Meeting Tuesday Gives Description Of "What Scouting Really Is"

A meeting Tuesday 1 p.m. in the community building was held to kick off the organization of our Boy Scout Independent Campaign. Mr. Phil Raught, Chairman answered the question "What is Scouting?" this way: "Whether there is war or peace Prosperity or depression, the Boy Scout Movement is for all boys regardless of race, creed, color or economic level, Catholic, Jew, and Protestant find tolerance, reverence, patriotism, and self-respect as part of the fundamental lessons of Scouting. Scouting appeals to rural boys as well as urban boys, Boys join Scouting to have fun, however, to become a Scout a boy must voluntarily accept and carry out in his daily life the ideals of Scouting. Scouting trains a boy for useful participating citizenship. Scouting encourages a boy's interest and directs his attention to a wide range of hobbies, vocations, and professions. It is fitting that all adults in communities where Scout units are to be found, contribute their financial support to the Scouting program. Forty-six young men and women were commissioned on August 10 in Richmond, Virginia, as the first missionary journeymen of the Baptist Foreign Mission Board. Among those forty-six commissioned was James W. Rinker, Elmore City, Oklahoma, a former teacher in the Springlake-Earth School during the '63-'64 school term, leaving Springlake-Earth School, he went to Plainview where he was an elementary teacher for one year. JAMES M. RINKER

The Missionary Journeyman Program is a category of special overseas service, begun this year by the Baptist Foreign Mission Board for single college graduates who do not feel called to a missionary career but who have dedicated the talents and vocations to Christ and are willing to serve overseas for two years. Under the direction and supervision of career missionaries, they will perform tasks to meet critical needs and will share their Christian Faith. The 46 missionary journeymen completed eight weeks of intensive training in Richmond on August 14. They reached their posts of duty in the 27 countries and were slated to reach in early September.

The Foreign Mission Board anticipates the employment of 100 journeymen a year by 1968. At present it has an overseas staff of 2,033 (including 101 persons employed under various short-term categories). These are at work in 58 countries.

FFA Pig Sale Saturday Nets $8,039.50

The FFA pig sale netted a total of eight thousand thirty nine dollars and fifty cents ($8,039.50) from the sale of the 235 pigs sold Saturday during the third annual pig sale in the local FFA barn. This gave a total average of $34.45 average pig sold.

The champion pig of the sale was a Hampshire belonging to Lonnie Dear. This fine pig was sold to Jerry Jones of the local FFA Chapter for $140.00. The reserve champion of the show was a Hampshire belonging to D. Manfree of the Lazbuddie FFA Chapter. This pig sold for $80.00 to Richard Beaton. Charles Astell was owner of the champion Berkshire pig which was sold to Gene Jones for $75.00.

The champion Chester belonged to Loy Clark of the Lazbuddie FFA. This pig brought $67.50 from the Olton FFA who purchased it. Bobby Gleason also of the Lazbuddie FFA Chapter exhibited the champion Duroc. He was sold to Lewis Scoggins of Muleshoe for $62.50. The champion Cross pig, owned by Jerry Jones brought $50.00 from the Olton FFA purchaser of the pig.

Judges of the local pig sale were Vocational Agriculture teachers, Max Malone of Olton and Lonnie Tucker of Hart. Local breeders and their sales are as follows: Ken Dawson (5 head) $33.00 average; Jerry Jones (35 head) $38.00 average; Gene Jones (12 head) $26.46 average; D. Montgomery (20 head) $32.55 average; Charles Astell (37 head) $37.90 average; Bob Phipps (8 head) $36.50 average; Lonnie Dear (3 head) $140.00 average; Jerry Townsend (8 head) $21.29 average; and Bob Coker (6 head) approximately $29.00.

The local FFA boys will receive approximately $350.00 additional money derived from the commission fee brought in by the sale. The sale was highly successful as approximately 200 buyers and spectators attended. Many buyers commented that it was the highest quality offering of any sale they had attended. This was reflected by the extra high prices paid for the swine. Doug Lewis and L. D. Henderson were auctioneers for the sale. Richard Stockstill assisted as ring man. Clerks for the event were Bob Belew and Dub Martens. The sale began at 1 p.m. and ended at 4:45 p.m.

Methodist Youths Complete Plans For CROP Drive

The Junior High Youth Department of the Earth Methodist Church has completed plans for participating in the annual program for CROP, the Christian Rural Overseas Program. The drive will be made on Monday night, November 1, meeting at the church at 6:30 p.m. A house-to-house canvass will be made by the young people as they seek to raise money for this "Freedom from Hunger" campaign for the destitute overseas. Last year the local young people collected $106 for CROP and helped youth throughout the state of Texas to collect $53,000 for the program. These amounts helped to provide 66,964,000 pounds of government-donated food, and other CROP shipments not otherwise available, for the overseas programs of the churches. CROP is the Community Resources Appeal of Church World Service which collects farm commodities and cash, through volunteer workers, for the overseas relief and rehabilitation programs of the churches. Gifts to CROP are put to use under church supervision strictly on the basis of need. Halloween has come to mean CROP and a time of Christian sharing to the young people of Texas. It has come to be a time of collecting for others in a Christian ministry of compassion to a part of the world's starving population. Contributions received through this youth effort of concern will be used to help provide for the handling and distribution of government-donated foods of the "Food for Peace" program as well as to provide other assistance--high protein foods, emergency supplies, agricultural tools, seeds--not otherwise available to the overseas programs of the churches. The counselors for this youth are Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Glasscock and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Bulls.

NOTHING IS FREE

Numbers of people, apparently, believe the government gets its money out of thin air or from some mysterious source that has little to do with themselves.

This, basically, was the thought of Congressman Lipscomb of California when he said: "It should come as no surprise to anyone that the money the federal government spends must ultimately come from the people, though all too often it seems that this fact is overlooked or ignored."

One reason for this is that except for income and property taxes, most of the taxes we pay are hidden. Everything we buy, from an article so small as a loaf of bread to one so large as an automobile, carries a multitude of taxes levied at the raw material, manufacturing, processing, transporting, retailing and other levels. And those taxes, like all the other costs that enter into the production of goods and services, must be paid by the consumer.

These are truisms that should be known to every schoolchild. But they tend to become lost in the face of the widespread belief that government "gives" us things. The truth is that government can "give" nothing. It can only take the money from the people, now or on some future date, to pay the costs--and also, it tucks on handsome sums to cover the administrative and bureaucratic overhead.

Nothing material in this world is free--government least of all.

Housing Market Sees Construction Inching Up

WASHINGTON, D. C. Things are happening in the housing market. Construction is inching up after months of sitting still. New government rules make purchase and financing easier. For the first time rent subsidies are offered to the poor and the elderly. Here are details on these and other developments from (the current issue of) Changing Times, the Kiplinger magazine.

PLENTY OF NEW HOUSES. Most communities report no scarcity. Prices trending upward, a result of higher land and material costs. There's a small boom in town houses and row houses ($15,000 and less).

FINANCING IS NO PROBLEM. Mortgage money has been, is and will continue to be ample. Terms are liberal. Lower down payments are now possible in many cases.

MORTGAGE RATES A PHENOMENON. While most other interest rates have gone up, mortgage rates have edged downward or stayed pat--same levels as in 1958.

HOW ABOUT AN APARTMENT? In recent years, up to 40% of all new homes have been apartments. The current trend favors fewer efficiencies and more one- and two-bedroom units.

HELP FOR LOW-INCOMERS. Over the next four years, 375,000 houses and apartments will be built for rent to the nation's impoverished families and individuals. Low-income people will get 25% of what they earn each month for rent, and the federal government will pay the rest.

Methodist Women Join In "Prayer, Self Denial" Week

Members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild of the Earth Methodist Church participated this week in one of the most important annual observances of Methodist women throughout America. It is the "Call to Prayer and Self-Denial." More than 1,700,000 women in 36,000 local Woman's Societies and Guilds in all 50 states will join in the observance.

