ASCS Updates Farm Program Deadlines

1991 SMALL GRAIN ACREAGE REPORT

The final date to certify or request aerial measurement service for wheat, rye, barley, oats, and triticale, regardless of use, program or non-program, ACR or CU, is May 15, 1991. This is also the final date to certify to zero acreage planted if the farm has a base for that commodity.

SMALL GRAINS LEFT STANDING

If you have wheat or other small grains on ACR or CU that will be left standing and not substantially destroyed by May 15, 1991, you MUST file a request to leave the small grain standing and pay a $10 fee by May 15 to stay in compliance.

MEASURING SERVICE

As soon as we get your farm measured, you will be notified of the measured acreage and you have only five workdays in which to adjust (if any) and certify your acres in this office. Please notify this office if you have to adjust, prior to plowing anything up.

FAILED ACRES

Any small grain crops that fail due to a natural disaster beyond the producer's control, MUST be certified and an ASCS 574 (Disaster Application) filed before the crop is disturbed.

MAINTENANCE OF ACR, CU/PAY, AND CRP

Weed control measures must be carried out in a timely manner on acreage designated as ACR and CU for Pay throughout the calendar year. Weed control measures also MUST be carried out timely on CRP land throughout the life-span of the CRP contract. Failure to control noxious weeds, wind and water erosion, could result in total loss of farm program benefits and/or your CRP contract.

Most Texas Tornadoes Occur In May

May is tornado month in Texas. More tornadoes and tornado-related deaths have occurred in May than in any other month, state weather records show.

The two worst killer tornadoes in state history tore through Texas in May: 114 people were killed in Goliad on May 18, 1902, and the same number died in Waco on May 11, 1953.

Since 1953, when the state began keeping more reliable tornado records, twice the number of tornadoes have occurred in May than in April or June, the other two months in the state's tornado season.

More than 37 tornadoes hit Texas per year in May, compared to 19 in April and 18 in June. All other months averaged less than 10 tornadoes annually through 1988, according to data from the State Climatologist's office at Texas A&M University.

Texas averaged 126 tornadoes a year between 1953 and 1983--more than any other state, according to meteorologist George Bomar in his book, Texas Weather.

Texas has so many tornadoes in May because atmospheric conditions for them are most favorable that month, said Jon Zeitler, an assistant in the State Climatologist's office. The state's location between the Rocky Mountains and the Gulf of Mexico also makes it prime tornado country.

In the spring, early summer and autumn, cold fronts from the north converge with warm, moist air from the gulf near the earth's surface. At the same time, warm, dry air at higher altitudes flows from the southwest out of Mexico.

Scientists have identified several characteristic behaviors of the converging airstreams that can form tornadoes, but they don't know precisely what causes the storms--or how to predict them, Zeitler said.

Meteorologists do know that when the airstreams converge, the forces can create large, spinning thunderstorms, as well as violent updrafts and downdrafts, he said.

The dry air aloft can provide a "capping" effect that temporarily keeps rising, moist air from going higher. But sometimes the moist air can burst through the cap in a powerful updraft, creating thunderstorms that grow explosively upward and contribute to tornadoes, Zeitler said.

May tornadoes have killed the

Hail, Tornadoes Accompany Rain

Muleshoe and the surrounding area got the answer to the big question, "When is it ever going to rain?" Friday night when thunderstorms accompanied by hail, high winds and tornadoes roamed around the area.

At 7:40 p.m. the National Weather Service out of Lubbock issued a tornado watch for Bailey County. A short while later reports began to come in that tornadoes were spotted at Lazbuddie, North East of Muleshoe in Parmer County.

The Journal was on the phone talking to a man who lives approximately three miles east of Lazbuddie. He stated that the wind had calmed down and it was raining and hailing. Hail, said to be almost golf ball size could be heard hitting the roof. When he hung up the phone and looked out, he saw a tornado about a quarter of a mile in front of his home.

Later reports were that a house had been hit. No one was injured. The occupants had taken refuge in a basement, where they were trapped for some time before they were rescued.

About this time things began to pick up in Muleshoe and the southern part of Bailey County near Bula. Weather watchers east of Muleshoe near TOLK Station reported sighting torna-

Good Guys Drink Bad Guys Smoke?

Good guys drink, bad guys smoke. Or so say the results of a recent study at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston that reveals surprising new attitudes among teenagers.

