MAY IMPEACH
 R, Nov. 8.—The Colorado House of Representatives today drafted formal charges against Secretary of State James Carr, also charged with malfeasance in office.

The Phillips test, near Parnell, is down approximately 2,000 feet. Work was slowed considerably night before last, when a strata of hard rock was reached. The bit made only 15 feet of progress during the entire night, but morapid progress is being made now, it was said.

Collector Internal Revenue Says Law Will Be Enforced

Bavouth Smart Shop Newest Addition To City Business

Contract calls for a 6,000 feet test, but officials at the location are hopeful of getting samples of oil at 5,000. So far only black muddy water has been produced.

Information has reached the Collector of Internal Revenue that in certain sections of this district illegal and unauthorized traffic exists in cotton exemption certificates issued under the Bankhead Act, according to word received from W. A. Thomas, Collector of Internal Revenue of Texas.

The newest addition to the business interest of this city is the Bavouth Smart Shop, which is opening for business in the Boren Building on the north side of the square, recently occupied by the Sylvia Smart Shop.

This test is said to be one of the four most elaborate tests ever made. The rig and storage buildings comprise almost a small city.

Penalties for violating the Bankhead Act, as given out by James A. Jackson, county agricultural agent, are fines not to exceed $1,000 or imprisonment of not more than six months, or both such fine and imprisonment. This applies to any person who willfully violates the Act, or who has in his possession any bale tag or certificate of exemption obtained by him otherwise than provided in the Act.

Issac Bavouth, the proprietor, who is a nephew of Frank Bavouth of Frank's Department Store, is an experienced man in the ladies ready-to-wear line, and plans to give the people of this vicinity a modern shop where good styles may be had at moderate prices.

Brothers, is said to be one of the four best ever built. There are numerous buildings at the location. Near the derrick is a large machinery house where the drill and bits for the well proper are stored.

It is alleged that some Hall County farmers are purchasing exemption certificates outside of the county for prices below that prescribed by law. Attention of all interested persons is hereby directed to the following provisions of the law and Regulations, as issued by the Collector of Internal Revenue.

Stock for the new store is arriving now, and it is hoped to have the store open for business tomorrow.

Mild and yet they Satisfy —how do you do that?

Well, to start with, we take tobacco from our own Southland — mild ripe tobacco with lots of natural flavor but no harshness or bitterness.

THEN AS A SECOND STEP—

We blend this home-grown tobacco with spicy, aromatic Turkish tobaccos from across the seas. These Turkish tobaccos, you may know, have a flavor and fragrance entirely different from our own.

AS A THIRD STEP—

These tobaccos are cross-blended —welded together—the best way we've found to get a more pleasing flavor and a better taste in a cigarette.

THAT'S WHY CHESTERFIELDS ARE MILD AND YET THEY SATISFY

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE
SEA Service Staff Writer

In some sections remote from the sea coast, the drinking water, vegetables and grains are so skimpy in iodine as to result in a widespread tendency toward goiter. Home-makers in such places have a problem. The only foods that contain significant quantities of this element are foods from the sea. Sea or Irish moss is said to have the highest content of iodine of all the ocean products and is also the cheapest.

Crab meat rates high and next are lobsters, clams and oysters. These contain from 20 to 300 times as much iodine as some of the most common fresh water fish. Shrimp has about twice as much iodine as the most common deep-sea fish, which contain considerable amounts. From this it is apparent that the shell fish are richer sources than the common deep-sea fish. Although all fishery products contain some iodine, those from the ocean have very much more than the fresh water fish.

Moss Is Vegetable Gelatin
Irish moss can also be used in desserts to add iodine cheaply and effectively. It is a vegetable gelatin and can be used in any way gelatin or junket is used. One-third cup of dry moss will thicken one quart of liquid.

The natural moss, as it is harvested, is very cheap but requires very careful preparation. The powdered form is called sea-moss farina and is ready to use.

In preparing the natural dry moss for use, it must be washed through many waters until each piece is perfectly clean and free from all sand. Then tie loosely in a bag of cheesecloth and drop

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Stewed prunes, cereal, cream, coddled eggs, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Bean stew, rye rolls, celery and apple salad, apricot sea moss pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER: Steamed fillets of haddock with egg sauce, twice baked sweet potatoes, stewed tomatoes with toast cubes, molded spinach salad with French dressing, cranberry pudding, milk, coffee.

in milk or liquid for the pudding. Or it can be put directly into the milk and when sufficiently cooked, strained through a fine sieve before molding. It will take about half an hour to cook the moss.