The call is sponsored by the Woman's Division of the Methodist Board of Missions. The Division is the national body under which all local Woman's Societies and Guilds function. It is also one of four major units of the Board of Missions.

Methodist women gather in churches for a program meeting for interpretation of mission projects to which money from a special offering will be given. Each year there is a theme for the Call to Prayer and Self-Denial. For 1965 the theme is "Attempt Great Things for God."

Those are the words of William Carey of England, who is considered the father of the modern Protestant foreign missionary movement. He went to India as a missionary in 1793. The program meeting for women of the Earth Methodist Church was held at 7:30 p.m. on October 26 in the Church Chapel, with Mrs. Albert F.

This year when a Junior Troop was needed to be organized and a leader found, I began to give this step some serious thought as I felt inadequate for the job, never being in the role of Scout Leader before, and my own scouting days many years behind me. Finally I made the decision to try and it has indeed been so rewarding. We have had six

Wolverine Drop From Unbeaten Ranks 18-13

The green and gold of Springlake-Earth went down in defeat Friday night at the hands of the spirited Kress Kangaroos.

Everyone that saw the game came away saying that it was truly a clean, hard fought game, and that doubtless Kress just wanted to win a little more than the Wolverines.

The Kress Kangaroos led during the entire game, with one exception, when the Wolverines grabbed the lead in a touchdown play by Jerry Don Sanders that turned the scoreboard in our favor, 13-12.

This slight margin in the Wolverine's favor was short-lived, however, as the Kress Kangaroos never faltered for a moment, but came back with a fantastic play by halfback James Lockridge. With less than four minutes left in the game, the senior halfback took a pitchout and scampered down the sidelines to a touchdown that gave Kress their victory. Four different Wolverine tacklers had their hands on Lockridge, but with his abundance of determination and hard drive, he finally finished the act 55 yards later in the Wolverine end zone for the game winning touchdown.

The game started at 7:30 p. m., as the Kangaroos gathered in the opening kickoff and started the ball rolling on their own 20 yard line.

Lockridge was almost a miracle for the Kangaroos on this drive, for the Wolverine line had had one of the best records on the South Plains for defense. However, on 14 plays, 10 of these were handled personally by Lockridge. With the ball resting on the three yard line, Watson scored the opening tally with 7 minutes, 12 seconds left in the first quarter.

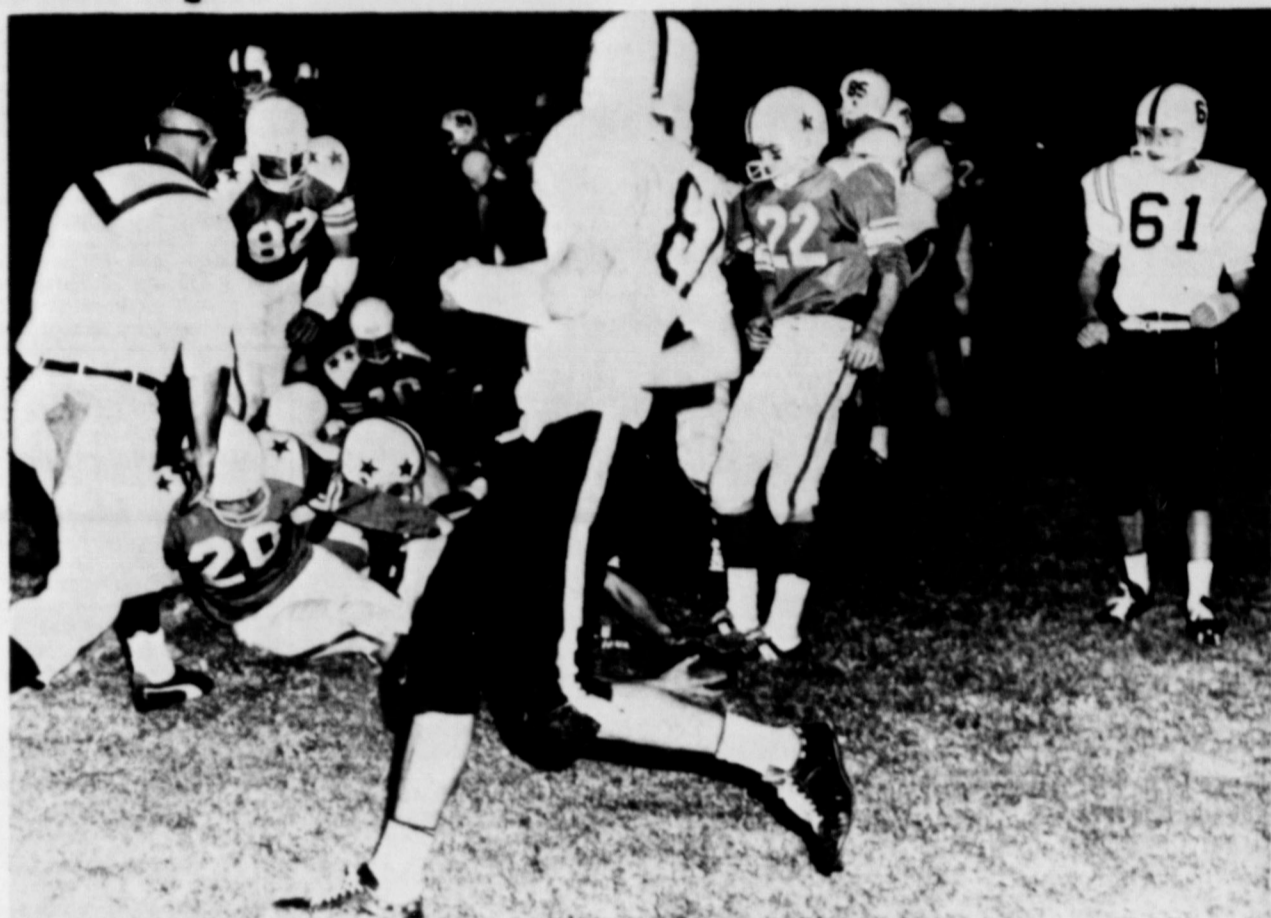

Just before halftime Kress scored again with help from a Springlake-Earth fumble at the Wolverine 35 yard line. It took seven plays to grab the second score from that starting line, with quarterback Larry Fields tossing to halfback Burk Bradley from the six for the tally.

The points after effort failed on an attempted pass. At the beginning of the second half, the slow starting Wolverines finally caught fire and made a gallant bid for a victory. From the second half kickoff, the Wolverines marched to the Kress 20 before the Kangaroo defense tightened and this drive was stopped.

Moments later, the Wolverine defense rally started clicking and on third down, Kress was forced to punt the ball from their own six yard line.

With the ball resting on the 40 yard line of the Kangaroos, the fired up Wolverines turned 14 plays into six points, with fullback Richard Mitchell crossing the goal from the one. Halfback Jerry Don Sanders kicked the point after and the Kress margin was trimmed to 12-7 with 9 minutes 33 seconds left in the game.

Suddenly it happened again,

PHILLIP BOYD BROUGHT DOWN for no gain early in the third quarter. Wolverines making the tackle are no. 20 Doug Messer and no. 83 James Thomas. Other Wolverines pictured are no. 82 Floyd Henderson and no. 22 Logan Armstrong. Kress players pictured are no. 81 Derral McClendon and no. 61 Ricky Quisenberry.

SOMEWHERE DOWN UNDER is Wolverine fullback Richard Mitchell scoring the first touchdown for the local eleven early in the fourth quarter on a one yard dive up the middle. Kangaroos trying to stop Mitchell are no. 85 Tommy Armstrong, no. 84 Charles Carden, no. 72 Dennis Barton, no. 24 James Lockridge, and no. 64 Joe Aviles. Waiting for the ref's decision is Jerry Don Sanders and Doug Messer.

