Where's Your Pride Earth?

Visitors to a town can tell what kind of pride the citizens have by the appearance of the streets and business places. Many local business men seem to lack pride in the appearance of their business and community as a whole. It only takes one person to unbalance the system. In an effort to clean-up the city of Earth, Mayor E. C. Kelley has asked that each business man clean-up and hoe all weeds surrounding his place of business or this will be done by City employees at a cost to the businessman. The cost will be attached to water bills the following month. A clean-up of this nature will not only beautify the city but will help prevent mosquito traps

OLD ENGLISH PRAYER
This week marks our Nations Birthday, and as we Celebrate the fourth of July we can be thankful that "so many cared so much" to "live of themselves to build a nation like this, our Beloved Homeland. When this Country was yet in its infancy and survival was about the best they could hope for there were those who had a vision, a dream, a desire to carve a nation where people could live in freedom. Though hardships were many they did not lose sight of their goal. There were set backs from time to time, but there were always those who rose to the task and found a way to continue their efforts to build this land. They loved freedom, it was precious and they knew it was worth the effort. Through the years young Americans have found it necessary to rise to the aid of this country. Many have fallen in foreign fields to pay that last full measure of devotion for this land they love, for these people they love. Many wear the scars of battle as proof of their love. On this July 4, 1969 may we give thanks for our great heritage and for those who have cared enough to give their best to preserve this nation. May it always remain a nation, under God, with liberty and justice for all.

Kindergarten Meeting More Successful

Establishing a kindergarten was met with more enthusiasm this week. Approximately 20 people attended the meeting. Several temporary appointments were made. They are temporary chairman; Mrs. Charles Parish, Mrs. Ed Dawson, head of the equipment committee; Mrs. Bryan Dutton, Mrs. John Laing Jr. and Mrs. Eldon Shiffner, committee to contact interested persons. It was decided to select a temporary ten member board from Springlake-Earth to establish by-laws for the program. The next meeting will be Friday, July 11 at 10:00 a. m. in Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church. Mrs. Martha Reeves, a kindergarten teacher from Abernathy, will be guest speaker. She will give information on what equipment is needed and the approximate cost of establishing kindergarten. The public is invited to attend the meeting and seek answers to any questions they might have. All interested parents should attend. There will be a discussion on the pro and cons of asking for a deposit now, to determine how many children would attend the kindergarten if it is established.

New School Legislation Affects Local System

The need for pre-school training offered by kindergartens is not only a local concern but also a State-wide concern. Texas public schools are beginning an effort which will gradually add kindergarten programs to the state supported schools. This program will in no way interfere with the already existing private, community programs.

Age for normal students' entrance into school will remain the same for the '69-'70 school year through the end of the 1973 year. The age level will be dropped to five years, 7 months at the beginning of the 73-74 school year and remain at this level until the close of the '74-

'75 school year. Beginning in '75 the age level will be dropped to 5 years, 4 months and eventually reach a level of 5 years by 1977.

The gradual induction of a program for handicapped children will begin earlier and move at a more rapid pace. The age level for the '70-'71 year will be set at 5 years, 5 months and gradually reach age five by the 72-'73 school year.

The handicapped program seems to be a more urgent need at the present time. This program will help orient students who have difficulty in speaking or understanding the English language, those who are from low income families, or suffer

YOU HAVE THE RESPONSIBILITY—

HAPPY HOLIDAY?

We all look forward to a pleasant Fourth of July weekend. It can be for those who read this editorial carefully and benefit from it.

More than 1.7 million Americans have died in automobile accidents since 1906, when the Federal government started keeping automobile accident records. This represents a higher death toll than that of all of the nation's wars. Since 1930, more than 79 million others have been injured by cars.

This slaughter and maiming of people on our streets and highways is a blight on mankind and his survival.

In 30 years the economic loss from U.S. traffic accidents has reached an astounding $175 billion. Last year the economic loss reached a new high of $11,249,000,000 or an average of approximately $286 for each family in the United States.

More than $50 million annually has been invested by industry to educate the public on traffic safety.

However, the real answer is up to each individual. The tremendous loss of life and property must be reversed. The time to start is on this Fourth of July weekend and continue throughout the year.

We all know the rules of the road—obey them. When we are not in condition to drive—don't. We know what seat belts and shoulder harnesses are for—then use them. Always drive defensively. Be careful!

from physical deformities. The Commissioner of Education is working on details and curriculum for the program and expects plans to be completed by next year. The program will in no way affect the 1969-70 school year.

Other major developments in school legislation will combine the average daily attendance of colored and white students. This could possibly affect the teacher's allotment. Before, when the ADA was separate four teachers were allotted the school for 69 colored students. Under the new legislation it will take 100 in ADA to acquire the same four teachers.

In the past, the number of teachers was based on the ADA of the last school year but will now be based strictly on the current ADA. Bypassing on last year's ADA, Springlake-Earth Schools would be assured of 33 teachers for the coming school year but there is no assurance how many will be paid by the state on the current ADA. With a combined ADA of 815 students, 32 classroom teachers (32 teachers for 800 students) would be allotted. This provides one teacher for every 25 students. One extra teacher would be secured for the remaining 15 because this number is closer to the 25 maximum students, however, had the number dropped lower than 15 there would be no provision for a teacher.

The ADA in schools will be affected by transfers. When students move away or come into a school system, their ADA goes with other school records. If the ADA in our system dropped to 775 the state would pay teachers according to the current figure. This would cost the system two teachers and $16,000. These two items alone could cost as much as $25,000 per year.

This kind of legislation will greatly benefit growing schools. Those who lose students will be affected tremendously.