Orange, almond, caramel and honey are particularly inviting flavors with sea moss.

You can also use sea moss for stiffening a sherbet, mousse or other frozen pudding and it makes a deliciously smooth ice cream.

Sea Moss Ice Cream
One-fourth cup well washed sea moss, 3 cups milk, 1 cup whipping cream, 1-2 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cook moss in milk over hot water for twenty-five minutes. Strain and add sugar. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Add cream whipped until firm. Add vanilla. Turn into mold and freeze as usual.

Instead of freezing, turn the mixture into a mold to chill and become firm. Unmold and serve with a border of stewed dried apricots.

"Calumet sure gives you your money's worth, with that Big New 10¢ Can!"

SAYS MRS. W. W. HICKEY, OF CHICAGO, ILL.

"THERE'S a lot of good baking in that 10¢ can of Calumet," observes Mrs. Hickey. "It's worth more than a dime any day!"

"Of course, with my big family I get the full-pound can—and it's only 25¢ now. As long as I bake, Calumet will be in my pantry!"

Grandfather Rommel, who was a baker for 40 years, says: "Calumet takes the guesswork out of the job nowadays."

LOOK AT THE NEW CALUMET CAN! A simple twist... and the Easy-Opening Top lifts off. No delay, no spilling, no broken fingernails!

WHAT makes Calumet so dependable? Why is it different from other baking powders? Calumet combines two distinct leavening actions. A quick action for the mixing bowl—set free by liquid. A slower action for the oven—set free by heat. This Double-Action produces perfect leavening.

All Calumet prices are lower! Calumet is now selling at the lowest prices in its history... The regular price of the Full-Pound Can is now only 25¢! And ask to see the new 10¢ can—a lot of good baking for a dime—with Calumet, the Double-Acting Baking Powder. A product of General Foods.

morphine to a dope peddler. On his release from prison Jeckers had specialized in underworld practice. He would treat a gunshot wound for a gangster, and see that the news of it did not reach the police; or he would perform a face-lifting operation for a criminal who did not care to be recognized; or, in short, he would do any of the innumerable little jobs that the underworld could not safely get done at the hands of reputable physicians.

The little cocaine addict knew Jeckers—who, as it happened, was an addict himself; and he had learned that Jeckers, a night or two previous, had been called to a North Side apartment to treat a gunshot wound.

That was all there was to the information; but Gunderson, the agent who had obtained it, thought it a promising lead, and Larry readily agreed with him. He asked Gunderson where Jeckers could be reached.

"I figured you'd want to know, so I got it out of the croaky while I was talking with him," Gunderson said. "Jeckers has a little apartment up on North Dearborn, a dozen blocks beyond the river; has his office in his apartment, and seldom goes out. The number's 3527—suite two, on the second floor. You ring the bell, and you don't get in unless you say, 'This is Markus,' up the speaking tube."

And so, at 10 o'clock on a bright summer morning, five United States government officers—Larry Glenn with his two assistants from Dover, and Matthews and Gunderson of the Chicago office—drove out North Dearborn street to pay a call on Doctor Jeckers. Larry had with him a hastily obtained warrant charging the doctor with harboring a fugitive.

They drove past the 3500 block, turned to the right, and parked on a side street just off North Dearborn. They stood by the car for a moment, perfecting their plans.

"Just in case," said Larry, "someone ought to watch the rear. Tony, suppose you slip up that alley—see, it's the third house. If he tries to come out the back way, collar him. You won't know him when you see him, of course, but collar anybody that tries to slip out. Maybe Al'd better go with you. The three of us ought to be enough for the front way."

Peppers and LaRocco strolled up the alley, to stop nonchalantly at a gate in a dilapidated wooden fence. The other three walked around the corner to North Dearborn and went down the sidewalk to the house.

It was a tall brownstone affair with bulging bow-windows on its three floors. Once back in the hey day of the eighties or thereabouts, it must have been a home of wealth and refinement; now it was an apartment house, looking decayed and slightly out-of-the-elbows, and obviously peopled by tenants who were not over-scrupulous about keeping their windows washed. Two children played on the worn flight of steps that led to the front door; in the first bow-window a glass sign with gilt letters proclaimed the presence of Madame LaFleur, masseuse.

