

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS BIG CELEBRATION

Humble Is Ready To Set Casing In Ike Honig Wildcat

THREE THOUSAND ATTEND LION BARBECUE.

Despite threatening clouds, a crowd estimated at 3,000 people attended the rodeo and celebration here yesterday. The day began with a parade headed by the Iran Boy Scout Band.

The horse races proved to be the biggest interest of the day. Lady H, owned by Jap Holman took the first race. Robinson was jockey. Lady H was followed by Fortuna owned by Williams. Coley was third up, owned and ridden by Graf. In the second race, Navajo owned by Mather and ridden by Graf came in first followed by Seal owned and ridden by Rogers. Kenley, owned by Tisdale and ridden by Buie was third. In the third race, Billie J., owned by Jackson and ridden by Watters came in first followed by Round the World, owned by Posey and ridden by Robinson. Bonnie, owned by Andrews and ridden by Graf came in third. The fourth race was captured by Dick. Owned by Martin and ridden by Buie. Dick was followed in by Red Pepper Burns, owned by Jane Henderson and ridden by Robinson. Black Beauty, owned by Buie and ridden by Graf was a close third. Amos, owned by Jap Henderson and mounted by Robinson, took the concluding race, followed by Crook, owned by Bolt and ridden by Watters. Red Pepper Burns, ridden by Fulcher took third money.

Boy's goat roping went first to Orville Edmiston, $8.40; second, Billie McCravy, $4.20; third, Frank (Pancho) Bradley, $1.40.

Jim Bridges and Bill Chick split the bronc riding contest. Red Parker won third money.

Tom Taylor took first money for calf roping in 16.5, $50. Red Barrett, second, 22, $25. Earl Sellers, third, 22.4, $10. Earl Sellers won first in the belted calf roping, prize $17.50; and Ernest Woodward, second, $11.

First pay of $24 went to Harry Howard and Chester Wilson for steer unbelting; time 27.4. Vic Rogers and Earl Sellers took second pay in 30 sec. flat, prize $12. Jack Sellers and Ted Powers placed third with 33.4 for a $4 prize.

About 2,500 people enjoyed the barbecue.

Dancing at Rock Station concluded the day's celebration. There was a great time for all.

Honorable Joab Campbell introduced the candidates who spoke during the celebration. Judge Wilson of San Angelo spoke for James V. Allred, candidate for governor. Tom Sealy from Austin spoke in behalf of Walter Woodward for attorney-general. Candidates for congress who spoke at the rodeo were South, Deal and Runge. Both Metcalfe and Davis, candidates for state senate spoke.

Station A Trounces Wood Motor Co.

Because of rain, the game which was scheduled between Station A and Wood Motor Co. to be played here last Sunday was transferred to the Sonora battlefield.

Station A, the Schleicher county team, proved too much for the Tom Green boys as the final score was 20 to 2.

Station A began the melee by scoring the first two men up. The Schleicher boys turned back three pitchers from the Wood Motor Company. Turn and Hill were pounded out of the box and Lyon finished the game poorly. None of the Wood pitchers were given much support as error after error was chalked up against the Ford boys from San Angelo.

Batteries for the Oilers were Olienburg and Smith, pitchers; and Motley, catcher. Batteries for the Tom Green team were Turn, Hill, and Lyon, pitchers; and Chapple, catcher.

The Oilers are playing in the Concho Basin League now, and they boast one of the fastest teams in the league. All of Station A home games will be played in Eldorado (provided they don't get rained out in which case they will go to that Sutton county desert where they played last Sunday.)

The Oilers' next conference game is scheduled today with Cisco at Balinger.

A HELP TO SCHLEICHER

Cotton Growers Of County Urged To Report Acreage

County Agent Snell urges cotton growers of Schleicher county to report acreage under cultivation this year and an estimate of its production. The reports should be made to the county agent's office.

Mr. Snell has Will McAngus, Marlon Wade, Edgar Spencer, B. E. Moore and Marvin McDonald assisting him with cotton reports this week.

Bailey Ranch Revival Begins Sunday

According to announcements which have already appeared, the Baptist revival which is to be conducted by Rev. W. P. Ray of San Angelo will open Sunday, July 29. The meeting is scheduled to run one week. Rev. Ray, according to advance report, is an interesting speaker, well liked by all who have heard him. All Schleicher county citizens are urged to hear him. A special invitation has been extended to Eldorado people.

WOOL SOLD AT 24-25 CENTS A POUND

Mertzon Association Sells 140,000 Pounds To Sumner Willis

The West Texas Wool and Mohair Association, of Mertzon, sold yesterday 140,000 pounds of 12 months wool at a price reported to be 24 to 25 cents a pound to Sumner Willis, wool buyer for Walter M. Marston. Murphy Campbell bought about 7,000 pounds of eight months wool from the San Angelo Wool Company at a price said to be 21 cents. There has been a quickening of interest in the short wool classes. Jeff Solls of Wright Brothers moved two cars of government wool and one car of free wool on consignment from the Texas Stockmen's Supply Company yesterday.

There is said to be more inquiry for wool in the East and the mills are said to be in a condition that they must have some wool to carry on.—San Angelo Standard Times.

Tent Revival To Begin Here Aug. 3

Gilbert W. Wilson, Baptist evangelist from the San Angelo Heights Baptist Church will begin a revival in Eldorado on Friday, August 3, according to a statement made by Raymond C. Wilson, pastor of the San Angelo Heights Baptist Church for the past two years.

The revival will be held in a tent which is to be pitched across the street from the West Texas Utilities office. Evangelist Gilbert Wilson is in a meeting at Mereta now and will come to Eldorado after closing his revival at that place.

CARL RUNGE IS BIG FAVORITE

Carl Runge of Mason, former District judge and now a candidate for Congress, says that he has every reason to believe that he will lead the ticket in the July Primary. He says there has been a decided swing of votes in his favor during the past ten days due to the strong endorsement Hudspeth and the picnic given by Hudspeth on his Devil's River ranch for the purpose of boosting the candidacy of Carl Runge, and in addition there to the Brownwood Bulletin has during the past week twice endorsed Carl Runge in its editorial columns as being the best qualified candidate in every respect and the most dependable. Brown county polls the second largest vote in the District.

A straw vote recently completed in each of the twenty-seven counties in which 2500 voters were interviewed, revealed that Runge is the leading candidate in seventeen counties and has a lead of eight thousand votes over his closest opponent.

Scattering showers Saturday and Sunday helped the range conditions in Schleicher county to some extent, and temporarily relieved the sweltering heat conditions. Rains in some sections of the county were large enough to break the drought which has prevailed over most of this country from several months, but the rains were too spotted to bring permanent relief to this county.

Among those reporting rain Saturday and Sunday were Jim Willoughby, 1 inch; John Rae, ½ inch; George Dickens, 1 inch; Robert Milligan 1 inch; Jess Koy, 1 inch; Jean Edmiston, 1½ inches; E. E. Lock, 1½ inches; and F. B. Gunn, 3 inches; C. O. Bruton, 1 inch.

