also decorated the table, as did the white satin and aqua trimmed basket that held the bird seed bags. The bird seed bags were distributed by Michael and JoAnn Gore, cousins of the bride.

Following a wedding trip to the U.S. Virgin Island of St. Thomas, the couple will make their home in Des Moines, Iowa.

The parents of the groom hosted a rehearsal dinner at Leal's Mexican Restaurant in Muleshoe on Friday evening.

The bride is a graduate of Sudan High School and Texas A&M University. She is employed by Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc. in Johnston, Iowa.

The groom is a graduate of White Station High School in Memphis, Tennessee. He also obtained degrees from The University of Tennessee and The University of Missouri. He, too, is employed by Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc. in Johnston, Iowa.

Bartley, Wieck Engagement Announced

Lee Bartley and Karen Wieck plan to exchange marriage vows on August 18 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Umbarger.

The bride elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wieck of Canyon. She is a 1988 graduate of Canyon High School and a sophomore computer information systems major at West Texas State University.

Bartley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Bartley of Sudan. He is a recent graduate of West Texas State University with a degree in ag-business and economics. He is presently employed with Iowa Beef Packers in the Quality Control Department in Amarillo.

Narramore New Lions Club Sweetheart

Stephanie Narramore has been chosen as the new Sudan Lions Club Sweetheart for the 1990-91 year. Julie Brotherton will be moving up to Lions Queen to replace outgoing Queen Kristi Hargrove.

All three girls participated in events at the District convention held at Levelland May 18 and 19. Kristi was a contestant in the Lions Queen Pageant. Julie was a contestant in Diabetic Essay Contest and won first place and a scholarship will be awarded to her by the District at the time she enrolls in college. She will now compete at the Lions State convention at Wichita Falls.

Stephanie competed in the Speech Contest on Drug Awareness, also winning first place and a scholarship, she too will now advance to the State Convention to compete in the Speech Contest there.

Guild Circle News

The Guild Circle of the Sudan United Methodist Women met May 21 in the church parlor with Thettie Mae Walker as hostess.

Dorothy Drake was the presiding officer due to the absence of Mary Tollett. The invocation was led by Eloese Curry. The program, "Power of Love, Power to Care and Power to Share" was presented by Nellie Williams. Scripture was read by Carol Hill, Thelma Lewis, and Caroline Hawthorne. It was a very interesting lesson and included group singing of several songs, according to their reporter.

Correspondence was read by the secretary.

mittee requested for emergency haying and grazing of ACR and CU for pay, including the required eight percent, on May 24, 1990. On June 4, 1990, Bailey County was disapproved for emergency haying and grazing during the five-month non haying and non grazing period which is May 15 through October 14.

If Bailey County is later approved for emergency haying and grazing, acreage designated as ACR or CU for payment, including the required eight percent, that has or will be initiated between January 1, 1990 and the end of the five-month non grazing period, October 14, 1990, cannot be hayed or grazed.

MAINTENANCE OF ACR AND CU

Weed control measures MUST be carried out in a timely manner on acreage designated as ACR throughout the calendar year. Weed control measures also MUST be carried out timely on CRP land throughout the lifespan of the CRP contract. Failure to control noxious weeds could result in total loss of the farm program benefits and/or your CRP contract.

Flea War

them. It's their primary source of food, so they need the presence of the host for the adult flea feces. Consequently, premise treatment isn't as difficult as it may seem. There are certain places where immature fleas are going to be.

Q. You're talking about where pets rest and spend a lot of time--in the dog house, under a tree, on the porch and so forth?

A. That's right. Larval flea populations are relying on the animal to frequent those areas to provide their next meal--shaded, protected areas where dogs and cats rest a good portion of the day and night. Fleas breed in areas where they're protected from direct sunlight and extreme temperatures.

Q. Given that, what do you tell pet owners about treating the premises?

A. I like to see spot treatment of those areas with some sort of insecticide that is registered for that use. Organophosphate or carbamate insecticides can be used but their residual activity is only a few days. In temperate areas, they usually provide sufficient control -- outdoor breeding is only a problem for a short period in the summer. In warmer climates, outdoor breeding can be a year round problem.