"We found that teenagers today think that, by and large, it is 'uncool' to smoke, but drinking is considered acceptable behavior—even desirable behavior," said Dr. Armin D. Weinberg, an associate professor of medicine and director of the Center for Cancer Control Research at Baylor. Weinberg and Dr. Alexander Siegel, an adjunct professor of medicine at Baylor, interviewed 70 seventh- and ninth-grade students in Victoria, Texas.

"Originally, we were looking at ways to stop family traditions of smoking," Weinberg said. "We found that public-education efforts to curb adolescent smoking are taking their toll. Only two out of 70 teens reported that they intended to smoke as adults."

The researchers reported, however, that nearly 70 percent of the teens said they would likely drink by the time they were adults.

The study, funded by the American Heart Association, sent interviewers into homes in the Victoria Independent School District, which is 48 percent white and 44 percent Hispanic. All of the teens indicated they had one or two parents who smoked.

"What they told us was disturbing," said Siegel, a professor of psychology at the University of Houston. "Not only did the teens think that drinking was okay, but they did not distinguish between drinking and getting drunk."

The adolescents were asked to list the benefits and consequences of smoking and drinking. Most named relaxation as the only benefit for smoking, but some said there were no benefits.

"For drinking, they could name many benefits such as going to the beach, camping—things that are associated with entertainment and enjoyment," Siegel said. "The consequences centered on physical damage, whether from disease or accidents related to drinking."

More surprising were the attitudes in relationship to whether their parents smoked or drank.

Teens whose parents smoked reported no benefits for smoking. Children of parents who drank, however, still listed benefits for drinking. Both parents and teens were asked to rank drinking and smoking on a scale of one to five, with five being the most risky behavior. The teens ranked smoking as 4.8, and drinking as 3.

Weinberg attributes much of the changed attitudes to aggressive smoking-prevention campaigns, and speculates television may play a role.

During one hour of prime-time television, there are an average of 11 different incidences of drinking," he said. "And I am not talking about commercials. These are popular prime-time shows, where, in every instance, the person drinking is a 'good Guy.' In most cases, when smoking is shown on television, it is usually the villain who lights up."

Weinberg believes that campaigns similar to those used against smoking may help curb teenage drinking, and, in the long run, adult drinking problems.

The study also revealed that curiosity and not peer pressure was the main reason listed among teens for experimenting with smoking or drinking. Most campaigns to reduce teen drinking and smoking have targeted peer pressure.

From The Senate

By: Teel Biyins

Texans traditionally have frowned on gambling, but the state does it every two years—and sometimes it loses big. Let me explain. Each biennium the state Comptroller puts his pencil to the paper and comes up with the amount of money he thinks the state will generate over the next two years from such things as taxes, federal funds, fees and oil production. The Legislature uses these revenue projections to write its two-year budget.

It's in dealing with oil revenues where the state takes a gamble. To come up with his revenue estimates, the Comptroller must look into his crystal ball and forecast oil prices over the next two years. When Texas uses, say, $17.50 a barrel as a basis for spending, the state is placing a bet on future oil prices. The state wins the bet if prices rise above the estimate, but it loses if prices fall below.

A lot of money is involved here. Because of its oil severance tax, Texas has a 4.6 percent interest in every barrel of oil produced in the state. Plus, the Permanent University Fund and the Permanent School Fund combined have oil royalty income that total more than 6 million barrels a year.

In 1985, the Legislature adopted a budget based on crude-oil prices of $25 a barrel. In early 1986, this same oil sold for $11 a barrel, leaving the state $3.5 billion short of funds with which to pay its bills for the biennium.

As long as Texas relies so much on oil revenue, there always will be the chance the state will lose its bet. The state clearly needs a way to hedge its bets. I'm sponsoring legislation to do just that.

Specifically, I support creating a pilot project that would allow the state to use crude-oil futures and options on crude-oil futures to protect the state from precipitous drops in oil prices. Currently, the law does not allow Texas to hedge with futures and options, and this has been to the state's detriment.

While the pilot project would allow the state to use crude-oil futures contracts to hedge against price fluctuations, it's options on crude-oil futures contracts that really provide the most attractive risk management tool.

Hedging with a futures contract would allow the state to lock in a set price in the future for its anticipated oil severance tax revenues. If the price of crude oil goes down after that point with a corresponding drop in crude-oil severance tax revenues, the state would be protected from the price decline. However, if the price goes up, the state would be locked into the price it accepted when it sold the futures contract as a hedge.

Options on futures contracts allow the state far more flexibility. Using an option on a crude-oil futures contract, the state would be able to lock in a price for its crude-oil severance tax revenues below which we could not fall, and at the same time leave the opportunity for upside potential open.