A strip of territory just east of Eldorado received a half inch. The entire eastern section of the county was fairly well drenched. The San Sabaliver which heads in this county was reported to be on a seven foot rise just a few miles below Ft. McKavert, over the Menard county line. The southern part of Schleicher received good showers, some of rain proportions, but they were well scattered. The western section of the county, near the Crockett county line also received scattered showers of a helpful nature. Ozona reported six inches of rain. Sutton and Tom Green counties reported little or no rain while counties east of Schleicher were generally covered with rain ranging from one-half inch to cloud burst proportions.

West Texas Pioneer Dies At Eden

Mrs. Charles Champie, one of West Texas' earliest citizens, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. L. Martin after a long illness. Mrs. Champie came to Texas from Illinois with her family when she was only four years old. The Shallenburgers, her family settled first at what is now known as Ft. McKavert in 1852, seven years before the fort was built. "Grandma" Champie, as she was called, did her share toward developing West Texas. She is survived by nine children.

Problem III

REGULATION OF BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY

Regulation and control of business has been a sore spot in both the political, economic, and social machines of our country. The NRA may possibly be a step toward the solution of the problem, but whether that step was too long, too short, or in the wrong direction remains to be seen. To say the least of the matter it was a start; apparently a good experiment.

There has been a fight in this and other countries for the regulation of business during the past several years, and among certain classes of people that fight has gone so radical as to become communistic; that is, some people have gone so far as to advocate government and community ownership of all industry. This is too much of course, but we have recently seen that business and industry must be regulated and controlled; and the best agency for controlling business seems to be the government, or better, a board of industrial control appointed by the government. Just how far

Joe Finley Is Painfully Injured

Joe Finley was painfully injured last Tuesday morning when he received a broken collar bone. Joe was taking care of the Tom Henderson race horses at the Fair Park when the accident occurred. He had just mounted one of the horses and was thrown off, his shoulder striking the ground first. Today Joe was reported to be resting well though the injury was still very painful.

FORMER ELDORADOAN IMPROVED AFTER CAR ACCIDENT

SAN ANGELO, Texas, July 26.—Mrs. H. T. Bird was moved Monday from the Shannon Hospital to her home, 26 South Archer Street. She had been in the hospital since July 14, having been injured in an automobile accident. Prior to the accident, Mr. and Mrs. Bird resided in Eldorado but they are to live here now.

Mrs. A. J. Atkins of Eldorado, mother of Mrs. Bird, arrived yesterday to be with her daughter until she is able to be up. Christine Bird, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bird, has been with her grandmother since the accident.

Mrs. Bird is much improved now. She will be remembered as Miss Earline Atkins of Eldorado.

With the signing of 137 emergency relief contracts for cattle buying, more than 5,500 head of cattle have been offered for sale in Schleicher county. Six of the 137 contracts have been fulfilled. 200 head of cattle have been received and accepted by the government. 60 head were condemned by the veterinarian and were killed on the ranches.

Men who have fulfilled contracts to date are Joab Campbell, Tom Wilton, Guy Bodine, Chris Enoch, M. B. Holland, and Ed Finnigan.

Claude Meador is in charge of the local cattle relief office; W. C. Jones of Tom Green county is appraising local cattle; and C. M. Lindley of Odessa, Texas is veterinarian in this county.

It is expected that other contracts will be made during the remainder of this week and next week.

Last Monday the Eldorado Success ran a straw vote on the streets of Eldorado for the general interest of the public. Some forty-five people were asked to take part in the test vote and forty of them signified their willingness to take part in the vote by marking up a straw ballot for their favorite candidate. Three of the forty-five approached voted for "dark horse" whose name we feel is unnecessary to reveal on our vote. The vote may or may not be representative of the political pulse of this county, but we feel that it was taken in all fairness and for the general interest of our politically-minded reader who is interested in how Schleicher county will vote tomorrow. In order of their strength, the candidates are lined up as follows by Schleicher county voters:

FOR GOVERNOR:

- Hunter ..... 21
- Allred ..... 11
- McDonald ..... 5
- Small ..... 3

Other candidates for governor did not rate in the test vote.

FOR ATTORNEY-GENERAL:

- Woodard ..... 18
- McCraw ..... 17
- Smith ..... 5

It looks as though the attorney-general's race will be close in this county.

FOR CONGRESSMAN:

- Deal ..... 13
- Runge ..... 12
- South ..... 12
- Murphy ..... 4

The congressional race will probably be the hottest race in the county with the possible exception of some of the county races. It is consoling, however, to know that all of the candidates in the race are good men and have workable platforms which are very similar in details.

FOR STATE SENATOR, 25th Dist.

- Davis ..... 21
- Metcalfe ..... 19

The race for senate appears to be a hot one too.

FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY:

- Davenport ..... 15
- Lewis ..... 14
- Heath ..... 7

Some of the straw voters preferred not to vote in the district attorney's race saying that they were undecided as to who to vote for. This race, too, is a rather close one in Schleicher county.

The Success took this test poll in the interest of no particular candidate, and with the view only of supplying its readers with some definite facts and interesting information on Saturday's election.

According to the straw poll, only Hunter has a decided advantage over his opponent in this county. Candidates for other offices are not safely in the lead. With the entire county voting Saturday, preselection favorites may not fare so well; but this test vote includes two or three representatives from every community in Schleicher county.

4-H Boys and girls Urged to Hear Program

Schleicher county 4-H Club boys and girls have been urged by interested parties to tune in on WOAI, San Antonio on Saturday, August 4 and listen to the National 4-H Club broadcast. The program, one hour in length, begins at 11:30 and continues until 12:30. The program will also be put on the air by WFAA, Dallas.

The program is to consist of interesting talks pertaining to various phases of 4-H club work as good music as well. The United States Marine Band will furnish music.

The program is a monthly affair being broadcast at from 11:30 to 12:30 each first Saturday of every month. Schleicher 4-H boys and girls are not only invited but urged to listen.

Mrs. A. B. White has returned from an extended visit with her daughter Mrs. George Joseph, of San Antonio. Mrs. White was accompanied home by Mrs. Joseph and son, Ralph who will spend a few days visiting in Eldorado.

To Drill 8,000 Feet

Mr. John M. House, superintendent in charge of the operations of the Humble Oil and Refining Company in West Texas stated this week that a 15½ inch casing will be set and cemented in the Humble Company's No. 1 Ike Honig in Schleicher county as soon as the well has reached a depth of approximately 610 feet, which according to calculations will probably be reached early today.

The company has recently constructed a fueling station on the Santa Fe near the Eldorado Wool Company's warehouse. First fuel oil, according to Mr. House, will be unloaded beginning probably today.

The work of erecting the derrick, and installing and rigging up rotary machinery will follow immediately after the setting of casing, Mr. House said. It is estimated that the rig builders will begin work this weekend.

The well was drilled past the 500 foot mark without striking the sulfur water which was struck in a water well at that depth some 200 feet from the spud. Until the casing is set, water well equipment owned by the Crosby Drilling Company will be used to drill the well. The casing is already on the grounds. One water well, has been completed and two other water wells, both fresh water, will be drilled to a depth slightly in excess of 200 feet next week.

The Ike Honig well is to be drilled 8,000 feet, according to a statement by Mr. House. It is to be the deepest test in this part of the country.

Humble No. 1 Honig is located ten feet west of the center line of section 38, block M, G. H. & S. A. Ry. Co. Survey.