Bill Mann, Supt. of Springlake-Earth schools reports that there will be a loss of two and possibly three teachers in the elementary school for the coming school year due to drop in attendance.

With our every breath we make a decision. Every breath affirms life. Decisions are so much an integral part of us that we hardly recognize the fact that we are making them. With God's help we can build good judgment from within. We by prayerful thoughts, establish a pattern of procedure from which we are motivated. This becomes the truth about us, and we find we are alight with the light of Christ.

Fire Works Forbidden By City

Ordinance number 16, which was adopted and approved by the City of Earth in November of 1950 is still in effect today.

As the Fourth of July approaches citizens need to be reminded of the public ordinance, the rules and regulations and the fact that the ordinance will be enforced.

The ordinance makes it illegal to light, throw, toss or cast any type fireworks or explosives in the City of Earth. It makes it unlawful to sell, give away or dispose of fire works or exhibit to have in possession within the city. It is also unlawful to sell, give outside of city if such are to be brought into the city.

Violations of the ordinance will be treated as misdemeanor crimes and will carry a fine which is not to exceed $100.

This ordinance does not make public fire work displays illegal provided that they are held in favorable locations which will in no way be hazardous to property or persons and written approvals are obtained from the City Commission or fire chief. Such displays must have Police Supervision.

THE STAR-SPANGLED BANNER

Our national anthem was written by Francis Scott Key in 1814. He had witnessed the bombardment of Fort McHenry throughout the night with anxiety and when he saw the American flag still flying over the fortress in the dawn, he expressed his feelings in stirring words that will live in American history.

"... O'er The Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave!"

Since the days of our struggle for freedom, "Old Glory" has been a symbol to Americans — a symbol of unity and independence. Let's keep the principles upon which this nation was founded before us all... by flying our flag proudly

A TRIBUTE TO POLLY AND ROSS

The Earth News-Sun, owned and operated by Polly and Ross Middleton, is truly a newspaper with a heart!

(Of course, I may be a bit prejudiced, as I had the pleasure and privilege of working side by side with them for several years, receiving a firsthand insight.)

Most of us, at one time or another, have said or thought how "cold-blooded" all newspapers are. We say, "Why, they only print the sensational-the ugly part of life!" And it may seem that way, as we read of riots, war, and unrest all over the world. But let's try to think positive!

In the past, many people of Earth have asked me, "Why doesn't someone ever write anything good about what Polly and Ross have done for our community?" Well, I am accepting the challenge.

For many years (approximately 12 or 13, I would estimate) Polly and Ross Middleton have given their life in service to the Earth community and surrounding area. They have raised their two fine children here, have taken active parts in every area, including school, church, community, civic, sports, clean-up campaigns, and everything for the betterment of the town. They have laughed with the citizens in their happiness, and cried with them in their sadness and misfortunes. Many times have I seen Polly standing at the office door, with tears streaming down her cheeks in hearing of the loss of a loved one. Newspaper people have hearts, too, very tender ones, and especially the Middletons.

The personnel has searched and begged for news from every member of the community, year in and year out. No one except an employee could realize the funny and frantic rush of a dead-line.

Have you noticed, as you enter the office, the array of awards, presented for years of outstanding achievement, general excellence, column writing, advertising, pictures, etc.?

Next time you're by the ultra-modern, beautifully decorated office, take time to observe them. For a paper the size of the Earth News-Sun (or any paper), it has a remarkable record of achievement.

Most comments made to them seem to be of a negative nature-an error, something omitted, etc.; a few kind, rewarding words are made known. Proverbs 25:11 reminds us, "A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver. Let's pass on a kind thought or mention of a noble deed. It's worth a million dollars, and doesn't cost a cent!"

Considering the breaking down of machinery, the loss of a typist, a writer, an advertising man, a machine operator, or illness in the family, the Middletons, working day and late into the night, rarely failed to publish the paper on time. That, in itself, is quite a record. And it is so exciting to receive the paper, with news of good friends, community activities, and good news. Of course, all of the news cannot be good, because bad news does occur, and a newspaper must print the news as it happens.

Credit also belongs to everyone associated with the office, including, as well, the correspondents, who send in their news from outlying areas. It takes team-work, and hard work! With sincere appreciation, I, personally, thank them for the various quiet deeds which they perform. They assist the aged and the handicapped; are friends of the young (for they, too, are young at heart), and do many wonderful things which they would not dare brag about.

*Copied from "Apples of Gold", compiled by Jo Petty, but appropriate.

"If there is righteousness in the heart, there will be beauty in the character. If there is beauty in the character, there will be harmony in the home. If there is harmony in the home, there will be order in the nation. If there is order in the nation, there will be peace in the world."

There are so many wonderful people in the Earth area, so much for which to be thankful-the good, rich soil, beautiful churches, well-equipped modern schools, fine farmers and towns-people and merchants, and ah yes, that fine Earth News-Sun, our newspaper with a heart!

"I Am Your Flag"

I am more than just a piece of cloth shaped into a design. I am the refuge of the world's oppressed people. I am the silent sentinel of freedom, I am the emblem of the greatest Sovereign Nation on earth. I am the inspiration for which American patriots gave their lives and fortunes.

I have led your sons into battle from Valley Forge to the bloody ridges of Korea and the rice paddies and swamps and jungles of South Vietnam. I walk in silence with each of your honored dead to their final resting place beneath the silent White Crosses, row upon row. I have flown in peace and war, strife and prosperity, and in all times I have been respected.

My red stripes are symbols of the blood spilled in defense of this Glorious Nation. My white stripes signify tears shed by Americans who lost their sons. My blue field is indicative of God's Heaven of which I fly under. My stars clustered together unify 50 states as one for God and Country. "Old Glory" is my nickname and proudly I wave on high.

