I heard last Wednesday, for the first time that new song "Day of Decision" which was written by Alan N. Peltier, after he, driving to work one day heard the Star Spangled Banner and realizing how infrequent the National Anthem is heard. While feeling the lack of Patriotism within our borders, he wrote this new song.

Within the first 2 weeks 500,000 records were sold, and it's being reproduced as speedily as possible to try to supply the tremendous demand. It's simply beautiful, even though the music accompaniment cannot be heard, though you would enjoy the words of this song "Day of Decision."

DAY OF DECISION

The other day I heard someone say, "You know, America is in real trouble."

It is true... Old Glory has never fallen so close to the earth. Our embassies are being stoned, our diplomats are often in fear for their lives, and we are involved in a half dozen nameless, win-less conflicts, spilling American blood on foreign soil. Our young men are dying for ideals that don't seem to mean too much to Americans anymore.

The truth is, America's real trouble doesn't lie in the rice paddies of Viet Nam, in the masses of Red China or in the diabolical intrigues to the south of us. The real trouble lies in the playgrounds of St. Louis, the hillside mansions of San Francisco and in the slums of Chicago. The disease which is steadily eating away at the heart of America lives in the small southern towns, the fishing villages of New England and in the hot, dusty stores of the Midwest.

This is the age of the American cynics—the year of the "Unbeliever" the day of doubt. We've killed all the sacred cows, destroyed all of the images and have nothing left to respect. Old-fashioned law of God, Country, and Family is passe.

We stare at our shoelaces when they play the National Anthem. We would not want to be seen at a political rally or a town hall meeting and we don't want to be caught with eyes closed during public prayers. We have decided the only way to get into public office is to buy it. Our heroes are the fast guys who get away with things. "Patriotism" the old hand over the heart, flag-waving, singing patriotism, has been condemned. Think about this --- patriotism—when you tear away the fancy phrases and crepe paper, is plain and simple pride. It is a new car, prettier girl, bigger house sort of pride in country. Somewhere along the way we have lost that pride. Our form of government is the same. We still say, America stands for the same things. But, next time you are at a party, ask someone to sing, "America," and see what happens. The basic ideals and structure of America has not changed - we have - you and me!

Our enemies know it. They've seen the news reels of the discontented marching around the continent. They've distorted and blown up our mistakes. They've been putting steel wedges in the cracks in our wall of solidarity. The new idea is... "don't attack America - wear it down gradually... it will eventually fall under the weight of its own corruption." And, did you know... it's working?

This sneering complacency once stamped out by the bloody feet of a tattered Continental Army in 1776... once drowned beneath the keel of the USS Arizona in Pearl Harbor Bay... has risen again. This deadly, "let George do it" attitude lights the way for the Viet Cong in the swampy jungles of Viet Nam. This "better Red than dead" cancer is more feared by the American soldier than all the communist mortar shells. It kills the vitality and spirit of America.

Democracy is a frail and fragile instrument, made of Hope, Prayer and Yankee ingenuity. It is held together

EMBLEM OF DIGNITY AND JUSTICE

FLAG DAY

Speaking at the Flag Day celebration, Washington, D.C., on June 14, 1914, President Woodrow Wilson said,

"This flag for the future is meant to stand for the just use of undisputed national power. No nation is ever going to doubt our power to assert its rights, and we should lay it to heart that no nation shall henceforth doubt our purpose to put it to the highest uses to which a great emblem of justice and government can be put.

"It is henceforth to stand for self-possession, for dignity, for the assertion of the right one nation to serve the other nations of the world—an emblem that will not condescend to be used for purposes of aggression and self-aggrandizement; that it is too great to be debased by selfishness; that has vindicated its right to be honored by all nations of the world and feared by none who do righteousness."

FISHING-SWIMMING... Dreamland Playground Opened

Dreamland Playground, located approximately 10 miles south of Springlake on U. S. Highway 385, open officially to the public approximately a month ago, now affords area residents an opportunity to fish, swim, horseback ride and play miniature golf without leaving the county.