APRECIATES ROAD WORK

Mr. House stated that the Humble Company greatly appreciated the work which was being done on the road from Eldorado to the well. "It will be a great help to truckers this winter," he stated. Nowhere else have we had greater cooperation in road work and in the building of cattle guards, Mr. House stated; and he uses this means of expressing appreciation on behalf of the Humble Oil and Refining to those who have been instrumental in bettering the road.

WELL WORKERS IN ELDORADO

Some thirty men who are to be in the employ of the Humble Company on its Schleicher county deep test have already arrived in Eldorado and will reside here during the process of drilling the well. Eldorado businessmen take this means of publicly welcoming the Humble men to Eldorado and state that they desire to cooperate with the Humble crew in every way possible.

BRYSON CHILD DIES

Richard Everett Bryson, fourteen months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Bryson of this city, died last Friday, July 20. Cause of death was said to be whooping cough. Last rites of the child were held at the Bryson home, Rev. J. L. Ratliff officiating. Burial was in charge of the local undertaking establishment. Death came to the little child at 7:00 a. m. and the burial took place at the Eldorado cemetery at 6:30 p. m. of July 26.

The other children, William Towers, a boy of three, and Alma Rush, a girl of two, survive. The Success, with many other friends, extends its deepest and heartfelt sympathies to the bereaved.

35 Ballots Cast As Absentee Voting Closes

Thirty-five absentee ballots had been cast in this county as absentee balloting was closed for the political year, 1934. Thirty-three ballots had been cast up to Wednesday afternoon, the time at which absentee balloting in person was brought to a close. Two other ballots were received on the mail Thursday bringing the total to thirty-five, and bringing absentee balloting for this year to a close. No absentee ballots were to be accepted after midnight last night.

About Beauty And Garden Clubs

During the summer months when everything is dry and some of Eldorado's beautiful homes lack the proper setting for the want of beautiful flowers and trees, we often feel like a little competition in water systems of the city would be a great help. When a company has a monopoly of the city's water supply, it generally gets what ever rate it asks without any consideration (and generally there is little or no consideration.) A utility without any competition never lowers its rates without some pressure. We do not have enough beautiful trees and flowers in our fair city. Beautiful things are consoling (see "Beauty in the Art of Nature" written exclusively for the Success in this issue.) People need the inspirational recreational, and consoling value of the beautiful which can be found nowhere other than in flowers and trees, but when it is dry and water rates high, what can we do about it? Let's spend a little more time thinking of the beauty of our homes and of our town. By having beautiful yards we not only help ourselves but we give our neighbors and friends something to enjoy. We should never be so selfish as to have the means with which to bring joy into the hearts of other people and then not use those means. Beautiful yards bring joy to all who see them.

Why couldn't we organize a Garden club and (or) a flower club in Eldorado? We could swap flowers, cuttings, and ideas in a really friendly and helpful way?

SLACKER OR SLYKER?

The word, Schleicher, is often abused. Many of our people pronounce it with a short "a" as in fat, making "slacker" out of it. We developed an aversion for the word "slacker" during the war and we have never liked it since. There are no "slackers" in our county so why should we be called "slacker" county. The original pronunciation of the word Schleicher according to philologists is not "slacker" but "sly-ker." Oh, well, we are all living for practically the same purpose and working toward the development of the same territory so what difference does it really make as long as we remember that there are no "slackers" in "sly-ker" county.

BEAUTY IN THE ART OF NATURE

(Written exclusively for the Success by a student of Texas Technological college.)

A young art student once asked of Whistler, "Where do you study art?" Whistler immediately answered, "Wherever I happen to be."

We are given the same opportunity as Whistler was, and the best place to study art is in nature. With the least expense, we are able to see the most beautiful pictures on earth—the foundation of all art. The artist and the poet get their inspiration from nature, but neither have the ability to paint or to write about nature as she really is. Man's art and poetry lacks the truth of beauty. Joyce Isaacs.

Kilmer's lines, "Poems are made by foolslike me, but only God can make a tree," is all so true.

Lacking the love for beauty is lacking happiness. Beautiful surroundings offset a home as a frame offsets a picture. By studying nature, we learn to love her, and the closer she is to us, the better we can study her; hence we should beautify our surroundings by bringing nature around us. It is our duty to love all nature; but it is also our duty to improve her wherever possible.

Mother nature, being a wise mother, knows that the human eye tires of looking at sameness so she transforms nature with the seasons, the day, and even the hour so that nature does not become monotonous.

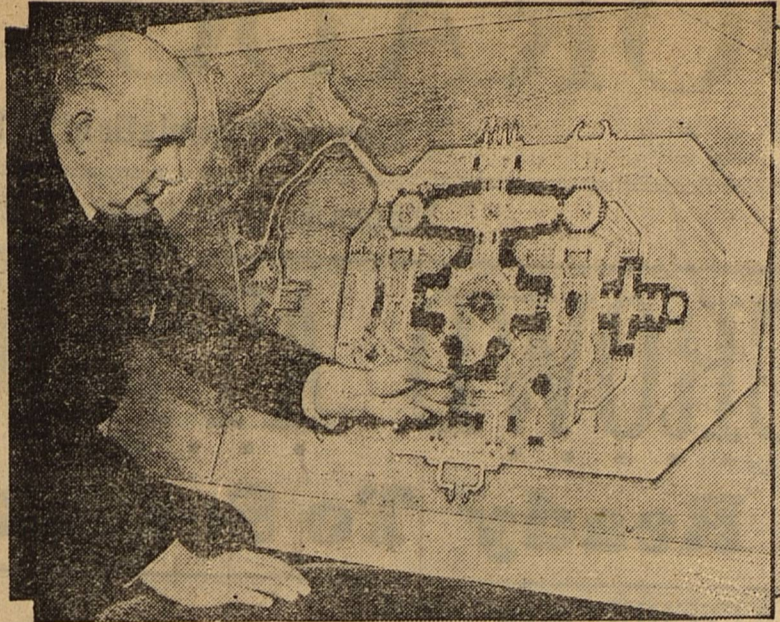

There is beauty in the brilliance of the sunlight; in the peace and pureness of the snows; in the deepening shadows of twilight; in the softness of the pale moonlight; in the fury of a hailstorm where pieces of white ice dance in the dark. Beauty lurks in every nook and corner.

It is impossible to describe nature and her beauty fully, but we admonish you to open your eyes and behold nature's beauty!

DALLAS PARTY RETURN HOME

Mrs. Bob John and children, Bobby, Billie, and Caroline, have been visiting Mrs. Ben L. Isaacs here. They returned to Dallas last Monday. Mrs. John was accompanied from Dallas by Miss Luella Hampton. The party from Dallas was accompanied home by Mrs. Bertha Shugart who will make her home at Dallas temporarily. Mrs. Shugart has been residing in Eldorado recently. Both Mrs. Shugart and Miss Hampton are sisters of Mrs. Ben Isaacs.

San Francisco Is to Have a Fair

Following extensive engineering research, the site for San Francisco's proposed 1937 World's fair was chosen. The fair, to celebrate completion of the San Francisco-Oakland and Golden Gate bridges, will be located on shoal lands north of Yerba Buena Island. Leland W. Cutler is shown above with a plan of the exposition.