Hippies Eating Jungle Stew Rodeo Queen Candidates Named Or Day Campers?

If you saw approximately 46 girls "roughing it" or smelled "jungle stew" cooking this past week, it was not a group of hippies but rather a group of young Day Campers from the Girl Scouts and Brownies camping at the Bob Belew home.

The girls who participated in the Day Camp, June 23-27, found it a very worth while experience. They learned many new and exciting facts about nature, outdoor cooking, cooperation and respect for each other.

Each group involved enjoyed hiking trips and outdoor cooking projects which proved to be very educational.

Mrs. Sam Barden and Mrs. Wayne Davis supervised the Third grade group in checking the weather, opening and closing a knife and how to correctly pass a hatchet.

If you need the recipe for Jungle Stew just ask this group of Brownies. They enjoyed the tasty dish made of ground beef, onion, macaroni, ranch beans and tomato sauce. This was topped by cherry cobbler for dessert.

The group also tried their skill in cooking chicken-n-dumplings. The Jr. Girl Scouts, lead by Mrs. Dwayne Jones learned painting skills and whittled lumpy sticks to make rhythm with their songs and chants. The group enjoyed a hike to the park. During the hike they collected items for their collage board, which was a project of the group.

The cookout featured hamburgers, a la foil, cherry cobbler, ground beef and beans.

Mrs. Doug Lewis helped the first year Brownies learn to appreciate the outdoor world by taking them on a hike which ended with a tour of the Earth Post Office. Many in the group had never had the experience of seeing mail processed or safes. It proved very interesting and educational.

They learned to cook hamburgers and french fries over a camp fire and how to cool in summer heat with home made ice cream. The real skill test in cooking came when the group cooked braised tips of beef and baked corn on the cob.

The Day Camp came to a close with a group of tired young ladies who were proud of their accomplishments and fond of new memories and friends.

The final program was the Fly-Up Ceremony held on Friday, June 27.

Each participant received a World Association Pin, Membership Stars and Discs, Needle Craft Badges and other badges and promotions which were earned by different members.

A swimming party and wicker roast at the home of Mrs. Dale Riggs, Camp Director, concluded the week long activities.

DEFENSE LEGACY—"We have the constitutional concept of the civilian man being over the military man," said Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.). "I think it is important to keep that constitutional authority that way, and we should not disturb it. But the man in uniform, I believe, has a more sacred feeling as to what happens than many of our people who wear civilian clothes. I may be criticized for defending the man in the military, but I shall continue to do it because we have trained him, we have encouraged him to go to school, and we have hired him, because of his know-how, to do a certain job . . . and I would rather abide by the decisions of the military, mixed with civilian ideas, than depend entirely upon the civilians."

Swimming Party

Greg Slover, Scott Alexander and Carla Sulser entertained their friends with a swimming party at the Earth Pool Saturday, June 28.

After swimming the group enjoyed sandwiches, chips and dips, cold drinks, and ice cream bars at the Norman Sulser home. Games of Ping Pong and Volley Ball were played also.

Guests were Becky Littleton, Janet Britton, Donnie Wheat, Hollis Daniel, Regina Cole, Milton Dawson, Karen Hinchcliffe, Criss Dent, Chris Brock, LaDonna Sigman, Mike Cleavinger, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Slover, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Alexander, and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sulser.

Another note women over 25 will be happy about is the return of pearls to high fashion. There is really nothing more flattering to any complexion, or costume color.

According to designers, chains have lost their pull, diamonds may no longer be a girl's best friend, and gold diggers don't "dig" it any more.

If you want to be in the fashion swim, you'll take the plunge with pearls. Big, little, smooth or baroque, real, fake, white or rose, gray or almost black, anything goes in the newest pearl craze. Just be sure to wear them big—either in the size of the pearl or the number of strands.

James Earle Fraser designed our Buffalo nickel. His signature, a prominent "F", appears below the date on the obverse side. It is cut into the field through the date is raised.

Laura Fraser, his wife, designed the Grant Commemorative and the Oregon Trail half dollar.

John Sinnock created the Sesquicentennial of American Independence half dollar in 1925. His signature is a plain "J. S."

Later he designed the Roosevelt dime and the Franklin half dollar.

Milton Berle Awards Clown College Diplomas

Milton Berle, one of the world's most famous funny men, welcomed seven newcomers to the business of making people laugh when he awarded diplomas to graduates of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus' College of Clowns this past weekend.

The happy event occurred at Houston's Astrohall where The Greatest Show on Earth is presenting two performances daily through September the Circus last fall to train young men in the pantomimic arts, is the only school of its kind in the world. Although the "new grads" have been appearing in the Circus since the current season started in mid-March, the presentation of diplomas by Mr. Berle was the first official recognition of their new degree, Master of Mirth.

In his remarks to the young clowns, Mr. Berle said, "In this time of trouble and discontent in our nation, there is a greater than ever need for young people to enter the business of laughter. You have chosen a noble profession. Be good at it and it will be good to you."

Specialist Predicts Change In Supermarket In '75

College Station, -In the 1975 supermarket, homemakers will be able to buy portion-controlled sized meat cuts, predicts Dr. Frank Orts, Extension meats specialist at Texas A&M University.

The meat package also may have the calorie count on it, he says and will be frozen to eliminate rewrapping and freezing for the home freezer.

Portion-controlled size cuts now are used in restaurants and institutions.

Medium-sized food stores will disappear in a trend toward small neighborhood stores for quick shopping trips and convenience buying and large multi-department food stores within a one and one-half mile radius for weekly shopping, predicts Orts on other market trends.

He reports on a recent Supermarket Institute Convention.