The 90 acre outdoor fun center features all types of outdoors fun or activity including four completely stocked lakes for fishing, and a single lake for swimming. The new facilities are owned and managed by Roger Bartling and Fred Beversdorf.

In addition to the sporting aspects of the center, the owners have planted a truck garden of organic fruits and vegetables, which when in season will be sold to visitors at the park.

Fishing enthusiasts can choose from lakes containing Bass, Rainbow Trout, Catfish, or Pan Fish, while those inclined to swim can take advantage of the big sandy bottom swimming pool at the entrance to the playground.

Beversdorf and Bartling, the owners of the installation, said they realize there is still a lot of work to be done on the site, and that if their plans develop their building program will never be completed. Included in the long range plans is an adobe motel, camping area and a chapel, as well as facilities for hay rides and parties.

"In putting in this type of installation in the area we hope to give the residents the type of facilities that they will use for their outdoor activity and it will become part of the community."

The playground will be open from sun-up until 10 p.m. daily and from noon Sunday until 10.

The developers of the playground have a nine hole miniature golf course completed and hope to have it extended to a full 18 holes by the end of the summer.

Upon completion, some three years away, the playground will have complete camping facilities, a motel, and service station, as well as expanded recreational area.

Extension Announces Cotton Insect Reporting Plans For State

College Station--Better and more complete reporting of the cotton insect situation in Texas is the objective of the 1966 insect survey program.

For the purpose of reporting, the state has been divided into six areas, said Joe Rothe, state agricultural agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. He added that the Service's area entomologists will serve as coordinators for the program.

Don Rummel, Lubbock, will serve the High Plains area; Emory Boring, Vernon, the Rolling Plains; H. A. Turney, Denton, Blacklands, F. W. Parker, College Station, will coordinate the insect survey work in East and Central Texas; J. A. Deer, Weslaco, will do the same in South Texas and Charles Neeb, Fort Stockton, in the Trans-Pecos area.

Rothe added that each of the coordinators will make a weekly cotton insect situation report for his area for release on Tuesday of each week. He will also report to the state headquarters at College Station and a statewide report will be prepared.

The state agricultural agent said county agents have cooperators in the counties who keep a close check on the cotton insect situation and report their findings to him. The county reports are the basis for the area summaries and the state report.

"We are attempting to make the reporting system more effective so that cotton producers can know with the least possible delay just what the insect situation is and where infestations are spreading," Rothe said.

SUMMER TIME IS FUN TIME for youngster in the area who find the City Pool in Earth a relaxing spot during long hot summer days. Some find the pool a bit chilly, but then whose chicken when it comes to swimming??

Purposes Of The Church Studied At Workers Conference

Sam Ogan, pastor of the First Baptist Church, as guest speaker Monday night at the Llanos Altos Associational workers conference held at the Sunnyside Baptist Church.

Ogan's address was primarily concerning the main purposes of the church. During his address he said, "The primary purpose of the church is to win the unsaved to Christ. If we fail to win the unsaved, we leave them in a lost condition. If they are converted, it is our place to baptize them, and if we fail to do this, we lead them in disobedience. The third purpose of the church is to teach, for if we fail in this task, we are leaving them in ignorance. Our fourth purpose, which is so important is to use them so they will not be left in idleness."

Ogan based his message on Matthew 28:19-20 "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost; Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you; and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

A filmstrip, dealing with the church council was shown. The purpose of the council, and its many responsibilities were discussed following the film. The officers of the church that compose the council are the pastor, the Sunday School Superintendent, the Training Union Director, Brotherhood president, WMU president, church secretary, chairman of the deacons, minister of music, the various Department Superintendents, and the chairmen of the church committees.

The delicious evening meal was prepared and served by the host church.

Approximately 75 persons attended the conference. Don Larkin, Marvin Aaron, and Mrs. Earnest Baker represented the Springlake Baptist Church.