TEXAS INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITIES

Postex Cotton Mills, Post, have recently added to their splendid equipment an additional one-process picker with latest cleaning attachments. The mills have given employment to over 100 additional workers and their Texas business has made a remarkable increase in the past three years.

The Texas Nail and Wire Manufacturing Co., Galveston, the only nail and wire manufacturing plant in Texas, has recently added twenty new employees. With the exception only of steel, which cannot be purchased in Texas, the company purchases all of its supplies in Texas, including lumber, chemicals and all the other items used in its plant.

Manufactures at Denton under auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, recently staged "industrial week" with downtown displays of all local manufactured products. Unable to find a building large enough to house the show, they secured a week's use of practically all display windows and the exhibits attracted a lot of attention with placards in each window reciting the total of industrial employees and pay rolls in the city and harrying the slogan, "The best way to attract new industries is to support the ones we already have."

Kohler & Sons Pickle Manufacturing Co., Somerset, is a new incorporation recently chartered for the preserving of cucumbers.

Texas production of poultry and eggs for 1933 was valued at $23,571,000, a very considerable decrease from the 1926-1930 average total of $53,463,000. Price reductions were largely the reason for the decrease, but production also dropped off somewhat from peak years.

Clifton Manufacturing Co., Waco, has recently added twenty-seven new machines to its plant and has begun the manufacture of a full line of industrial uniforms that is meeting with a fine acceptance from buyers over the Southwest. The company has increased its employees fully twenty per cent within the past few weeks. It manufactures tents, awnings, automobile seat-covers, tarpaulins and other cotton goods.

CARLOAD OF MILK BOTTLES DAILY SANTA ANNA PLANT'S OUTPUT

The plant of the Knappe-Coleman Glass Co. at Santa Anna, Coleman County, is producing a carload of milk bottles daily and is finding a ready sale for its product in Texas and the Southwest. The only plant in Texas manufacturing that particular product, the Knappe-Coleman Co., within the next few days will begin the installation of a second unit, to be devoted to producing fruit jars and other glass containers at the rate of a carload a day.

"We are fortunate to have the fine glass sand at our doors, a bountiful supply of gas within a few miles and plenty of power from the high lines of the West Texas Utility Co.," said General Manager Knappe to Progressive Texans, Inc., "and no glass plant anywhere has more natural advantages than we have."

MAC'S MESSAGES

There is one important message. The atmosphere Sunday which goes to prove that it pays to go to church. I don't know which congregation gets the credit for the rain, or all of 'em, but lets all try-it again next Sunday.

The strikers didn't get any sugar-teat stuck in their mouth, but a sound spanking was in order. The purpose of the strike was to affect, to coerce public opinion. With a ban on food and gasoline, also transportation stopped, the people could not stand such, and the strike was removed. No social or economic progress ever came or will come from a strike.

This coming Saturday night, which is to be fateful for all of us but more for some, will end lots of handshakes and speeches. The Success will arrange for a prompt and accurate compilation of election returns. Come but bring your own refreshments if any.

TEXAS BUSINESS HOLDS STEADY

AUSTIN, Texas, July 26. —Sales in Texas department stores during June made a very favorable showing in comparison with the corresponding month last year, although there was the usual seasonal decline from May to June, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Reports from 93 retail establishments covering all section of the State show an average increase of 24 percent in dollar sales in comparison with June last year, and for the first half of the year, average sales were 28.4 per cent above the corresponding period in 1933, the bureau's report said. The seasonal decline from May to June was about equal to the average of the preceding seven years, or nearly 16 per cent.

Another favorable feature of the current retail situation in Texas pertains to collections of outstanding accounts. During June 36 per cent of these accounts were collected, compared with 30.3 per cent in June, 1933.

Water can be decomposed into two gases by the use of an electric current and a small amount of sulphuric acid.

SODA FOR COLDS

The use of soda to fight colds is based on good scientific reasoning, since colds are said to develop from acidic condition of the system. Soda, a strong base has the power to neutralize (kill) acid. Too much soda, however, is not good for the system since it partially kills the effects of gastric juices which are essentially acid.

THE immediate and enthusiastic acceptance of the new Firestone Century Progress Tire started a tremendous wave of buying that is keeping the Firestone factories running twenty-four hours a day to meet this huge demand.

We knew that car owners would replace their thin-worn, dangerous tires if they could get what they wanted in a tire at the price they wanted to pay. We found the answer through ten million visitors to the Firestone Factory at the World's Fair last year. We asked them—"What do you value most in a tire?"—and their answer was—"Give us Blowout Protection, Non-Skid Safety, and Long Wear, at a moderate price."

Drive in to the Firestone Service Dealer or Service Store today! Equip your car with these new Firestone Century Progress Tires, with the massive flat tread, deep-cut, non-skid, broad husky shoulders, and Gum-Dipped cords. Tire prices probably never again will be as low as they are today. At these unusually low prices for first grade tires, we make it easy for you to buy not only one tire, but a complete set.

HELEN'S REWARD

(A STORY BY LOCAL TALENT)

SYNOPSIS

Helen Walter's whose worthless brother, Franklin, has spent a small fortune left Helen by her parents, spurns the attentions of one, Melton Elton. Franklin borrows money with which to gamble from Elton. He loses the entire $25,000 borrowed from Elton on a polo game. In the course of events, Franklin reveals to Helen that he has mortgaged their home to Elton and has promised Elton that if he can not pay, he will persuade his lovely sister to marry Elton whom Helen utterly abhors. Helen declares that she will never marry Elton, but she realizes that since he holds a mortgage on their home, she will have to treat him nicely.

Franklin is the cause of Helen's losing every job which she gets, and after constantly nagging at her, Franklin persuades Helen to marry Elton even against her will.

Elton calls for Helen and according to her wishes they go to New Mexico to be married. While on the way, Helen decides that Elton can be adorable when he wants to be. The couple arrive at the court house of Lea County, New Mexico, where they plan to be married.

And now, on with the story.

CONCLUSION

Thirty minutes later, the same couple reappeared. "Let me see those license again, please," Helen entreated. Elton reluctantly handed the papers to her. Helen looked at them—then a second time.

"Why, that clerk misspelled your name," she exclaimed. "He has Milton Edward Elton. Milton instead of Melton."

"That makes little or no difference," said Elton, snatching the paper from her hands. "People often spell my name Milton instead of Melton," he explained. "No, nothing makes any difference to you," Helen retorted. "Nothing ever did. If you were the man of precise principle as you should be, you would have it corrected."

"Let's be going," he commanded. "We have no time to waste and such a small mistake matters little. People often call me Milton. My other name is spelled correctly isn't it?"

"I've never known your other name," Helen commented.

"It is Edward," he replied. "Isn't it spelled correctly? Now let's be going." They did go, and Elton did not return to have the mistake corrected.

"Now," thought Helen, "his gentleness and politeness will leave him as suddenly as it came."

A preacher was found. Helen had refused to be married by the justice. An emotionless wedding was performed and a loveless couple was headed for Carlsbad on its honeymoon.

"These are lovely rings you gave me," Helen ventured to say when they were out on the road.

"I'm glad you like them," Elton responded gently.

During the remaining part of the trip to Carlsbad, conversation between the two was practically lacking. When this strange couple drove up to the Crawford Hotel, it was six o'clock. They were tired, and after dinner, they decided to retire early.