The Wolverines held Kress at the Kangaroo five and took possession on a short punt at the Kress 30 yard line. Seven tries put the ball on the 18, and quarterback Doug Messer passed to Jerry Don Sanders for the touchdown on a fourth down effort. The kick was blocked, but the Wolverines finally had the lead at 13-12. Then came the spectacular play by James Lockridge, darting and driving, carrying and bobbling the ball for 55 yards and a victory for Kress that sent the Wolverines down in defeat for the first time this year.

This week the Wolverines will be trying for a comeback against the highly rated Hale Center Ows. This should be a good defensive game and both teams are capable of breaking the game wide open with the speed and power they possess in the backfield. This should be the game of the week for the South Plains.

LOGAN ARMSTRONG makes 14 yards early in the fourth quarter to spark the Wolverines on to their first touchdown of the game. Armstrong was brought down by no. 20 Phillip Boyd and no. 84 Charles Carden of the Kangaroos. No. 32 is Pete Glasscock of the Wolverines.

JAMES LOCKRIDGE on the move for good yardage early in the first quarter. On this drive Lockridge carried the ball 10 times out of the 14 plays required to cover the 80 yards and the first Kress touchdown. Wolverines trying to stop Lockridge are no. 82 Floyd Henderson and no. 21 Terry Parish.

STARS OF THE WEEK

BACKFIELD

BACK OF THE WEEK honor goes to the hard running senior halfback Jerry Don Sanders. Jerry barely nosed out his rival of the previous week Logan Armstrong who once more played his heart out. Jerry scored one touchdown on a 18 yard pass from Messer and kicked one extra point, and had two punts that averaged 45.5 per try. Jerry Don had one nice 40 yard run called back in the third quarter that could have been another touchdown for the Wolverines. This play was stopped on the Kress 17 yard line.

LINEMAN

LINEMAN OF THE WEEK honor goes to senior end Pete Glasscock. Pete played an outstanding game on defense, demonstrating his ability to stop end runs that came to the right side. Pete made several nice plays, such as blocking out two men trying to lead interference while continuing on to help bring the ball carrier down. This is a very difficult job to do, but when you see someone doing it, it is a play you will long remember. Keep up the good work and stop the Owls Friday night.

Garden Two Feet Under The Sea Yields Harvest

COLLEGE STATION, Spring barley, English peas and dwarf marigolds aren't everyone's idea of a garden--but when you consider the garden was grown 200 feet under the sea, in the Navy's 100-ton Sealab 2--it's quite an accomplishment.

Astronaut-turned-aquanaut, Scott Carpenter, wondered if plants would germinate and grow under the high pressure and artificial atmosphere of over 90 percent Helium in the Sealab 2. He passed the information along and the Department of Plant Sciences at Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas, designed an experiment to grow a garden under the sea.

The design and plans for the agricultural research were made by Dr. Page W. Morgan, plant physiologist and Allan Marmelstein, graduate student in plant physiology and biological oceanography both at A&M.

They sent seed, containers, growing medium and light filters to the site of the Sealab's dive La Jolla, Calif., where the seeds were planted in planter boxes and put into a pressurized container. Gradually, the pressure was brought up to about 7 atmospheres (the same pressure as in the Sealab). The container was lowered to the 57-foot long Sealab cylinder and the planter boxes removed from the pressurized container.

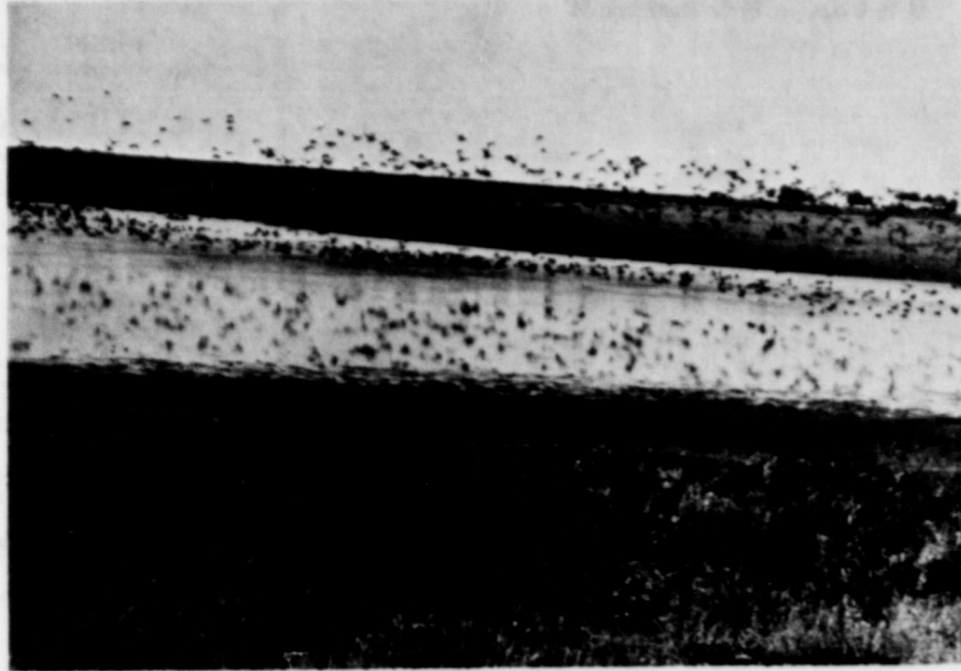

The planter boxes, with peat moss and perlite as growing medium, were fastened along a wall. Standard incandescent artificial lights substituted for the sun.

The 10-man crews were assigned chores to care for the plants. They recorded the length of time from planting to germination. They measured height of the plants at certain intervals and took photographs of various stages of growth.

Barley was the first to germinate and grew faster than the others. The peas and marigolds were somewhat slower, and A&M researchers are busy finding out why. Letters from the crew sent to the surface by "dolphin mail" told researchers of the progress the plants were making.

The barley, peas and marigold plants are being dried or frozen and sent to A&M for analysis. Dr. Morgan said a check plot is being grown from the same kind of seeds to compare with those grown under the sea.

Growing plants successfully under the sea has several implications, says Dr. Morgan. If the plants grow well, they use the carbon dioxide waste product given off by men--this may save carrying an expensive machine to purify the air on an under-sea mission or space travel. Actually, in a closed container, such as a space capsule or an underwater cylinder, man and plants can have a true symbiotic relationship, said Dr. Morgan. Both derive benefit from this association--man use of the carbon dioxide exhaled by man.

EARTH DUCKLAND... where ducks by the dozens doubtless double date, as they go dipping and dripping, ducking and diving and swimming along... oh for the life of a duck with nothin' to do but wamble along the shore lakes with hundred and hundreds of friends while dipping, dripping, diving, ducking and... oh yes, dying if a passing hunter bullet should find its mark... no hum, there seems to be a thorn with every rose,.....

Another use for the plants may be as medical indicators. If some sort of hazard is present, enzymes in the plant may react and occupants can take preventive measures.

A third projection would be if man should progress to the stage when he can live in cities on the bottom of the ocean. Agriculture could move under the sea and provide a source of food and fiber.

However, there are only projected uses, some may never be practical, and others may move to the front and see wide use.

Plants, even under the sea, will always have some aesthetic value as ornamentals. Men on the Sealab commented how good it was to have a reminder of the world above in the form of living plants.

Dr. Morgan termed the experiment with deep sea agriculture a success. He said there are tentative plans to continue the work on the proposed Sealab 3.

Dr. Morgan and Mrs. Ray Hawkins, Decatur, Texas, visited last weekend with their daughter, Eva Rae Hawkins.

Snap, Crackle, Pop! Rice vs Texas Tech

LUBBOCK--Rice and Texas Tech, a pair of teams that confounded the experts last week, tangle at the Red Raiders' homecoming in Jones Stadium at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Rice, winner only over Louisiana Tech, found the range on mighty Texas 20-17 while the Raiders were edging three-point favorite Southern Methodist 26-24 last week.

