It's clean up day Saturday and the City of Earth should just gleam come Saturday night.....
 Last year several men from the area worked like mad to clean up the town, and by nightfall, the little 'ole town had taken on a brand new look. It was indeed a much more desirable place to live. This year folks have already begun working and cleaning up their own premises, since the City Dads have at last made arrangements to see to it that all trash stacked neatly in the alleys would be hauled off....

NOW, if folks pitch in Saturday and demonstrate with enthusiasm their love for Earth by observing Clean Up Day, the job can be finished, and Earth will doubtless be the cleanest little town on Earth.

NOSIN
 While we are busy cleaning Earth Saturday, making sure it is the cleanest little city on Earth,----- it might be well for each of us to do a spring cleaning job within our hearts. We might find it soul satisfying to toss out all prejudices, envy, fears and ugly suspicions, and in its place polish anew and keep steadfastly before us and in daily use faith, truth, honesty, sincerity, and warmth of affection, one for another. We might do well to remember that the icy fingers of grief, hate, and the fatigue of daily tasks are the symptoms of the winter of our life, and will pass with spring and cleanup of our hearts.

NOSIN
 Life sure doesn't look too rosy from behind this mess of office supplies stacked 5 feet high in the middle of the lobby. At first, it gave one the feeling similar to being on an Easter egg hunt and was quite a challenge to find an article a customer wanted, and too it was considered the very height of accomplishment and a feather in one's hat to find the sought after article within an hour even with the help of the entire office crew. . . . However, that was 5 weeks ago. . . now it's quite a different story. . . we've stacked, restacked, and plundered through every box on that floor at least 500 times, held up every customer we had for at least an hour, finding the loot. . . and now to add misery on top of misery we have A. D. Taylor here from Arizona, standing by ready to redecorate this building in readiness for renting to someone else, and what can we do, but twiddle our thumbs and WAIT, wait, wait, and wait some more for the new building to be completed ---- and of course the reason for the development of this hair-raising, maddening situation in the first place, is that for the past 3 weeks there hasn't been more than a couple of days when workmen showed up for work to finish up the few remaining details to be done to complete the building. Workmen and contractor alike have stayed away from that building as though it were contaminated with leprosy germs and likely to cause instant death, just by walking inside. So, by the way things are shaping up, the new building may be for rent or lease someday, as the news crew is just about to decide the lesser of evils would be to build new shelves and remain in our present quarters and let the contractor rent or lease said HEADACHE.

Attention Dog Owners

A Muleshoe veterinarian, Dr. Gleason, will be at the City Water Dept. Shop Thursday, June 11, from 1 to 5 P.M. to vaccinate all dogs and other pets which owners would like to have vaccinated. Two dollars will be charged for each animal.
 A city ordinance states that all dogs must be vaccinated and wear a dog tag. Tags can be purchased at the City Hall for $1.00 each.
 A dog pound was recently built by the City and all dogs found not wearing tags or running loose within the City limits will be picked up and impounded and a charge made for redeeming the animal. If the animal isn't called for within three days, it will be destroyed.
 Owners are advised to obey these city rules if they cherish their pets, by having them vaccinated, tagged, and not let them run loose over town.

WHAT IS A TEENAGER?

A teenager is a problem to his parents, a trial to his teacher. He speaks a language intelligible only to his contemporaries. He is more concerned about making history than studying it.
 A teenage can be bursting with energy one minute and can be hopelessly lazy the next. Mom may never get a word out of her about tonight's date, but she can talk to a girl friend for two hours on the phone and say almost nothing.
 A teenager likes; cars, girls, boys, food, fun, records, dating, sleeping late, talking long, going steady, vacations, Saturdays, football, basketball, lunch periods, weird jokes, going places (anywhere), and wearing sharp clothes.
 A teenager dislikes; studying, hunger, silence, coming home early, squares, rules, people who don't like for teenagers to go steady, losing at sports, doing what the "crowd" isn't doing and be-

 Mr. Anderson said the C of C had met with much enthusiasm by all the civic organizations in the town and expected to have a tremendous turnout for the big day Saturday. Several individuals have already responded to the call to clean up Earth, and city properties everywhere are already being improved. The local Chamber members express their thanks for the tremendous interest and for all the help received thus far.

RIDDY KILOWATT
Let's SPEAK REAL

A Six Flags Spee-lunker musician gets an inspection of its weird coiffure by glamorous Donna Douglas (better known as television's Ely May Clampett) during a premier showing of the newest Six Flags ride... the Spee-lunker Cave. The Spee-lunkers have already taken over the operation of the Park's newest creation, which was coincident with Six Flags' beginning of its daily operation on June 1.