For example, the state could purchase the right to be short December crude oil at $20. When December rolls around, if the price has fallen to $10, the state could exercise its option and thus be protected from the price decline. On the other hand, if the price of crude oil has increased to 130, the state would simply allow the option to expire and participate in the higher price.

Purchasing a put option on a crude-oil futures contract is much like buying homeowners' insurance for your home. You hope each year that the homeowners' insurance will expire unused. But should a tragedy occur, the homeowner is protected. Like insurance, the cost to purchase an option on crude-oil futures contract is called a premium. This premium cost would have to be deducted from any transactions to give a true reflection of the net savings generated to the state.

There's a precedent for allowing the state to use options. The 71st Legislature granted the Treasurer the authority to use options on Treasury Bills to hedge against fluctuations in interest rates.

Hedging the state's anticipated oil severance tax revenue and royalty income with futures and options on futures is only a management tool. I don't want to tell the state's risk managers when they should use this tool, but I think they should have it in the tool box to be used when it is prudent to do so.

The Chamber Corner

Chamber Manager

Most of us will never do great things, but we can do small things in a great way.

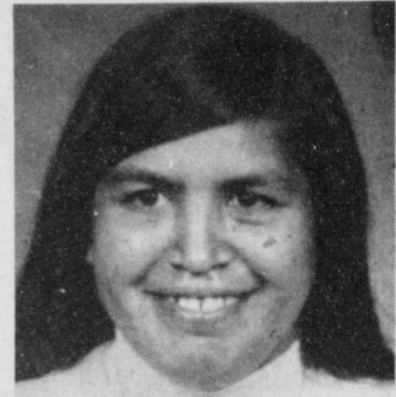

The VETERANS MEMORIAL MONUMENT FUND is growing and so is the enthusiasm. You can come by the Chamber of Commerce office and see what a 'native rock' looks like when it's been treated with hot lensed oil. The colors in the stone are deepened and are very pretty. This is what the monument will be made of.

The monument will be placed on the Bailey County Court House grounds. Many of the materials have already been donated, and all the labor has been. We have many talented people in our area and they are excited about this project and the best of talents have volunteered. But we do need more funds. There will not be a 'shut off' time for the funds. What is left over will be placed in escrow for maintenance. This is the community's way of saying "Thank You" to the people who served, and are still serving, our country in the many different services.

Jacobs Named District Manager

John R. Jacobs has been named to the position of district manager for the Littlefield District of Energas Company.

Jacobs, formerly district manager for Trans Louisiana Gas Company in Pineville, La., joined the company in July, 1966 as serviceman in Floydada, Texas. In December, 1975 he was transferred to the Operations Department, where he has held various supervisory and management positions.

He was promoted to district manager for Trans Louisiana Gas Company in Natchitoches, La., in February, 1988 and named district manager in Pineville in February, 1990.

Jacobs, a native of Quanah,

Texas, attended Southwestern State University. He and his wife Ginger will relocate to Littlefield.

In making the announcement, Senior Vice President of Operations Robert W. Kirk stated that Jacob would be responsible for the operations of the Littlefield District, which includes the towns of Littlefield, Brownfield, Levelland, Muleshoe, Springlake and the surrounding communities.

Energas Company and Trans Louisiana Gas Company are both divisions of Atmos Energy Corporation of Dallas, Texas, which provides natural gas service to over one-half million customers, Texas, Louisiana and Kentucky.

Property Tax Protest and Appeal Procedures

The law gives property owners the right to protest actions concerning their property tax appraisals. You may follow these procedures if you have a concern about:

- the value placed on your property;
- exemptions that may apply to you;
- cancellation of agricultural appraisal;
- whether your property is taxable;
- which local governments should be taxing your property; or
- you think the appraisal district has done something else that adversely affected you.

Informal Review: Contact Bailey County Appraisal District 104 E. Ave. C. Muleshoe, Tx. or call (806) 272-5501 if you have any questions.

Review by the Appraisal Review Board: If you can't resolve your problem informally with the appraisal district staff, you may have your case heard by the appraisal review board.

The appraisal review board (ARB) is an independent board of citizens that reviews problems with appraisals and other concerns listed above. They have the power to order the appraisal district to make the necessary changes to solve problems. If you file a written request for an ARB hearing (called a notice of protest) before the deadline, the ARB will set your case for a hearing. You'll receive written notification of the time, date, and place of the hearing. The hearing will be informal. You and the appraisal district representative will be asked to present evidence about your case. The ARB will make its decision based on the evidence presented. You can get a copy of a protest form from the appraisal district office at 104 E. Ave. C., Muleshoe, Texas.

