Schleicher County Placed On Emergency Relief List

COMMISSIONERS LOWER CATTLE, SHEEP VALUATION

The Schleicher county commissioners' court, in meetings Monday and Tuesday, voted to lower the taxable valuation of cattle from 10 to 6 dollars per head. Sheep were reduced in taxable valuation from two to one dollar per head. A motion to lower the taxable valuation all real estate in the county by fifteen percent was killed in the motion, but the valuation of several tracts was lowered while the valuation of only three tracts was hiked.

The valuation of goats was left at fifty cents per head. Valuation of mules and horses, working stock was set at $15; stock horses and mules, $5.

The commissioners went completely through the tax assessor's rolls in the two day meet. They readjusted practically every piece of real property in the county.

Eldoradoan On University Honor Roll

AUSTIN, Texas, July 13—Mrs. Willie Ruth Nicks Johnson of Eldorado won a place on the University of Texas official honor roll for the spring semester by placing among the best 480 students out of the 4,163 students enrolled. Both quantity and quality of work done by the student were considered in compiling the honor roll. Since only about 10 percent of the student body of the University are able to make the official honor roll, it is indeed an honor to be placed on this roll.

Methodist To Hold Annual Sunday School Picnic

The Methodist Sunday School will gather at Christoval this afternoon and evening for their annual Sunday School picnic. The affair is to be a basket picnic, supper being spread at six o'clock. Everyone is invited to go and take a basket. The afternoon will be spent swimming and merrymaking. A good time is planned for all.

Methodist Vacation Bible School Begins Monday

The third annual vacation Bible school of the Methodist church will open Monday morning. A large number of Eldorado children are expected to attend the school and all children in the city are cordially invited. Mrs. J. E. Tisdale and Brother P. S. Connell will have charge of the school.

SUCCESS TO PUBLISH POLITICAL AND RODEO EDITION

Miss Ida Faye Cox of San Angelo has moved to Eldorado to make her home. Miss Cox, a beauty specialist, will work in the Isabelle Beauty Shoppe.

Each of these committees is working hard to prepare a program that will furnish entertainment for everyone. Don't fail to appear on the scene, Thursday July 26, with your glad rags on.

Watch next week's issue of the Success for further announcements and information concerning the rodeo.

W. M. Bearce has gone to Temple, Texas, where he is to receive medical attention at the Scott and White Clinic. His son, W. K. Bearce, made the trip with him. A report from Mr. Bearce upon his arrival in Temple stated that he stood the trip well, but that he needed rest badly.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Bird and daughter Christine, were guests over the fourth of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Wright at Miles. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Graves of San Angelo.

Reuben Dickens To Begin New Building Next Week.

Reuben Dickens, one of Eldorado's business men who was a victim of the recent fire, will begin construction of a new brick and tile building by midweek, next. The building will be 50x100 feet and will be much nicer than the old building which was destroyed by fire. Mr. Dickens will replace and improve his electric repair shop and garage. Mr. Dickens is the sort of progressive business man that we welcome in our town.

Christian Endeavor To Be Organized Sunday Night

On Sunday night, July 15, the young people of Eldorado are urged to meet at the school house for the purpose of organizing a Christian Endeavor. A program for all young people who are interested in church work has been planned. The subject for the evening's discussion will be "The Home." The program has been made as interesting as possible.

LIBRARY IS SECURED

Reynolds Teachers Are Elected

Mrs. Lola Sparks has been elected as principle of the Reynolds school and Miss Zadie McAngus has been selected to assist Mrs. Sparks. Both of these teachers have had several years' experience. Mrs. Sparks, the principal, goes to Reynolds from Lottin, where she has been teaching for the past two or three years. Miss McAngus has been teaching in Sutton county for the past two years, but for three years prior to her experience in Sutton, Miss McAngus taught at Alexander in Schleicher.

Indications are that Reynolds will experience one of the best years in the experience of the community next fall.

CECIL MOORE DESCRIBES HIS WASHINGTON TRIP

Cecil Moore, Texas and Schleicher's outstanding 4-H club boy, has returned from a visit in Washington. Cecil says, "I left June 5th, and met the state club leaders in Dallas. From Dallas we went to the famous health resort at Hot Springs, Ark., and it really is a swell place. After we crossed the Mississippi river we visited the former homes of Patrick Henry, Thomas Jefferson, Lewis Clark, Cyrus McCormick and James Monroe. We also visited several of the famous battle grounds of Civil War including Lookout Mountain, Tenn.

At Washington we met Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, and Secretary of Labor, Francis Perkins, also C. A. Farrell, head of wheat department. We heard interesting speeches from these three and others. We had the honor

$100 appropriated

After a two day session of discussion of the county's important business, the commissioners' court made an initial appropriation of $100 to start our Schleicher County Library. The Woman's Federated Clubs of Eldorado have been sponsoring the library move.

The amount appropriated was just a start, of course, but the most difficult part of any move is starting it. As soon as everyone realizes the value of the library, it will grow. Libraries bring untold benefits to both adult and child in both educational and recreational fields.

The library will be located in the court house. Many of the best books will be purchased and others will be donated.

of being first to use the auditorium of the new Agricultural building at Washington.

