No. 40.

Cooking School Attracts Many

A highly attentive audience of fifty eight guests were present at the Presbyterian Church yesterday as the Cooking School, sponsored jointly by the West Texas Utility Co. and the Eldorado Success, entered a two day program of cooking and demonstration under the able direction of Miss Ilah Manchester.

"The splendid audience was not only attentive but also cooperative, stated an official of the West Texas Utility Company, after the program was over.

Today's, and the final, session of the School will be at the same hours from 2:00 to 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon. A large crowd is anticipated and arrangements will be made to make every one comfortable. Miss Manchester will continue her lectures and demonstration of cooking recipes which will be followed by another awarding of prizes.

In awarding prizes today, the West Texas Utility Co. is making an extra inducement for attendance by giving a down payment on a range stove as one prize and a waffle iron as another.

Many food items will be given as prizes as several food establishments have cooperated in furnishing some of their products to be given. Among the food prizes to be given are: several sacks of "kitchen tested" Gold Medal Flour, furnished by the Gold Medal Flour Company of Wichita Falls, Texas; several sacks of Imperial Sugar, furnished by the Imperial Sugar Company of Sugarland, Texas; several Del Monte items, furnished by Walker-Smith Co. of San Angelo, a large number of cans of K. C. Baking powder furnished by the Jacques Manufacturing Company of Chicago, Illinois and 30 one pound packs of Mrs. Tucker's Shoring furnished by the Interstate Cotton Oil Refining Company of Sherman, Texas.

Another courtesy which was extended to yesterday's guests and will be given again today is the serving of ice cold Coca Cola by the San Angelo Bottling Company, Mr. G. C. Kerley, one of the owners of the San Angelo plant, attended the school yesterday and served the refreshments. This company supplied several cases of Coca Cola to be given to the guests.

In yesterday's program, Miss Manchester gave some interesting and very able lectures on the economical preparation of good and wholesome meals. She prepared, some choice dishes of food and these were given away as prizes. Among them were: a nice baked ham, baked in an electric oven; a delicious cake and a dish of vegetables.

Several representatives of the West Texas Utility Company are attending the school, assisting Miss Manchester in keeping everything in preparation. Miss Eudora Hawkins, of Abilene, A. L. Brady and E. B. Jobe of San Angelo, J. D. Westbrook of Sonora and Mr. McGraw were all on hand yesterday to aid in the offering of every possible courtesy.

A cordial invitation is extended to every house wife of Schleicher County to attend today's school. Miss Manchester is rated to be among the most efficient of demonstrators and has built up a splendid reputation while working with the West Texas Utility Company. Her lectures on food economy and preparation of meals are invaluable. She uses an all electrically equipped kitchen in her work.

The time is at 2:00 o'clock; the place is the basement of the Presbyterian Church. Be sure and attend today's session.

The Eldorado Success and the West Texas Utilities wishes to publicly thank the Presbyterian people for kindly allowing us the privilege of using their nice church building for such a beneficial community project as a cooking school.

We feel that such a project is worth much to the housewives of this community, and we hope that no one will miss this opportunity.

MISS ILAH MANCHESTER

Miss Manchester is conducting the Utilities-Success cooking school here. The school closes with today's lectures and demonstrations.

Miss Manchester Is Well Known Economist

Miss Ilah Manchester, conducting the West Texas Utilities free electric cooking school here at the Presbyterian church, has been in charge of similar schools in all sections of the United States. She has a national reputation as an authority on Electric Cookery and she has spoken before thousands upon the subject of better food preparation.

A graduate of Home Economics, Syracuse University, and a member of the Home Economists' Bureau of Edison General Electric Appliance Company, Inc., makers of Hotpoint ranges, Miss Manchester has directed Electric Cookery Classes in many leading universities and colleges. In addition, she has had charge of electric cooking schools in such cities as Albany, Auburn, and Buffalo, New York; Trenton and Newark, New Jersey; Philadelphia and Harrisburg, Pa.; Hagerstown and Baltimore, Maryland; and Milwaukee and Madison, Wisconsin.

In anticipation of her visit here, Miss Manchester worked for some time on a series of exceptional demonstrations in Electric Cookery and she has a number of excellent and novel recipes. In keeping with present conditions and the trend towards economical meals, she has built her school program upon a strictly economical basis. At the same time, each dish will be well-balanced and nourishing, appetizing and attractive. As a result of her extensive training and experience in the field of Electric Cookery, she will be able to offer housewives numerous up-to-date ideas in modern homemaking. Miss Manchester was brought here by the West Texas Utilities Company, distributors of Hotpoint ranges in this territory.

