Home Town Talk by Betty

Figure up how many men and women are running for office in the legislative and judicial branches of the state and national governments; not to speak of a lot more who seek municipal and county offices and you'll have the total number who are favoring lower tax, lower government expenditures, abolition of bureaus, etc.

We cannot recall a campaign in which the candidates were not favoring just those things.

But, nevertheless, cost of government has been hiked many times over. Bureaus have multiplied every year. Taxes have gone up.

In spite of these hikes in taxes the national congress right now is working at double speed to complete passage of a budget balancing bill. The financial integrity of what we are pleased to call the greatest government of this or any other century is at stake.

Yeah, it's easy to find candidates who say they favor economy in government. Just vote for anybody on the ticket. You'll hit it all right.

Another thing that is so easy to do you just can't help doing it—that's voting for candidates who say they're for the "little fellow."

You just can't miss, that's all.

Why, who ever heard of a man trying to be elected to anything from state representative to president who didn't proclaim from every stump that he was for the "little fellow"?

But, after they get in office they all act just about the same. Most of those who go to the legislature are lawyers, and their idea is to build up their law practice. Not impugning their motives when we say that. They don't have to collect graft to build up their practice through legislative service. If the legislature they just naturally want a lot of people, learn a lot of things that will help them in the future.

We've got an idea that most of the blame for all this hokey rests upon the people.

We look over the candidates, declare pre-election promises, make nothing to us, then vote for a guy because we say we believe he's for economy and the "little fellow," and then as soon as he's elected we snap the crook's badge on him and take it for granted from then on that he's just another grafter on the poor people. Well, maybe he is and maybe he's not, but, anyway who elected him? 'J ever stop to think about that?

No if a fellow runs for something and is elected if he's not a crook he might as well be insofar as what a great portion of the people who elected him think about him is concerned.

That's why it isn't mysterious or strange why the average legislator or other member of the law-making or law-enforcing departments of the government isn't the world-beater for ability, industry and wisdom.

And it's not what the platform says but how they vote from the floor of the house or senate at Austin or Washington, and how they go about enforcing laws at ready made, that counts.

Sure, they're all for economy, all for the "little fellow."

We'll just continue voting for the guy we like best before he is announced for office, or the one that had the best handshake, or the best cigars.

65 Cents Per Barrel Figure Of Magnolia

Highest Quotation In Two Years Posted; Gas Price Higher

Magnolia Petroleum company Friday posted 65 cents per barrel for crude oil produced in Howard, Glasscock, Ector, Winkler, Pecos and other West Texas fields. Fifty cents had been the price for several months.

The other purchasers of crude in the local field were expected to meet the higher price.

Magnolia's move sent the market for West Texas to the highest figure paid in nearly two years. In May 1930 the market was changed from a gravity basis to flat price and cut from 65 cents to 50 cents. It eventually fell to 25 cents and for a few days in August 1931 only ten cents was paid by most purchasers.

The market was slow to recuperate from effects of East Texas' peak production but 50 cents had been paid for several months.

Oil men declared Magnolia's move marked the real beginning of a revival of drilling throughout West Texas.

Local refineries reported Friday a half-cent per gallon advance in gasoline prices in the past two weeks.

The movement, however, is sluggish, and refineries are holding their runs as low as possible in order to overcome overproduction of gasoline.

Four three-eighths cents was the price reported offered to local refiners Friday.

Cosden Oil company cut runs to half capacity, approximately 5,000 barrels of crude per day, effective Friday. The plant had been running about two-thirds capacity.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The Magnolia Petroleum company met the crude increase recently posted by Continental Oil company. The prices were effective Friday.

The top price is $1 per barrel for forty gravity mid-continent crude.

The company posted a flat price of 98 cents in East Texas.

Sinclair interests previously had met increases in Texas and various other companies in Oklahoma and Kansas.