Texas Tech is now 3-1 for the season 3-1 in Southwest Conference play.

For Coach J. T. King's Raiders it was the fifth time this season they came from behind to win. Unlike the last three contests, however, the Raiders didn't wait until the final two minutes of the game. This time they went ahead for keeps in the final 44 seconds of the first half.

Rice holds a 13-1-1 edge in the rivalry. Tech hasn't won since 1944 when the Walt Schlinkman-led Raiders edged the Owls 17-14 at Houston. The best Tech has done in the 12 games since then was play a 6-6 tie last year.

As part of the college's Fortieth Anniversary observance, the 1925 team, Tech's first, will hold a reunion this week-end.

A basketball game matching the varsity with the freshmen and redshirts will be played at 4 p.m. Friday in the old gymnasium. Admission is free.

We're Makin' It More, But Savin' It Less

Americans were making it more but saving it less during the second quarter of 1965 according to the November issue of Finance Facts a monthly newsletter on consumer financial behavior, published by the National Consumer Finance Association.

Personal income rose 2.3 percentage points over the first quarter figures, but personal savings dropped almost four points. The drop in savings and an increase in the amount of installment credit extended was attributed to the financing of large automobile purchases and borrowing to meet income tax payments.

HESSTON V-22 COTTON HARVESTER

Because of its low capital investment, minimum operating costs, ability to harvest more cotton from the field than spindle pickers or hand pickers, and ability to operate in ranker-stalk and higher-yielding cotton than strippers, the economical advantages of Hesston V-22 Brush Harvesting are equally important to small and large producers.

In a controlled test at Cordele, Ga., a Hesston V-22 harvested 813 lbs. of lint from 40 rows of cotton while a spindle picker harvested only 730 lbs. of lint from 40 rows. The V-22 produced approximately 11% more lint and approximately 16% more seed--1525 lbs. compared to 1285 lbs. from the spindle picker.

Gathering two-bale-per-acre in fourth gear and getting a bale every eight minutes was "the most fantastic thing" ever experienced by Roy C. Frazier of Midland, Tex. "The Hesston V-22 is the only machine I have seen in this area that will strip shoulder, high irrigated cotton."

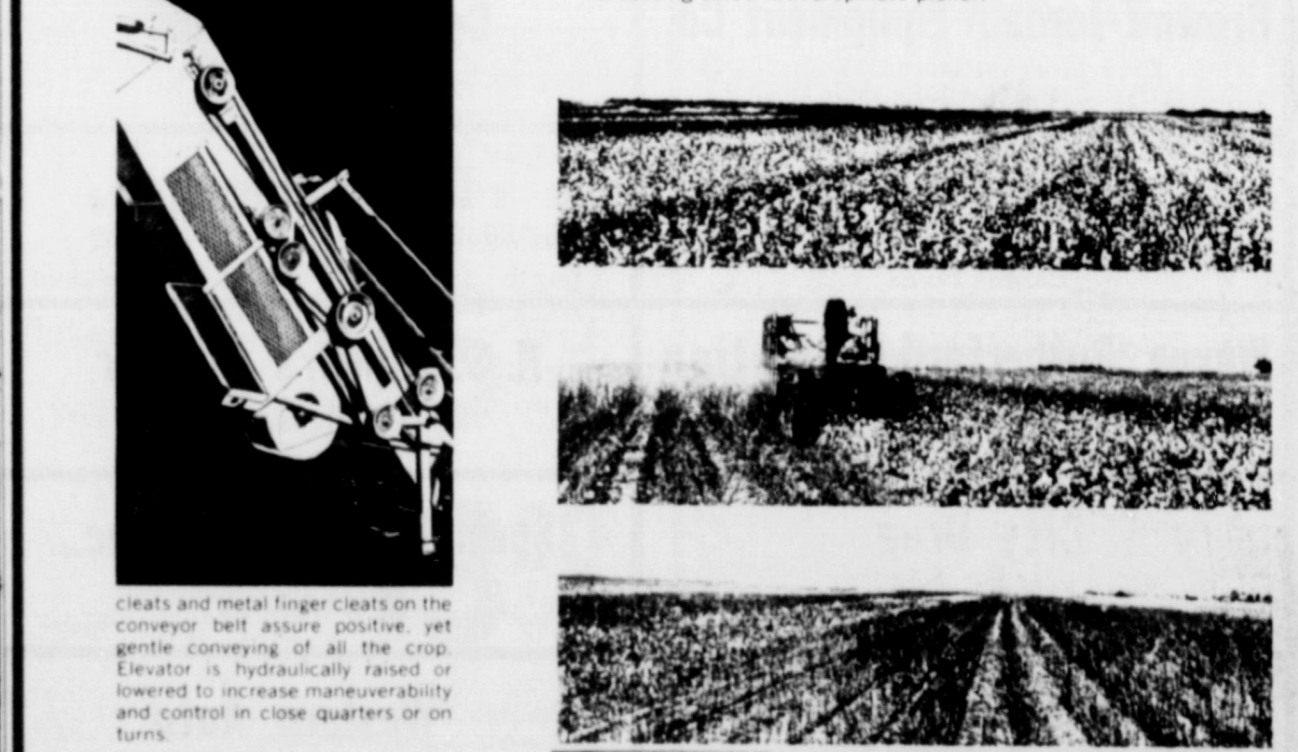

"Prior to this year," reminds Charles McCollom of Roosevelt, Okla., "we have used as high as 150 hand pullers in our cotton. This year we bought two Hesston V-22 Cotton Harvesters and have only two hands in the field. It used to cost us about $800 a day for hand labor, but only about $2 per bale now. These machines will more than pay for themselves this year alone."

Charles McClure of Burkburnett, Tex., figured the V-22 paid for itself and a three-bale trailer the first season. "We did not have a single bumpy bale all season," he recalls.

University of Arkansas research reports approximately 23% more lint and 20% more seed per acre were harvested with the Brush Harvester than with a spindle picker. On a per acre basis the Brush Harvester took 10 minutes less time, with a return of $14.36 more net profit.

"I have handled from 1/2-bale-per-acre to two-bales-per-acre cotton with the Hesston V-22," says Tom Teel of Mountain View, Okla. "In fact, I harvested one field of skip row cotton that two strippers pulled out of because they couldn't handle the big stalks."

According to test conclusions of Oklahoma State University agricultural engineers, based on two years of data from presumably normal growth, yield, and harvest conditions, once-over brush harvested Acala 44 returns the producer $17 to $20 per acre more than harvesting twice with a spindle picker.

Tips Offered To Avoid Auto Accidents That Cost Plenty

Little auto accidents that cost plenty but never get into the reported statistics account for two thirds of all our accidents. They are especially common in parking lots, driveways and on narrow neighborhood streets.

According to Changing Times, the Kiplinger magazine, odds are that in the next five years you will have one auto accident serious enough to report and two of the little ones, too minor to report.

The serious one will cost no more than the deductible amount in your insurance coverage; the two little ones could cost you almost twice as much and many times the annoyance.

What can you do to avoid the toll? This month's issue offers these five tips to help you recognize and avoid little accident hot spots.

IN PARKING LOTS, BE LONELY. Park away from the crowd when you can. The extra steps help protect your car from abrasion and impact. The stray grocery cart is a prime offender, but door-banging from a closely parked neighbor is another annoying problem.

GET IT OFF THE STREET. Considering the protection from vandalism, hit-and-run damage and theft, a garage pays off. When you must leave your car on the street, don't park too close to other vehicles and get as near the curb as possible. Try to park on a street with little traffic and next a street light.

WATCH THE BACK IN FRONT. The rear-end collision is common and not so minor anymore. Remember that the vehicle in front can come to an extremely fast stop.