Among the noted places we visited were; Washington Monument, the Congressional Library where we were able to get our home papers, Arlington Cemetery where we laid a wreath on the tomb of the unknown Soldier. We also made a trip up Potomac river to Mt. Vernon. We made a trip through the White House, and a picture was taken of the group on the White House lawn. It was seven days crammed full of good times, as well as a week of learning.

We returned by way of Chicago and the World Fair. I enjoyed my trip very much and learned quite a bit that will be a help to me and others."

Essentials of Happy Home

There are several factors that must be present in making a happy home. The home is not complete without every one of these factors, and it is impossible to say which one is of most importance than the other. Since it is impossible to distinguish which should be placed in the first rank, they will be discussed in immediate influence on home life.

First, there is health. If health were lacking, family peace would never be threatened, since it is a foregone conclusion that a person whose health is bad is never in a pleasant mood. The unhealthy person is always irritable. Then, poor health is an economic hindrance from two sides. The unhealthy person is not efficient in earning capacity. On the other hand, while a person is disabled, and no money coming into the family budget, all of it is going out for doctor bills.

Next, the creature comforts (food, clothing and shelter) are necessary. No one can be happy when these are lacking. Of course, they need be present in only a moderate amount, but they must be present sufficiently enough that the family will be comfortable. This is the factor which places vocational and industrial education in the front ranks of our schools. It is this kind of an education that makes a person capable of providing these necessary comforts for the family.

Third, there must be a great love for the family present in order that the home will be happy. This factor is self-explanatory. If it is lacking, the home will be very unhappy.

We now come to the factors which are most neglected. Yet they are very necessary. The first of these which has its immediate influence upon family life is the desire for entertainment, or, as we call it, fun. To be continually happy, everyone must have a certain amount of so-called fun. It is the necessary duty of every parent to provide entertainment for him and his family. Of course, the kind of entertainment is a big question, and can only be solved by the individuals concerned. Another factor to be considered in entertainment is the amount of time that is available for the entertainment. Only leisure hours should be spent in recreation and fun. No one should spend too much time on fun. However, no fine line of discrimination can be drawn between work and play.

A person's education plays the biggest part in the kind of fun that he chooses. It is the duty of the school to develop a taste for good, wholesome entertainment. The person who develops the correct taste for wholesome entertainment will not suffer a curse from overindulgence and intemperance in the kind of fun which results in bad habits and bad reputations.

Suffice it to say that every family is due a certain amount of fun during the leisure hours. It is suggested that a radio, various sorts of good music, good games, good parties, moderate athletic exercises, good books and some good movie shows are sources of wholesome recreation and entertainment. See Happy Home, page 4.

Cannery To Begin Operation Soon

Government To Begin Buying Cattle In This County Soon

According to information given out by C. Snell, Schleicher county agent, and Van McCormick, Schleicher county relief chairman, both of whom have recently returned from a meeting of the district relief body at San Angelo, Schleicher county has been definitely placed on the primary relief list. The

Schleicher Highway Work To Get Under Way Soon

Relief work in this district which is composed of sixteen counties is going forward as rapidly as possible. A. F. Moursund, district engineer, explained that the relief rolls were so great in Tom Green county that the inauguration of highway relief work in Schleicher county would, of necessity, slow. As soon as highway work is completely under way in Tom Green county, it will begin in Schleicher county.

4-H CLUB ASKS DEAL TO SPEAK HERE

Cecil Moore has circulated and sent a petition to Culberson Deal, candidate for congress, asking Mr. Deal to speak in Eldorado. Mr. Deal organized the 4-H clubs in Schleicher Co. The petition contained the names of all who are now, and those who have been 4-H club members in this county. There were 31 signers. We are expecting you Mr. Deal.

OTHER CONTRACTS LET FOR SCHOOL BUILDING

Heating and plumbing contracts on Eldorado's new school building were let to V. H. Humphrey of Eldorado, for the sum of $7558. The wiring contract was let to Bullock and Taylor of San Angelo for the sum of $1250. Contract for the construction had been previously let to the Suggs Construction Company of Abilene for the amount of $82,323. The total cost of the new building not including equipment and incidentals is $41,131.

Actual construction on the building will begin as soon as the bond issue is approved by the attorney-general. It is estimated that the building will be under way by August 1. It will be impossible to occupy the new building at the beginning of the school term but the building will be ready for use before the second semester.

Successful Revival At Church of Christ Is Closed

Evangelist Paul S. Knight of Booneville, Arkansas, brought to a close a very successful ten day meeting in Eldorado Tuesday night. Two services a day were held during the meeting, one at 5:30 p. m. and one at 8:30 p. m. Supper was spread on the grounds each evening.

Three services were held last Sunday and a big barbecue dinner was served to the large crowd of Schleicher county people. People from Schleicher county ranches, several miles from Eldorado, have been attending the meeting regularly.

The meeting closed with one baptism and six restorations to the church. Good crowds attended every service.

Brother Knight leaves Eldorado to hold a ten day meeting at Millsap, Texas.