NOTE: You shouldn't try to contact ARB members outside of the hearing. The law requires you to sign an affidavit saying that you haven't done so before the ARB hears your case.

Review by the District: After it decides your case, the ARB must send you a copy of its order by certified mail. If you're not satisfied with the decision you have the right to appeal to district court. If you choose to go to court, you must start the process by filing a petition within 45 days of the date you receive the ARB's order. If the appraisal district has appraised your property at $1,000,000 or more, you must file a notice of appeal with the chief appraisal within 15 days of the date you receive the ARB's order.

More information: You can get more information by contacting your appraisal district at 104 E. Ave. C., Muleshoe, Texas 79347 or call (806) 272-5501.

You can also get a pamphlet describing how to prepare a protest from the appraisal district or from the State Property Tax Board, 4301 Westbank Drive, Building B, Suite 100, Austin, Texas 78746.

Deadline for filing protests with the ARB

Usual deadline: On or before May 31 (or 30 days after a notice of appraisal value was mailed to you, whichever is later).

Late protests (If you miss the usual deadline for good cause. Good cause is some reason beyond your control, like a medical emergency. The ARB decides whether you have good cause.) Before the day the appraisal review board approves the record for the year. Contact the appraisal district for more information.

Change of use (if the appraisal district has informed you that you are losing agricultural appraisal because you changed the use of your land) Before the 30th day after the notice of the determination was mailed to you.

ARB changes (if the ARB has informed you of a change that increased your tax liability and the change didn't result from a protest you filed) Before the 10th day after the notice of the determination was mailed to you.

If you believe the appraisal district or ARB should have sent you a notice and did not, you may file protest until the day before taxes become delinquent (usually February 1). The ARB decides whether it will hear your case based on evidence about whether a required notice was mailed to you.

Texas Senate Week In Review

The Texas Senate passed landmark recycling legislation this week. On Thursday, Senate Bill 1340, sponsored by Senator Carl Parker of Port Arthur, was passed and sent to the Texas House for consideration. S.B. 1340 is the most far reaching recycling legislation ever passed in Texas. The bill includes market development studies, recycling awareness programs, statewide recycling programs, as well as directing state agencies to purchase and use recyclable products, including the Department of Highways and Public Transportation using the recycling reclaimed asphalt pavement. Senator Parker stated that with landfill space dwindling, rising costs, and the environmental risks involved, bold steps have to be taken by state government to encourage recycling and reuse of oil, batteries, tires and all other recyclable products. The bill includes a $2 per tire disposal fee on the purchase of new tires.

On Tuesday, April 30, the Senate passed Senate Bill 546 sponsored by Senator Gonzalo Barrientos of Austin. The bill abolishes the Texas Housing Agency and the Texas Department of Community Affairs and merges their functions, duties, and responsibilities to create the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs. The Texas Housing Agency has recently been questioned for not doing enough to assist low income families with housing needs. This is legislation recommended by the Sunset Commission, an agency formed to review state agencies, boards, and commissions for their effectiveness and necessity. If this legislation is not passed, the agency will be abolished September 1, 1991. The bill now goes to the House for consideration.

On Monday, April 29, the Senate passed Senate Bill 350 sponsored by Senator Judith Zaffirini relating to the burning of hazardous material in industrial furnaces located in the Edwards Aquifer recharge and transition zones. The legislation prohibits the Texas Water Commission to issue permits authorizing the burning of certain hazardous materials located in these areas.

A&M To Offer Course On Record Keeping

A course on computerized cash record keeping will be offered May 13-14 at the new Texas A & M University Computer Training and Education Center at Halfway.

This will be the first course offered at this facility, which opened April 19. It is a joint effort between the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the High Plains Research Foundation which was formally opened April 19. A series of classes on record keeping, spreadsheets and the computer operating system are scheduled throughout the year. Other courses will be provided in family financial management, nutrition and health.

"This first course is intended for those who want to improve their managerial skills by upgrading their record keeping system," said Dr. Jackie Smith, Extension Service economist and management specialist at Lubbock. "Improving their record keeping system can provide more immediate access to important financial information about their business to aid in decision-making."

The software used in this two-day session will be Quicken, Version 4, by Intuit. Since first introduced on the software market several years ago, Quicken has been widely adopted for small business and home record keeping.

"While not specifically designed for agricultural use, Quicken is flexible and easily adapted for this purpose," Smith said. "It is especially satisfying for those who have purchased a computer and are anxious to put it to use."