Battle Over Payment Limitation Continues

Big guns are being rolled to the front for a continuation of the battle over individual payment limitations on 1970 Government farm programs.

The fight broke out in the House a few weeks ago when Congressman Silvio Conte (R-Mass.) and Paul Findley (R-Ill.) introduced an amendment to the Agriculture Appropriations Act which would limit payments to any one farmer to a maximum of $20,000. When the smoke settled on May 27 the House had adopted the Conte-Findley amendment on a roll call vote of 224 to 142.

On the same day the House passed and sent to the Senate the Appropriations Bill in toto by a vote of 321 to 50.

The Bill has now cleared the full Senate Appropriations Committee, without the limitations feature.

And word came down from Washington June 26 that Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield (D-Montana) had secured unanimous consent in the Senate for debate to be held on July 1 and 2 and the vote to be taken on July 7.

Appropriations Subcommittee Chairman Spessard Holland (D-Fla.), who will manage the Bill on the Senate floor, had previously said debate was to be on July 7 and 8 with a vote following about July 9.

The new schedule is obviously a part of the strategy planned for passage of a payment limitation amendment. Majority Leader Mansfield has favored limitations in the past and by his failure to go along with Senate Holland's recommended schedule he has indicated that he will continue that stand.

Key to the strategy is to have both the debate and the vote on the Appropriations Bill come at a time when many Senators will be absent—a condition almost certain to prevail on the days immediately preceding and following the July 4 recess.

Not only is July 7 the first day of work for the Senators after the Independence Day recess, it is also a Monday. And the old saying that goes around in Mexico to the effect that "even the hens don't lay on Monday" is no less true in Washington.

When the payment limitations vote was called to a standing vote in the House on Monday, May 26, only 177 of the 436 Representatives were present. It carried by 93 to 84. By the next day, Tuesday, when the roll call vote taken, 366 Congressmen were on hand. And many of those who were absent on the Monday vote were "friends" of agriculture who subsequently voted against limitations.

It is for this reason, according to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., that everyone with an interest in sound farm programs should contact his Senator and urge him to be on hand for the debate and the vote that is coming in the Senate. "While the Bill will be 'clean' when it hits the Senate floor, it won't stay clean for long. Senator John J. Williams (R-Del.) offered a $20,000 limitations amendment when the bill was in Committee, and he will introduce it again from the floor. Rumor has it that he will first try for a $20,000 limit, then move on up to $50,000, $100,000, or even higher. If he is successful in getting a limitations amendment passed at any figure it will force the House-Senate Conference Committee to negotiate some sort of limit on payments.

An unofficial poll of Senators reveals 47 commitments to vote against a $20,000 limitation. And if all these are present for the vote, such an amendment can be defeated. Heavy votes in the Senate seldom exceed 80. What isn't known is how many of these Senators will "stay hitched" if the limiting amendment is moved up to a higher figure.

Also expected on the Senate floor is an amendment along the lines of a proposal by former Undersecretary of Agriculture John Schnitker.

His idea is to limit payments under 1970 farm programs to $10,000, repeal the "snap-back" clause for cotton, and permit overplanting of allotments by those producers whose payments are reduced 20 percent or more by reason of the limitation.

Put simply, Schnitker would like to write a new farm program for 1970, ignoring the action of Congress late last year when it extended the Agriculture Act of 1965 to December 31, 1970.

Such an amendment, however,

Census Of Buying And Home Improvements Here In July

Households in this area will be included in a nationwide survey of consumer buying and home improvement expectations during July. Director Francis H. Wilmer of the Census Bureau's regional office in Denver announced today.

Householders will be asked whether they expect to buy a house, car or major appliances during the next year and whether they have made recent purchases of these items. Homeowners will be asked about home improvements and repairs during the last three months and any planned for the future.

The survey is taken quarterly or any amendment which repealed the cotton "snap-back" clause, would be enacting new legislation as an amendment to an Appropriations Bill. Precedent would indicate that this procedure is not permissible in the Senate unless approved by a two-thirds majority vote.

This possibility is considered highly unlikely, assuming that a fair smattering of "friendly" Senators show up for roll call on Monday, July 7.

If too many are caught politicking at home on July 7, the date could well become known in farm circles as the "black Monday" when agriculture's friends in the Senate fiddled away a perfectly good farm program.

throughout the Nation to gather information that will guide Federal agencies and other groups with programs based on consumer spending patterns.

In the most recent survey of the series, taken in April, U. S. families indicated that their plans for buying houses and cars were about the same level as a year earlier, but on the average they expect to buy more household appliances and furnishings.

Households included in the July survey will not be identified. All answers are kept confidential by the Census Bureau, and information obtained in the survey will be used only for statistical purposes.

The Census Bureau representative who will visit households in this area is Mrs. Rosemary McNeese of Amherst.

Residents Roast, Crops Flourish

The summer heat may result in "roasted residents" before the heat wave slackens. Although citizens may be suffering, crops in the area are enjoying the hot, dry conditions.

The first official day, of summer kicked off the heat wave with a temperature high of 106 recorded in Lubbock June 21.

Present weather conditions are ideal for the young cotton crops with the exception of high winds and sand. Grain will root deeper for moisture as a result of dry conditions.

Because of moisture evaporation caused by heat and wind, many farmers will be cranking up irrigation wells to supply water for scorching plants.

Although farmers in the area have suffered hail, there will still be great quantities of cotton and grain produced in this area if the weather trends continue.

Texas Legislature Praises TAP Promotional Program

Austin--The first growing TAP promotional program has drawn the official praise of the 61st Legislature through resolutions adopted unanimously on the floors of the two chambers.

Both the House of Representatives and Senate went on record in support of the Texas Department of Agriculture's TAP program designed to make Texas Agricultural Products (TAP) the most sought-after in all markets, from the consumer to the foreign buyer.