 Q. Any other comments about premise control?

A. One of the problems I've seen with outdoor infestations is when fleas have gotten completely out of control and people have removed their pets from the area. Without a host, flea larvae can go into a cocoon or pupal state for up to a year--waiting for a host to come along. In the pupal stage, you really can't kill them with anything.

Only the presence of a host (vibrations and carbon dioxide) stimulates them to emerge from the pupal stage. Consequently, locations that have been treated every day for a week with every insecticide that's registered can still produce large numbers of fleas. On treated surfaces they will die. It's just they're protected in this pupal cocoon from insecticides.

It doesn't matter what you spray, they're only going to emerge when there's a host close by. If you walk close to that cocoon, you wind up with fleas on you, and likewise for your pet.

Kiwanis News

By R.A. Bradley

Ten Kiwanians, one honorary Kiwanian and one guest met Friday morning at the Muleshoe Church of Christ family room. The Old Corral is still not open but we hope it is open by next Friday, June 16. If the Old Corral is not open by June 16, we will cook and have breakfast back at the family room of the Church of Christ. All Kiwanians be sure and be there.

President Jim Lutz called the meeting to order. Eddie Morris gave the invocation. Mickey Merriott gave the friendship coin to Bryan Morris, as he thought that he and Bryan would be needing friends since these two are in charge of the fireworks stand this year.

Be sure and come by the Kiwanis Fireworks stand which will be just west of Muleshoe on the Clovis Hiway. Remember, all of the money you spend to help the Kiwanis Club, stays in Muleshoe.

Wanted! All Kiwanians!!!!
Tuesday, June 12, work nite to put out or fix flag holders - 7 p.m. at the Fry & Cox Warehouse where the flags are stored.

Everybody remember Monday nite - June 25th -- the Miniature Golf Tournament, Each Club -- Be There!!!!

Progress Baptist Plans Revival For Next Week

Revival Services will be held at the Progress Baptist Church June 17-20. Rev. Donny Proctor, pastor of Tabernacle Baptist Church, Southhill, Va. will be the evangelist.

Rev. Proctor was pastor at Progress March, 1982 until Dec., 1984 when he moved to North Carolina to enter Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary. He has been involved in many ministries and returns with much experience as well as educational advancement to his credit.

Bill Coleman of Littlefield will be leading the music. Coleman is a very inspiring layman and will complete the revival team. The pastor, Charles Fisk, and members invite you to attend all of the services. Times will be 11 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. on Sunday; and at 7:30 p.m. Monday through Wednesday.

There will be a potluck dinner at the church on Sunday. Everyone is invited for this fellowship to honor all fathers especially.

Pesticide Residues No 'Big' Food Problem

The nation's professional society of food scientists says: pesticides should be the least of our food safety worries.

Consumers do worry but seem to want it both ways: good, fresh foods without pesticides. However, the options may be mutually exclusive.

Pesticide residues in the average American diet just do not pose significant health risks, reports the 25,000-member Institute of Food Technologists in a new study published this month.

Much greater risks may result if insects and rodents are allowed to contaminate crops that have not received protection from pesticides, the report said.

"Insects and rodents can inoculate plants in the field with microorganisms that can present a health hazard, particularly if the product is not properly washed and is eaten raw," observed Dr. Sanford A. Miller professor and dean from the Graduate School for Biomedical Sciences, University of Texas Regional Communicator for Texas.

"These dangers are compounded if untreated animal wastes such as manure, a potent source of human (disease causing) pathogens, are used for fertilization," IFT's study said.

Further, molds can infect fruits and vegetables if not held in check by types of pesticides called fungicides, the study said. And molds may produce poisonous substances such as mycotoxins in apples or citrus fruits, the group reported.

More imminent food hazards include growth of bacteria in foods, the report said. "In the past decade...Listeria have been isolated from fresh vegetables and implicated in a foodborne outbreak associated with cabbage."

However, such "food poisoning" outbreaks associated with microorganisms can usually be deflected by using proper packaging and handling techniques, the study said, in contrast to the problems caused by failure to use pesticides.

The IFT report concurs with the 1989 National Research Council report that "pesticide residues in the average diet do not make a major contribution to the overall cancer risk for humans."