The new Magnolia schedule varies 66 cents and 78 cents on various grades of oil in Texas Panhandle and a flat price of 65 cents for Howard, Glasscock, Ector, Winkler, Pecos and other West Texas fields.

Big Spring, Texas, April 1, 1932. Big Spring and vicinity: Fair and warmer tonight, Saturday increasing cloudiness.

West Texas: Fair, warmer except in Panhandle tonight, Saturday increasing cloudiness.

Knights Of Zocahs Meet To Draw Large Field

The second annual Knights of Zocah invitational tennis tournament is to be staged on the Santa Fe courts at San Angelo April 8. It was announced Wednesday. The meet is to be held in two divisions, high school and college. It is open to all high school and college athletes in West Texas. An age limit of 25 years has been set on the college class.

Invitations have been sent Brady Sweetwater, Brownwood, McCamey Big Lake, Barnhart, Christoval, Ballinger, El Dorado, Eden, Menard, Sonora, Big Spring, and other West Texas towns.

The high school division is open only to player in attendance at a high school or a grade school. The college division is open to netters regardless of affiliations. A strong threat for the high school honors appeared today in the entry of Kent Bishop and George Dabney, Big Spring High racketeers, who hold the Sand Belt singles and doubles titles between them and who just returned from a successful road trip that sent them against three high schools and two colleges. Bishop is the ranking No. 4 in the West Tex as net association and was considered a threat for the state interscholastic singles honors before being ruled ineligible a week or so ago. H. B. Dungan and Bill McCarty completed the entry list from Big Spring.

Prediction Texas Delegation Would Ride In Congressional Saddle Being Borne Out As Session Progresses

By BOB JACKSON Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The assertion frequently made last December when Congress opened that Texans would be in the saddle during this session and that the 18 members from that state would play a more important part in the work of the House than the delegation from any other commonwealth has been borne out so far, a survey of the work Congress has accomplished discloses.

Pre-eminent among the Texans, is of course, Speaker John Garner and no development in the present Congress has shown more clearly how he is directing the work of the House than the current struggle of the tax bill. He has been by far the most dominant figure in the capital during this "reconstruction" session and indications are now that some satisfactory tax measure will be evolved during the present debate due to his leadership.

Six Texans are chairmen of important committees in the House and each is playing a big role in the work of the session. Hutton W. Sumners of Dallas chairman of the judiciary committee, gained most prominence by his successful fight to prevent the eighteenth amendment referendum resolution from being taken from the committee by a vote of the House. His "bread, not boots" speech on the day of the roll call vote sounded the battle cry of the dry forces which rallied to his support.

Rayburn Chairman of Group Sam Rayburn of Bonham, chairman of the committee on interstate and foreign commerce, has been attracted the attention of all of the nation's railroad men. The most important of the committee's work so far has probably been that dealing with the recapture clause. The chairman has also given a great deal of attention to the problem of federal regulation of buses and undoubtedly will introduce a bill on the subject soon.

Marvin Jones of Amarillo is chairman of the agriculture committee and no group in the House has been busier nor has held more heated hearings than it has. Probably Mr. Jones' greatest accomplishment of the session was his bill providing for the creation of permanent revolving fund credits for irrigation. The bill was passed by the House on the drought loan venture of last year. The bill has been enacted into law.

Guinn Williams, of Decatur, chairman of the committee on territories and second ranking majority member on the committee on insular affairs, has done a great deal of work on the problem of the Philippines. An independence bill for the islands was reported out recently.

Fritz Lanham is Chairman Fritz Lanham of Fort Worth is chairman of the committee on public buildings and grounds and has handled a tremendous volume of work this session. The committee has worked at high pressure to keep the gigantic public building program moving.

Joseph J. Mansfield of Columbus is the sixth Texan who heads a committee. His is the rivers and harbors and the volume of its business this session has been greater than in years.

Equally important in the work of the session have been the accomplishments of other Texans who are not heads of committees.