LEASH THE KIDS AND PETS. Children and dogs in cars are a leading cause of accidents where the traffic is dense. Buckle a child's safety belt and cage or chain the animals whether on a long trip or driving in town. One other word of advice is to watch out for kids or pets in the car, even if they're in the car ahead.

KEEP OUT OF TIGHT CORNERS. Give other cars, buses, trucks all the time and room they need. Drivers to steer clear of include the motorist who's lost and trying to feel his way along.

"At best, the small accident is annoying, inconvenient and an unplanned expense, reasons enough to stay alert and avoid it," according to Changing Times. "But the best reason of all is that the accident that starts out small doesn't always end that way."

approved in the registration. The regulations are administered by USDA's Agricultural Research Service under the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act.

Dr. Brady said that pentachlorophenol is registered with the USDA as a desiccant on a number of crops grown for seed only, including soybeans. The registered use for this crop carries the following limitations: Apply two to four days before harvest, do not graze treated areas or feed treated forage or freshings to livestock and do not use seed from treated crops for food, feed, or oil purposes. There is no pesticide product registered with USDA for pre-harvest desiccation of commercial soybeans grown for food, feed, or oil purposes.

Dr. Brady pointed out that federal regulations require that all pesticide products, including desiccants and defoliants, moving in interstate commerce be registered with the Secretary of Agriculture. These products may be formulated and labeled so they meet Federal standards of effectiveness and safety when used for the purposes

Producers Advised On Use Of "Pento" As Soybean Desiccant

Some growers are using the chemical pentachlorophenol as a desiccant on soybeans intended for food, feed, or oil purposes. Such use could result in illegal residues being found in the soybeans, and consequent crop seizures, says Dr. Homer Brady, Extension weed specialist at Texas A&M University.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR:
If he followed Tide's Plow-Down Program last fall he will tell you it made him money. Lower application costs, higher production, maximum efficiency and production in a farming operation.

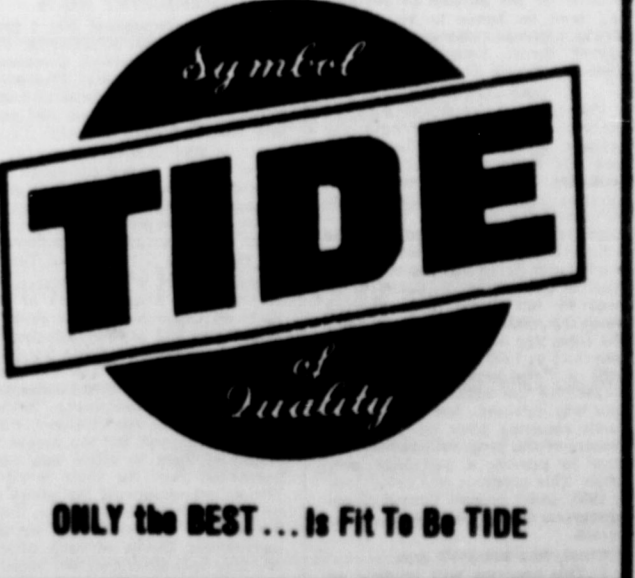

NOW IS THE TIME:
As soon as possible after combining, shred stalks and apply TIDE'S prescription blend fertilizer to get maximum decomposition of the stubble and bring your soil nutrient level up to its needed point.

And to take advantage of the soil conditioning effect brought on by the decomposition of your grain stubble--use TIDE Bulk Fertilizer NOW. Put down part of your Nitrogen, all of your Phosphate and Potash now and have all of the needed nutrients available to your PLOW-DOWN fertilizer program. See your nearest TIDE representative.

TAKE THE GUESSWORK OUT OF YOUR OPERATION:

Vote In The Constitutional Amendment Election Tuesday, November 2

A statewide election is slated for Tuesday, November 2 when ten amendments to the Constitution will be on the ballot for voters all over the state to pass judgment upon.

It is important that these amendments be given close study by taxpayers of the state for each and every one of them, if adopted, will have some effect upon your future tax bills and your government. Here is a chance for every voter to become a legislator for a day, for by these votes they can say whether they want the Amendments adopted or rejected. These should be all studied closely before going to the tax polls for it is your tax money that will be involved.

The Polls will open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. In the community room will be the polling place. Bob Armstrong, Kenneth Cowley and O.B. Whitford will be judges for the election.

In Springlake the two voting places will be set up in the community building and the City Hall. Roy Byers Jr. will be election judge, assisted by Howard McClure. In the City Hall Jack Hinson, Edd Dawson and Dewayne Jones will be judges for that post.

The following explanation of the ten Amendments is presented.

AMENDMENT NO. 1
This proposed amendment increases the State ad valorem tax for state college and university buildings.

EXPLANATION:
In 1947 an amendment set aside a portion of the State ad valorem tax for a College Building Fund by dedicating five cents per $100 valuation for 12 senior colleges.

This proposed amendment would dedicate ten cents of the State ad valorem tax for the College Building Fund for 17 senior colleges and universities (authorizing 5 additional colleges to also participate in the Fund.)

Physical plant construction for the University of Texas and A & M University and branches is financed from the available University Fund, as provided by the Constitution of Texas. These schools, therefore, are not included in the 17 participating in the College Building Fund.

This amendment provides for changing the method of allocation from an historical basis (based on average enrollment for the preceding 3 years) to a projected basis (based on projected enrollment for the next 12 years). The projected enrollment increase would be determined by the new Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System. In addition to 84% of the funds being allocated on the projected basis, approximately 16% would be allocated on the basis of additional square feet need in facilities.

The amendment makes college buildings available 2 years earlier than the 1947 amendment would permit, and it would enable colleges to obtain matching funds from the Higher Education Facilities Act. The additional 5c for the College Building Fund would increase the State Ad Valorem tax to 47c on the $100 valuation.

Those who are FOR say:
1. Projected enrollments indicate college enrollment will double within the next 10 years. The State must find additional sources of revenue for college buildings to provide facilities for the increasing enrollment. Increasing the portion of State ad valorem taxes designated for College Building Funds will provide the needed revenue.

2. Changing the basis of allocation to both projected enrollment and need for additional facilities is a more realistic formula than the present basis of valuation.

Those who are AGAINST say:
1. The State ad valorem tax is an inequitable tax, because of the vast variations in the uniformity of the assessment practices of the counties. These variations may range from 5% of market value to 85%. Some counties are already paying more than their fair share of the State ad valorem tax because of the assessment variations.

2. Although enrollment may double in 10 years, the President's Commission on Education Beyond the High School observed that it should not be necessary to build twice the facilities to handle twice as many students. Better utilization of existing space could possibly reduce the need for having to greatly expand facilities.

AMENDMENT NO. 2
This amendment would increase the Veterans Land Fund by $200 million for the purpose of purchasing land in Texas to be sold to Texas veterans who served in the armed forces between Sept. 16, 1948 and March 31, 1955.

EXPLANATION:
The Republic of Texas reserved a part of its land for soldiers of the Texas Revolution, and the State of Texas provided land for Confederate veterans in keeping with this tradition and to help veterans of World War II, a Constitutional Amendment was adopted in 1946 creating a Veterans Land Board and authorizing a fund of $25 million in bonds to be used by the Board in purchasing lands for resale to veterans. In 1951, the fund was increased to $100 million, and in 1958 to $200 million. In 1963 a Constitutional Amendment to increase the amount to $350 million was defeated. Accumulation of funds resulting from the revolving feature of the program has been slow to provide a sustaining program. This program will cease Dec. 31, 1965, under present Constitutional provisions if this amendment is not passed.

Those who are FOR say:
1. This program will produce an eventual profit of $200 million from sale of bonds to finance the veteran land purchases. Every invested dollar changes hands 8 times, and passage of this amendment directly aids lawyers, title companies, real estate dealers, builders, and suppliers.