1931 "EARTH" DETAILS THE MERITS OF BAILEY CO. IRRIGATION VIRTUES

Under the caption, "Irrigation in Bailey", "The Earth" official publication of the Santa Fe System, in its May issue, just off the press, tells some interesting facts of developments taking place in the valley.

As a matter of fact, every issue of this publication for the past 5 months has carried some publicity regarding Bailey County.

The story in the May issue is as follows:

Much interest is being shown in the development of pump irrigation in Blackwater Draw in Bailey County. There are about sixty pumping plants in operation, a number of new wells are being drilled, & more wells are being planned.

The average well is almost one hundred feet deep, but the water rises to near the surface. The lift is from fifteen to thirty-five feet, and the cost of pump operation is low.

A number of wells have been in operation for more than fifteen years. The climate is excellent and the growing season is long. Under irrigation many crops are grown successfully.

"This is a new section which is beginning to settle rapidly. Land is still low in price & may be bought on easy terms. Muleshoe is the county seat.

1941 INDICATIONS ARE FOR GOOD CROPS; TWO INCHES RAIN

The weather station records show a total of 2 inches of rainfall for this area during April, which assures an excellent planting season. I past records are in indication the fine rainfall in March & April means bumper crops for this section.

The rain was general over the country, with some sections receiving more than others. Next week will see farm operations starting in earnest. Pastures are in fine condition, stockmen report, & animals are in good flesh. Precipitation since last Saturday was 1.53 inches.

1951 PFC "PESKY" WINN IS TRANSFERRED TO ROSWELL

PFC Jesse "Pesky" Winn, who has just completed his radio mechanic school at Camp Gordon near Augusta, Ga., has been transferred to Walker Air Force Base, Rosell, N.M. PFC Winn, Mrs. Winn & their little daughter, Bobbie Shawn, are here for a visit with relatives.

Everybody concerned is glad that the couple can be located so near as the Roswell Base.

1961 BAILEY COUNTIANS EAT MORE

The individual Bailey County resident spent more money for food in the past fiscal year than did people in most parts of the West South Central States.

On a weekly basis, food expenditures locally were at the rate of $5.07 per person per week.

This was solely for food purchases for home consumption. It does not take into account the amount spent in restaurants.

By way of comparison, the outlay in other parts of the West South Central States was $5.05 per person weekly.

1971 SHERIFF WARNS OF COUNTERFEIT MONEY

Because of a flood of bogus twenty dollar bills in Littlefield late last week, Bailey County Sheriff Dee Clements issued an SOS call to local merchants Monday morning.

He warned them to watch locally for such counterfeit bills. Sheriff Clements said that to his knowledge no counterfeit $20 bills have been found in Muleshoe, but issued a word of caution to local merchants to watch carefully for the bills.

BOBBIE BENHAM

I've got a marvelous Mama. I say she is perfect. The most wonderful thing my wonderful mother does is cook homemade hamburgers. She is also good because she helps Kendra and me study for a test. We usually make a 100.

She is pretty good at picking out stylish clothes for Kendra, Sara, and me. She is fun when she plays barbie dolls with Sara and me. Mama makes beautiful curtains (She made mine,) and pretty bedspreads. Sometimes my Mama gives me a special day and takes me to Lubbock or Clovis and we go shopping together.

I am glad my mom is healthy and alive.

MICHAEL LOPEZ

"My Mom's the greatest mom in the world because she gave birth to me, she works for me and my brother & sister and because she encoridges me about reading.

With out my mom I would have never been born so if I had one wish I would wish to give my mom something as good as she gave me.

My mom works very hard for me and my brother and sister. She buys us snacks from the candy machine, cloths and school supplies.

My mom allways encoridges me to read. Almost every day I read much better.

Thes are three reasons why my moms the best in the world.

BRET CLEMENTS

"My Mom is the greatest in the world because...!!!

Shes fair and when I mess up she always gives me another chance.

She gets me things I need like cloths and food and some thigs I want but not all. Sometimes I get mad at her because what I think is right always isn't and I want to do it and later on I find out shes right.

She helps me with my lessons and bake snacks for scouts and is always supputive of what ever I do.

What I like the best about her is that shes alwas behind me in what ever I do even if its wrong and she dont agree.

Without my mom I dont know what I would do.

ASHLEY CRAWFORD

My mom's the greatest mom in the world because she lets me do things that know other mom would dream about letting their child do, my mom's also the best because she let me have a cat and she did that because she new I loved cats and had always wanted one.