Thomason's Fight Success Congressman R. E. Thomason of El Paso together with Senator Tom Connally waged a successful fight to prevent the immediate abandonment of the smaller Texas forts. Congressman Thomason is a member of the exclusive committee on military affairs and its greatest work this session has been on Muscle Shoals. Hearings have been held almost daily for the last three months and indications are that a bill will be reported out soon. The Muscle Shoals question has been a perennial problem in Congress since the war, with the plant, costing more than $125,000,000, practically idle on account of the failure of Congress and the president to agree on what should be done with it. Members interested in the problem are hopeful that legislation will be enacted at this session.

Congressman Tom Blanton of Abilene, one of the two Texans on the exclusive appropriation committee, has been waging a relentless battle to slash governmental costs, and his efforts toward effecting a better economy have probably been his greatest work of the session. He has also taken a major part in the prohibition wrangles and is generally acclaimed the leader of the dry forces in the House.

Kleberg's Talks Widely Quoted Although Congressman R. M. Kleberg of Corpus Christi has spoken only on a few occasions in the House two of his talks have been widely quoted and have attracted a great deal of attention. The first was his speech sounding the keynote of the agricultural leaders' attitude toward economy—that they were willing to undergo sacrifices to balance the budget but that they expected other industries and lines of endeavor to follow suit—and the second was his brilliant address made a few days ago upholding the party leaders in their efforts to enact a tax bill which would balance the budget. Congressman Kleberg is a member of the agriculture committee, also an exclusive one, and has taken a major part in its work.

Congressman Wright Patman of Texas has gained most prominence for his introduction of H. R. 1, the bill providing immediate payment of the soldiers' adjusted service certificates. Agitation for a plan to make the payments by means of allowing the certificates to be re-discounted by the Federal Reserve banks is being heard here increasingly now. Congressman Patman's sensational fight on Andrew Mellon, former secretary of the treasury, was the talk of Washington for days. Congressman Patman is a member of the following committees: World War veterans' legislation; war claims; roads; civil service; and District of Columbia. His daily mail is one of the heaviest received by any member and veterans all over the nation look to him as their spokesman.

Buchanan Helps Cut Costs

Congressman Daniel E. Garrett of Houston is a member of the important rules committee, which in effect, governs the business of the House. He has been handicapped by poor health during a large part of the winter, but has worked hard with the other Democratic leaders in pushing the House through its strenuous work at such a rapid pace thus far.

Congressman James P. Buchanan of Brenham is a member of the appropriations committee and has done his part in the work of cutting governmental costs. He is chairman of the sub-committee which handled the appropriations for agriculture.

Congressman Luther Johnson of Corsicana is a member of a committee that has had its hands full of important business about which there has been little publicity—foreign affairs. Congressman Clay Stone Briggs of Galveston has been rushed by his work on merchant marine, radio and fisheries, as has Congressman O. H. Cross of Waco, who is a member of five committees. One of Congressman Cross' assignments in the committee on irrigation and reclamation which has worked on a moratorium measure for the relief of irrigation farmers on reclamation projects. It is expected to be enacted within a few days.

One of the new members who has attracted quite a bit of attention is 30-year-old Martin Dies, of Orange, who is a member of five committees. Congressman Dies has made a number of fiery addresses in the House.

Texans In On Big Work

All in all, there has not been a single bit of major legislation passed by the House this session which has not been affected by the Texas members, not even counting the fact, of course, that all of the acts of the House have felt the weight of Speaker Garner's influence. In no other session of Congress since the state was admitted to the union have Texans played so big a role in national legislation, all of which is in addition to the multitude of tasks they have been performing for their own districts.

The Texas representation on important committees and its hold on big chairmanships are by far the largest of any state, despite the fact that there are four states with more members in the House. Only one, however—New York—has more Democratic members. New York has 23 Democrats in the House, yet only six are chairmen of committees and only one of those is an exclusive committee. Illinois has 12 Democrats and only one is chairman of a committee, although Henry T. Rainey, the Democratic floor leader, is included among the delegation. Indiana has nine Democratic members, none of whom heads a committee.