THE SPEE-LUNKERS CAVE READY FOR SIX FLAGS SUMMER SEASON

Six Flags Over Texas newest project, "The Spee-lunkers Cave" will be open to visitors on June 1, the day the Park officially commences its summer daily operation schedule.

Costing $300,000 the unique creation is the brainchild of Six Flags art director Randall Duell. Construction on the 600 foot man-made cave has been underway for eight months and some 60 engineers, artists, electricians and special effects technicians will wind up their efforts next week.

The Cave has been termed "a marvel of man's imagination, engineering and animation" by newsmen who inspected the three-quarter finished project last week. Miss Donna Douglas, star of the Beverly Hillbillies TV show and saw first hand the strange 30-inch high animated Spee-lunkers who inhabit the cave.

"Visitors will journey through the Cave," explained Mr. Duell, "aboard round Indian Bull boats. Inside the Cave it's completely dark save for the special fluorescent lights and paint which bring about a fascinating display of the secrets to be witnessed by the visiting 'explorers.' The boats are propelled 3 1/2 feet per second by the force of the water through the use of two centrifugal pumps which are rated at 1,800 gallons per minute.

"A colony of 28 Spee-lunkers operate the Cave and being most talented little people, they are able to play instruments, do the 'Twist,' make rock candy from cave crystals, play cards, engage in turtle racing and absorb nourishment from cave air by osmosis through their oversize ears.

"Also inhabiting the cave are huge lobsters, flying bats, trees that dance the 'Twist' and a broken hull of a sunken ship whose crew still carries on some of the skylarking activities that most sailors engage in at one time or another.

"The ride culminates in a terrific storm at sea in the cave where the wind hits 35 knots per hour and the water is turned into froth. Lightning flashes across the Cave and visitors are subjected to all of the feelings and anxieties of a storm at sea."

The entire project was built on the premises at Six Flags and the extraordinary talents of man in creating fantasy are brought into full focus by the Spee-lunkers Cave.

Anaplasmosis, which is spread by small amounts of blood carried on dehorning instruments, is often transmitted from one animal to another at dehorning time. This danger can be avoided by washing instruments after each animal is dehorned.

Pullets will lay about five dozen more eggs than old hens according to most poultrymen and it is therefore a better practice not to keep laying hens for a second year of production. The egg quality from pullets is undoubtedly better than from older birds.

5315 Books Checked From Bookmobile In 6 Weeks Operation

The High Plains Library Bookmobile has now completed two trips to each of 44 stops in Bailey, Farmer, Lamb and Cochran Counties and "Business is Booming." After six weeks of operation, there have been a total of 846 borrower's cards issued to readers in the four counties. The summer months are the biggest and busiest for Bookmobiles so it appears that the next three months will be the peak period for the year. Some borrower's cards are issued to individuals, but a great number of the 846 have been issued to families which means that there might be several borrowers checking out books on one card.

Friday, June 12, it will be in the Y-1 Community from 8:30 A.M. until 9:30 and at Pleasant Valley from 11 A.M. until 12 noon.

The Bookmobile is leaving book deposits at several school libraries.

These are: Whiteface, Bledsoe, Bovina, Spade, Springlake, Threeway, Sudan, Lazbuddie.

As many as 300 books are left at these school libraries so that the school might in turn, circulate them to their students. The Bookmobile will discontinue going to the schools during the summer, but will start again in September.

The Bookmobile is also assisting the Modern Study Club in Friona in a summer reading program. The study club has asked for 150 books to circulate to children wishing to take part. Children who qualify for reading certificates will receive them at the end of the summer.

Up to date, the largest number of books have been checked out at Olton, Friona, Earth and Farwell, but there are several other towns right behind them in the number of checkouts.

There have been a total of 5315 books checked out from the Bookmobile after 6 weeks of operation. The Bookmobile unit will make its third run in the area, Thursday, June 11. It will be at Springlake from 11:00 A.M. until 12 noon and in Earth from 1 P.M. until 3 P.M.

Food Poisoning Is Dangerous

Can you get food poisoning from frozen food? If frozen food thaws out, should it be destroyed? Can you refreeze meat that has thawed out?

These questions persist although frozen foods have become an integral part of modern living. But properly stored, handled and prepared, frozen foods will serve you and your family well.