In addition to the safety question, visual quality may suffer in foods that have not been treated with pesticides, the report said. Consumers may not be willing to accept lower standards for bruising, off color or even unseen insect parts if that's the price for a decrease in pesticide residues.

Modern consumers want fresh products - that are - besides visually appealing - nutritious, convenient, available year round, reasonably priced, yet totally free of traces of pesticides. Currently, shoppers can't have one without excluding another, the report said, adding "The market place will decide which goals will predominate."

MICROWAVE TIPS

One can make a cheese dip in minutes with the microwave.

Use a pound package of pasteurized process cheese spread loaf-cut into cubes, one clove of garlic and a fourth of a cup of beer.

Put cubes and garlic in a 1 1/2 quart casserole and microwave on Medium for four to eight minutes, stirring twice.

Then beat in beer with a whisk. Microwave another minute on High. Garnish with parsley or pimiento.

IN FASHION

Women need comfort as well as style in shoes for the workplace. They can now find classic pumps to fill this need.

For comfort, look for features which include soft linings and arch supports that will support and cushion the foot. Heels vary from flats to two and one-fourth inches.

Lifegift Donor Center Approved By HD

Lifegift Organ Donation Center has been notified by the Department of Health and Human Services that they have received federal designation as the organ procurement organization for the Panhandle area of West Texas.

The Department of Health and Human Services designated the following counties to be served by Lifegift in West Texas:

Andrews, Armstrong, Bailey, Borden, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Childress, Cochran, Coke, Collinsworth, Cottle, Crosby, Dallas, Dawson, Deaf Smith, Dickens, Donley, Fisher, Floyd, Foard, Gaines, Garza, Glasscock, Gray, Hale, Hall, Hansford, Hardeman, Hartley, Haskell, Hemphill, Hockley, Howard, and Hutchinson.

Also, Irion, Jeff Davis, Jones, Kent, King, Knox, Lamb, Lipscomb, Lubbock, Lynn, Martin, Mitchell, Moore, Motley, Nolan, Ochiltree, Oldham, Parmer, Potter, Presidio, Randall, Roberts, Runnels, Scurry, Shackelford, Sherman, Stonewall, Swisher, Terrell, Terry, Throckmorton, Wheeler, Wilbarger and Yoakum.

Lifegift was founded in Houston in October 1987. Lifegift's involvement in the West Texas area began when the previous program, the Center for Organ Retrieval and Transplantation (CORT) disbanded in September 1989. Lifegift was asked at that time to establish a program in West Texas that would work with the community to support local transplant programs.

According to Rebecca J. Davis, executive director of Lifegift, "We are very excited to have the opportunity to serve the West Texas community. Although we have many long-range plans, one of our immediate goals is to support new transplant programs in the West Texas area. With the beginning of these programs, transplantation needs have considerably increased. Lifegift will work with the community to provide quality service to this area."

Davis says that Lifegift is working closely with community leaders and area hospitals to build a strong donor awareness program that is responsive to the needs of West Texas. To increase the number of organs and tissues available, Lifegift is focusing on both professional and public outreach programs. The enthusiastic community response to this challenge has been indicative of broad-based support.

Davis added, "It is not Lifegift who will make this program work in West Texas, but how responsive the community and the hospitals are toward the donor program. That is what a partnership is all about."

The partnership concept is implemented by an advisory board in Lubbock. An Amarillo based advisory board will soon be formed. These advisory boards will guide and direct the efforts of Lifegift Organ Donation Center in West Texas.

Charlotte Hoffman, who is the head of the public education committee of the advisory board and whose son is an organ recipient says, "The key aspect to Lubbock's receptivity to Lifegift is their willingness to help their neighbors. It is the realization that this problem does not just happen in Pittsburgh, Oregon, or Los Angeles. It is here - that brings it home for us."

Lifegift Organ Donation Center of West Texas Advisory Board is headed by David Seim, CEO of Lubbock National Bank and consists of sixteen members. Through their efforts, the activities during Organ Donor Awareness Week were a tremendous success. According to Seim, "The kind of cooperation and positive response received from the community for this endeavor is encouraging."

For more information about Lifegift or how you can become an organ donor, call Lifegift at 1-800-633-6562.