My mom is the best because she even lets me go around the neighborhood with out asking.

My mo lets me cook things like biscits and toast like no other mother would dare let their child do. My mom also lets me have 2 friends over at one time and some mothers only let their child have one freind over at a time.

My mom let me have a cat. She was so nice about it and she took me all the way to Portales to get my cat and she took me by a store where Mrs. Skinner worked and let me see her.

My mom also lets me go around the neighborhood with-out asking.

My neighborhood is big. I love my mom. I think she is sweet, pretty, nice, and she's also nive to every body else.

STACY LOCKER

My Mom's The Greatest Mom in the World because she does things for me. She cooks, she helps me with my homework when I need it, and she helps me get ready for school.

My mom cooks wonderful meals, like Bar-B-cue chicken. I love Bar-B-cue chicken. She'll fix anything I want. I like the pizza she cooks. It tastes wonderful.

If I tell my mom I need help she'll come and help me. I was once correcting a story and needed some help. I called her and she came and helped me. She's good at helping me with homework.

My mom always helps me get ready for school. She always wakes me up in the morning. She fixes my breakfast for me. She'll tell me to brush my teeth. She always helps me get ready for school.

My mom is the greatest Mom because she cares about me. I'm proud and lucky to have such a wonderful nice Mom.

VICKY

My mom's the greatest mom in the world because she is very understanding. Like when I fell down and my knee started to bleed and she asked me, "What happen!" I said, "I was running and fell." She answerd, "Well don't run so fast." Then when my grades are lower she understands.

I also think she's the greatest because if we don't have any money and I'm sich she would sratch up pennies, dimes or what ever it took to pay the hospital.

One more thing I like about my mom is that she buys me what ever I need like school supplies and clthes and all the important things. If she has some money left she will buy something special for me.

That's how much I love her and I just wanted to say HAPPY Mothers Day!!!

JEFF BRUNS

My mom's name is Connie. She is the nicest mom that you could have in the world. She has fabulous cooking. She cooks spaghetti whenever I'm sick and not felling well. In the morning she cooks me toast and jelly. My mom is also very nice. She lets me spend the night at my friends house.

Whenever I want to go play basebell at the park she lets me. I can count on my mom to keep the house clean. My mom keeps our clothes nice and clean. Every day she has dinner on the table. I am glad God gave such a loving and caring mom!

MICROWAVE TIPS

Most people don't enjoy sausage patties or links unless they turn brown. Cooked by microwave, they're not brown. The answer, if you wish to use the microwave, is to use a mixture of water and bouquet sauce. Brush them with that, preferably on a roasting rack.

Cover with wax paper and cook half the microwave time on one side and then turn over, brush again, cover, and cook the remaining time. The patties or sausage links will be traditionally brown.

most people in Texas, averaging just over six deaths per year while April averages just under four. All others average less than two.

Meteorologists point out that such statistics may be somewhat misleading. The 1953, Waco disaster skews the May death total, Zeitler said, but without question the heaviest tornado activity, both in number of storms and related deaths, has been recorded between April and June.

The deadliness of tornados has much to do with wind speeds. Those can only be estimated, because wind-measuring devices usually don't survive in winds of much more than 100 miles per hour, Zeitler said.

But estimates based on Doppler radar and photogrammetry measurements, as well as special engineering studies of structures damaged by tornados, have helped scientists deduce that wind speeds can reach 300 mph or more.

Such information has been used to develop the Fujita scale of wind speeds, a 12-level scale for ranking tornados. None are expected to reach wind speeds of above 316 mph, or the F5 level, Zeitler said. F12 tornados are powerful enough to lift well-built frame houses off their foundations and carry them great distances before disintegrating them.

Many of Texas' most infamous twisters were estimated to be F5 tornados. Among them were those that hit Waco in 1953 and Lubbock in 1970--both by dark coincidence on May 11.

The Waco twister hit in the heart of the downtown area just before 5 on a weekday afternoon, killing 114 people and injuring almost 1,100. Of the dead, 94 were found in a two-block area that included the square around City Hall.

Damage totaled more than $51 million and included 196 buildings destroyed or damaged beyond repair, as well as 850 homes demolished in whole or part.

The Lubbock tornado plowed through some 15 square miles, nearly one-fourth of the city, from near the campus of Texas Tech to the Lubbock Municipal Airport.

Twenty-six died and at least

TOLERANCE CHANGES FOR 1991

1. All crops reported on an ASCS-578 that are eligible for program benefits, including P & CP (History Credit) and loans, are subject to tolerance.