Mr. Roy Neal was in Lubbock Monday on business.

Are Your Picnic and Camping Manners Up To Par???

College Station--This is the season for outdoor living. Are you and your family enjoying the wonders of nature by picnicking, camping or motoring? If we act like responsible Texans, all of us will be able to enjoy the natural beauty of our state, says Miss Lucille Moore, Extension recreation specialist at Texas A&M University. Our parks, forests and roadsides are our vacation outdoor living rooms. If some of us are careless, all vacationers will suffer, adds the specialist.

Careless vacationers destroy our forests by fires and pollute streams and campsites with discarded rubbish. Plants and animals may be killed by this careless disregard by vacationers. Careless campers may start ruts and erosion by driving off the roads provided for their use.

You will be a good citizen if you follow good outdoor manners when vacationing. 1. Keep a trash bag in the car, and use it. 2. Carve a stick, not a tree. 3. Leave the flowers and plants for others to enjoy. They will die if you pick them, anyway. 4. Keep a safe distance from wild animals. 5. Be careful with fires. Douse the campfire an extra time. 6. Drive on roads. 7. Curb the urge to throw things into the water or off high places. 8. Leave the wonders of nature and history where they belong. A souvenir grabber is stealing from future generations.

Get Extra Protection In Insurance Policies

College Station--Life insurance policies can be equipped with accessories to fit your needs, suggests Mrs. Elsie Short, Extension home management specialist at Texas A&M University. Does the extra protection you bought still meet your needs?

The accessories actually amount to extra insurance. They can be bought as separate insurance, but family financial experts point out that money can be saved by purchasing a package--a basic policy, plus extras. According to the Institute of Life Insurance, there are a number of typical areas a family might guard with a life insurance extra:

For example, a $20,000 mortgage payable over 20 years can be insured with a decreasing term clause added to a basic policy. The benefit schedule for this type of extra is arranged to equal the unpaid balance on the mortgage in any given year. Should the homeowner die before the mortgage is paid, the insurance will provide his family with free and clear ownership of the home.

A double indemnity clause protects against accidental death. In the event of fatal accident to the policyholder, the clause would provide his family with at least twice the face amount of his basic policy.

Another typical extra might provide for premiums to be waived when the bread-winner cannot work. Still another extra would provide for premiums to be paid from the cash values of a policy, should a payment be missed for any reason. This clause, of course, could apply only to a permanent policy which accumulates cash reserves.

One accessory is used quite frequently by people with growing families. It provides for extra monthly income during the time the children are still at home by attaching a decreasing term policy to the basic insurance.

The simplest way to buy an extra protection is to have it included when you buy your basic policy, sometimes after a medical exam.

Women Earn Fifth Of Nation's Income

College Station--What is the worth of womanpower on jobs in the United States today? Women earn about one-fifth of the nation's income in the form of wages and salaries and from self-employment, says A&M Home Management Specialist Mrs. Doris Myers. Their total earnings are estimated at about $60 million.

Of the over 25 million working women, the Department of Labor reports over 4.5 million were "professional workers, managers, officials and proprietors."

Nevertheless, only 144,000 women in our country earn $10,000 or more. Incidentally, the Social Security numbers at the end of 1964. Only 53,900,000, however, had earnings credited to their accounts.

Six out of 10 women have life insurance and altogether they owned policies amounting to about $130 billion at the end of 1965. This ownership figure includes all women, whether fulltime homemakers, employed, self-employed, or students.

Working women who have their own individual policies and annuities use them for the double purpose of protecting their dependents while building funds for their own future. Working women also share increasingly in group life insurance protection for their families. Present indications are that women own approximately $40 billion of group life insurance.

In addition, women's contributions to business and industry are being recognized by the increasing amount of key-man and other business insurance on the lives of women.

Several million working women are among the nearly 35 million workers belonging to various kinds of pension and retirement programs, exclusive of Social Security. Over half of non-farm workers are now enrolled in such retirement plans.