Mrs. T. L. Vowell, her two daughters, Thelma and Willie Nell, and her son, Taylor, all of Colorado, Texas, have been visiting friends and relatives in Eldorado.

classification of the county as an emergency territory means that Schleicher will receive aid not only in the form of highway work, livestock feed, and other forms of relief, but that the government will buy cattle, sheep, and goats from the county's overstocked ranches.

The movement of cattle will begin in the near future, a definite date to be set before the end of next week. Cattle buying will begin immediately; sheep and goat purchases will begin later in the year.

Cattle will be divided into three groups: calves, yearlings from 1 to 2 years old, and cattle over two years old. From four to eight dollars will be paid for calves; eight to twelve dollars will be paid for the one to two year olds; and twelve to twenty dollars will be paid for all cattle over two years old. W. C. Jones of San Angelo has been appointed as appraiser in Schleicher county.

All cattle bought by the government which is fit for human food will be killed and canned. Most Texas cattle will be canned in Texas, but all canning which can not be handled in Texas will be done in Kansas. Cattle which is unfit for food will be purchased, killed and burned on the spot. A veterinarian will inspect all cattle purchased by the government and no diseased cattle will be canned. The veterinarian for Schleicher county has not yet been appointed.

The cattle will be handled through the local relief commission under the supervision of the Bureau of Animal Industry. Cattle adjudged fit for food are to be driven into the stock pens, and turned over to the local relief office.

CANNERY TO OPERATE HERE

A good number of the cattle killed for canning purposes in Schleicher county will be canned at home. The Eldorado relief cannery will begin operation in the near future, probably by the first of next week. Equipment for the cannery has already arrived, the commissioners' court has already secured a building in which the cannery is being established, and as soon as the court makes the necessary appropriations and arrangements, the cannery will begin its operation. The cannery will employ a number of Schleicher's unemployed, and canning will be done for citizens of Schleicher on a percentage basis. Meats furnished by Schleicher county citizens will be canned on a 60-40 basis; the person furnishing the meat is to get 60 percent of it while the relief board is to get 40 percent of the meat for relief purposes. Vegetables will be canned on a 55-45 basis, the relief commission to receive the 45 percent. The cannery should be of a help to Schleicher county in several ways: citizens may get canning done reasonably; the needy will be relieved of suffering; and the unemployed will be given work.

The wiring contract was let to Bullock and Taylor of San Angelo for the sum of $1250. ## OUR PRESIDENT

Before we speak our own mind, let us say that we realize much has already been written about President Roosevelt, both good and bad. What we intend to say is something along the lines of a eulogy and though we realize the president has made a few mistakes, we regard his efforts as honest intentions which should receive the wholehearted support of the American people. Even though some of the New Deal's moves have, in part, been apparent failures, we will never gain as a nation by working heterogeneously.

President Roosevelt has had more vision than any other president including, with all due respect to, Washington. Roosevelt is the one, and only president who has dreamed of and worked consistently toward an ideal nation. It is doubtful that this or any other nation will ever be ideal, but unless our leaders have the courage to plan and to experiment, we shall never be any better off than we are this very day. If one set out to build a perfect home but had no idea what a perfect home consisted of, would one be willing to live in what he had or to copy after his neighbor, or would he attempt to find out for himself? How would that person feel, if his own family tried to prevent his experimenting?

Roosevelt is in the position of the builder of the perfect home. Americans who criticize severely—with the purpose of stirring up propaganda against—occupy the position of the builder's family who tried to interfere with experimenting.

Roosevelt is as honest and sincere, a man as we ever had in office, trying to find for us a better home, more satisfactory economic foundations, higher standards of living, more cooperation and friendship with less cut-throat practices—a more secure America. Let's give him our sincere support; let's help him build—not tear down.

A NOBLE LIFE

The passing of Madame Marie Curie on July 4 marked the close of another illustrious life—a rare example of a life such as we would that all should live. Mme. Curie gave her life in the interest of humanity. She was the co-discoverer of the world's most priceless metal, radium, a powerful curative and an interesting element.

With riches at her beck and call, Mme. Curie was content to exact from life only a meager living. Upon several occasions she lived by the grace of charity alone. With fame knocking at her door, Madame Curie closed that door and was content to live a simple, unpretentious life, interested only in her contributions to civilization.

Her efforts to relieve human suffering and to give the world some of its most valuable scientific information was the cause of her death. She was a martyr to the cause of human progress. Radium, that powerful element whose emanations are the cure of that dreaded disease, cancer, killed its discoverer, Mme. Curie. Madame Curie, though she knew the dangers of working with radium, never once relented in her efforts to do as much as she could for society.

Though she, with her husband, was the discoverer of radium, Madame Curie never owned a speck of radium until 1921 when the women of America bought her "just enough to see" for the price of $100,000. In 1929, President Hoover bought her the same amount of radium for $50,000. Madame Curie spent every dime of the fortune that could have been hers in further researches in the interest of humanity.

We regret the passing of such a noble soul; but more deeply we regret the rarity of such noble souls. What a noble individual it is who has for its motto, "Above all else is humanity."