SPORTS ON PARADE

By CURTIS BISHOP

San Angelo's sport scribe is not enjoying life so well these days. They're staging an invitational track and field meet down there tomorrow, if you haven't already heard of it, and Mr. Cross is bound to admit that nothing short of a miracle is going to stop the Steers and the Abilene Eagles from taking first and second place in the final standings. Which is due to be something very, very unusual, for in other years the Eobcats have been in the habit of romping home with all the track trophies offered in invitational meets.

It should be a great duel between Abilene and Big Spring for championship honors. The former will hog the running events, in the typical Abilene way, while the Eobcats should dominate the weight events as the local youths have come into the habit of dominating athletic contests this season, which means in a decisive manner.

The Knights of Zocah, whatever that organization may be, is sponsoring an invitational tennis tournament April 8, with the meet divided into high and school divisions, and from the Big Spring entry list published in a press account of the tourney the Angelo netters will have a hard time preventing the Howard County athletes from copping honors on the courts also. Should such a blessed event come to pass it will be the end of a perfect, perfect year. Oble Bristow is already chuckling whenever the name of Blondy Cross is mentioned, for you know these two old friends of the Angelo golf course have always engaged in heated arguments at each meeting as to the outcome of San Angelo versus Big Spring contests this season. As for us, we congratulate Oble for his diplomacy. We laugh out loud.

Our latest reports on the flying Abilene clan is the results of a meet staged against time just among themselves the other day. Dryden tepped the half-mile in 2 minutes 11 seconds, with Garland Dobbs right on his heels. Cogdell led the cla... to the tape in the 100 and 220, getting 10.3 on the 100. Pool was four or five yards back in the century sprint, which isn't so close, and leaped 21 feet in the broad jump, which is not so far. Rainey cl'ed off the quarter mile in 54 flat, with Willard Moser taking second because he didn't run the race right which is just as good reason as any.

Which is very encouraging. Cogdell may take first place tomorrow at 10.3 and he may not. Pool will certainly not get second. Twenty-one feet in the broad jump may make somebody the flower of chivalry in Abilene High, but he's just ordinary vegetation—against the Steer trio of Forrester, Coburn, and Richbourg, any of whom can equal that mark. Dennis will place in the 440 if it isn't won in any faster time than 54.

Polish up your trophies, San Angelo. And have a pretty speech when you hand 'em over. If you're stuck for words you might ask over at Colorado, Odessa, Lubbock, Midland, or Barnhart. They've all

And now Supt. N. S. Holland of Breckenridge, the gentleman whose activities resulted in the suspension of Cisco High from the interscholastic gridiron race for the 1932 season, announces plans for re-instating the Lobos in the Oil Belt race next year.

A dispatch from Breckenridge quotes the superintendent as follows: "We won the football game from Cisco by forfeit at the end of the season, enabling our team to finish in second place. After all, it was the game we were after, and not the principle of the thing, and we should be willing to let bygones be bygones. I feel that we have overstepped the bounds of sportsmanlike conduct, and good fellowship in securing the suspension of Cisco, and I for one am ready to welcome our neighboring city back into the league with open arms. The Lobos are expected to have their best material in years next fall and probably will be better able than any other team in the Oil Belt to represent this district capably in the state race. This is another very excellent reason for my new stand on the case."

Mr. Holland also stated that the frequent eligibility disputes were tending to give the district a bad reputation in the eyes of the rest of the league. He intends proposing that henceforth each member school be trusted to keep its records straight; and that any suspicion or knowledge that they are falling to do so be quietly overlooked.

How true the old saying "no matter how thick you slice it it is always baloney!" So it was the game Breckenridge was after, there was no question of principle. A startling admission that, coming as it does from a high school superintendent.