The three agents went up the steps, pulled open a massive, time-stained door, and entered a small lobby, with the usual letter boxes and call-buttons on one marble wall. Larry bent to inspect the names on the boxes. The one numbered for suite two—where Gunderson said Doctor Jeckers lived—bore no name.

Larry protruded his lower lip as he peered at it; then, briskly, he jabbed the button to the number two suite.

Then, with the speaking tube came a shrill voice, "Who's it?" "This is Markus," said Larry. Another voice: "What's the matter from the sneaking tube, and the lock to the inner door clicked,

Movie Capital's Fair-Haired Girls

An important stock in Hollywood, right now, is "Blonds, Preferred." Their bright locks opened locks to a film career for charming Clarrissa Sherry, top, of Iowa; Mary Jane Halsey, center, of Wisconsin; and Virginia Gray, below, of Hollywood, three charmers selected for coveted roles in a new screen production.

Matthews had been waiting, and at the first click he jerked it open. The three men strode down a short hall, went up a flight of stairs, and came to a door with a brass number "2" on its upper panel. They waited, and the door opened—just a crack—and a yellowish eye gleamed out at them.

Gunderson had one massive foot against the wood, and the effort to slam the door was unsuccessful. Gunderson bent and pushed, and the door flew inward with violence. Larry and Matthews dashed in, in time to see a spare, gray-haired man in a rusty brown dressing gown go spinning across the little foyer, impelled by the force with which Gunderson had thrust at the door. The man collided with the wall with a thud and stood leaning against it, looking sideways at them, one arm raised to ward off a blow, one hand in a side pocket of his dressing gown. He had a dull, pasty color to his skin and his eyes had an unpleasant yellowish tinge in the whites; his face was deeply lined from the nostrils to the corners of the mouth, and there was a mixture of fear and defiance in his look.

"Hold it!" he barked warningly. "There'll be trouble—" "Watch him!" snapped Matthews; and at the same moment Gunderson's hand shot out, seized the man by the forearm and gave him a jerk that spun him across to the other side of the foyer. A small automatic flew out of the hand which had been in the dressing gown pocket. Larry pounced on it, while Gunderson pounced on the man like a terrier seizing a rat, slammed him heavily against the wall, and pinned him there with his huge hands.

A lock of gray hair, lank and greasy, fell down over the man's forehead. He glared at his captors, panting.

"What is this?" he asked. "A stick-up—or a pinch?" "A pinch," said Matthews dryly, flipping back a lapel to show his badge. The man looked at it and gave what might have been a sigh of relief; and Larry suddenly realized that this renegade doctor probably lived in greater terror of some of the underworld folk who made up his clientele than of the law which he so consistently defied.

He held out the warrant where the man could read it. "This is a federal pinch," he said. "Want to talk to us here, or downtown?"

Doc Jeckers read the warrant, then looked up with a contemptuous curl on his lips. "Talk!" he said scornfully. "It will take mor'n a piece of paper like that to set me talking." "Have it your way," said Matthews calmly. "But, brother, you'll be talking and talking plenty before you see the last of us."

Doc Jeckers gave him a sour look. "Says yeu," he jeered. (To Be Continued)

The Memphis grid machine is in top shape, with the exception of Ferrell, half, who has been suffering all year with injured knees; and the Cyclone is going to Clarendon tonight prepared to shoot the works. Although the local squad has not looked so good in practice this week, it is thought that they will be primed for their ancient foes tonight.

A large delegation of Cyclone backers, headed by the High school pep squad, drum corps and the Gold Medal Band, will flock to Clarendon tonight for the battle.

COACH ROOSE

HOW TO PLAY HALFBACK

Best qualification of a halfback coach is looseness at the hips. If a fellow in that section of the body, he can be turned into a running back with the help of a Red Grange.

A halfback is not necessarily required to hit. One of the backs can be a bit heavier than the other for this duty, or the fullback can be entirely for line bucks. But one of them must be shifty, able to pick holes in the line.

The most valuable steps a halfback can take is the side step. In using this way, he can keep the ball in the arm and his movement, shows him a leg, and means of the line, he can get the leg into the hole. This is the only way to make a hole in the line.