State Rep. W. S. Heatly of Paducah sponsored the House resolution and Sen. Charles Herring of Austin and W. T. Moore of Bryan cosponsored the Senate legislation, calling the program the realization of a long time dream of Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Both resolutions praise the Department, the TAP Program and numerous supporters throughout the state who have cooperated in making the campaign a success.

The TAP program involves promotion at all levels of Texas Agricultural Products, with special emphasis on different products each two-month period. The Department prepares inserts promoting the products for bands and utilities to include in their statements each month, places billboards along Texas highways, puts up promotional materials in 10,000 grocery stores, all urging the use of Texas Agricultural Products.

Home economists meet with housewives throughout the state, appear on radio and television and take part in food-o-ramas promoting TAP and the food to be emphasized, and recipes from the Department of Agriculture are made available.

The still young program has now proved very successful at the consumer level and has been enlarged to include foreign trade. Marketing Specialists only recently returned from a trip to the Far East where Texas Agricultural Products were exhibited in the world's largest food fair.

The Department specialists stopped in Taiwan, Japan, Thailand, and Australia promoting TAP and seeking new markets.

The resolutions praise this all-encompassing program and such supporters as the Texas Outdoor Advertising Association, communications media, Texas Cattle Feeders Association and other associations.

INDEPENDENCE DAY

As we observe Independence Day, we may fittingly celebrate with festivity, for it is indeed a day to be happy. But along with the picnics, the trips and all the carefree pleasures of the Fourth of July, let us remember that, above all, this is a day to commemorate with prayer and thanksgiving, for our God-given rights and for our forefathers' steadfastness in upholding those rights. Let us affirm our faith in the principles and process of personal liberty, and let us pledge to be ever resolute in the cause of freedom. ★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

They are participating in a Basic Education Graphics Workshop Monday through Thursday from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. in the Media Division of the ESC, located in the lower level of the Citizens Motor Bank.

The workshop is being taught by David Cobb, audio-visual coordinator at Estacado High School in Lubbock and is one of a series of ten such workshops conducted this summer by the ESC.

The twelve teachers involved in the workshop this week are developing skills in dry mounting, lettering techniques, layout and composition.

Gerald Roger, director of media and technology for the Region XVII ESC, said that no stipend or college credit is being offered and that no tuition is charged. The participants made application for the workshop during the spring semester.

The instructor, facilities, and all materials are furnished by ESC. Materials created in the workshop become the property of the participant.

Beardless Shavers Are Razor Borrowers

Chicago-If the truth be known, beardless shavers are as American as apple pie.

Among women between the ages of 14 and 44, 98 percent shave their legs or under their arms or both, according to a report by an American Medical Association committee. But there's a generation gap; in the over-45 group, only 70 percent remove "excessive" hair.

The report notes that "shaving by women in other countries is decidedly limited."

Although the report reveals a hitherto-unsuspected dedication to hairlessness among women, or a hitherto-unsuspected abundance of hairy legs (depending on the interpretation), it confirms a familiar male accusation--women do indeed borrow their men's razors.

The statistical breakdown looks like this; about 45 percent use borrowed safety razors, and four percent use such other methods as wax or chemical depilatories. Most women shave about twice a week.

Dermatologists note that women frequently use dainty rather than efficient shaving methods, shaving dry or using only water, inserting dull cast-off blades, ignoring bloody nicks. Instead, the doctors suggest, women should copy male shaving techniques, including the use of shaving cream or lather, fresh blades, and styptic pencils. Users of electric shavers should use a pre-shave lotion to help remove perspiration. In other words, ladies, don't limit your borrowing to razors!

Study Underway To Reduce Cost Of Seedbed Preparation

Private Funds For Overseas Capital Urged

The Administration's proposal for a federally created Overseas Private Investment Corporation, recommended by President Nixon in a foreign-aid message to Congress, has been endorsed by the National Association of Manufacturers.

The proposed corporation, which would be managed by private citizens, was one innovation in the foreign-aid program suggested by the White House. Its purpose would be to encourage private investors to put money in developments abroad. The proposal accompanied a request for funding for the whole aid program, which was the smallest figure requested in the program's history.

Early visual results of a planting process that could reduce the cost of annual seedbed preparation and substantially reduce the number of manhours required for establishing a crop looks encouraging at the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway.

Dennis Mooney, assistant agronomist, explained that the study involves planting cotton and grain sorghum in crop stubble that remain from last season's crop with no seedbed preparation.

In two separate studies underway at the Foundation, cotton has been planted single-row between two rows of grain sorghum stubble shredded to about 4 inches in height. Double-row sorghum has also been planted on cotton stubble with no seedbed preparation.

Mooney reports that the cotton in the study, planted May 19, looks as good as Foundation cotton planted a week earlier. One and one-half pints of Paraquat combined with 1.5 pounds of Caparol in 30 gallons of water were sprayed on the cotton immediately after planting to control weeds. Mooney said the contact herbicide provided 100 percent initial control, but that some regrowth has occurred recently.

The only problem encountered in planting in the sorghum stubble seedbed was trash preventing penetration of the double disk planter. Mooney solved this problem by putting a 6 inch sweep ahead of the planter to move this trash out of the way.

In the sorghum study, 1.5 pounds of Propanil plus 1.5 pints of Paraquat in 30 gallons of water per acre were applied immediately after planting to control weeds. "For some unknown reason, the weed kill was not as effective in the cotton stubble as in the sorghum stubble", Mooney said. He pointed out that the herbicides effectively controlled small weeds, but the control of some larger weeds was not total in the sorghum study.