HAPPY HOME

Next, the desire to achieve something worthwhile, if it is nothing more than a respectable promotion in life and a good name, must be present in every family. It is a big problem, solved only thru the right kind and proper amount of education. Over-ambition and day dreaming are evils of the desire to achieve which must be combated. However, they can be satisfied by a fair promotion in life from time to time. The parents and their children must possess this desire in order to help complete the happy home. It is the parents' duty to instill into the hearts of their children such a desire.

A little matter of great importance is the human love for the beautiful. Beautiful surroundings are essential to human happiness. When people live continually in surroundings which are not beautiful, the love for the beautiful may be killed. If so, the happiness which the satisfaction of this desire brings will be killed, thus destroying a part of human happiness and family happiness. A home should be surrounded and filled with beautiful flowers, pictures, furniture, walls, and the like. Good music also helps to satisfy this want for beautiful things.

Another self-explanatory factor in the happiness of the home is that of controlling the temper. It is a matter of habit as to whether a person becomes angry easily or not. Everyone should cultivate the fine habit of controlling his temper.

Ten too, a family as well as an individual, must have a number of good friends. The human being is naturally sociable. Only good friends will satisfy this nature of man. A man should always try to make and keep as many friends as he can. In order to do this he must develop his personality, which process involves a number of operations. These need not be discussed here at this time.

Last but not least, a family must have contact with its Creator, our God, in order to be completely happy. This factor takes last place among those that bring immediate influence upon the happiness of the family, and is therefore neglected too often. However in the final sum-up, it takes first place in everyone's life and happiness. Instead of being neglected, it should be made first. Only those families which keep continual contact with Him can realize just what consolation and happiness this factor really brings in the life of a family as well as an individual.

All of these factors are, of course, modified to some extent by circumstances. Nevertheless, most of them stand as written. Just embody them all in your family life and see what a difference it will make. Life is then worth living.

C. M. T. C. SETS UP NEW OBJECTIVES

Local Boy Is Enrolled

FT. SAM HOUSTON, July 12.—With 492 students taking the oath of allegiance, the Citizen's Military Training Camp at Camp Bullis, Texas, was officially opened on July 9, 1934. The oath was administered by Lieut. John A. Dabney, Camp Adjutant. Addresses were delivered to the students by Brigadier General Charles R. Howland, Camp Commander, Colonel James A. Higgins, Assistant Camp Commander, Colonel W. B. Tuttle, Eng-Res., distinguished citizen of San Antonio, and Lieut. Col. Ralph Durkee, Civilian Aide to the Secretary of War for the State of Texas. Lieut. Col. Gordon Catts, Executive Officer, was Master of Ceremonies. Chaplain Ora J. Cohee, Camp Chaplain, gave the invocation and Chaplain Marcus A. Valenta pronounced the benediction. Music was furnished by the 23rd Infantry Band under the direction of Warrant Officer Otto Majewski.

TRAINING PLANS ANNOUNCED

Colonel James A. Higgins announced an innovation in training insofar as drill activities are concerned. This training plan, sponsored by Major General Johnston Hagood, Commanding General of the Third Army, has as its object a maximum of practical drill instruction in a minimum period of time. The essentials of obedience to orders, marching, and the proper handling of the student's primary weapon are stressed in the early period of training. This does not mean, however, that there is to be any lack of the customary training in citizenship and sportsmanship. The experiment, it is felt, will be valuable as a demonstration of the practicability of assembling and training of citizens in the least possible time in the event of a national emergency. The plan, while useful from a military viewpoint, will prove equally beneficial in civil life in that it will teach the students the possibility of accomplishing well defined plans quickly.

John Alexander, son of W. O. Alexander of Eldorado, is one of the 492 students who took the oath of allegiance on July 9. John is enjoying C. M. T. C. work according to reports.

HELEN'S REWARD

A STORY BY LOCAL TALENT

SYNOPSIS

Helen Walters, whose worthless brother has spent the small fortune left her by her parents, spurns the attentions of one, Melton Elton. Helen's brother, Franklin, borrows money with which to gamble from Elton. Franklin loses the entire $25,000 borrowed from Elton on a polo game. In the course of events, Franklin reveals to Helen that he has mortgaged their home to Elton and has promised Elton that if he can not pay, he will persuade his lovely sister, Helen, to marry Elton whom she utterly abhors. When Franklin approaches Helen on the subject to marriage to Elton, she admits that she must treat him nicely since he holds the mortgage to their last piece of property but she declares that she will find a job rather than marry Elton.

Now On With The Story Chapter IV

For weeks Helen walked the streets in search of work. Vain search it was. It was always the same story. "We have more help than we need"—"Business is too dull for extra help"—"we can't use inexperienced help."

Helen was beginning to tire of such life. Never before had she been subjected to such trials.

Melton came to see her every night. The need of being complaisant to the man who owned the place which she had called home compelled her to go out with him when she felt well enough.

"At least," she often thought, "it is some diversion."

Elton was never sober when he came, but movies, dances, double-thick malts, and the nut chocolates which he bought helped relieve Helen's overburdened mind of its troubles. So,

"at least a part of the time," as she told Jennie.

When Elton made advances to her, Helen wisely evaded them.

Once she was able to obtain temporary employment as a clerk during a fall sale. This lasted only two weeks. Again she was out of work. At times Helen became almost frantic.