But perhaps it will serve to restore peace and brotherly love among the Oil Belt's "great big, happy family."

If you don't mind we're going to measure our gold fish for a new bathing suit.

Strike Order Given Thirteen Thousand United Mine Workers

COLUMBUS, O. (UP)—A general strike order, effective Friday, went out from district headquarters of the United Mine Workers of America to 13,000 coal miners in the already turbulent Ohio and West Virginia panhandle fields who are not protected by Union contracts.

Already 12,000 miners are on strike in the Hocking valley and other Ohio areas, in protest against wage reductions. District president Lee Hall said the strike order was issued after a scheduled conference today to discuss a new wage agreement for the district. Operators have threatened to close their workings unless their men remain on the job. They contend they cannot compete with southern fields where strikes are not a factor in production.

Even in normal times India villages swarm with hungry.

Job Hunting In Russia
IT WAS slightly amusing to learn via recent cable dispatches from Moscow, that several hundred Americans who went to Russia during the past summer and fall looking for jobs have been asked to return to the United States. Russia has no jobs for them and can't be bothered looking after them.

Jobs may be scarce on this side of the sea, and the land where the worker is king may look very glittering and attractive; but the millennium, evidently, has not yet dawned.

The American job hunter who decides to pull up stakes and throw his lot in with the Communists on their native tundra takes a step much like that of the individual who leaps out of the frying pan only to land right in the middle of a nice hot fire.

Our Income Taxes
ADVOCATES of the sales tax insist that if their plan is not adopted the income tax rates will have to be jacked up very substantially. The inference is that those rates are already about as high as they will can be, and that to raise them much more would be to tax the ordinary citizen out of his house and home.

In view of this, a comparison of American income tax rates with the rates in force in other countries is interesting.

In the United States, a married man with one child and an income of $2000 a year now pays no tax at all. What would he pay elsewhere?

In Germany he would pay $215 a year. In Italy he would pay $218.
In France he would pay $104. In England he would pay $63.

How about the higher brackets?
An American earning $10,000 a year now pays $123; in England he would pay $1800. On a $100,000 income, the American pays $16,245; in England he would pay $48,000.

Our rates, apparently, could be a little bit higher.

The Beginning Of A Beautiful Friendship

TODAY and TOMORROW

By WALTER LIPPMANN
The Washington Crisis

Wherever governments by elected officials have been confronted with the iron necessities of governmental finance during the deflation they have begun, as Washington has begun, first, by postponing consideration of the problem, then by temporizing with it, then by approaching it reluctantly, and finally when the credit of the government was clearly seen to be imperiled have effective measures been proposed for preserving it.

But in almost every instance these measures have encountered the hostility of a substantial majority of the legislature. For the normal reaction of popular assemblies the world over, once they discover that the necessary revenues can not be obtained by taxing the very rich, is to feel as Mr. Crisp, of Georgia, describes the House of Representatives as feeling now—that the "House is against reducing expenses, is in favor of increased appropriations and is against taxes."

Thus far our American experience is fundamentally like that of the other democracies. It remains to be seen whether it will continue to be like theirs. For in no large country where the problem has come to a head has the crisis been surmounted by the normal free action of political parties. Thus far in every large country which has found itself in our position today, ordinary government by politicians has led to such paralysis and confusion of affairs that by one device or another the usual procedure of representative government has had to be suspended.

Already there is talk in Washington of having the House abdicate its Constitutional duty to originate revenue bills.

Almost every country has had a large deficit and almost every country has begun, as we did, by borrowing money to meet it. For the alternatives to borrowing are to reduce expenditures and to increase taxes. In normal times both are politically dangerous. Against every specific proposal to economize or to tax there are arrayed a collection of powerful interests.

Thus, if Congress touches the debt service, it collides with the investing classes and impairs the credit it is seeking to preserve. If it touches the veterans' payments, it collides with the soldiers' vote. If it touches government salaries, it collides with the officeholders who are the backbone of the party machines. If it touches the subsidies, it collides with sectional and class interests.