Wind and sand protection provided for the seedling cotton by the 4 inch grain sorghum stubble is expected to be the most important part of the entire study. Damage to seedling cotton by sand and wind is one of the greatest hazards faced by cotton producers and the sorghum stubble has so far provided complete protection.

One explanation to the encouraging results is offered by Dr. Tom Longnecker, Foundation Director. He said that grain sorghum roots equal in weight the above ground part of the plant and these roots in the soil provide a better seedbed than can be produced by mechanical means.

"We are encouraged that this can become a practical way of planting cotton and sorghum in this area, thereby saving farmers the usual $15 to $18 per acre seedbed preparation cost," Longnecker said.

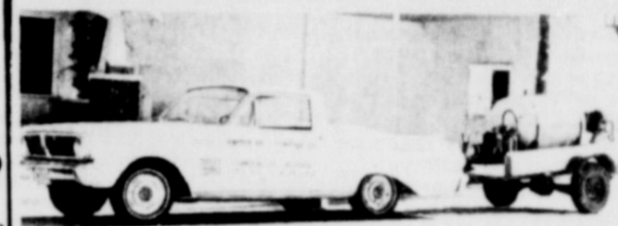

God created us with infinite potential to be a self-motivated, forward looking, positive-minded individual. In looking beyond the mists of doubts, fears, and anxieties, we will find new and miraculous ways to use our power that comes from the Spirit. Minimize the appearance of negation, and real opportunities for growth, progress and success will be revealed.

What do you see when you look at the word America? What mental pictures do the seven letters create in your mind?

To me the capital letter "A" suggests our magnificent snow-covered mountain peaks, and the wigwams of the original Americans.

The letter "m" symbolizes the broad shoulders of our pioneers; shoulders-to-the-wheel pushing our frontiers westward; broad shoulders swinging axes, building a Nation.

The letter "e" might be the lariats of the cowboys riding the plains; lariats of Kit Carson or Buffalo Bill.

The letter "r" is a man with hand outstretched in friendship and cooperation toward all who love freedom, justice and peace.

The letter "i" represents the individual American with his rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

The letter "c" is a bent bow from which an arrow has just sped toward the stars of mankind's highest ideals.

The final letter "a" is a man on his knees in prayer, symbolizing a Nation which recognizes its Creator and gives thanks for His blessings.

Yes, America is a beautiful word.

Special Exhibit Opens Sunday In Museum At Lubbock

"You've Come A Long Way, Lady", a special exhibit prepared by the Historical Costumes and Collections Committee of the Women's Council of the West Texas Museum Association, opens Sunday, July 6 in the Museum art gallery.

Fashionable feminine attire for special occasions, as reflected through the past one hundred years, is the theme of the show. From the "nice" dress of crinoline, hoops and many petticoats, for wear to church in the 1860's, the fashion parade takes viewers through the decades to the "roaring twenties," when the flapper in her boyish figure defied traditional concepts of elegance and skirts were short.

Each mannequin is posed by a larger-than-life drawing of the modern counterpart of the fashion. In 1909, when new fashions were introduced as the sport of motoring became popular, linen dusters worn over dresses, and hats tied on with long veils were de rigueur. This contrasts with a drawing of a 1969 "mod" model in crash helmet and boots, posed by her motorcycle.

The background drawings were executed by Mrs. Hoyce McMurry of Lubbock, a member of the Women's Council.

Party clothes, a tennis costume, a ball gown, the hobble skirt, and the "Gibson Girl" look are all included in the exhibit.

Side-saddle riding skirts of the 1898 era were always worn with hats and gloves. The "bathing dress" seems ludicrous contrasted with today's bikini.

The exhibit will be open to the public from 9 a. m. - 5 p. m. daily, and 2-5 p. m. on Sundays, through July and August.

Mrs. H. Earl Archer is chairman of the committee, and Mrs. Robert E. Martin is vice chairman. Costume consultant is Miss Mabel Erwin.

Mrs. C. Paul Mills, assistant curator of collections, coordinated the exhibit. Miss Axtell at All-good designed the graphics.

New York-It's child play for the average child to open most containers of medicine and to swallow a potentially dangerous dose.

This has been established by a team of pediatricians who, searching for child-proof packaging, brought together several hundred children and different types of packages containing attractive candy pellets or mock aspirins.

Confronted with a screw cap bottle, the children, ranging in age from 18 months to four years, needed less than 10 minutes to seize and swallow 10 capsules. The popular snap-type "safety caps" proved almost as accessible. Very young children were defeated by medicine packed in strips but most four-year-olds attained their goal in a few minutes.

Most child-proof of the packaging proved to be the blister pack, in which tablets mounted on a card are individually covered with hard, bubbles-shaped transparent plastic, and palm-and-turn (pressure release) caps. These provide virtual inaccessibility to children of the poison-prone age.

Do You Have Wedding Ring Rash?

Wilmington, Del. -If you suddenly develop a rash under your wedding ring, is this a sign that all is not well with your marriage?

Some psychologically-oriented doctors favor this explanation, but a woman doctor takes a prosaic view. In a letter to a medical journal, Dr. Bernadine Z. Paulshock reasons this way: take a young woman, put a wedding ring on her, place her in the kitchen to wash the breakfast, lunch and support dishes day after day, add several pounds as the years pass "distributed from head to toes, including the ring finger," then notice the itchy rash under the wedding ring. That's Wedding Ring Dermatitis, caused by dishpan detergent trapped beneath the tightening band.

And what if your rash appears only under the wedding ring and not under other rings you're wearing? Paging Dr. Paulshock.