Food poisoning, originating from frozen foods, is a rarity. Processors are careful to prepare and freeze their products at the peak of freshness, insuring that bacteria are at a minimum. The very act of freezing the food suppresses the ability of the bacteria to multiply. Not until food temperatures rise and conditions become favorable to growth of the bacteria do they begin multiplying.

And what about frozen foods that have thawed out---must they be destroyed? Not necessarily. After all, they must be thawed before they can be cooked and eaten. If foods have been thawed only for a short time, they may be safely eaten. The important question is how long have they been thawed out and how high the temperature has been. If the temperature was no higher than 45 degrees, the foods may be maintained at this level safely for several days, but should not be refrozen.

Is it ever safe to refreeze meat that has thawed out? Refreezing meat is permissible, if the meat was fresh at the

Cheerleaders School at Tech In August

More than 250 students have enrolled in Texas Tech's first annual Cheerleaders School with almost a month to go before the deadline for registration, according to Edsel Buchanan, Tech intramurals director.

Students from Oklahoma, New Mexico and throughout Texas have signed up for the school, scheduled August 2-7 on the Tech campus. Deadline for registration is original freezing and if it was thawed for only a short period of time. There may, however, be some degrading of flavor and quality with the second freezing. The risk in refreezing cured or smoked meats is greater. These meats may be slightly spoiled even though there is no discoloration, off-color or other signs of spoilage.

Can you tell about the quality of frozen food simply by looking at it? Loss of quality, resulting from improper handling or extended storage, is usually indicated by loss of flavor and color. (This is particularly true of vegetables.) Orange juice, as it deteriorates tends to separate and "settle out" rapidly when reconstituted. Cream sauces appear curdled and the liquid begins to separate.

To preserve the quality of frozen foods, store them at the lowest possible temperature, and when you transport them from the store to your freezer, do so as quickly as possible. Rising temperatures cause chemical changes which influence the food's flavor and quality.

July 1. Open to junior high, high school and college students, the summer cheerleading school will include sessions in sportsmanship, novelty yells, boosting school spirit, crowd psychology, demonstration of yells, stunts and skits, footwork routines, tumbling and new yells, songs and chants, cheerleading techniques and planning pep rallies.

Recreation and entertainment also will be planned for the guests, who may swim play tennis and use the Tech Union facilities.

The participants will be housed in Tech residence halls, under the supervision of trained and experienced personnel at all times, Buchanan reported.

The staff for the school will be supplied by the National Cheerleaders Association.

"These are among the finest instructors in the cheerleading field," Buchanan said. "They bring with them years of experience in teaching the very latest cheerleading methods."

Total cost of the school is $44.50, which includes five nights lodging; food service from the Monday morning breakfast through the Friday morning breakfast; medical care at the Tech Infirmary; and the cost of instruction.

Participants who commute and don't stay in the residence halls will be charged only a $23.50 registration fee, Buchanan added.

A deposit of $19.50 is required of participants when they register. No deposits will be refunded after the July 1 enrollment deadline.

Applications or additional information may be obtained from Buchanan, Intramural Gym, Texas Tech.

Sorghum Midge Research Stepped-up

The "recreational" activities of the sorghum midge are under close scrutiny by Texas A&M University scientists.

James Harding, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station entomologist, has taken 113 grass samples to date from fields over the South Plains. These samples are being held in the laboratory at the South Plains Research and Extension Center, Lubbock. Harding checks the samples constantly for possible early midge emergence from the plant heads.

Willing cooperation of electrical power companies on the South Plains has allowed placement of 28 sticky, insect traps on power poles in a nine-county area. Counties are Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Terry, Lynn, and Garza.

Harding says weekly grass samplings, along with checking of the insect traps on power poles, will give an insight into "why" and "how" the midge attains such damaging numbers to reduce yields of August-blooming grain sorghum.

A few adult midge began emergence during the middle of May and are suspected of depositing their eggs in available grass hosts. Study of the grass samples will determine this in the near future. In contrast to early reports of midge activity, it is believed these are the first midge out. There are several orange "midge-like" creatures on the High Plains that are not sorghum midge, but greatly resemble them, says the entomologist.

Several "allies" in the fight against the sorghum midge have been found this year. Two wasp-like parasites of the diapausing midge larva have been obtained from midge-infested sorghum flowers. An external mite has also been found living on adult sorghum midge. Up to nine mites per fly has been observed.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Kelley and their grandson, Kelley Earl O'Hair left Wednesday for Alexandria, Va. to attend graduation exercises for the Kelley's niece, Susan Green, who has visited here on several occasions. Before returning home, they will visit the World's Fair in New York. They plan to be gone 3 or 4 weeks.