2. It is the most effective and least costly means to express gratitude to veterans for wartime service. 34,000 purchases have been made to date, but there are still nearly one million eligible veterans in Texas.

3. The program does not cost the taxpayer anything. The difference in interest paid on the bonds and that received from the veteran makes a profit for the state.

Those who are AGAINST say:
1. The Veterans Land Program may be considered unfair to private business, engaging in the loan business is not a function of state government.

2. It is time to halt these recurring requests for increased funds. The enabling legislation for this amendment has wording which would in effect be a permanent extension of present veterans land program.

3. As the program has been in operation 18 years, it would seem all veterans really desiring land would have purchased it. With "cheap money" available, veterans tend to purchase land they do not need or plan to put to productive use.

AMENDMENT NO. 3
This proposed amendment would enable Texas to continue to cooperate with the U. S. government in providing assistance and medical care for needy aged, blind, children and needy totally and permanently disabled. Matching funds not to exceed $60,000,000 annually are provided for assistance payments and supplementary medical care.

EXPLANATION:
The present Constitutional maximum or ceiling in the form of State funds available annually for old age assistance, aid to the needy blind and needy children is $52,000,000, for the fiscal year ending 1965. The total of $51,500,000 for the proposed amendment will, therefore, allow for an increase of $500,000.

Under the Social Security Act the State will still need to pay the deductible on hospital admission, pay for doctor bills and surgeon bills in the hospital and Nursing Home care. The cost of providing medical care for the blind, the deaf and the dependent children will be less than hospitalization for the old aged on assistance now. So, to start, these programs would in effect mean a transfer of funds now going for hospitalization for Old Age Assistance recipients to medical care programs for the other needy people on assistance rolls.

Those who are FOR say:
1. This amendment provides flexibility so that without having to submit a new Constitutional Amendment, the Legislature can make certain financial changes in the program sometimes necessary in order to comply and secure matching Federal Funds.

2. Our present Constitution allows aid for dependent children up to the age of 16, which this amendment raises to 21 years of age, in order to meet Federal requirements. Non-citizens who have resided within the borders of the United States for 25 years and are 65 years old or older can be eligible for Old Age Assistance under this amendment. All but a few states have some such provision because without it help is denied in many cases because of ignorance of the aged or unwillingness of the aged to become citizens.

Those who are AGAINST say:
1. With the Old Age Assistance rolls decreasing as more and more aged citizens become citizens, security, any increase in total appropriations will not go to aid more persons, but merely to increase the size of the grant to those who remain on the rolls. Actually this is already possible with the present limitation since the total number of Old Age Assistance recipients declines each year.

2. Responsible adults with a given net income should be made liable for the support of those relatives who would otherwise qualify for public assistance grants, otherwise Texas will have a steadily mounting spiral of welfare spending which encourages dependency and which fails to resolve the human ills which are the very reason for its existence.

AMENDMENT NO. 4
Proposed amendment No. 4 provides 4 year terms of office for the Governor, Lt. Governor, Comptroller of Public Accounts, Treasurer, Commissioner of the General Land Office, Secretary of State, and certain state judicial officers.

EXPLANATION:
The 7 above named constitute the Executive Department of State government. All but the Secretary of State, who is appointed by the Governor under constitutional authority, are elected by the voters of Texas. Other members of the Executive Department are the members of the Railroad Commission, who serve 6 year terms and are not affected by the amendment; the State Superintendent of Education and the Commissioner of Agriculture, who are included. The amendment further provides for the qualifications of the officeholders and for the means of installing them in office and compensating them for their services. The actual amount of the salary to be paid each is not specified, leaving that to be determined by the Legislature. Duties of each officer are also spelled out in the amendment. One section of the amendment specified that nothing in it shall be interpreted to extend the term of office of any officeholder previously elected to a 2 year term. This means simply, that each must run for election to the 4 year term of office if the amendment passes.

Those who are FOR say:
1. A state administration is more likely to be judged on the basis of its record if it is not judged at the same time the national administration is judged. Four year terms, beginning in 1966, will assure that the state's administrative heads are not elected merely through the popularity of the candidate for President of the United States.

2. Four year terms are necessary to give the governor opportunity to develop and carry out his policies. The biennial 2 year term election of the Legislature will continue to make possible an effective public expression of disapproval of particular measures without leading to a general overthrow of the administration.

3. The Executive Department would attract and enjoy more effective leadership. A 2 year term is hardly long enough for an official to become thoroughly acquainted with the work of the department he heads. Texas has already made the change from 2 year terms for county officials and has found it provides more effective leadership.

4. Two year terms involve the governor in almost constant political turmoil, and almost constant necessity to campaign for office. Running for statewide office has become a costly, time-consuming, almost forbidding project on an every-other-year basis. The cost factor is considerable -- running for statewide office every 2 years in a state the size of Texas is rapidly becoming limited to only the wealthy.

4. Four year terms make the officeholders less responsive to the will of the people. Elections every 2 years mean that the voters have more control over the governor and other executive officers. Election of the governor is the major statewide race and is thus the best indicator of public opinion and public support of his program.

5. The 4 year term is an additional instrument for political domination by a single party. An election at a time when voters are not bailing in a presidential campaign will further hurt the minority party which cannot generally do so without the help of a presidential election. Adoption of this amendment could tend to perpetuate the one-party system in Texas.

6. Diffusion of power among many administrative heads prevents one man (governor, for instance) from dominating. If all administrative officers are elected every 2 years, no one is able to dominate the others. In addition, the 4 year term will change the value and effect of the government's policies. Whereas, it takes 3 two-year terms for the governor to appoint the total of all Boards now, this could be done by the end of the first 4 years. This gives the governor great power over patronage, party affairs, and financing of campaigns.

7. The 4 year term will encourage the governor to meddle in the off-year legislative races and will tend to nullify the Legislature as an effective check on his power.

AMENDMENT NO. 5
This amendment proposes to create an agency of the State of Texas -- the Teacher Retirement System of Texas. Adoption of this amendment transfers to and responsibility for its operation in a "State Board of Trustees of the Teacher Retirement System of Texas, and provides investment authority to the Board, subject to certain restrictions.

EXPLANATION:
In 1936 Texas voters adopted a Constitution which authorized the Legislature power to establish a retirement fund for persons employed in public schools, colleges, and universities. Today the assets of the Teacher Retirement System were about $250 million, with all assets invested in government and municipal securities. This year the Legislature proposed to allow investment of assets of the Fund in securities deemed to be proper investments for the Permanent University Fund. The Fund is approximately $225 million and is invested in government and municipal securities and corporate bonds and stocks. Adoption of this amendment would result in the following changes: 1. Provide for the Teacher Retirement System of Texas and the State Board of Trustees of the System in the Constitution rather than just as a statute as now; 2. Provide authority for the Board to invest assets in certain types of securities; 3. List securities eligible for purchase by the Board and the State; 4. Provide for the Board to serve as trustee of the System in the Constitution rather than just as a statute as now; 5. Provide authority for the Board to invest assets in certain types of securities; 6. List securities eligible for purchase by the Board and the State; 7. Provide for the Board to serve as trustee of the System in the Constitution rather than just as a statute as now; 8. Provide authority for the Board to invest assets in certain types of securities; 9. List securities eligible for purchase by the Board and the State; 10. Provide for the Board to serve as trustee of the System in the Constitution rather than just as a statute as now.

Those who are FOR say:
1. The investment authority should be transferred to the State Board of Trustees of the Permanent University Fund as the new money to be invested by the Retirement Fund is several times more than the purchase price of the securities. The objectives of the Retirement Fund are entirely different. This amendment is needed to properly administer the assets of the Teacher Retirement System to result in a substantially higher income for the Fund.

2. It would serve to attract better qualified personnel to the school system by giving constitution status to the system, thereby giving the employees greater assurance of the continuity of the program.