If, on the other hand, the government proceeds to raise taxes, it is soon confronted with the discerning discovery that in a period of depression and deflation the utmost taxation of the rich can not produce more than a small portion of the revenue needed. For the upper limit of taxation is the point at which capital will flee the tax collector; in Europe at the limit of taxation capital had taken refuge in foreign countries; in the United States we have provided a refuge by issuing some thirty thousand millions of tax-exempt bonds.

But even if the rich would stand still and let themselves be taxed to the limit, they do not have in-times like these a taxable income nearly sufficient to meet the deficits of federal, state, and local governments. Their total income is small in comparison with the total income of the mass of the people.

As a result, every official who has honestly studied the problem, be he socialist or conservative, ends by realizing that if the money is to be raised, it must be raised out of the small contributions of the many.

and nice calculations of candidates and party managers.
The stakes are very high at Washington these days and great events may not be long delayed.

Linck Remodels
No. 1 Food Store

Before he decided to get a share of the business created when the oil boom struck Big Spring Ralph Linck had been in the wholesale end of the grocery business a dozen years.

Now, after five years in Big Spring, and with that boom long since deflated, one has but to visit either of Linck's Food Stores to find how effectively the proprietor has used the fruits of long experience to overcome in a large measure effects of whatever depression may have fallen upon the country.

For, depression or no depression, Linck's stores are being re-arranged, re-decorated, re-modeled.

Linck Food Store No. 1 at 1402 South Scurry street has just been re-arranged.

Some idea of the effectiveness of the new arrangement may be had by learning that Mr. Linck has not only made possible display of two-fifths more stock in the same space, but also has created considerably more "walking space" for his customers.

The interior has been finished in white, with black trimmings. The arrangement makes it possible for one man, at the checker's counter, to see at all times to all corners of the store.

The meat department was moved from the front of the store, to the left of the main entrance, to the back at the center. To the right of it are the refrigerators, to the left the flour and meal bins.

Mr. Linck feature nationally advertised line and has of late gone more and more into the wholesale end of the business. He supplies several nationally advertised lines to a number of retailers. These include Richelieu canned goods, Tea Garden preserves, Pillsbury flour, Mrs. Baird's bread.

Another new phase of Linck's service is a system whereby fresh fruit and vegetables are brought regularly from South Texas on Linck's own trucks.

Mr. Linck has announced that his No. 2 store at West Third and Gregg streets will be remodeled and rearranged soon, in the same manner that No. 1 has been.

Adding Zest To Daily Menus;
New Ideas To Aid Housewife

By JOSEPHINE GIBSON.
Everywhere busy women are on the lookout for dishes that are flavorful, substantial and practical to help them in the task of planning nutritious and varied meals. At times the housewife may feel that her supply of ideas is exhausted, and the planning of menus becomes a problem, even though she has much more in the way of ready-to-serve foods and fresh fruits and vegetables throughout the year than any generation of women before her. But we can find much in recipes that will be different and unusual. These suggested blow are excellent, savory, main dishes that will form the "backbone" of economical dinners about which your family will enthuse.

Shepherd's Pie — New England

ney Beans, 1 tablespoon minced ed mashed potatoes, saving out enough for top. Place in prepared casserole, kidney beans combined with mustard. Cover with remaining mashed potatoes. Sprinkle top with grated cheese and paprika.

Bake in a moderate oven (375°F) for 15 minutes or until brown.
Serve hot. Serves 6.

ly chopped; 1-2 cup water, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 medium can Oven spoon flour, 2 tablespoons molasses, 2 cans chow mein noodles. Melt butter in large saucepan, add onions and cook until lightly browned.

Add celery, water and salt and simmer gently 10 minutes. Add kidney beans and simmer 5 minutes longer.
Blend together flour and molasses and add to bean mixture, stirring until mixture thickens. Pour over crisp noodles on a large platter.
Serve hot. Serves 6.