Two New Bills If Passed Could Unionize Farm Labor

Two labor bills just introduced into the U.S. Senate could have far-reaching and serious consequences for Lamb county and the South Plains farming industry, and for agricultural producers the nation over, Ed Dean, labor specialist for the Plains Cotton Growers, warned Wednesday.

Dean this week is preparing a bulletin for his membership and also a written statement to the Senate subcommittee on migratory labor that will open hearings next week on the bills. The two measures are S-528 and S-529 and, together, they would move the farm industry a long way towards union organization of farm labor.

The two are not unlike earlier legislation that has died in Congress, he added, but this year they may get an unusual boost towards passage from President Johnson's anti-poverty measures.

This is the consensus of farm organization representatives in Washington, with whom he has talked on the bill, Dean said. "With the anti-poverty program moving in Washington, our people see a definite possibility that these measures may pass."

The twin bills were introduced by Senator Harrison Williams of New Jersey who heads the Senate migratory labor committee which will consider them beginning next week.

Briefly, the proposals would require farmers to recognize a union as bargaining agent for his workers in the same way that other industries are required to do to install minimum wage schedule.

Provisions of the bills, as outlined by Dean, would:

1. Establish farm employers to recognize a union as a bargaining agent under provisions of the NLRB;
 2. Require membership by farm workers within seven days of employment where union contracts are in effect in states with closed shop laws;
 3. Permit unions that are unrecognized by elections as representing workers to bargain for them;
 4. Set up minimum qualifications for seniority in job assignments and promotion.
- Initially, the bills would provide a minimum wage of 75 cents an hour, to be increased to 85 cents the second year, $1.00 the third year and then to follow the national wage-hour scale beginning in the fourth year. It would also cover piece work agreements.
- Initially, Texas farmers would probably have less problem with the measure than many other states, because Texas had a right-to-work law which does not require union membership for a person to work, even in a shop with a union contract.

But farmers in states with tight union laws would feel the bills sharply and their results inevitably would be reflected in the right-to-work states.

In all states, farmers with perishable crops could find the law an immediate factor. "When you have crops requiring harvesting within hours, a farm employer is not in position to negotiate as he might need to," Dean pointed out as one problem the new law would bring.

In Washington, it is a long and difficult trail from the proposal of legislation until it becomes law and it is littered with similar farm labor bills that have died along the way.

But with militant spirit prevailing for the anti-poverty program, these laws could ride through with the anti-poverty legislation," Dean warned.

If so, the long and sometimes uneasy coalition of organized labor and the farm bloc in Washington could come to a

Savings Bonds Sales Slow For County In April

Mr. C. O. Stone, Chairman of Lamb County Savings Bonds Committee, reports that Series E and H Savings Bond sales in the County totaled $10,781 in April. Sale's for the first four months in 1964 were $71,067 and 22.9 per cent of the year's goal of $310,000 has been achieved. April bond sales in Texas totaled $12,200,918. Sales for the first four months of the year were $52,192,783 which represents 34.7 per cent of the state's 1964 bond goal.

"No doubt many people are looking for last minute graduation and wedding gifts, and our Bond Committee would like to remind them that Savings Bonds make wonderful gifts for any occasion. Local banks have special gift envelopes to be used when Savings Bonds are given as gifts, so why not give the gift that keeps on giving --- U. S. Savings Bonds," Chairman Stone stated.

Friday dinner guests in the R. C. Hooten home were Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Golden and children, Valley Mills; Mrs. Hollis Hooten; Mrs. Butch Hooten and Vivian of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Teal Loftis, Kress; Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Sloan.

Elaine Davis was honored with a coffee in the home of Mrs. Johnnie Haberer, Thursday, May 28 at 9 A.M. Those attending were Mrs. J. H. Angeley, Mrs. Dorothy Wood, Mrs. Elvira Upchurch, Mrs. Luanna O'Hair, Mrs. Opal Lowe, Mrs. Price Hamilton, and the honoree.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Cantrell and children from Roswell, N.M., spent the weekend in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Haberer. Mr. Cantrell is stationed at Walker Air Base at Roswell.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Sloan returned home Thursday night from visiting in Abilene and Winters. They attended Abilene Christian College graduation exercises and also visited with Mrs. H. N. Seymour at Baird. They were accompanied to Baird from Abilene by Mrs. Fred Clayton and Mrs. Josie Rich.