2. Maximum tolerance is the larger of 1.0 acre or five percent of the reported acreage, minus the sum of official and measured acreage, not to exceed 10 acres.

3. Maximum permitted acreage for measurement service is the sum of the permitted acreage for the crop plus available flex from other participating crops. (No Tolerance)
4. Tolerance is calculated on the total crop or ACR. Calculations are not performed on each practice (irr. & dry) or use of the crop.

5. When a crop has been determined to be out of compliance because tolerance has been exceeded, and the COC makes a good faith determination, a payment reduction will be applied.

6. Tolerance on ACR is calculated when the determined acreage is less than the reported acreage.

7. Tolerance on CU for payment is calculated only when the determined acreage is less than the reported.

8. Tolerance on any minor oilseeds used for payment is calculated whenever the reported differs from the determined acreage. If more than 1 oilseed crop is used for Pay/92, each crop is required to be calculated separately.

9. Tolerance on flex and cu for P&CP (History only) is calculated only when the determined acreage is less than the reported (this includes Turn-rows).

10. Tolerance calculations for a minor oilseed crop used for flex, P & CP, or both, are calculated whenever the reported differs from the determined acreage.

IAM RECALCULATIONS
Producers with irrigated crops on a farm will receive another letter in the near future concerning a corrected irrigated acreage maximum (IAM) recalculation. This letter shows that a farm IAM has been calculated and that producers will be allowed to select which crops receive the IAM credit. The IAM is used to calculate the 1991 payment yield for a crop.

PEANUTS
The final date to submit contracts for additional peanuts is July 31, 1991.

PRICE SUPPORT

Higher Education At Risk

Due To State Funding

Faced with the prospect of future budget cuts and concerned about further diluting the quality of higher education, the Coordinating Board today took the unprecedented step of refusing to allow institutions to implement any new degree programs until state funding for higher education improves.

"If the state is going to have a dramatic shortfall in funding higher education, we can't continue to expand services and programs," said Board Chairman Harry Reasoner of Houston.

"As a result of years of underfunding higher education and potential drastic cutbacks this year, we have come to a true fiscal crisis in higher education. We have gone, in constant 1985 dollars, from funding of almost $3,500 per student to about $2,800 per student," Reasoner said.

"In higher education, as in all of life, there is no free lunch -- no magic solutions that permit us to offer accessible quality education to all students without paying for it," he said.

Board member Lauro Guerra of McAllen said, "I equate higher education to a sick patient in the hospital." By not finding revenue sources adequate to support the state's colleges and universities, "the Legislature is cutting off the antibiotics and the IV fluids to make that patient well," he said.

Although the Board gave preliminary approval today to more than a dozen new degree programs, the Board announced that no programs approved between now and July 1992 could be implemented until the Legislature provides adequate funding for higher education. If funding does not improve by July 1992, then previously approved degree programs that had been "on hold" would have to be brought back before the Board for another review.

"We need to do that," Chairman Reasoner said, "because priorities can change."

Commissioner of Higher Education Kenneth H. Ashworth conceded that today's Board action would "make some people and some schools unhappy, but it is an essential step toward trying to protect quality in our existing system of higher education. We cannot keep adding new programs, new services and new buildings on top of an educational foundation lacking adequate financial support."

Chairman Reasoner cited several indicators of how declining dollars are already negatively affecting the quality of higher education:

* Texas trails nine of the 10 largest states in average faculty salaries, making it difficult for Texas institutions to recruit and retain the best teachers.

* Classes are getting larger and more students are being taught by part-time faculty because institutions lack funds to hire more full-time faculty.

* Libraries are cutting back on acquisition of needed books and periodicals and are shortening the hours they are open for study and research.

* Minority access programs, like the State Scholarship for Ethnic Recruitment and the Education Opportunity Service formula, have never been adequately funded.

Ben Latham of Amarillo, who chairs the Board's Campus Planning Committee, said Texas institutions are already half a billion dollars behind in needed maintenance. "If we authorize all of the new construction projects on today's agenda," Latham said, "we would add more than 180,000 square feet to the 935,000 square feet in new construction approved by the Board since fall 1989."

"These new buildings could translate into a demand for over $4 million in state funds each year to operate and maintain them. I believe that for us to continue to approve projects would be to cause even more harm to higher education through the further dilution of the limited funds we have," Latham said.