Braised Veal and Vegetable Dinner: 1-2 lb. veal steak, 1 inch thick; flour, salt and pepper, 2 cups water, 4 medium sized potatoes, 4 medium sized onions, sliced; 4 carrots, 2 stalks celery, 1-4 cup Chili Sauce, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce. Flour veal in butter in iron skillet to a golden brown. Season with salt and pepper. Add water and cook, covered, for 15 minutes. Add vegetables cut in quarters, cover and bake in moderate oven for about 45 minutes, or until they are tender. Add sauce made of chili sauce, mustard, Worcestershire Sauce and 1-2 cup water. Uncover and cook just enough to heat sauce and to brown vegetables very slightly.

CLEVELAND, O. — The oil industry has a promising outlook or account of plans to solve the over-production problem and prospects of expanding demand for petroleum products, W. T. Holliday, president of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio, said.

ALBANY, N. Y. — About 2,400

Theater Usher Throws Away Uniform When Oil Gushes On Homestead

FORT WORTH (UP) — Odell Sellers, 20, theater usher, today was on his way back to the farm home he left 10 years ago with a telegram that made him dance and whoop.

Elizabeth Hays, who lives 12 miles southwest of Longview in the rich East Texas oil area. The telegram was handed Sellers as he reported to the theater last night for work. He flung his uniform into a corner, grabbed a sack of Bull Durham tobacco from his pocket, threw it on the floor, jumped up and down and shouted: "Give me a real cigaret. What am I going to do? What am I going to do?" He drew his week's salary and caught the first train.

Gavel Collection Expresses Home Folks' Regard For Him

WASHINGTON — Speaker Jack Garner—"The Man Who Made Uvalde Famous"—has banged the house to order with at least 50 gavels, but the most unusual one ever used by the speaker is made of steel, delicately turned. It represents the handicraft of a vocational class of boys in a Dallas school.

Gift gavel received Speaker Garner uses it once, and it then is laid away in his museum of trophies, properly tagged, with a notation of the organization or individual who gave it, the date on which it was used and other interesting information regarding the material from which was fashioned.

It is engraved: To John Nance Garner, Speaker, 1931—"You have brought home the bacon." As soon as possible after each

This museum of gavels is already notable for the number and variety of shapes and composition of the gavels. They run all the way from 4 inches long to huge knobs of mesquite and great sledgehammers. They are made of steel, asphalt, myrtlewood, hickory, Southern cedar, orange and grapefruit wood, long leaf pine, pecan, mahogany, Australian pine, mader wood and oak. Some are accompanied by sounding boards. Some are artistically lathed, many bear silver or gold or copper plates, one is ornamented with pyrographia art, some display the wittling ability of a Barlow knife at a crossroads general store. They come from old friends, political admirers, chambers of commerce, industrial concerns and from manual arts students in small communities. To Garner they represent the faith, confidence, and admiration of all classes of people, mostly in his home State, but from many parts of the country.

or knobs of the native Texas mesquite. One of these was out in the Big Bend country of Texas and presented by Dr. Ben J. Owens of Presidio. It was received by the speaker on January 1.

Another, which is skull shaped, and of the Cave Man caliber, was presented by Dr. George W. Cox of Del Rio, Tex., bearing a silver plate properly engraved. George W. Rohieder of Eagle Pass, Tex., sent the speaker a steel hammer such as is used by machinists, with the notation, "This gavel is good for anybody who raises new issues or wants to send our money across the sea. We need our dollars here. Make the rowdy boys behave."

A beautiful small hickory gavel was presented "as a small token of our pride in his excellency" by Loyal Service Post, No. 37, American Legion, of McAllen, Tex.