Visiting Saturday with the R. C. Hooten's and L. E. Sloan's were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Adams of Amarillo.

It is a circumstance of high interest for Lamb county farmers, to whom Dean pledges, "We will take whatever action necessary, so far as we can."

S-528 would provide for minimum wages and S-529 would establish collective bargaining for the farm industry.

"Back Tagging" Cattle Benefits Cattle Raiser

"Back tagging" cattle for a market brucellosis test benefits every cattle raiser in the county and particularly the individual who is selling the cattle, explains County Extension Agent, W. R. Kimbrough.

By "back tagging" the cattle, inspectors at Federal - and State inspected slaughter houses are able to return brucellosis reports to the farm owner and credit the county with the brucellosis test.

The brucellosis-report credit to the county is one of the most important advantages of back tagging, according to Dr. C. M. Patterson, Extension veterinarian, who is a strong supporter of the market testing program.

"Dr. Patterson points out that if 15 percent of the cattle in the county is back tagged and tested at the slaughter house, on-the-ranch testing is not required for a county to maintain its brucellosis-free certification" Kimbrough said.

Two other benefits to ranchers who back tag are that they get early monitoring of the disease and are able to control it before it spreads through their herd, and they get a tuberculosis report which also applies to the tuberculosis certification.

"Of course, the main advantage," Kimbrough said, is that stockmen don't have to pen their cattle and run tests every three years if they back tag enough cattle to keep the county on a brucellosis-free standing.

Supplies and information for back tagging are available at the county Extension office. Cattle men have a special invitation from Kimbrough to come by for a visit to discuss the details of this program.

Death Suicide Ranks 10th In Texas

COLLEGE STATION, - The tenth leading cause of death in Texas last year was suicide. This grim reminder comes from Patsy Reynolds, Extension family life education specialist at Texas A&M University.

"It's ironic in a time when we spend so much money and have made so much progress against dread diseases such as tuberculosis that suicides should outrank deaths from many of these diseases," the specialist said.

Records of the Texas State Department of Health show that men took their lives three times as frequently as women. Ninety-six percent of the suicides were of the white race, and the period from 45 to 55 years of age produced the most deaths.

research on the subject, Mr. Reynolds explains. The typical suicide appears to be a white male between 45 and 55, and the time of suicide appears to be between seven and 11 o'clock on a bright sunny Monday morning. He probably has a family, but few close friends. He may be long to a club, but the chances are he doesn't attend regularly.

Most people are not prepared to counsel with a mentally disturbed person who may be contemplating suicide. "Yet we can take anyone seriously who mentions suicide, and try to see that they talk to a physician, social worker, or minister. We can take time to talk to the person who doesn't seem to have a great many friends, and we can listen to their problems," the specialist said.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Last week we were speaking of the Bracero program, the probability of it not being extended, the ill effects envisioned from the sudden loss of 200,000 farm workers, and the organization of the National Council of Agricultural Employers.

Then, just as we were about to turn to other matters, an even more ominous cloud began to broll over the same horizon in the form of two new bills introduced into the Senate by the long-time antagonist of agricultural labor users, Senator Harrison Williams, Democrat from New Jersey.

The bills, S-528 and S-529, relate to minimum wages and collective bargaining for farm workers, respectively. The first, S-528, provides that any farmer employing more than 560 man-days of hired farm labor during any one of the four preceding quarters of the year would be required to pay his hired workers not less than (1) 75 cents per hour the first year after the bill became effective; (2) 85 cents per hour the second year; (3) $1.00 per hour the third; and (4) the rate established by the Wage and Hour law (now $1.25) thereafter. Maximum hourly provisions of the Wage and Hour law (40-hour week) would not apply. Piecework rates which yielded an equivalent of the applicable minimum hourly wage to at least 90 percent of the employees would be considered as meeting the requirements of the bill.

The other, S-529, would extend to agriculture the provisions of the National Labor Relations Act as it is applied to the construction industry. For example, it would require a farmer to recognize a union as the bargaining agent for his workers and to enter into a collective bargaining contract with the union. That contract would then be enforceable by the National Labor Relations Board and the Federal courts. The terms of this farmer-union contract could:

- (1) Establish a union hiring hall by requiring farmers to fill job openings from union referrals;
- (2) Require union membership as a condition of employment within seven days of the date employment begins;
- (3) Permit a union not recognized by an election as representing a majority of the farmer's employees to bargain with the farmer; and
- (4) Specify minimum experience requirements and provide for seniority in employment to govern promotions.