Crude Oil Output For County Is 10,485,471

Texas, the nation's leading oil producer, has yielded more than 21 billion barrels of oil during the past 79 years of recorded production, according to the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

This has meant a statewide distribution of income which currently averages about $3.4 billion a year. With 207 of the state's 254 counties producing crude oil, each section of the state is marked by several prolific fields. Texas' daily oil production is more than 1.1 million barrels.

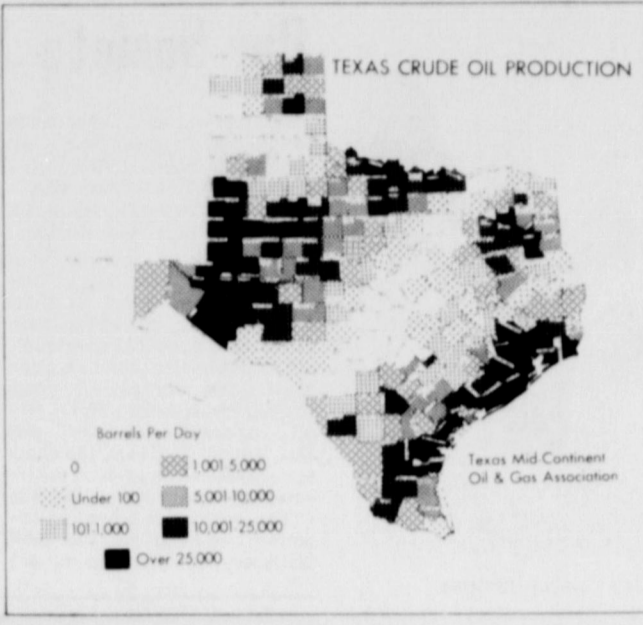

"More investment is needed to find new oil fields to replace those now being depleted," says Corbin J. Robertson, Association president. "By the end of this century the demand for oil and gas will have doubled. Between now and 1980, some $200 billion will have to be spent to find enough energy to continue our present standard of living and guarantee national security. Clearly, the country today needs policies which will stimulate the drilling of more wells. Our reserves are shrinking."

Lamb County, which has had recorded production since 1945 has had a total crude oil output of 10,485,471 barrels up to the beginning of 1969. Lamb County production in 1968 was 714,036 barrels at the rate of 1,951 barrels a day.

Texas has 36 counties scattered over the state which produced at the rate of 25,000 barrels or more per day. The three largest are: Andrews, 203,520 barrels per day; Ector, 172,654 barrels per day; and Crane, 128,839 barrels per day.

Gregg County is the only county that has produced more than two billion barrels of oil. Andrews, Ector and Rusk counties have produced more than one billion barrels of oil.

Target Rifle Competition Narrows Generation Gap

Carlisle, Pennsylvania—Direct social benefits are seldom evident in sports shooting programs, but a junior rifle club at the Army War College here has discovered that its small bore rifle program for youngsters has had a tremendous effect on improving parent-child relationships.

Fathers and mothers who admit that their children are at ages that sometimes hampered communications, have found a new way to reinforce or renew family ties with their teenage youngsters.

The Carlisle Barracks Junior 133 boys and girls during the current shooting season (which runs from September to May) and ages vary from one 8-year-old to one 19-year-old. The majority of junior riflemen are in the 12 and 13 age bracket.

Incorporated in the club's General Shooting Rules in the specific requirement that "Each shooter will have an adult coach (parent) at all shooting sessions." This carries out the theme of one of the club's objectives—adult sponsorship with joint adult-youth participation.

Other aims of the organization are to improve the knowledge and skill of its members in matters of the proper care, use and handling of small bore rifles, the use and management of target shooting ranges and promotion of individual and team competitions.

Sports shooting is one of the many activities for youngsters by Post Youth Activities of Carlisle Barracks.

Enthusiasm for the program comes from not only the young target shooters but fathers and mothers too.

Col. William Higgins, a 27-year Army veteran, who comes from Detroit, Mich., has three sons. Mike, 22, is attending the University of Virginia and fires on a small bore rifle team with an Army Reserve unit; Jim, 17, and John, 13, are both active in the Carlisle Junior Club.

"My wife, Mary, and I have found target shooting an ideal meeting ground with our boys," Colonel Higgins said.

"There comes a time," the Colonel went on, "when a father's halo begins to wear off. As a boy enters his teens the involuntary child's obedience disappears and at this state, if he is to develop into a well-rounded young man, it must be supplanted by willful acceptance."

"Through the shooting program, we have found a common language with our sons and an opportunity to work with them in an endeavor which is rewarding to them and satisfying to us."

Jim, a high school senior, who has acquired his Distinguished Expert Badge, highest honor a junior shooter can obtain, echoes his father's sentiments.

"When I first began target shooting, Dad would give me coaching advice and from time to time I would vary it on my own," the young marksman related. "But I found out he was usually right. Sometimes another adult coaches me and I've developed confidence in accepting their advice."

"I think that this has helped me in talking about other things with my parents. Shooting discussions sometimes give me a springboard to bring up other matters and talk about them."

"With John in the program there's a lot of talk at our house about target shooting and I like the idea of my folks behind me when I'm on the range practicing or firing in a match."

The shooting program is under the general supervision of Col. LeRoy Strong, an officer who has a solid background in marksmanship. Before going to Carlisle he had served as the Director of Civilian Marksmanship for the National Board for Promotion of Rifle Practice in Washington and was an adult sponsor of the Acoms—two-time national junior champions. His 13-year-old daughter, Sandi, has almost completed shooting for her Distinguished Expert award.

But, despite his experience, he admits that he was surprised at the effectiveness of the club's program.

"I have always been interested primarily in developing expert shooters," he said. "And I didn't think that this could be done through the parent-child instruction program. But I have changed my goals as far as this club is concerned now that I see the tremendous benefits derived from this method. And surprisingly enough, we are producing a good many top-notch marksmen. We have qualified four for their Distinguished Expert Badge and six other are likely to attain it."