Cotton Growers Can Learn To Market Crop

Cotton producers wanting to learn more about using futures and options to price their crop, can do so June 26-27 at a workshop in Lamesa, especially designed to meet that need. The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is sponsoring this multi-county event.

A farmer may not be able to control price, but he can control how and when he prices, said Dr. Jackie Smith, Extension Service economist and cotton marketing specialist at Lubbock. A farmer equipped with various futures and options tools in his bag of marketing tricks may be able to more quickly react to pricing opportunities, he said.

The workshop will introduce and describe the use of those tools and help producers implement them into a marketing plan. It will consist of approximately 12 hours of training.

Material will include an introduction to how futures markets operate and how to use them; use of commodity options as price insurance; how to determine your local market price from futures prices and working with a broker.

Also, estimating your break-even price and setting marketing objectives, and market prospects for cotton. The group will work examples using futures and options to gain a working understanding of the mechanics of forward pricing.

The workshop will be led by Dr. Carl Anderson, Extension Service economist and cotton marketing specialist from College Station; Rick Patterson, Extension Service economist and management specialist from Ft. Stockton, and Smith. Training will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day at the Dawson County Community Building at 8th Street and Houston Ave. in Lamesa.

Registration for the workshop will be $20. This fee covers both the participant and the spouse, who is encouraged to take part. Participants must register by June 15.

For more information, contact your county agent or Smith at (806) 746-6101.

Texas Senate Week In Review

Despite last week's court takeover of school funding in Texas, lawmakers will likely begin an unprecedented sixth special session this week to draw a public education finance plan that the court will accept and the Governor will sign.

The Texas Legislature's fifth special session ended last week when an attempt of override Governor Bill Clements' veto of Senate Bill 1 failed in the House by a vote of 92 to 55. The Senate had earlier overridden Clements' veto of the same bill.

Clements said he vetoed the $550 million first-year funding plan to bring equity to the way the state distributes its education dollars because it was to be paid for with a half-cent sales tax hike.

The governor has not set the date for the sixth special session—which will be the fourth this year on education alone. Negotiations were expected to continue this week between Clements and legislative leaders to determine the specifics of an education funding reform bill the governor would sign.

Meanwhile, court-appointed master William Kilgarlin was to have presented his funding reform plan to the court last Friday. Details of that plan are not yet available. Objections to the master's plan will be heard before Travis County District Judge Scott McCown at a hearing on June 25.

The Legislature and Clements now have until June 20 to reach an accord on a plan and have it in place. Delay beyond that date will mean the court may choose either the master's plan or the legislature's plan, with or without the governor's signature, on June 25.

Funding for any plan the court chooses is critical since the court must use only available funds. Such a redistribution, without an accompanying funding measure, would result in the shift of state school funds from property-rich districts to poorer ones.

The State Supreme Court ruled last fall that the state's system for distributing funding to school districts is unconstitutional because it favors those with the most property wealth.

Brand was questioned by the Senate Nominations Committee for his remarks, quoted in an Associated Press story, that people exposed to dangerous pesticides may already be dying of something else.

Moth Invasion To Disappear Very Soon

A large number of moths are now congregating at night around lights in Bailey County. These moths are the adults of two or three species of mesquite cutworms. The number of these moths increased rapidly during the past few days. They will be present in large numbers for about a week then they will quickly disappear.

The mesquite cutworm larvae feed on mesquite leaves. They feed at night and remain hidden under the rough bark or at the base of the tree during the day. When full grown the larvae are about 1 1/4 inches in length. They are black with light-colored to gray parallel lines running the length of the body.

Most of the foliage may be stripped from mesquite trees that are heavily infested by mesquite cutworms. When these cutworms are damaging mesquite trees in the home landscape carbaryl (Sevin®) will provide effective control when sprayed on the foliage.

The moths which are almost black have a light colored line about 1/3 of the way back across the wings. When the wings are folded this line forms a V. There is a crescent shaped orange spot on the end of the underwings.

If the moths become a problem in the home, aerosol sprays containing pyrethrin or resmethrin will be helpful in controlling the moths. They will not cause any damage in the home but may be a nuisance. Use yellow lights that do not attract the moths if the presence of large numbers of moth become a problem.

Heart Attack Treatment Slows Damage

A treatment to reduce heart attack damage is the ultimate goal of a new research project at The DeBakey Heart Center of Baylor College of Medicine and The Methodist Hospital.