Elton gave Helen a key. She saw that he, too, had one. The keys bore the same suite numbers, but different room numbers. Helen looked at Elton with a puzzled expression.

"Until you learn to love me," he explained.

For the next two weeks, life was just like a dream to Helen. Elton was extremely nice to her. Scenes changed only too swiftly: The magnificent Carlsbad Cavern—the Great White Sands—Cloudcroft—beautiful mountain scenes—Indian pueblos—the Petrified Forest—the Painted Desert—the Grand Canyon—San Francisco—Hollywood—Los Angeles—Phoenix—Tucson—Juarez—El Paso, and a host of other indescribable places or scenes.

Helen was delighted. Tomorrow night, they would arrive home. She wondered what could be in store for them.

Each night Elton had secured a suite with two rooms, and each night he had given her a key to her own room. "What could it mean?" she wondered. "Could Elton really care for me? Could it be possible that he has reformed? At least," she concluded, "he is much nicer than I thought he would be. Maybe I can learn to love him after all. Maybe....." and Helen found herself doubting again.

At Ft. Stockton, they stopped for lunch. Everything was seen after to make sure that there would be no car trouble on the road. While service men changed oil and did other necessary things about the car, Elton stepped into the telegraph station and wired home the news of their coming. The trip home was as delightful as all of it had been. Every mile nearer home, the curious tingle, which Helen had felt since early morning, seemed to mount. "What will it be like to get home?" she thought, over and over.

Seven o'clock. The lights of the city, her own home-town, appeared. Seven-fifteen, and they were on Main. Helen thrilled to a feeling which she could not explain. Seven-twenty-five and the car was brought to a halt in front of the place that used to belong to the Walters estate. "It would still belong to me," thought Helen, "had not my nother willed it to my scalawag brother." He spent my money and threw away the house."

She was aroused from her thoughts by a voice at her side.

"We are here," commented Elton rather nervously.

The pair walked to the door, Elton carrying two of the valises, Helen clinging to his arm.

Jennie answered the door-bell. The light of joy which played on her face as she saw Helen was in an instant changed to fear and distraction.

"Oh, do be careful," Jennie cried. "They are here. They are drunk, dead drunk. They are in a terrible humor," Jennie could say no more. She was crying hysterically.

The trio had entered the living room. Helen's question, "Who are they?" was left unasked when she saw two men standing near the divan. Immediately she recognized her brother and Melton Elton. In bewilderment, Helen looked to the man at her side who still held the valises in his hands.

"You dog, I'll...." blurted Melton. "Oh, he has a gun," screamed Jennie. She fled from the room. Things were happening to swiftly for Helen's muddled brain to grasp. The man she had married had dropped the valises and was taking swift strides toward the man she thought she had married. Her eyes followed him as he advanced swiftly toward the divan. She saw him grasp the arm of her former suitor. There was a pistol. She realized that something was happening, but what? Her husband, who was he? Thoughts crowded thoughts. The man who had seized Elton's arm was attempting to retrieve the gun. Helen stood stupefied.

Crack....a pistol shot. Helen crumpled to the floor in a swoon. The man, her husband, had been too late.

*****
Two hours later, Helen opened her eyes. She was on the bed in her own little retreat. She snuggled closely between the soft, friendly coverings of the bed, feeling very comfortable and yet she was aware of a slight dull aching in her shoulder. Gradually she became aware of the presence of someone in the room. Yes, there were two persons—no, three. Suddenly the recent happenings burst upon her like the light of day. She remembered—she remembered all.

Shuddering at her thoughts, Helen closed her eyes again.

When courage had grown strong enough, she opened her eyes once more. This time she recognized Jennie, her family doctor, and the man she had married. They were standing by her bedside.

"I am glad to see you improving," it was her husband who was speaking. "Where are they?" she asked.

"You mean your brother and Melton? Oh, they are gone now," he said. "We will have to forgive them and forget it. They were not very sane," he added apologetically. "I tried to avert any disaster, but I was a little tardy. You got the shot that was intended for me, but the doctor says it isn't serious," he explained.

"I am glad to see you improving," he said.

"There is no fear," the doctor affirmed. "I am going. I will call again tomorrow."

The doctor left, and Jennie followed him closing the door softly.

"But I don't understand all of this yet," protested Helen. Crowds of thoughts jammed her brain, each clamoring for a recognition. Everything seemed hazy. "You are not Melton?" she stammered. The man at her side was the very picture of the man she thought she had married.

"Dearest," began her undaunted husband, "I am sorry. I hope you can forgive me. No, I am not Melton. I am Melton's brother—his twin brother. I am Milton."

"You—you are the other member othe Elton Brothers Wool Exchange? she asked hesitantly.

"Yes," he answered simply.

"You are the man who is given credit for the company's success, and good business policies?" she continued. "So they say," he answered modestly.

Things became a little clearer to Helen. She had not married Melton Elton, but Milton Elton, Melton's twin brother, the Invisible Boss. She realized now why he had acted so peculiarly about the name on the marriage license. She had never dreamed that the Invisible Boss was a twin brother. She had never heard anyone say. Her idea was that he was a much older man.

Now that things were a little clearer, Helen began to feel that the entire affair was a crude joke at her expense. She demanded further explanation.

"You see," Milton explained, "I could not bear to see such a lovely and worthy girl mistreated. Oh, I've seen you a few times and it was love at first sight. I was in Boston most of the time attending to business, but I never got so busy that I could not find out how things were progressing down here. My stays here were always very short. Only a few of our best customers here have ever seen me. That is why so little is known about me.

"When the wool market in Boston got so slow during the present depression, decided to pay my brother my respects with a short visit. I learned, when I arrived, that you, the girl of my dreams, were to marry my brother against your will. I knew that the match would never be successful unless Melton reformed. I knew, also, that he would not reform.

"On December the nineteenth, the day after my arrival, I purchased some of Old Mexico's Best. I never drink, but I knew that liquor was Melton's weakness. I offered Melton and Franklin a drink, pretending that I drank, too. Franklin was eager for his share, but at first Melton refused, saying that he had promised you never to touch the stuff again. Oh, I know it was a dirty trick, but I knew that Melton would not keep his promise. When the bottle was passed a second time, Melton drank—he drank heavily.

"Both Melton and Franklin drank too much for their own good. While they were in a stupor, I made them talk. I learned everything—plans for the honeymoon and all. Some of their remarks were unbecoming, but keep them to myself.

"I resolved to place Melton and Franklin in the care of friends and substitute myself in Melton's place. I phoned you that I, Melton, would be out of town. From there out, I trusted to luck. I know I was a cad, but I couldn't bear to lose you after I had once decided to win you. I could not bear to see you unhappy with a man whom you hated. Business in Boston has kept me from playing the game open and fair. I am sorry, but this seemed the only solution for your salvation—and mine."

Milton finished his story with a sigh of relief. There was only one fear in his mind. "Would he ever win her love?" he wondered.

"What will we do about Frank and Melton?" Helen asked in faltering tones.

"They will be alright when their heads are cleared," he explained. "Without my help, Melton's business would fail. He knows it and will see it when he has time to think the matter over soberly. Anger and whiskey are two things that don't mix. We will let the little matter drop."

Helen smiled. She was beginning to feel much better. The man who was her husband was exactly her ideal. A warm surge of blood flowed from her heart and beat at her temples.