More Americans To Vacation By Auto This Summer

College Station--More Americans will vacation by car this year than ever before. Many older citizens will be among these travelers, says Miss Leota Lane, Texas A&M University Extension specialist in family life education. Research done in connection with the recent national driving test indicates that many drivers need to brush up on their driving skills. Additionally, older citizens, especially, will want to check up on these safe-driving points:

1. With the aid of a road map, plan the route you will take by dividing the distance into even periods of driving. Outline rest stops, scenic points, and overnight lodging to provide variety in each day's travel.
2. Allow plenty of driving time. Schedule arrival in major cities to avoid rush hour traffic.
3. More people travel on weekends than during the week. Plan your long trips during the week, and schedule weekends for visiting.
4. Summer means that more vacationers will be traveling. When possible, plan trips before the close of school in the spring and after the start of school in the fall.
5. To reduce eyestrain, wear sunglasses for daytime driving and keep night driving to a minimum.
6. All stopping, passing and turning distances are more difficult to judge after dark. Plan most of the driving during the daylight hours.

Miss Lane says that research indicates that many medicines can affect the way a driver handles the wheel. Certain drugs such as antihistamines, cold tablets, and sedatives may dull your reflexes or impair your coordination. Tranquilizing drugs can cloud your judgement and interfere with your driving skills. Stimulants may cause undue nervousness. Consult your doctor about side effects of any drug he prescribes. Don't drive until you know that the drugs you take won't affect your driving skill.

Dress Right For Your Vacation

College Station--The vacation season is a time when dressing correctly for each activity is important to people of all ages, emphasizes Dr. Graham Hard, Texas A&M University Extension clothing specialist. This means hitting a happy medium between being over casual and under-casual. Either extreme can affect one's acceptance by other vacationers, and in turn, one's enjoyment, Dr. Hard says. It's wise for you to check in advance with the clothes customs of the place or places you plan to visit, she adds. By selecting clothing that can be mixed-and-matched, it is possible for you to "take a little, and have a lot." Men will want to select accessories such as shirts, ties and socks that go with all clothing colors they take on the vacation trip. It is smart, too, to pack as much wash-and-wear apparel as possible. Vacationers will want to avoid selecting all of their sportswear in the new bold and bright colors and designs. People will remember these vivid patterns much more readily than they will garments of more sedate colors and fabrics. While carefully chosen clothes will not necessarily make your vacation trip a success, dressing right for each occasion will enable you to enjoy the fun-time period more, Dr. Hard says.

Saturday evening dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Chaney were Janis Holt and Gene Chaney.

Wasting Irrigation Tail Water Comes to Law Enforcement Halt

Water conservation is a practice as necessary as life itself. Many farmers in the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District have done an excellent job in conserving water. Many others have failed to make any attempt at all to conserve water. The day of habitually letting irrigation tail water run down country road ditches is about over for farmers within the District. The Board of Directors of the District has instructed the District personnel to eliminate, by one means or another, the loss of irrigation tail water. Several notices to stop wasting water have been issued in the area during the past few days. Court injunctions have been served to several land owners and tenants. If after receiving a notice to stop wasting water, a farmer continues to let water pour out of his fields, a court injunction will be served. Many have been given warning in previous years, but will not be warned again. Studies in the area where tail water was escaping from the land, reveal that a quarter section will lose an average of 37 acre feet of water during the irrigation season. This could easily irrigate about 18 acres of land for the entire irrigation season. Valuable top soil is also lost when irrigation tail water is allowed to fill bar ditches and lakes. If you are allowing your tail water to escape from property you own or control, you should begin now to make plans to eliminate this waste. You too, will soon receive a notice and if compliance is disregarded, a court injunction will follow. The Water District is much more interested in motivating a desire in the minds and hearts of high plains land owners to want to conserve their life-giving resource than it is in law enforcement. Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Sigman and family, Debbie Hitt, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Foshee and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Danny Smith and family vacationed last week in Holy Ghost Canyon at Cowles, N.M.