At last, her efforts were rewarded. In October she was given employment as a demonstrator in The Gift Shoppe, one of the city's most exclusive firms.

Here she was doing well enough, until her brother began to bother her for "a little loan." He soon became a daily visitor at The Gift Shoppe. Even though he were not welcome, and felt that he were not wanted, Franklin persisted in appearing on the scene, for, as he explained to his comrade, Elton, he had a purpose in mind.

"Franklin, you must stop coming to the shoppe," Helen commanded him one Saturday evening when she found him at home smoking leisurely as he read the sport page. "I can't keep my place if you continue to pester the entire working force by your daily appearances."

"Aw, Sis, they can't have any objections to a little thing like that," Franklin retorted.

"But they do, Frank," she protested. "I've been warned already."

The sermonette from Helen had little effect on Franklin. Monday, he came to the shoppe as usual. He did not seem to care whether or not Helen kept her job. In fact it seemed that he wished her to lose it. He did wish it, and underneath all was a selfish motive.

Monday afternoon, as the store was closing for business, Mr. Hinson, business manager of the shoppe, came to Helen.

"Your work is appreciated, Miss Walters," he began, "but since it is against the policies of this firm to allow the presence of loafers who interfere with the services of our clerks, whether they be brothers or not, I am sorry to inform you that your services will not be needed after Saturday night. You have been warned of this before."

Helen was too vexed to reply. She did not blame Mr. Hinson. She blamed no one but Franklin Walters, her own selfish brother.

"Just as I expected," she thought. "Oh, Franklin, how could you be so unbearable. I wish I had no brother at all. I did love you; now I hate you—hate you above all other people—my own brother."

These thoughts came brokenly to Helen as she walked slowly homeward. That night, she refused to see Mr. Elton.

Her brother seemed proud of his latest undoing. "Guess you will marry old Elton now, young lady," he remarked triumphantly when he saw Helen next morning.

Helen did not reply. Instead, she hurried out of the house to her work which was soon to be at an end. She had become so hardened by her troubles that she took renewed hardships without the former show of emotion.

Saturday night came. Helen was again without a job.

The search for work was renewed with determination, but it was soon apparent that there would be no work. Summer was beginning. With it came the reduction of the employed force of the city in order to withstand the summer's slack in business. Not only that factor existed, but there was a great cry of "Depression". There was the story of Franklin's conduct, too. Helen believed that Fate had concentrated its efforts against her.

As time went on things became even worse for her, so Helen thought. A genuine cloak of despondency was drawn around her. She felt that she could no longer stand the situation.

Once, in late September, one of Helen's former classmates proposed marriage to her, promising to take her away from all of her troubles. He declared that he loved her, and would await her answer.

Helen thought the matter over and came to the conclusion that his wooing and proposal had been caused by a sympathy for her and nothing more. She could not accept him. She could accept no one as long as Franklin acted as he did.

"No, Jimmie," was her answer to the proposal, "I can not marry you, nor anyone else, now."

That had happened in September. Then came the middle of November with no change for Helen except that things seemed more gloomy to her than ever. "What am I to do?" she thought, and plunged into morbid despondency.

In the midst of Helen's spell, Franklin came into the room. He picked up the magazine which she had been reading.

"You look down and out, Sis," he remarked, eyeing her knowingly.

"Why shouldn't I?" she retorted without looking up.

"Well, if you would marry Elton like a good girl, all our troubles would be over."

With that said, he walked out on the veranda, seated himself comfortably in the hammock, lit a cigarette and began reading in an unconcerned manner.

"The entire affair is more than I can bear," thought Helen half aloud. "I am helpless now. I may as well consent to marrying Melton. I could never care for him, but my life is doomed to utter ruin, anyway. I suppose I could manage—"

Helen's line of thought was broken for a moment by a more happy and consoling idea. "Maybe I could reform him," she thought. Soon, however, she dismissed the idea by recalling the old adage, "Never marry a man to reform him."

"If he really cared for me, things would be different," she thought, "but he doesn't, even though he says that he does. If he did, his actions in my presence would be different."

Franklin broke into her thoughts again. He walked in, holding the magazine toward her.

"If you'd consent to marry Elton, you wouldn't be reading a June issue in November," he sneered.

"How do I know he wants me?" she queried.

"I know he does," Franklin returned.

"But he has never really proposed to me," Helen protested.

"I guess not, Sis. You've treated him like a dog. He's got no heart to propose after the way you've done him."

"Well, he need not be afraid of me," Helen retorted. "In my position now, I am nothing to be afraid of. I suppose I'll have to marry him."

(To be continued next week)

MAC'S MESSAGES

The following came from a publication called The Lion.

Some towns have it. Grassville is such a town. It has no more to work with than your town, yet men flock to it. It attracts. No fewer than seven of your own citizens have told me how wonderful Grassville is. Why don't you tell tourists how wonderful your town is? I'll tell you why. Because you are too honest. It isn't wonderful. It is negative. Negative electricity repels. Positive electricity attracts. It is the same with towns.