Milton stooped over her, looking into her face searchingly.

"Helen," his voice pleaded pathetically; after a pause: "Helen," he repeated, "I am sorry it has happened this way. I couldn't help it, but I love you—I loved you the first time I saw you; I love you more now. I was selfish to lose you. Can you ever learn to love me?"

"All my life," Helen began irrelevantly, "I have strove for things that are good. This is my reward. I will love you under two conditions. First, that I may call you Edward—Milton sounds too much like Melton; second, that you kiss me.

Helen had regained her natural smile. There was a bright luster in her beaming eyes. A wounded shoulder was soon forgotten in the tender embrace of Edward Elton.

THE END

LAYING THE FOUNDATIONS FOR A STABLE CIVILIZATION

favorite question, "If a man be born, does he have the right to live?"

If regulated in the right direction and to the right extent, there could be business and progress for all of us; but as long as greed, monopoly, cut-throat competition, and unfair tactics are allowed, business will never make for any better civilization than we now have. We have gone as far as we can without some sort of limitation of industry.

The editorial in the Texas Weekly implied that if expansion of industry were limited, industrial progress would be stopped—probably decline. The question is debatable, but it seems that instead, industrial development would increase. When a man who has little knows that he has a chance against the odds, he will attempt to develop his resources more quickly.

Cardui Helped Lady For Nervousness and Run-Down Condition

"I have taken Cardui several times for weak, run-down condition and it has helped me," writes Mrs. Walter M. Coulon, of Forsyth, Ga. "I was nervous and suffering from a weak condition. There were days when I had to lie down during the day. I sent for six bottles of Cardui, as it had helped me before. Cardui gave me strength, stopped the nervousness and helped me in every way."... Cardui may be just what you need. It can't do you any harm, so why not try it? Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician. $1 a bottle, at drug stores.

than he will knowing that the barrier—monopoly—stands in his way. It seems, after all that the fair thing to do is to limit expansion and let each man have an equal opportunity. We are not born equal as was once thought, but the preamble should now read that all men should be given an equal opportunity, and that those who have the larger capacities should be forced to think of their fellowmen and to be satisfied after reaching a definite point of extension.

Just how business should be regulated is a problem, but generally such things are done more effectively by a well regulated board rather than one individual. Just how much regulation is necessary is also a problem, but with some study of the problem it CAN BE DONE effectively enough to give every business a chance to thrive and prosper. What we need is more industries, more industrial development, and less individual expansion. Too much greed, too many power-mad and too many money-mad people make a cockeyed world more cockeyed. "If a man be born, does he have the right to live?"

JUDGE NOT

There is a time for all to be judged. That time will not come as long as man is on this earth. What you have to say about another will only act as a boomerang, coming back on you. You cannot say that a person has done wrong, even though the person to whom you have reference has committed a rash act. The question is, "What might you have done under the same circumstances?" Since it is impossible for you to put yourself in the other fellow's shoes, it will be impossible to say exactly what you would have done under the same circumstances. The condition of a person's mind can not be determined, nor can it be controlled to any great extent. For this reason, we cannot say that we would not have done the same thing, had the conditions been equally trying for us. How can one tell when the circumstances are exactly the same? It is impossible, and since a very small change would make a great difference in the reaction of a person, we cannot say truthfully, "I would have done this," or "I would have done that if I had been in his place." It is impossible to put yourself in the other fellow's place because one can never tell exactly what his place was. There are too many things entering in, that must be considered, to put yourself exactly in the place of another person.

The criminal is not to be excused, of course; but determining whether the man has committed the act under question, just because he was a criminal or because his environment and condition has driven him to commit the act is a hard proposition. When you begin to judge other people, just remember that there is probably some one judging you at that very time. It isn't merely guess work. It is teaching of our great savior; it is corroborated by great philosophers, such as Emerson in his "Essay on Compensation." When a person has done wrong, don't be too hasty to condemn. You may commit the same act within the hour. If you do not do so, you will more than likely do something just as bad or worse than the act which you are condemning.

A person whose mind or environment has gone beyond his control is not responsible for his actions. If you do judge, and you are not judged by your fellow man, you will then be judged in a "Higher Court" than man can assemble; for it is written that you shall not judge, lest you be judged. Think this over, and judge not, for with what measure you meet, the same will be meted out to you; and as you sow, so shall you reap. "JUDGE NOT LEST YE BE JUDGED."

LON SMITH FILLS MOST IMPORTANT OFFICE

The chairmanship of the Railroad Commission, held by Lon A. Smith, is one of the most important in the State. It places under his control the regulation of the great oil fields that there may be conserved the natural resources of Texas. Mr. Smith has been a hard worker since the Railroad Commission took over the regulation of the oil industry. He has stood consistently for the interest of the state in every instance, and has not permitted selfish interests to dictate to him.

Black-Draught Brings Refreshing Relief of Constipation Troubles

Constipation produces many disagreeable sensations, several of which are mentioned by Mr. T. E. Smith, of Boonville, Ind., who writes: "I have used Theford's Black-Draught many years when needed for biliousness and other minor ills when a laxative was needed. I have a tight feeling in my chest when I get bilious. I get dizzy and feel very tired, just don't feel like doing my work. After taking Black-Draught, I feel much better. This is why I continue to use it when needed." . . . Theford's Black-Draught is a good, purely vegetable laxative, obtainable for 25¢ a package.

Interpretative Flashes

That 100 Miles of Trees

A belt of trees 100 miles in width and extending from Canada to Texas may be the next project of the CCC. The Federal government has been studying the project for some time and all reports thus far have been favorable. The tree belt is to be a protection from drought and dust storms. The principle is based on scientific facts. The project is to cost about $75,000 and its worth can not be doubted. The sooner it is done, the better we will like it.

President Roosevelt is now making a move toward a nation wide electrical rate which he declares will be low enough to be within the reach of every industry and the majority of farmers and ranchmen. Cheap power for industrial expansion and cheap power for the improvement of living conditions at home is the aim of the President. Such a move is welcomed by the American people, especially those who have heretofore been unable to enjoy the advantages of electrical power.

NEWSPAPER MOST SUITABLE OF ALL ADVERTISING MEDIA

The newspaper is the best of advertising mediums, since it possesses five-sevenths of the requisites of a perfect advertising medium.

The authority for this statement is none other than J. H. Pfeiffer, advertising manager for Nebraska's largest and most successful advertiser, Brandeis Stores of Omaha. The Nebraska Press quotes from an address by Mr. Pfeiffer in Omaha:

"Of the seven primary requisites—effectiveness of impression, continuity of impression, elasticity, flexibility, thorough coverage, speed of action and mechanical possibilities—newspapers are far in the lead in all but the first and last. No other advertising medium can claim such a distinction."

Centennial Exposition Now Certain

CORSICANA, Texas, July 26.—If there was ever a question in the mind of any Texas as to whether or not a giant exhibition would be held in 1936, that doubt has been dispelled.

This is the opinion of Will H. Mayes, Austin, executive secretary of the Texas Centennial Commission, here the first of the week attending a meeting of the Commissioners.