College Center-

a great saving in educational expense for those who attend. The minimum expense which any college student can count on in going away to school is about $500 a year, which, for a group of 20, the minimum attendance at a college center, would mean $10,000. There are no tuition or other charges for attendance at the center, and this amount of money will be saved by each group attending in the local center.

Attendance at the local College Center will not be confined to residents of Hall County, but young people from adjoining counties are eligible to attend, as well.

Mrs. Jean McClure went to Hale Center this morning on a business trip.

Mrs. W. C. Dickey and Mrs. Sam Foxhall returned yesterday from a ten-day visit with relatives and friends in Dallas and Paris.

Phillips Test-

the buildings are made of sheet iron. The supply house is a short distance away and next is the building in which the "mud bogs" and pumps are stored.

Another structure serves the purpose of housing the samples, cuttings and extra tools. Near the sample house are two water tanks, and farther on are the fuel tanks where the fuel for the engines is stored.

Two large slush pits, the first 75 feet by 200 feet and the second 25 feet by 200 feet, are located near the derrick. A long platform has been erected to handle the bits and drill stems.

The entire rig covers approximately five acres. Graded dirt roads to and from the location, with cement cattle guards, have been built. About 40 or 45 men are employed on the Phillips test alone, and three crews are working eight hours a day drilling the well.

Both the Phillips and Knorpp No. 1 tests boast steel derricks of 125 feet height. The Phillips derrick is of single steel shaft, and the Knorpp is of double steel pipes.

Water is piped to the Phillips location by a private pipe-line from a lake some six miles north-east.

Many leases have been taken by Memphis men, and one large block north of the river has been taken by an Amarillo company. This company, it is thought, will likely make two additional oil tests.

The Knorpp test has new titles. New drill stems and other new machinery has been added, and before the test reaches 2,100 feet the rig will be practically rebuilt.

Board Meeting

Members of the Memphis Public School board met last night in a called session in the office of Harry Delaney.

With T. M. Potts, president of the organization, in charge, discussion was held concerning the adjournment of school Armistice Day. Final decision on the turning out of school was deferred until today. Harry Delaney, secretary of the board, said. Discussion was also held on other school matters, but nothing of consequence was done.

Warn Farmers-

"Any producer holding such surplus certificates may sell to any other cotton producer situated within the county where originally issued (or re-issued) the remaining unused portion of his certificate at the uniform price fixed by the Secretary. The transactions are to take place in the county agent's office.

"In order to provide facilities for a general transfer of surplus certificates, and thereby increase the benefits which may accrue to cotton producers holding surplus certificates and at the same time provide reasonable means whereby producers whose production exceeds their allotments may share to a certain extent in the advantage of the transfer, a National Surplus Cotton Tax-Exemption Certificate Pool has been created.

"To prevent speculation, no certificate shall be received for inclusion in the pool except from the person to whom it was originally issued (or re-issued) or unless the producer so offering it shows to the satisfaction of the County Committee, in case it was originally issued to him, that it is surplus either because his production has been lessened by natural cause, such as drouth or storm on his estimate of certificates needed was too high.

"The Secretary may cancel any certificate if he finds that the producer surrendering it into the pool speculated in acquiring such certificate or obtained it through sharp practices or by fraud or coercion."

Mr. Thomas said that his office would require a strict accounting both from the producer and ginner, of all certificates coming into their possession and that it would enforce the Bankhead Law and report for prosecution any and all violations that may come to its notice.

DAMP WEATHER

Starting with a heavy fog which blanketed the ground, today gives very good indications of showers before the day is over. The ground fog cleared about the middle of the morning, but the sky is overcast with clouds and high fog.

Moisture, without a freeze, just now will benefit cotton, as it will moisten up the hard bolls, according to farmers, and then sunshine will pop them open.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

PRESERVED FOR 100 YEARS

IN the stuffy, somber depths of a huge black and red granite mausoleum, lies the embalmed body of Nicolai Lenin, first dictator of Soviet Russia, who died in 1924. Covered by a tent-like glass case, his body has been viewed by 8,000,000 people, while under constant guard.

Because of fears that the body might disintegrate, two leading Soviet scientists treated it with a secret formula by which, they say, Lenin will remain exactly as he was alive for another 100 years or more. Further to preserve the remains of Russia's idol, air-conditioning equipment is to be installed, so that the warm currents of air set in motion by the incessant line of visitors might not injure the body.

The stamp shown below, pictures Lenin's tomb. It was issued in 1924.