A gavel about the size and weight of a baby's rattle was made of Lamar county red cedar and presented by W. C. Clark of Paris, Tex. One with the head made from Australian pine and the handle of Mader wood, both grown near Fort Myers, Fla., was presented for John E. Gray by Representative Herbert J. Gray of Florida.

George J. Reeves of Mineola Wood county, Tex., made a gavel for his old political friend, "Jack" Garner which was presented by Representative Morgan G. Sanders on January 5 and was used the same day in calling the House to order. The head is made from a post oak rail split by James Stephens Hogg and the handle is made from a branch of a pecan tree planted by Hogg at his home in Mineola.

A small, ornately lathed gavel was presented by members of the City Commission of Brownsville. It was received by Speaker Garner on December 15 and used to open the session of the House on December 17.

A gavel made from hickory grown on the House Rancho, in the northern part of Gonzales county, Tex., was presented by R. L. Courtney of Harwood, Tex.

W. B. Bunk of Walleville, N. Y., sent Speaker Garner a large wooden mallet with the business end well reinforced. One of the most prized of Speaker Garner's new trophies is an Andrew Jackson "Old Hickory" walking stick, well knobbed with silver. The hickory wood was cut by Jackson at the Hermitage shortly after his election to the presidency. Jackson presented the cane to his personal friend, Capt. David Hiner, U. S. N. It was presented to Speaker Garner on December 29, 1931, by Maj. Edwards H. Grove of Washington, a grandson of Capt. Hiner.

Angelo Ready For Trackers

Abilene And Big Spring Chief Threat In Concho Meet

The track teams of the Concho river bottoms and surrounding counties were making ready Friday for the invasion of a pair of crack squads of cinder artists in the persons of the Abilene Eagles, annual winner of the district, and the Big Spring high Steers, sensational pace-setters of two invitational carnivals this season.

Texas track individual scoring race even as he did the state touch-down parade, the Steers were competing with the Taylor county team in the way of all around championships, and were grooming themselves for the field events that have brought them over a 100 points in two meets this year.

Johnny Gregg's Eagles laid their hopes upon their strength in the dashes and the hurdles, with Cogdell, Pool, and Mosser, three men who can come dangerously close to the ten-second mark, as the steers guns. Wyatt in the pole vault and Street in the half-mile were other outstanding entrants while Cogdell carries the burden of the jumps upon his shoulders in addition to sprinting duties.

A mere handful of athletes constituted Big Spring's threat for their sixth invitational meet trophy of the year. The action of the San Angelo officials in excluding the javelin event meant the loss of eight or more points for the locals in the total results, but concentration in the shot putt, discus, high jump, broad jump and high hurdles were expected to raise the Steers high in the final standings.

Miners Rescue Three-Year-Old Boy After Many Hours Digging Shaft And Tunnel To Drill Hole

MIAMI, Okla. — Bundled snugly in a room at the Baptist hospital here, 3-year-old Gerald Collins, who was rescued from a drill hole at the Mary Ann lead and zinc mine near Picher Thursday night drank water and ate a little food and tried to smile at his mother and father seated nearby. It was the first nourishment he had since he tumbled into the hole at 9:30 a. m. while at play.

Workers said the boy was found in a sitting position in the drill hole, which was just wide enough to catch his body and prevent it from falling to the bottom of the 200 foot cavity.

Knees Doubled Up
His knees were doubled up and his arms were pinioned above his head. He had been in that position since 9:30 Thursday morning, when he tumbled into the hole while playing near the mine. The father, a mine prospector, said the child had formed the habit of following him from the nearby home to the mine lease.

Tunnel Then Opened
When the shaft was sunk to a depth of 22 feet, shortly after dark, a tunnel was opened to the drill hole about two feet away.

He's alive! called a worker a moment later and an answer from the throat grew to a roar.

During the day fresh air was pumped down to the child. Rescuers feared gas might have collected in the hole. As night drew near and the air grew more chill the fresh air was passed over a series of electric lights that kept it at 77 degrees temperature.