3. The fund would be safeguarded by having investment authority in the Constitution, naming the Treasurer of the State as the custodian, and authorizing the legislature to determine the composition of the Board of Trustees and to further restrict investments.

Those who are AGAINST say:
1. The present authority is sufficient for operation of the Teacher Retirement System. The investing authority, as tied to the Permanent University Fund, is broad enough.

2. Including the rigid restrictions in the Constitution would handicap the expansion into other types of securities.

3. Including so many details (lists of types of securities, percentages, an actual figure of money as the maximum to be in government or municipal securities in order to permit not more than 1/3 to be in common stocks, etc.) in the Constitution will necessitate further amendment as conditions change in the future. If these details were stated by statute, it would not be necessary to amend the Constitution again. The voters are asked to vote on too many amendments to state bonds of the State of Texas in order to provide money for loans to students at participating institutions of higher education in the State.

EXPLANATION:
The provisions of the amendment and the enabling act are herein considered together, since adoption of the amendment would automatically provide the enabling act by statute. It would not be necessary to amend the Constitution again. The voters are asked to vote on too many amendments to state bonds of the State of Texas in order to provide money for loans to students at participating institutions of higher education in the State.

AMENDMENT NO. 6
This proposed amendment authorized the issuing of not more than $55,000,000 of general obligation bonds of the State of Texas in order to provide money for loans to students at participating institutions of higher education in the State.

EXPLANATION:
The provisions of the amendment and the enabling act are herein considered together, since adoption of the amendment would automatically provide the enabling act by statute. It would not be necessary to amend the Constitution again. The voters are asked to vote on too many amendments to state bonds of the State of Texas in order to provide money for loans to students at participating institutions of higher education in the State.

AMENDMENT NO. 7
This proposed amendment provides tax exemptions to certain hospitals giving free hospital and medical care to indigent citizens of Texas. Property belonging to hospitals meeting the qualifications set forth in the proposed amendment (except the 5% ad valorem tax levied by any taxing entity except the State itself).

EXPLANATION:
The rapid increase in number of districts with the power to tax in recent years has resulted in a high rate of taxation resulting from the increase in the number of units. The State of Texas has historically shown favor to charitable institutions which to some extent relieve it of the necessity of caring for the indigent. This amendment provides for the exemption from local taxes (city, county school, special districts) of charitable organizations if they spend over $1,500,000 annually on free medical care for the indigent in Texas. The organization must continue to provide these services and if the taxes are forgiven must increase its money spent in the following year to $1,800,000. The amendment would apply only to counties over 1,200,000 in population. This applies only to the Hermann Hospital Estate of Harris County at the present time.

Those who are FOR say:
1. Hermann Hospital provides 1/3 of the charity medical work in Harris County. A savings of about $325,000 would be realized if this amendment passes and it would have to be passed on in the form of more free medical care for the indigent.

2. As other counties increase in population, they will become eligible under this amendment and medical care in their private charity hospitals. This amendment anticipates future needs of growing areas of the State.

3. As Harris County has the largest population in the State it is logical that the need for free medical care provided by private organizations is much greater there and the program should logically start with this County.

Those who are AGAINST say:
1. The amendment is not the place to make provision for purely local interests as this amendment does at this time. It is basically unfair for one hospital among the many providing free hospital and medical care to be granted a special tax exemption while the remainder continue operations under the tax load now imposed by multiple taxing units of government.

2. An organization which provides a major portion of its services free should receive relief by its Legislature rather than exemptions provided after it has become a large and successful organization.

3. The amendment could set a precedent which could lead to other property being taken off the tax rolls.

AMENDMENT NO. 8
This proposed amendment provides for the automatic retirement of District and Appellate Judges for old age; for their removal from office for misconduct; and for their removal from office for disability. It establishes a Judicial Qualifications Commission to administer some of its provisions. It does not repeal existing law.

EXPLANATION:
Under this proposal, Texas District and Appellate Judges must retire at age 75 or some age between 60 and 75 as provided by the Legislature. Close to one-half of the states have similar legislation. Present law does not require any judge to retire for any reason. About 10% of the Texas Judges affected by the amendment are 70 or over.

The proposed amendment also adopts new procedures for retiring or removing Judges during their term of office. It authorizes the Texas Supreme Court to order retirement for disability and for removal from office for misconduct upon the recommendation of a Judicial Qualifications Commission. This commission is composed of 4 judges (but not Supreme Court Justices), 2 attorneys, and 3 non-lawyer citizens--would review complaints of judicial misconduct and, if warranted, investigate and hold hearings, and recommend retirement or removal to the Supreme Court, which, following a public hearing, could act. All proceedings and judges would be in conformance with due process of law.

The new procedures do not abolish the present removal methods nor do they change retirement benefits for judges retired for age or disability.

Those who are FOR say:
1. This amendment fills a great need and will contribute to an ever more alert and able Texas judiciary. It has the support and was introduced at the request of the Texas State Bar Association which represents 16,000 lawyers. It also has the support of the Judicial Section of the Texas State Bar, composed of all district and appellate judges and the Texas Civil Judicial Council.

2. For the first time it will require judges to retire for old age, a well-earned practice in other occupations.

3. It will, for the first time, force the retirement of Judges unable to perform their work because of permanent disability.

4. This amendment will make it easier, although in strict conformance with due process, to remove corrupt judges. It is virtually impossible to remove any judge for any cause under present methods. The new procedures would very well be in California where they were first introduced in this country.

3. The Judicial Qualifications Commission could well be a source of abuse because it may hear any complaint, regardless of how unfounded, against judges.

4. We should not add this lengthy amendment to our already too long Texas Constitution (55,000 words) especially since many of the proposals could conceivably be enacted by ordinary statute.

AMENDMENT NO. 9
This proposed amendment would permit the Legislature to set an annual salary for the Lt. Governor and the Speaker of the House of Representatives. The amount of the salaries is not specified. The amendment would also increase to $20 per day the per diem allowance paid to all Senators and Representatives while the Legislature is in session.

EXPLANATION:
The Lt. Governor and the Speaker of the House of Representatives are now paid $4800 annually, as are all Senators and Representatives. A Constitutional Amendment was adopted by vote of the people in 1960 setting that amount. The 1960 amendment also set the per diem allowance paid legislators at $12 per day for the first 120 days of each Legislative Session, and for the first 30 days of each special session, provided no less than one day elapses between the close of one session and opening of another. This proposed amendment would increase the per diem allowance to $20 per day for each 140 day regular session and for the first 30 days of each special session, with the same time restriction, the special session cannot be merely an extension of the earlier session to qualify for the per diem funds. This amendment would make no change in the mileage allowance paid legislators for travel directly to and from Austin. This amount would remain $2.50 for every 25 miles traveled.

Those who are FOR say:
1. The duties of the Lt. Governor and the Speaker of the House of Representatives require increasing time and skill, and adequate salaries are essential to attract well-qualified candidates.

2. The salaries should be set by statute rather than requiring amendment of the Constitution every time a change is proposed.

3. Since it is obvious that the Texas Legislature will have to meet more often than 140 days every other year in order to give all important measures careful study, and cost of maintaining living quarters in Austin during the seasons. The cost of living has risen every where.

Those who are AGAINST say:
1. The amendment gives the Legislature too free a hand in setting salaries, an obligation that clearly rests with the people. The matter of salaries should not be left up to the Legislature, which may or may not want to regard its own leadership. This amendment is apt to result in an increase in the salaries of the Lt. Governor and Speaker such as that given the Governor after a similar amendment was adopted in 1954. The Governor's salary has been increased to $25,000 annually since that amendment was adopted.

2. Division of what is really salary and per diem per day allowance, and mileage, is merely a device to confuse the public. Legislators should be paid an annual salary for their services. The increase in the per diem proposed is just another way of padding salaries.

3. Legislators are not to be paid for other occupations for the 10 months of each year, and they make influential mistakes in the course of their public service.