Kiwanis News

By R.A. Bradley

Thirteen Kiwanians and three honorary members met Friday morning at the Dairy Queen. Honorary members present were Jon Keith Turner, Robby Clapp and Chad Johnson. Sweetheart Marsha Wilson was still sacked out at home. She called and said she had a late night or was it a heavy date?? Maybe we have found Marsha a boy friend.

President Glen Marris called the meeting to order. Don Clapp led the club in the pledge to the flag. Reggie Johnson gave the invocation. Brad gave the friendship coin last week hoping to get a bucket of bubble gum. Brad did not get the bubble gum. But he didn't get Randy back to the meeting Friday morning. Randy's out of town trying to spend the friendship coin. Randy, that coin will not spend.

Reggie Johnson introduced his son, Chad, who gave the program. Chad told about the TAC-Summer Track Program. Anyone from eight to 99 who wishes can join, there will be track meets at Levelland, Lubbock, Amarillo and Albuquerque. This program is all volunteers, financed by donations and entrance fees. Nothing can be furnished by the schools or coaches because it will go into UIL. This program is to encourage all track people to work and train during the summer. Which will help them next year in school.

The Kiwanis Club voted to help donate to the program if it gets started. Yours truly hopes that each youngster who is in the track program will work on this TAC program.

Book of Life

When all has been said and tried about philosophies of life, how to be happy, or how to be a success, mankind unfulfilled elsewhere will still turn back to this book. Here indeed are the words of life. Here is a guide to your footsteps and a lamp for your path. No man needs to stumble through life as if blind; God has provided a light and it shines through this book. Go where the Book is treasured and understood, to the Church, and hear The Word for your life.

Is something wrong with your life — an inner restless dissatisfaction? The answer to every human problem comes only from God our Maker. He alone can forgive and reassure. Through the church God has committed the provision and proclamation of His forgiveness and redeeming love. Without a church relation no one is securely related to God. Everyone should be in the Church and the Church should be in everyone!

Phil Lemons, Dimmitt, Tx was recently named a member of Northup King Co.'s 1990 Honorary Sales Council. The company's sales managers and agronomists who achieve or contribute to significant seed sales increases are appointed to the annual Honorary Sales Council (HSC).

Lemons was recognized by company executives for his outstanding sales in 1990 at an

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,
I am a widow, fifty years old--have been for five years. Recently I met this man about ten years younger than I and we seemed to hit it off just fine. We seem to like the same things, baseball games, good movies or television. I am a good cook and have my own home but just enough money to get by with.
He has a good business and has asked me to marry him. My daughter objects and says I am silly to marry a man younger than I. She can't say he is marrying me for money as I haven't any to speak of.
Do you think I should pay any attention to her or should I accept this man?
--Widow--N.M.

Answer:
If you two people are companionable and he has the money to run your house comfortably, while you cook delicious meals, I doubt if ten years difference in age will be a great handicap for a successful marriage. Some people have been old all of their lives and others remain young until they die. It is a matter of attitude, health and optimism.

B.J. CROWLEY'S HOROSCOPE

Week of May 13, 1991

TAURUS--April 21 to May 20--You would do well to play in your own back yard. The grass which looks greener could turn to a dull brown.

GEMINI--May 21 to June 20--Be careful about anything you put in writing. A personal letter could be misinterpreted, much to your dismay.

CANCER--June 21 to July 22--If you are bored, try reversing your usual schedule. Do morning chores in the evening and vice-versa.

LEO--July 23 to Aug. 22--Let your sense of humor shine through. A telephone call to someone who cares about you could make them very happy.

VIRGO--Aug. 23 to Sept. 22--A restless wind seems to be surrounding you. Use this added energy for constructive endeavors.

LIBRA--Sept. 23 to Oct. 22--Most of what happens in your life depends entirely upon you. Take one thing at a time, plan wisely and well.

SCORPIO--Oct. 23 to Nov. 22--An exceptionally fine week can be expected. Complete any unfinished tasks. Be gentle but firm with associates.

SAGITTARIUS--Nov. 23 to Dec. 21--You cannot afford to procrastinate now. Get tasks completed. Then carefully plan a vacation you so deserve.

CAPRICORN--Dec. 22 to Jan. 19--Let the young people around you grow up. You cannot take the responsibility for them forever.

AQUARIUS--Jan. 20 to Feb. 18--Say what you mean and mean what you say. The tendency to be wishy-washy could get you in trouble.

PISCES--Feb. 19 to March 20--Uncooperative and uncaring help can cost you plenty. Rid yourself of unproductive assistants.

ARIES--March 21 to April 20--You are very close to making an extremely important career decision. The right one can boost you into a higher income bracket.