Laughter is positive. Gloom is negative. Cooperation is positive. Backbiting is negative. Telling a stranger of the good points of your town—that is positive. Knocking your neighbor is negative. Friendliness is positive; hate is negative. Your school teachers can tell you if they are present, that punishing children is negative discipline; keeping them busy doing interesting things is positive. "Frills like manual training and cookery are not frills at all; they are modern positive discipline."

You think your town could do things if it had leaders. What do you want with leaders? An engine doesn't need a leader, all it needs is a spark plug. What an engine needs is to have all its parts working together. If the water tank leaks, or any one part goes wrong the whole thing is no good. You don't want a one man town any more than you would want a one part engine.

Surely, spend money with your own merchants but "render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's." Life's greatest values lie clear outside the economic field. Do not cheat your town of the things that are way up and beyond price.

POLITICAL RAMBLE

Only two more weeks until some of the candidates return to their plowing, etc. The political campaigns are getting as warm as the July days, but the races are still anybody's. Alford seems destined to be in the runoff for governor, but who his opponent will be is a horse of another color. Hunter and McDonald seem to be holding the answer, but it is difficult to determine which will hold the correct answer. It is rumored that Clint Small is gaining strength more rapidly than any candidate in the gubernatorial race. Witt and Hughes are trailing.

Carl Runge in the congressional race appears to be gaining just minute strength, but with four apparently equally matched men running for the post, the congressional race in this district will be one of the most hotly contested races in Texas. South's stronghold is the northeastern part of the district; Runge's following is largest in the southeastern part of the district. Deal and Murphy will split the northwestern vote according to indications; and the key to the whole race is held by the southwestern part of the district. We have one consolation in this race: all four candidates are good men, and their programs which appear to be very similar, will be carried out faithfully by any one of them.

The senator's race in this district is another closely fought contest. It appears that Judge Davis is slightly the favorite but who can tell, who can tell? Metcalfe will certainly get his share of the votes.

Walter Woodward has the upper hand in the attorney-general's race and indications are that there will not even be the necessity of a runoff in this race.

Tom Connelly is also a favored man. Indications are that he will pile up a huge majority over his opponent, Bailey. Senator Connelly is running on his record.

FIRST ALLRUBBER SEPARATOR ADDS BATTERY POWER

The first battery separator made exclusively of rubber is now in production in the Firestone Battery Factories at Akron, Ohio and Los Angeles, California. It is considered as great an advancement in batteries as the balloon tire was in the tire industry, for it is not affected by heat, cold, or acid, and yet so porous it increases power flow. It is used in the Firestone Extra Power Battery.

The Allrubber Separators are made up of millions of tiny balls of rubber joined together in such a way as to give extreme porosity, allowing quick flow of power. They have much longer life under adverse conditions—in fact they last the life of the battery. Separators of rubber have long been the goal of the battery industry. A number of separators have been brought out combining rubber with fiber, wood and rubber, etc., and though some obtained long life, they were considerably less porous and thus gave less starting power, especially in cold weather.

The battery of today must have greatly increased power. It is estimated that 600,000 more will be sold in 1934. More than a million cars now have hot water heaters which require electric power to operate. Gas and oil gauges, cigar and cigarette lighters, double stop lights, windshield defrosters, double horns and many other appliances are found on the modern cars. The 1934 cars have larger generators—30 ampere capacity instead of 20 ampere.

The Firestone Extra Power Battery with the Allrubber Separators furnishes more and quicker starting power—at zero it gives 30% more starting power. It is especially superior for cars operating in severe service, and for commercial cars and light trucks.

A TOAST TO MISS MBEL HOWELL (Our Retiring County Demonstrator)

She is going out upon Gods Great Plain, And there, a Mr. Smith, is awaiting her For his very own to claim. He is planning for her a beautiful home, A bed of roses, enclosed by a wall of stone They are tired of living all alone.

We know that she is worthy in every way And our prayer—that her new life, Will be a perfect sun-ray. We all, were so very happy. For really, we thought she would stay, Because of her, we live a cleaner life day by day.

She came into our homes with a great big laugh, Already to can the white face calf. Your kitchen, she turns into a packing-house. She rolls the roast and the big fat steaks, And my, the chili Con Carne she makes, It isn't at all hard to take.

Our sympathy to Armour, Swift and Cudeyha, For she puts it all over them, in every way. Pile up the rocks, haul away the tin cans, Get some Dutch Cleanser and scrub the milk pans.

Then into the garden to dig the fresh earth, She shows you how, with genuine mirth. Into the garage to mould concrete tile, For to irrigate and beautify the garden.

As she keeps smiling all the while, And we moulded, twenty-two feet of tile. She converted we country girls into Brick Masons, She taught how to crank the Ford, And quick as a wink, change the castings.

She taught us how to milk old Patsy cow, To churn, mold and wrap the butter. Take it from me, she is a cutter. She ordered, get out your brushes, And paint the old home, But my, how the old man began to moan.

The sweetest thing of all I know— She taught me just how to plant a rose. We planted it right under the old man's nose. Then he really began to like, And off to Eldorado he did hike, Bought two bran new screen doors, Even talked of painting the floors.