Researchers, funded by a five-year, $6.5 million federal grant awarded earlier this month, are studying inflammation that occurs in heart cells following a heart attack.

They seek the cause of the inflammation and a way to control it that will not interfere with the healing of the damaged heart, according to Dr. Mark L. Entman, Baylor's chief of cardiovascular sciences and principle investigator for the Heart Center's new Program Project Grant in ischemia.

When blood flow to a heart cell is interrupted, damage called ischemia results. Investigators think the damaged cells release molecules that trigger the inflammation mechanism of surrounding cells, extending the ischemia and increasing the area of damage in the heart.

"If we determine how this trigger works and then develop a way to stop it, we can control the inflammatory reaction to ischemia and prevent additional heart damage from occurring when a heart attack occurs," Entman said.

Reduced damage from a heart attack could mean a shorter recovery time and should improve a patient's long-term outlook for a normal life, Entman said.

Working with a live animal model developed through The DeBakey Heart Center's animal research core, scientists will study cell-to-cell interaction, how inflammation may be initiated, how it may be perpetuated, how it effects the mechanism of the heart and, ultimately, how it can be controlled, Entman said.

Research will be conducted by investigators from the departments of medicine, pediatrics, microbiology and pathology of Baylor, The Methodist Hospital and Texas Children's Hospital.

The new grant from the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute of the National Institutes of Health succeeds a 16-year research-oriented grant on ischemia at Baylor, Entman said.

Cotton Physiology Seminar Planned

A series of Cotton Physiology Field Seminars featuring demonstrations of plant mapping for crop management will begin June 18 as part of the Cotton Physiology Education Program (CPEP).

"These field seminars are open to the public and have been planned to give cotton growers, consultants and others a hands-on demonstration of how plant mapping allows them to look at cotton fields with a critical eye and quickly spot production problems," said Dr. Kater Hake, Manager of the CPEP, which is sponsored by the National Cotton Council of America.

In plant mapping, the grower or consultant systematically takes a few representative samples of cotton plants from each field and examines where blooms and bolls are developing and how well the bolls are retained.

The CPEP, working with Extension cotton specialists from throughout the Cotton Belt, has developed a fast plant map system based on how the plant is setting fruit beginning at early square, Dr. Hake noted.

"Often plant mapping will allow growers to recognize and overcome production problems in time to avert major difficulties that could cut yields and quality," Dr. Hake said.

The June 18 field seminar, co-sponsored by the Louisiana Cooperative Extension Service, will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the Northeast Research Station, one mile south of Winnsboro, Louisiana, on State Highway 15. It will conclude at noon with a sponsored meal.

Also participating in the seminar will be Dr. Thomas A. Burch, Louisiana Extension cotton specialist, and Dr. Jack Baldwin, Extension entomologist. Dr. Baldwin will discuss insect control, particularly early in the cotton season. Dr. Burch will discuss current problems in

Risk Factor Says Texans Concerned

Texans appear to be more concerned about certain areas of their health and safety than others, according to recently published results of the 1988 Behavioral Risk Factor Survey conducted by the Texas Department of Health.

Some 1,173 Texans were randomly selected and asked questions about their habits and health. The questions covered factors such as weight, alcohol use, smoking, hypertension, seat belt use, cholesterol level, and physical activity.

The results of the poll were compared to a similar 1987 survey, indicating the following lifestyle patterns:

*Twenty-two percent were overweight, a decline of four percent from the previous year. The 45-54 age group reported the highest rate of being overweight.

*Four percent admitted to driving while drinking too much, a two percent decrease. Binge drinking also declined by two percent.

*Twenty-four percent were current smokers, an increase of one percent. There was, however, a two percent decrease in the use of smokeless tobacco.

*Fifteen percent reported high blood pressure, a decrease of two percent. The prevalence increased with age, and was slightly higher among females.

*Fifteen percent said they never, seldom, or only sometimes used seat belts, a decrease of one percent. Nonuse was higher among males.

*Fifty percent had their cholesterol checked, up three percent. Fourteen percent in the current survey were under a doctor's instructions to reduce their cholesterol level, an increase of four percent.