4. The amendment proposes to continue the present mileage allowance. Legislators are paid 10c per mile for travel to and from Austin. This is similar to mileage and industrial mileage allowances.

AMENDMENT NO. 10
This proposed amendment would increase terms of members of the Texas House of Representatives from 2 to 4 years. Members would be divided into 2 classes so that one half would be elected every 2 years. This is the same procedure now used in the Texas Senate.

EXPLANATION:
Traditionally, terms for members of the House of Representatives have been 2 years. The proposal to provide a 4 year term for the Governor and certain state officials and the fact that the members of the Texas Senate now have 4 year terms is probably the reason for this amendment. A provision is included in this proposed amendment which prohibits a House member with more than 1 year remaining of his term, becoming a candidate for any other legislative office. Had this provision been omitted, a member of the House could become a candidate for the Senate in off-election years without losing his membership in the House.

Those who are FOR say:
1. The 2 year present term in the House of Representatives seriously limits the effectiveness of many members who cannot build experience except by almost ceaseless running for office. This is particularly true because of the high turnover rate in the House.

2. Financing is a serious problem in such frequent elections, especially in the larger population districts of the big cities. Representatives cannot be sufficiently independent because of the need for money and fear of unpopular votes.

3. Longer terms would attract more able men who would now be discouraged by need for frequent campaigning.

DON'T FORGET!

V-DAY IS TUESDAY! -VOTE!

It is your right as an American to be able to vote; it is your responsibility as a citizen TO vote. Don't let your country down. Go to the polls Tuesday and protect your rights.

4. Four year terms would permit greater stability of the House Committees (both standing and interim) and permit more effective planning and study of programs of legislation. Longer-range planning would be encouraged.

Those who are AGAINST say:
1. The Senate is intended to provide legislative continuity. House should be flexible and responsive to changes in state needs and attitudes.

2. Reducing the flexibility of the House is not the way to achieve needed election procedure reforms.

3. Many able men now run for the House. It is a questionable assumption that more able men would run if the term were longer. If a Representative does a good job, he is usually reelected with little or no opposition.

4. The present large power of the Speaker of House could possibly be increased. Should an official not elected by the voters have so much power? Improvements in House rules would permit more effective and long range planning.

Poor Posture Spoils One's Looks, Health, Working Ability

Poor posture spoils our looks, health and effectiveness at work says Mrs. Elsie P. Short, Extension home management specialist at Texas A & M University.

A variety of things can cause poor posture. Worry, fear, emotional disturbances and problems at home, school or work affect posture. Fatigue from overwork or overplay may result in stooped shoulders and general slumping. Beds that are too soft or that sag will prevent proper rest and force the body into unnatural positions.

An infection, poor vision or poor hearing can cause poor posture. Many people with poor vision push their necks forward to enable them to see better. Defective hearing can also result in the head being inclined and the body being off-balance.

Chairs that do not support the back or that are too high or too low can cause poor posture. A school desk the correct height for a child can improve his posture and quality of work.

Correct posture helps body organs do their work without wasted effort. Energy is conserved. When you stand, walk and sit correctly, your lungs have space to expand. Proper breathing results in better circulation and a more efficient loss of body wastes.

Mrs. Short suggests that you practice lifting, sitting, running, walking, climbing and standing until you feel that you are performing correctly the movements of the body. You will feel better, look better and do better work.

Weather Lowers Quality Of Cotton

The rain of Sunday, October 17th, slowed cotton harvesting operations the early part of last week and lowered the quality of the cotton classed at the South Plains USDA Classing Offices, according to W. K. Palmer, in charge of the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office of the Consumer and Marketing Service of the U. S. D. A.

Samples received at the three U. S. D. A. Classing Offices at Lubbock, A. Brownfield and Lamesa declined sharply last week but were expected to increase over the week-end as stripping operations increase.

The three South Plains Classing offices classed 10,400 samples during the week ending Friday, October 22nd. This brought the season's total for the three offices to 27,200. At this date last year the three offices had classed 55,100 samples. Approximately three-fourths of the cotton classed at the Lubbock Classing Office last week was in the White grades and the remaining one-fourth in the Light Spotted and Spotted grades.

Strict Middling Made up 13 per cent of all cotton classed last week. Middling 46 per cent, Strict Middling Light Spotted 6 per cent and Middling Light Spotted 18 per cent.

Average staple length declined slightly during the week but continued to average a slightly better than 1 inch. Sixty-three per cent average 1 inch and better compared to 67 per cent the previous week.

Micronaire readings continued to be very good. Eighty-nine per cent of all cotton "miked" in the Lubbock Office was in the desirable category of 3.5 and better. The previous week 90 per cent was in this category.

The Consumer and Marketing Service of the U. S. D. A. reported continued light trading in the new crop cotton. Average

Veneral Diseases Increasing At Alarming Pace

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 27.—The venereal disease problem is on the increase in Texas and the nation. It's been getting progressively more serious during the past five years, medical reports show.

More than 30,000 cases of gonorrhea were reported in Texas last year, along with more than 5,000 cases of syphilis, according to state medical records. The American Medical Association believes the situation is serious that it has launched a major educational campaign to combat these diseases, reports Mrs. Patsy R. Yates, Extension specialist in family life education at Texas A&M University.

"This extra effort is necessary because many authorities believe many young people just simply aren't aware of the dangers of VD. In Texas, the yearly number of cases has risen from 20,000 to 35,000 in the last four years. We must take measures to stop this increase," Mrs. Yates says.

Parents and educators can provide their young people with the facts. Doctors and nurses welcome any opportunity to speak to groups. Films and educational materials are available for use with PTA's, study clubs, civic organizations and young people's groups.

For further information about educational material, Mrs. Yates recommends that persons contact the State Health Department, local medical associations, or local county Extension agents.

Bulls Out-Gain Steers In Recent Beeville Test

In an experiment designed by Texas A&M University to compare feedlot performance and carcass characteristics of young bulls and young steers, the bulls out-gained the steers and required less feed per pound of gain.

The study was conducted at Texas A&M University's Coastal Bend Experiment Station, Beeville.

Bulls have long been recognized as being more efficient than steers as converters in converting feed to meat. But bull meat has received price discrimination, dating back to when cattle were sold at more mature ages. From this, bull meat has gained the reputation of being tough, stringy and dry.

Bill Conrad, in charge of the Beeville study, said 10 good quality Hereford steers and 8 Hereford bulls of similar breeding, age and weight were used. The calves were from the same herd and handled identically from birth to slaughter.

The calves were fed for 185 days on a ration using ground grain sorghum and cottonseed meal as concentrates. Cottonseed hulls provided the roughage.

Both groups were started on a ration of 16 percent concentrates. The level of concentrates was gradually increased and was held at 80 percent for the last 55 days of the test.

Result: the bulls gained approximately 100 pounds more per head than the steers. The bulls consumed and average of 1.03 pounds more feed per day per body hundredweight than the steers. However, they required 50 pounds less feed to produce 100 pounds of gain on a market weight basis.

Daily gain in the feedlot was 2.82 pounds for the bulls and 2.26 pounds for the steers. The extra gain made by the bulls more than compensated for the increased feed intake. Feed cost per 100 pounds gain in the feedlot for the bulls was $15.74 and that for the steers $16.32.

Conrad summarized the results as: "Bulls out-gained the steers and required less feed per pound of gain. Slaughter data revealed that rib-eye area, yield grade, percentage of bone less cuts, external fat and dressing percent favored the bull carcasses while the USDA grade favored the steers."

Researchers have attributed the slower growth rate of steers to castration. When the testes are removed from an animal, an important source of endogenous androgens is lost. Androgen hormones are known to stimulate protein anabolism, or growth.

Economic pressures are forcing cattlemen to look for ways to produce beef more efficiently and many are taking a critical and unbiased look at young bulls versus steers for beef production.