"Prior to the organization meeting of the Commission in Austin on June 6 my mail indicated that a considerable portion of the public had grave doubt as to whether or not the State would be able to stage the exhibition. Following that meeting there has been a radical change in the viewpoint. Now all the mail is optimistic. All are making suggestions. Those towns having historical shrines near them are indicating active preparation to participate."

Mr. Mayes for more than a quarter of a century was himself an active newspaper editor and publisher, and a former president of the Texas Press Association. His ability to gauge public sentiment is recognized in all sections.

"There was a gradual change in the public viewpoint," Mr. Mayes said, "from the day the legislature made its appropriation for the preliminary work of the Commission. The people then began to realize that the Centennial idea was not ballyhoo, but the presentation of a great plan which had gotten so far along as to command legislative approval."

"Now with the Commission having announced a definite working plan for those cities desiring to secure the central exhibition, with it having been made plain what those locations having historic shrines are expected to do to have their share in the Centennial, everybody has a job, a definite goal, and can go to work."

"In no movement have I ever witnessed this early as much favorable sentiment as has been crystallized in the last few weeks. Everybody wants to help. Everybody wants a part. It will be the job, as I understand it, of the publicity committee to give these folks a job. The service of every loyal Texan is needed. The personal interest of all is wanted because this exhibition must be all-Texas and for all its citizens.

"It now is generally recognized that the Centennial will benefit all Texas. There isn't a hamlet but that will benefit. We want the people to understand this, but at the same time to know that the historical, the cultural, the artistic and the religious life of Texas through the last stirring century will be paramount."

Mr. Mayes in connection with the historical side of the exhibition pointed out that the plan committee in its Corsicana report provided that an authentic and comprehensive history of Texas be written and that it "assemble data for an unbiased chronicle of the events, forces and influences, not only military and political, but in every field of human endeavor."

It provided for a number of worthy celebrations during Centennial year in those places famous in Texas history by reason of military, political or cultural events. It also provided that the main exhibition be all-Texas in its proportions; that the participation of all those Nations under whom Texas has lived be asked to participate. Thus it is expected that the glorious history of the State will be paramount at all times in every phase of the great exhibition, exhibition, plans for which now are actively under way in all sections.

PLAN FARM SHOW FEATURES Agricultural Exhibits To Feature Balanced Farm Program

Dallas, July 19.—Plans for the new agricultural exhibit which will feature results of the first year of the Farm Recovery method of tilling the soil are progressing nicely and will be completed within a short time at which time they will be announced here by the committee in charge of the department, and J. A. Moore, superintendent of agriculture.

Texas plowed under more than 7,000,000 acres of crops—cotton, corn and wheat in 1933 and this many acres of land have been left unplanted of these crops this year. The 1934 State Fair of Texas exhibit will show the results of the balanced farm program which has been offered to replace these millions of acres of lands by the U. S. Government, by Texas A leaders co-operating throughout the State.

A picture of the results of this new balanced farm program will be contained in a special exhibit which is being planned. This will be in addition to the many county exhibits the 4-H Club and Future Farmer exhibits, the Home Demonstration exhibits, and the individual farm exhibits.

There has also been a demand for more county exhibit space than ever before in the history of the Fair. This has been brought about by the addition of new county agents throughout the State, it was announced. As many new county exhibits will be brought into the State Fair this year as there will be room for, it was announced.

SOCIETY AND CLUB ACTIVITIES

OUR BRIDGE CLUB

Our Bridge Club met last Thursday afternoon with Mrs. C. M. McWhorter as hostess. Club members present were Mrs. W. A. Mullett, Mrs. E. G. Hill, Mrs. Joe Edens, Mrs. V. G. Tisdale, Mrs. W. O. Alexander, Mrs. Cora Miller, and Mrs. Joab Campbell. Guests present were Mrs. Lucille Walker of Plainview, Mrs. Byron Brown of Tulsa, Okla., and Mesdames G. C. Crosby, R. D. Holt, Ed Reynolds, Leslie Baker, Sam Loyd and Miss Gladys Patton.

A pink and white color scheme was followed in decorating for the party. Ice cream and ice-box cookies were served. Pink and white swags were used as plate favors.

Mrs. W. A. Mullett won high scores among the club members and Mrs. Leslie Baker among the guests. Mrs. Walker won the high cut.

I. E. F. DINE AT

WEST TEXAS CAFE

A dinner for the I. E. F. club members, their husbands and boy friends, was given at the West Texas Cafe at 7:30 last Thursday night. Three courses, consisting of tomato cocktail, a meat course offred chicken, creamed peas, creamed gravy, Persian potatoes, and combination rolls, and a dessert course of pie, were served.

Uniquely appropriate place cards, cut from magazines and representing in some fashion the names of the persons attending, were used. Nine couples were present at the dinner which is a monthly affair.

Those present were Jane Henderson and B. The Eldorado Bridge Club met last Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Lewis Ballew as hostess. Club members present were Mesdames H. T. Finley, Lewis Whitten, Ben Hext, J. C. Crosby, Luke Thompson, Bernice J. Sammons, A. P. Bailey, Oscar Martin, Elizabeth Heffley, Otis Bule; and guests were Mesdames Kenneth Garey, Georgia Brittan, Van McCormick, L. L. Baugh, A. M. Morgan, and Miss Agnes Wright.

Mrs. Luke Thompson was high club member and Mrs. Van McCormick was high guest.

A salad course with iced tea was served.

ZONE MEETING OF W. M. U.

DRAWN LARGE CROWD

The largest crowd ever to attend a zone meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society in this section of the country was the record made at Mer-tzon when the Woman's Missionary Society of this territory met in its quarterly convocation at that place. Eleven attended the meet from Eldorado, seven from Barnhart, seven from Sonora, and nine from Ozona.

The program began at 10:00 o'clock. A barbecue lunch was served in the park at noon; and the program, which was continued at 1:00 p. m., was concluded at 3:30. The local women were well pleased with the program and with Eldorado's showing at the meeting.

Mrs. H. W. Smith of Kerrville is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Bearce.

Vote for E. M. Davis for State Senator. He is against creating more political jobs for relatives of officeholders.

ELDORADO MAN MARRIES POPULAR ELECTRA GIRL

Edwin Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Johnson, prominent ranch people who reside five miles northeast of Eldorado, was married to Mary Dean Rencan on July 19 in the Baptist Church at Electra. Rev. end Richard way performed the rituals. The wedding which was a colorful affair was one of the high lights in Electra's social calendar.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Rencan of Electra, and is a popular member of Electra society. She is a Baylor University graduate; and for the past three years, she has taught English in the high school at Electra.

After the marriage ceremony had been performed, the couple came to Eldorado where they spent three days visiting friends and the parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Johnson. The couple left Tuesday for Cut Bank, Montana where the groom is superintendent of the Pipe Line Company.

On the trip homeward, the couple will go by way of Salt Lake City, Yellowstone National Park, and Glacier National Park. They will be at home at Cut Bank, Montana after August 1.

ELDORADO BRIDGE CLUB MEETS TUESDAY

In order that its regular Thursday meeting would not conflict with the Rodeo yesterday, the Eldorado Bridge Club met Tuesday of this week with Mrs. J. C. Crosby. A salad course with iced tea was served to the following club members: Mesdames Oscar Martin, Elizabeth Heffley, H. T. Finley, Lewis Ballew, Ben Hext, A. P. Bailey; and to the following guests, Mesdames Leonard Baugh, Van McCormick, Kenneth Garey, and Lelano Haynes.