*Sixty percent of those surveyed reported a sedentary lifestyle, an increase of four percent.

"This survey is an effort to find out what our habits and attitudes are toward good health. With this information, we can attack the problems of chronic disease and accidental death and injury brought about by our own lifestyles," said Dr. Robert Bernstein, Texas Commissioner of Health.

Louisiana cotton fields and steps growers should consider in managing those challenges.

"As part of the format for these field seminars, we'll be talking about whatever problem is hot at the time in Louisiana and will allow plenty of time for grower questions," Dr. Hake said.

Growers also will be offered a range of informative materials produced by the CPEP, plus the plant mapping kits so they can begin using the techniques taught during the seminar.

Field seminars also are planned for the following dates and locations. For further information, contact the respective state Extension Service.

June 19 during the Stiles Farm Field Day near Thrall, Texas, in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, in cooperation with the Texas Cooperative Extension Service and Dr. Robert Metzger, cotton specialist at Texas A&M University.

June 21 in Tennessee with the University of Tennessee Agricultural Extension Service and Dr. Paulus P. Shelby, cotton specialist with UT.

June 25 and 26 in South Carolina with the South Carolina Cooperative Extension and Dr. Lawrence H. Harvey, cotton specialist at Clemson University.

July 9 and 10 in Oklahoma with the Oklahoma Cooperative Extension Service and Dr. J.C. Banks, cotton specialist with Oklahoma State University.

The three-year, comprehensive Cotton Physiology Education Program is made possible under a grant from BASF Corporation to The Cotton Foundation and is designed to help cotton producers improve yield and quality through better understanding of the cotton plant and how it grows.

ENMU Plans Bilingual Scholarships

The Bilingual/ Multicultural Education and Counseling Program at Eastern New Mexico University is in the second year of a three-year program funded through the U.S. Department of Education's Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs to provide scholarships for students interested in majoring in elementary education with an emphasis in bilingual education and for teachers interested in becoming counselors in the public schools.

This year's funding is for $187,416 for the second year. The deadline for applying for spring 1991 is October 31, 1990, and selection of students will be in November, 1990. Currently, there are 20 undergraduate students and three graduate students who are participating in the program.

Students are selected based on their financial need, academic performance, commitment to bilingual/multicultural education and degree of bilingualism. Eastern New Mexico University's program focuses on English and Spanish as the languages of instruction. The program has been successful in recruiting, retaining and graduating many students, including a majority of Hispanic students.

The bulk of the monies awarded go to students in the form of tuition, a monthly stipend, books and travel. The program has been successful in providing students with the support system necessary to be successful. Another important component is the Bilingual Education Student Organization.

Persons interested in applying should contact the Bilingual/ Multicultural Education and Counseling Program, ENMU, Quay Hall Room 111, Portales,

Senate Bill I Overrides Costs Texas Taxpayers

Governor Bill Clements said the Senate's override of his veto of Senate Bill 1 is "unfortunate for the property taxpayers of Texas who will be forced to dig deeper into their wallets if this legislation becomes law."

The governor noted that under SB 1, property taxes could jump by $1.5 billion.

The bill, vetoed by the governor Tuesday, would require school districts to raise their property tax rates to $1.18 to qualify for full state aid. Approximately 800 districts in Texas currently tax below that level. Property taxes would rise $1.5 billion in those districts under a $1.18 tax rate.

"The Senate's action is unfortunate for the property taxpayers of Texas who will be forced to dig deeper into their wallets if this legislation becomes law," the governor said. "Property taxes would skyrocket under Senate Bill 1. This is totally unacceptable, especially when alternatives clearly exist."

"Certainly, no elected official should be willing to inflict that type of burden on their constituents," he said. "My veto of Senate Bill 1 is a veto against higher property taxes."

USDA Stopping Marketing Order

The U.S. Department of Agriculture today announced the termination of the federal marketing order for potatoes grown in the High Plains area of Texas and New Mexico, effective May 31.

Daniel D. Haley, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, said only 42 percent of the growers who voted in a Nov. 6-27, 1989 referendum favored continuing the order.

High Plains growers who favored the order represented 30 percent of the volume of potatoes grown by those voting, Haley said. The order provides that USDA may terminate the order when it is not approved by producers in a referendum.