She taught us how to hook a rug, While we were hooking, she made the fudge. She taught us how to mold the cheese While all the birdies sat around, Crippling their daily Chee Cheese. She is always on the alert, She never misses a thing, While you work, she really makes you sing.

These are just a few of the virtues, she possesses. This Mr. Smith, has certainly upset our plan, But we'll do the very best we can. We regret to see her go, And out of our hearts, we all must know That its God, uniting in His Great way, Love—Song—Laughter and Play. A Friend

The NEW Firestone CENTURY PROGRESS TIRE

Ten Million People HELPED TO BUILD THE TIRE SENSATION of '34!

Beyond Comparison in Quality, Construction, Appearance and Price With Any First Quality Tire Made

THE way to create a TIRE SENSATION is to give the people what they want, and Firestone has done this with the new Firestone Century Progress Tire.

As millions of people visited the Firestone Factory at the World's Fair last year, we asked this question—"What do you value most in a tire?" They answered—"Give us Blowout Protection, Non-Skid Safety, and Long Wear at a moderate price." This was a big order, but Firestone has a habit of giving car owners what they want when they want it.

We knew there was only one way to build Quality and Value into a tire at a moderate price, and that was by volume production. We built the greatest tire ever made to sell at these low prices. Car owners are profiting because we found out what they wanted and found the way to give it to them.

The new Firestone Century Progress Tire IS EQUAL OR SUPERIOR to any first quality tire built, regardless of name, brand, by whom manufactured, or at what price offered for sale.

Mayer, Official, Sheep & Goat Raisers Assn., Favors Holding Wool

San Angelo, Texas, July 10, 1934.
Eldorado Success, Eldorado, Texas.
Gentlemen:

I wish to compliment you on the article you ran in your issue of July 6th entitled: "Wool Leaders urge 'Texans not to Sell.'" It cannot be impressed too strongly upon the wool growers of Texas the importance for holding for better prices. For various reasons which are hard to identify exactly, the market does not seem inclined to absorb the wool clip this year as readily as it did last year. For this reason it is more important than ever that every ranchman do all in his power to guard the market, which is more easily done by not throwing his wool on it at a low price.

Personally, I wish to thank you for running the article mentioned and I am sure that all other ranchmen who are interested in supporting and maintaining the present price for wool feels as I do.

Very sincerely yours,
E. S. Mayer.

Interpretative Flashes

Federal cattle buying is still going on at a swift gait, and will possibly continue until midspring. Feed will be hard to buy this winter and hard to provide in the drought stricken areas. With ranges already overstocked and range conditions made far below normal because of the extended drought, it will be a money-making proposition to the ranchman to sell his surplus cattle and sheep to the government—and the government can use the meat to help feed the needy. Yes, of course there is something wrong with the way things have been run that causes the government to have to buy surplus cattle, but the ranchman isn't to blame altogether. But we will all have our businesses straightened out in the near future and the sheep, goat, and cattle industry will boom along with some other industries which are as substantial as the rock of Gibraltar.

The NRA has now passed on to other hands. General Johnson has turned the piloting of the Blue Eagle to a board consisting of five of his subordinates. Just what is the destiny of the NRA is a question which has been raised recently. There is hardly an answer at the present, but this much is obvious. The NRA had good intentions and if carried on in a more practical manner, it could possibly have realized greater results—but, as in all good moves, corruption finally creeps in and ruins the chief object. That corruption is generally in the form of compromise. After all, however, the time has come for government regulation—not government control—of all business. Everyone, though he may not be born equal, must be given equal opportunities.

Germany is trying to about face after taking a militant stand toward other European countries earlier in the week. France "doesn't believe a word of it." Maybe Germany doesn't want war any more than anyone else does. Why not give her a chance to prove herself.

Strikes over the nation continue to interfere with the progress toward national recovery and to register social unrest. Looks as though workmen would be seeking employment in times like these, rather than unemployment. Everyone wants a square deal, but hardly any two people gauge a square deal by the same standards. The labor-capital adjustment board recently created by the government has a chance to show its worth now, and it certainly has a job on its hands. In our opinion, the only way to settle strikes is to arbitrate the trouble. An unconcerned agency is the only medium of parity to both sides. A square deal for everybody is a good motto for any individual, body of individuals, government, and the world at large. Why is it so hard for the human race to adopt and stick to such a motto?

Estimates on the American wheat crop have again been reduced. Bad news for the fellow who loves his bread. Wheat production this year will be less than it has been in 41 years. Practically all crops are somewhat short this year and prices are beginning to look up, proving that overproduction does have something to do with prices. Cotton is plugging at the 13 cent mark this week, wheat at the 90 cent mark; and with the government likely to make advances on wool, the price of wool stands a good chance of gaining.

Mack Jones and Clem Holstein were in Eldorado Wednesday.

FIRE EQUIPMENT

equipment. At the last regular meeting of the club, members listened to a report of the Firefighting committee on this matter. The committee reported favorably and the members received the report favorably. It seems only a matter of time now until Eldorado will be well equipped to fight such disastrous fires as that of Saturday, June 23.

In addition to the protection and other advantages offered by firefighting equipment, Eldorado's fire insurance rate will be reduced materially by the installation of firefighting equipment.