Mrs. Lewis Ballew was high club member, and Mrs. Leonard Baugh was high guest.

WILLOUGHBY'S LEAVE FOR CRUISE ALONG COAST

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Willoughby and daughter, Clara Mae and Mrs. A. J. Blake, an aunt of Mrs. Willoughby, left San Angelo Monday night for New York City where they will embark on the S. S. California for a 14-day cruise along the New England coast, down the St. Lawrence river and to Quebec, Canada. From Quebec they will sail to Bermuda and from there return to New York.

The Willoughby's are prominent Schleicher county ranch people who reside in San Angelo.

BED ROOM DEMONSTRATOR FINDS FLOOR FINISH EFFECTIVE AND EASILY APPLIED

The following floor finish, says Mrs. Frank Bradley, bed room demonstrator of the Eldorado Home Demonstration club, is easily applied with rag, mop, or broom.

One-half gallon gasoline, one pint linseed oil, one tube burnt umber, one pint stain (color desired)—for dark use a dark oak) this will make enough for large floor.

Mrs. Bradley finds that this makes a desirable finish for floors which have never had any finish applied, or for floors evenly painted in light color.

Mrs. E. E. Elrod and children, Ralph, Helen, and Glenn, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ben Isaacs here. The party returned to their home in McCamey Monday.

Mrs. Van McCormick and Mrs. Oscar Martin were visitors in San Angelo Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Brown from Tulsa, Okla., are guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Crosby and Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Crosby.

MURPHY SPEAKS TO LARGE CROWD HERE TUESDAY

After being introduced by Judge Joab Campbell at the "Next Congressman From the 21st district," Pat Murphy candidate for congress from the new district told people of Eldorado that he was running on his merits and not as a lawyer.

"I appeal to no class," Murphy immediately pointed out in his opening remarks. "A representative should know the needs and desires of the people and should be a true representative in every sense of the word," Murphy continued.

Murphy pledged his support to President Roosevelt.

"Redistribution of wealth is the problem of the government today," declared Mr. Murphy.

In part, Mr. Murphy stated: "I am in favor of a protective tariff for the products of this section. I am a Democrat but I am not a free trader. The very life of this district depends upon proper protection for our raw products. I favor a tariff on livestock, mohair, hides and crude oil. When the question of voting for a tariff on these products comes up in Congress I will vote for such a tariff regardless of the party in power that proposes the tariff bill," he reiterated.

Backs Agricultural Groups
"I will also meet from time to time with the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, the wool and mohair organizations, the farm organizations and will actively support their programs. I will be truly a representative of the people of this section."

Murphy described the huge waste of money spent on educational purposes through improper supervision in Washington. He would suggest that a department of education be established with a secretary of education in the President's cabinet.

TOMORROW IS THE BIG DAY

With tension less straining than in many years, tomorrow's election will probably be the quietest election in a number of years. Despite last minute whirlwind campaigns, candidates for state offices are not stirring up as much fervor as is customary for an old-time election. People are interested in the affairs of the day and people will vote, probably in large numbers, but "wild and wooly" election days with their violence and death are not characteristic any more. People vote their own way and go their own way without "much ado about nothing."

Supplies Sent To Boxes
Ballots and election supplies have already been sent out to the various boxes over the county and the stage is set for the big day. Final arrangements have been completed.

Canney Operating

Though no definite report could be obtained on the canney production this week, it is understood that the canney has been operating regularly but that the canney could handle more raw materials. The location of a canney here is a big asset and Schleicher people should support it. The canney offers a wonderful chance to Schleicher people for getting meats and vegetables canned for winter use in a profitable and convenient manner.

Rev. Leon Frazier and family left Thursday for Maran. Rev. Frazier was formerly the Baptist Pastor here.

Miss Ernestine Hendrick, a student of Texas Technological College, has been visiting friends in Eldorado this week.

Tom Springston who was in town Wednesday from the ranch reports that he received no rain at all in his part of the county.

Davenport Flays Opponent In Speech Here

W. E. (Bill) Davenport, candidate for district attorney, flayed his opponent Glenn R. Lewis in a speech on the street here Saturday afternoon. "I was convicted and sentenced to two years in the pen," he says, "due to efforts to save widows and minors from the schemes of certain judges and district attorneys."

Davenport says that he didn't take money that he never earned. "That was proved before a jury," he declared. Davenport intimated in his speech here Saturday that he was merely trying to break up a "crooked" ring of lawyers in San Angelo who want to see him sent to the pen. "They may call me a liar," he said, "but that proves nothing."

Revival At Christoval Attracts Large Crowds

The Church of Christ meeting at Christoval which was begun last Saturday night, July 21, at Christoval, has been attracting large crowds. Evangelist Frank Traylor of Sanderson, Texas is doing the preaching. His frank, clear-cut, and interesting gospel messages, coupled with good singing led by Christoval singers, is responsible for the large crowds of people who are interested in hearing the word of God preached.

The meeting is scheduled to continue through Sunday, one service being held each week day at 8:00 p. m., and three services being held on Sunday, the concluding day of the meeting. Eldorado people have been cordially invited to attend.

MAYER DEMONSTRATION CLUB MEETS

The Mayer Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. Frank Warren Thursday, July 19. Ten members were present. Miss Farnsworth, county demonstration agent, demonstrated the making of salads from home canned products.

Salads, ice cream, and cake were served to the club. The club announced that Mrs. R. G. Nance had been elected as a delegate from the Mayer Club to attend the A. & M. short course.

PAGE WELL TO MAKE ACID TEST

According to announcement made by John M. Cooper, the Bert Page well will be given an acid treatment this weekend in an effort to develop production. This will be the second attempt to develop production, the well having been shot with nitroglycerine recently. If acid falls gas from the well will be used to deepen.

ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT OF CHRISTIAN CHURCH AT MERTZON

The tenth annual encampment of the Christian Church begins today at Mertzion, according to announcement, received by the Success, and will continue for 10 days. Good preaching, good singing, and an enjoyable time is planned for all those who attend. The people of Eldorado are cordially invited.

Rudd Community

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Montgomery made a trip to Imperial, Tuesday, to visit Mrs. Montgomery's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Alexander. Mr. Alexander has been sick but is greatly improved. Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery were accompanied by Mrs. Montgomery's sister, Mrs. R. M. Perry of San Angelo.

The Home Demonstration Club met at Mrs. Otto Williams' Tuesday afternoon where Mrs. Williams gave a demonstration on bed rooms.

The Martin, Jackson and Henderson ranches received good rains last Sunday afternoon. The Loftin Community also received rain.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Montgomery went to San Angelo Friday afternoon, where they attended their Granddaughter's birthday party. The granddaughter is little Billy Ruth Koerner.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wilson visited Mrs. Wilson's mother, Mrs. S. C. Martin, Monday.

Walter McGregory of Temple is visiting his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Connell, Miss Tom Smith, Mrs. W. E. Cloud, Mrs. O. E. Conner, Mrs. Pearl Hodges, Mrs. Bernice Currie, Mrs. Dollie Edmiston, and Mrs. A. T. Wright attended the district zone meeting of the Methodist Missionary Society at Mertzion Tuesday.

Vacation Bible School Closes