"Given the outcome of the producer referendum, it is clear that the order no longer has the grower support it had a year ago when USDA recommended it," Haley said.

The order authorizes grade, size and maturity regulations for

SP Lady Texan Basketball Camp Scheduled In July

Applications are still being accepted for the 1990 Lady Texan Basketball Camp at South Plains College.

"We still have quite a bit of room for more players," said Lyndon Hardin, SPC Lady Texan head coach. "However, we are getting applications in daily so those interested should make plans to join us soon."

The Lady Texan basketball camp will be held for girls in the fifth grade through high school July 22-27. All camp activities will take place in SPC's Texan Dome.

Registration will begin at 2 p.m. July 22 in Gillespie Hall on the SPC campus. Activities will conclude at 3 p.m. July 27.

Camps are set up to accommodate both overnight campers and commuters. Overnight campers will stay in residence halls at SPC.

Cost for Lady Texan Camp is $190 for overnight campers, $155 for campers who eat in Texan Hall and $100 for campers who do not eat in Texan Hall. There is a $75 deposit for the Lady Texan camp.

Special discounts are available for two or more family members attending the camps.

In addition to instruction, cost for the camp includes an official camp t-shirt, camp basketball, official camp photo, awards, camp insurance, certificates for each camp participant and entertainment.

Applications will be accepted as they are received and should be returned as soon as possible. The deposit is non-refundable after July 5.

For more information or to acquire a basketball camp registration form and brochure, contact the South Plains College athletic department at (806) 894-9611, ext. 221.

Make a Wish

FOR HIS FUTURE

A birthday party really thrills the children, and probably the climax comes when they blow out the candles, and make a wish. His wish would probably be for a bright shiny new toy, but you as a parent would wish for him the things that really count, such as good health, happiness, friends and along with these deeper and more serious things should be a prayer for him to have the right interest and relationship to God. You can help these things by taking him to church

THE CHURCH IN EXTENSION

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Continuing Allergies Plague Many People

First it's tree pollen. Then grass pollen. Then ragweed.

What it all adds up to is sneezing, itching and congestion for a lot of people. And, in temperate climates, people can experience allergy-irritating substances almost year-round.

"In some areas, seasons run together. For people in such areas, there are relatively few times in which some pollen count or another is not high," said Dr. David P. Huston, associate professor of medicine and of microbiology and immunology at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

In a temperate area, Huston said, tree pollens start heavily in March and are succeeded in the coming months by a series of other pollens. January and February can be relatively irritant-free for many areas.

According to Huston, people who suffer from seasonal allergies are not helped by the air pollution that plagues metropolitan areas.

"The air pollution present in many cities is an added burden to allergy sufferers," Huston said. "It is unlikely they would be allergic to any of the chemicals in the air; however, the chemicals and smoke can definitely aggravate their symptoms."

Another group of people who suffer from allergies linked to temperate climate are those afflicted with perennial allergies.

"These are the people allergic to things which, unlike a specific pollen, are present in their environments year-round," Huston said.

Topping this list of irritants are pets, dust-borne contaminants and molds.

Many people are allergic to the dander of animals they keep in their homes, Huston said.

Others have what is commonly called a dust allergy but is in fact a reaction to contaminants found in dust; Roaches and mites contribute heavily to this.

Molds are also common causes of allergic reactions, Huston said. Air conditioning systems and air ducts frequently harbor these allergy villains.

What to do? "Avoidance is clearly the best of all alternatives," Huston said, "but we have to be realistic. Avoidance is not always possible."

Over-the-counter relief is available for allergies that cause runny noses, itchy eyes and congestion, he said. Most commonly used are antihistamines, but they can cause drowsiness.

Prescription drugs, including new antihistamines that do not cause drowsiness, are also available through physicians.

"Allergy shots are not necessarily the first line of therapy," Huston said. "The shots do help some people, but they should be reserved for patients whose allergy symptoms cannot be adequately controlled through other means."

Huston said allergies and allergy-like reactions can be the result of conditions other than pollens and perennial irritants. Foods, for example, can be a source of allergies, and some dyes and other substances can cause allergic-like reactions.

Careful screening by allergists can help patients pinpoint the causes of their suffering. Once that is accomplished, the right form of therapy can be