Citizens we must be progressive. We must have fire protection.

Rev. Connell, his wife and baby girl, about two years of age, arrived in Eldorado last night and he will begin his work with the church immediately.

PREPARATIONS BEING PUSHED FOR HUMBLE TEST

Work on Humble Oil Company's No. 1 Ike Honig is being pushed rapidly preparatory to actual drilling. After staking the water well at three different locations, drilling was begun. Fresh water struck at 190 feet and at this depth of 536 feet of sand. The first water well is now at a depth of 536 feet having been drilled to that depth in search of a greater quantity of water. Sulfer water was struck at 501 feet and the company now plans to drill other water wells in an effort to obtain enough water to run a rotary rig. Fresh water is to be used in the boilers and sulphur water is to be used for drilling purposes.

Four boilers are now on the ground, two have been placed on the ground last night and two others previously. The well will be drilled to 500 feet with the water rig, the hole being 15 1/2 inches. Two 1000 gallon water tanks have been placed on the ground and a half million gallon dirt reservoir has been thrown up for slush.

A new derrick will be placed on the ground within the near future. The new derrick is to have a 23 foot floor base and is to be 136 feet high which is ten feet higher than the standard derrick. The rig is being moved from the Humble No. 1 White and Baker at McCamey.

All operations will be carried on with steam engines except the pumping of water.

A test was made of the water well with a five-inch stream and a thirty six inch stroke. After steady pumping for several hours the well weakened.

Government May Aid Wool Market

According to various reports in the San Angelo Standard and Times, efforts are being made by a number of interested parties to obtain the government's aid in the somewhat passive wool market. It was thought that plans might be made in the meeting of the Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation which was held at Wichita, Kansas, this week, but such hopes failed to materialize as the meeting closed without the matter's being brought up.

After failing to realize their goal at the Wichita meeting, several interested parties are making efforts to secure the aid of Senator Tom Connolly and of Dr. W. I. Mprez, head of the Farm Credit Administration for some sort of plan for advances on wool. Those working on the matter hope to persuade the government to make advances of from 20 to 25 cents per pound. Indications are that the government will inaugurate some such plan to help hold the wool market up, but no definite steps have yet been taken. With enough cooperation and pressure the move can be put over and wool men of West Texas deserve such a break.

SOFTBALL DIAMOND BEING CONSTRUCTED

The Lions' Club and city of Eldorado are constructing a community softball diamond just northeast of the courthouse. The diamond will be of regulation size with a caliche infield. Bill Fry is doing the work on the diamond with a city maintainer. The diamond will be used by the business men of the city as a place of recreation after a hard day's work.

Plans are being made to light the diamond, and if the plans can be carried out as proposed, four lights will be placed around the court, insuring a well lighted court. The boys can now develop a real softball team, so let's give them our support.

Mr. Fred Crosby of Almagorda, New Mexico, and son, Christie Crosby of Arizona visited on the Crosby ranch last weekend. Fred is a brother of G. C. Crosby of the Mayer community.

TODAY IS FRIDAY, 13th

If you have any business transactions slated for today, you had better put them off until tomorrow; for, according to old traditions today is everybody's bad luck day, and any deal that you may make will be a bad one.

The English people were so superstitious during the sixteenth century that they refused to carry on any kind of business on Friday, the thirteenth. This belief so interfered with the work of the English navy that a ship was equipped to sail on Friday the thirteenth in an effort to break the superstition. The ship's name was Friday; her captain's name was Friday. The ship was manned with a crew of 13; every piece of equipment and machinery possible was made in units of thirteen. The ship sailed from harbor on Friday, the thirteenth and was never again seen nor heard from. Watch your P's and Q's today.

TO HOLD OLD SETTLERS REUNION IN VAL VERDE TOMORROW

Eldoradoans To Attend

Music will be furnished for the occasion by Brady and Fredricksburg bands. An old fashioned platform dance will feature the night's program. Music for the dancing will be furnished by the Frank Montague orchestra and the old fiddlers of Bandera. Goat roping contests will feature the afternoon's entertainment. An old fiddler's contest will be held at eight p. m. Food is promised for all who attend.

Candidates for state offices, senate and congressional district candidates will speak during the afternoon. The old settlers plan to launch a campaign to re-elect Jim Walker, West Texas Friend, as land commissioner.

Reception committees have been selected and everyone is promised a good time. Scores of people have indicated that they would camp on the Hudspeth ranch Friday night and fish. A number of Eldorado and Schleicher county people including some of our goat-roping artists, will attend the big affair.

Rudd Community Has Big Goat Roping And Barbecue

A community goat roping and barbecue, staged in the Rudd community this week, proved to be a very enjoyable affair. The big event was staged on the Bill Edmiston place. Free-for-all goat roping occupied the morning program and a barbecue dinner was served to those present, about thirty-five in number.

The horse race was won by Frank Reynolds; and a cigar race was won by Leonard Isaacs. Goat roping and match roping concluded the day's festival. Will O'Harrow, Leonard Isaacs and Robert Baker were outstanding goat ropers of the day. Everyone enjoyed the day to the fullest extent.