From his vantage point as Club Instructor, Colonel Strong has been able to see the strengths and weaknesses of the program.

"The fathers involved in the program has to be convinced that they should put aside the methods of high power shooting techniques. As coaches for their sons and daughters, they have discovered the overriding need for psychology, subtlety and patience. To foster the parent-youth relationship we hold a parent-junior match each year. Here the two fire together as a team and the match is always one of the high points of the year."

Are there weaknesses in the type program being conducted by the War College club?

"Weakness may not be the best word," Colonel Strong states.

"Competitive shooting, like all forms of competitive sport, tend to draw out a person's normal personality traits. Some individuals want to win more than others; some parents want their youngster to improve too rapidly, or attain a skill level that they really aren't capable of attaining—at least not for many training sessions yet to come. This sometimes causes problems."

"But since the shooting sessions are attended by all parents, many of these personality problems tend to work out. After all, most of these officers have known each other for years and can discuss matters rather easily with each other. I doubt that the parent-child coaching system is the best way to produce top notch competitive shooters—but I will vouch for its effectiveness in drawing families closer together."

Young John Battiste, at 16 already a Distinguished Expert Rifleman, one of the top products of the club program, will also vouch for the program.

"Dad (Col. John Battiste) makes most of the sessions with me, but when he can't then mother is here. My sister Elizabeth has done some target shooting too."

July 15 School Transfer Deadline

The new deadline for the 1969-70 school year for making transfer requests from one public school district in Texas to another is July 15.

A recent bulletin from the Texas Education Agency states that a recent law enacted by the Texas Legislature makes July 15 the final date for transfer application for the upcoming school year.

New guidelines concerning transfer of pupils and the revised policy as stated by the Texas Education Agency are as follows:

"Any child other than a high school graduate who is at least six years of age and under 21 years of age at the beginning of any scholastic year may transfer from his school district of residence to another Texas school district provided:

(1) The request for such transfer by the parent, guardian or person having lawful control of child is filed in duplicate with the proposed receiving district on or before June 1 immediately preceding the school year for the 1969-70 school year for which such transfer is requested) filing date for the 1969-70 school year only shall be July 15, 1969) and (2) The proposed receiving district agrees to accept the transfer."

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

Choose this day whom you will serve... as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord—(Josh. 24:15).

We must not be dismayed by appearances, or shaken in faith when things do not turn out just as we had hoped or planned. Stand firm in the truth. There is only one presence and one power in our lives and our world, God, the good omnipotent. Let us stand firm in the truth, and not be afraid to trust God utterly.

Mars, The Topic For July At Museum

Mars is the most controversial planet, and is no doubt the planet most studied by astronomers. Noted for its red color, the planet is nearly fifty times brighter when it is at its closest point to earth.

"Mars, the Red Planet" is the topic for the July Planetarium program each Sunday at 3 p. m. in West Texas Museum's "Theatre of the Skies."

Is there any life on Mars? Do intelligent beings exist there? Do animals roam its surface? Is there any form of vegetable life?

Some argue that the apparent structure of the canals on its surface could only be achieved by intelligent creatures. There are diametrically opposed views the markings are due to cracks formed when the planet was in process of rapid cooling.

Mars has two tiny satellites, Phobos (Fear) and Deimos (Panic), named for the two mythological companions of Mars, the god of war.

A trip to Mars, only 25,000,000 miles from the Earth, would take some 200 days after launching.

The fascinating planet with its mysteries to man will be discussed in the weekly lecture-demonstration.

Admission is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Pre-school children are not admitted to the Planetarium programs.

Members of the West Texas Museum Association are admitted by membership card. Membership is open to everyone, and information may be obtained at the Museum on the Texas Tech campus.

"Travel Addicts" Are Quite Common In Our Society Today

Washington, D.C. -For some people, getting away from it all becomes a diseased alternative to coping with everyday life.

And, say two officials of the local Travelers Aid Society, "travel addicts" are far from uncommon, numbering an estimated 2,000 cases in their chapter alone or about two-thirds of the annual caseload.

In a scientific paper on people who rely on repeated "crisis flights," Miss Catherine C. Hiatt, executive director, and Mrs. Ruth E. Spurlock, the chapter's case work supervisor, characterize travel addicts like this: "The destination is both unimportant and nebulous, the quest is illusory, and there are no satisfactions upon arrival anywhere."

PAIN-KILLER

Just as other people may use alcohol or narcotics, travel addicts use chronic wandering as an escape from reality, a way to relieve temporarily psychic aches and pains. As Miss Hiatt and Mrs. Spurlock point out, travel involves its own kind of disequilibrium.

But travel addicts are different from gypsies or hoboes, the two observers believe. Gypsies have a cultural and hoboes in individual identity, whereas chronic wanderers are trying to flee from themselves. They are distinguishable too in their painful childhoods. Miss Hiatt and Mrs. Spurlock say travel addicts have usually been emotionally deprived as youngsters, brought up in a foster home or institution, or orphaned, or deserted by their mother or too rigidly confined as adolescents.

TREATMENT

Travelers Aid and its psychiatric consultants try to help the troubled wanderer by dealing with the current crisis, what-shalling the patient's inner strengths. Some of the wanderers are helped to return to their homes. Many have left mental hospitals or psychiatric outpatient clinics. But, say the investigators, some wanderers must be helped to continue their travels. These addicts function fairly well while in transit but fall apart definitively when forced to remain stationary.

Mrs. Troy Blackburn and Bobby Jan were in Oklahoma City last week for allergy check ups.