Except for the construction industry (and agriculture if this bill were passed) a union hiring hall is not specifically provided for in the National Labor Relations Act, nor is an employer required to bargain with a union unless that union has been established as representing a majority of the workers by an election. By the same token, union membership is not required within seven days, but within thirty days of employment in other industries.

Obviously these bills governing employment in agriculture are unreasonable and would create havoc in the production and harvest of the nation's food and fiber. The nature of agricultural products does not lend itself to collective bargaining and the wide range of efficiency levels among farm workers precludes the setting of a minimum wage that would be equally just for all workers and all employers. Similar attempts to unionize agricultural workers and bring them under Federal minimum wage laws (many of them fathered by Senator Williams) have been made in the past and Congress has exercised admirably good judgement in turning thumbs down on all such proposals.

And, there is general belief that this same commendable judgement will continue to prevail on Capitol Hill, failing the efforts of Senator Williams and company to slip the bills by the House and Senate by means of political petting. There is talk that the Senator plans to tack S-528 and S-529 onto the tail of President Johnson's anti-poverty bill, in which case they would tend to become lost in the bickerings over the relative merits of the anti-poverty program, party politics and pressure from the Administration.

Very few, if any, bills relating to farm labor have ever been propounded with greater potential for injury to the American Farmer, and here

462 Farmers Sign For Export Cotton Acreage

A total of 462 Lamb County farmers had signed up in the cotton acreage export program when the deadline came at 5 P.M. Monday, increasing the acreage 2,378 acres over the present 1964 allotment of 195,703 acres.

This year, the new export provision in the cotton program allows a producer to grow 5 percent above his allotted acres, the cotton from this added 5 percent acreage to be sold directly to an export buyer.

Participating farmers are required to post a bond of about $100 per bale, based on their normal yield, for the acres they will grow for export. The bond will be refunded when growers furnish proof that the extra cotton was sold to an export buyer. Bonds are required within 15 days after the application for acreage. This is presenting no problem, says Lamar Aten, county ASC manager. "A number of bonds are being supplied by cotton groups, as the Plains Cotton Growers Association," said.

South Plains cotton growers are taking to the world market plan with purpose, contrary to farmers in smaller cotton areas. In these, quite often the full regular allotment is not used. Lamb County each year picks up several hundred acres of unused allotments from other Texas growers, to whom cotton growing is not a primary business.

Mr. Aten reported to the news office Tuesday afternoon that measuring of cotton acreage should begin a round June 15.

will be an excellent opportunity for the National Council of Agricultural Employers to show the color of its flag.

WARNING!

THE BOLL WEEVIL IS HERE!

A SERIOUS PROBLEM:

- ☆ BOLL WEEVILS, virtually unknown on the High Plains in 1960, have made their move. In 1963 they caused from 10 to 90 percent damage to 150,000 acres of cotton in seven of the 23 High Plains counties.
- ☆ BOLL WEEVILS have proven their ability to live through the winter noose the Castrol. They did survive the winter of 1963-64.
- ☆ BOLL WEEVILS control in infested areas of the cotton belt costs from 5 to 6 cents per pound, or $25 to $50 per acre.
- ☆ BOLL WEEVILS where they are established, cause average yield losses of 13 percent despite control efforts.
- ☆ BOLL WEEVILS have practically stopped cotton production in some areas.
- ☆ BOLL WEEVILS threaten THE ENTIRE HIGH PLAINS. THEY MUST BE STOPPED!!!

A PRACTICAL SOLUTION:

- ☆ DIAPAUSE CONTROL, according to the most eminent authorities in the U. S. CAN PROTECT THE HIGH PLAINS from the boll weevil.
- ☆ DIAPAUSE CONTROL has been proven effective in commercial operations at the Texas Farm and in the Presidio area of Texas.
- ☆ DIAPAUSE CONTROL kills weevils in the Fall of the year when they are "diapausing", or preparing for hibernation. A dead weevil can't hibernate through the winter and come out biting and scratching in the Spring.
- ☆ DIAPAUSE CONTROL is cheaper than in-season control, the need for which will be greatly reduced after 1964.
- ☆ DIAPAUSE CONTROL does not kill beneficial insects.
- ☆ DIAPAUSE CONTROL carried out over ALL infested acreage back to the range land to the East, can reduce the weevil problem to a small patching operation in just a few years.

A comprehensive plan for getting the boll weevil out of the PCG area . . . and keeping him out . . . is near completion and will be announced soon. Watch for it.