"We expect to bring homemakers of Eldorado a program which will interest every housewife," Miss Manchester says. "We will present in dramatized fashion, new ideas in cooking and homemaking. We will show women how they may economize, how they may prepare expensive meals, how they may obtain more leisure for themselves, and how they may eliminate kitchen drudgery."

The school, which attracted a large number of Schleicher county housewives during yesterday's demonstrations, will close with the demonstrations this afternoon.

Rev. Quinn Takes Up Work Here Sunday

Reverend A. J. Quinn, formerly pastor of the Baptist church at Carlton, arrived last night to make his home in Eldorado. Rev. Quinn begins his work with the local Baptist church next Sunday.

The preacher brings to Eldorado with him his wife and two young sons who, he says, "are the finest boys in the world even though nobody else thinks so." Rev. Quinn is a very interesting speaker and should create much interest among Eldorado Baptists and their friends.

Native Texan Escapes Heat With Byrd in Little America

ONE of the first pictures received from Admiral Byrd's present expedition near the South Pole shows Joe Hill, Jr., (at extreme left) of Canyon, Texas, taking a "breather" after hard work in the sub-zero temperature. On August 21, Hill, the youngest person in Antarctica, celebrates his twentieth birthday, his first away from home. He is the son of President J. A. Hill, of West Texas State Teachers College, and was preparing for aeronautical engineering at the University of Texas when chosen to accompany Admiral Byrd to the South Pole regions. Tractor experience in West Texas wheat fields qualified Hill as a member of the expedition's winter party, tractor division, whose activities are reported every Wednesday night at 8 o'clock Central Time over the coast-to-coast Columbia network.

Mrs. O. E. Conner performs surgical feat with young chicken

Mrs. O. E. Conner, wife of Schleicher county's sheriff, suddenly appeared in the limelight of the surgical profession recently, when, last Saturday, she performed a surgical operation on a young chicken belonging to her. The chicken had been seriously injured when stepped on by a cow. Mrs. Conner, taking pity on the chicken because it was so young and because it was somewhat of a pet, carefully replaced the chickens bruised and dislocated organs; and with an ordinary sewing needle and white silk thread, Mrs. Conner carefully took several stitches in the chicken's side, closing a gaping gash which exposed the vital organs of the chick.

The chicken is still very much alive and is running around the yard of the Conner home, a living proof of Mrs. Conner's deft surgical ability.

Wilkinson Installed As Pastor

Rev. Noel P. Wilkinson was formally installed as pastor of the Eldorado Presbyterian Church last Sunday evening. Rev. Wilkinson has been serving as pastor of the local congregation for the past four months but the formal installation was postponed until after the fall meeting of the Presbytery.

A commission from the Brownwood Presbytery composed of the Rev. B. O. Wood, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of San Angelo; the Rev. E. W. McLaurin, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Ballinger, and C. C. Crocker, ruling elder of the First Presbyterian Church of San Angelo, had charge of the installation exercises. Rev. McLaurin charged the congregation after which C. C. Crocker charged the pastor. Rev. Wood followed these exercises with a sermon.

Rev. Wilkinson was schooled at Daniel Baker College of Brownwood and at Austin Theological Seminary at Austin. He holds a A. B. degree from Daniel Baker and a B. D. degree from the Austin school. Before coming to Eldorado, he had held pastorates at Comanche and more recently at Crystal City.

The newly installed pastor is now conducting a meeting at the Eldorado Church which began last Sunday and will extend through Sunday, October 7.

Eldorado Gin To Have Two-Day Week

Mayer Donates $50 To 4-H Prize Fund

Mr. Sol L. Mayer, San Angelo banker and rancher, has donated $50.00 toward a Schleicher county 4-H club prize fund. This donation was procured by Forest Runge, commissioner of precinct 3 of Schleicher County.

C. Snell, County agent, states that the prizes to 4-H Club boys will be awarded differently this year inasmuch as each contestant in the local show of lambs will be given a prize. Heretofore, the prize money went only to those whose lambs were judged as outstanding.

604 BALES GINNED BY ELDORADO GIN Co.

The Eldorado Gin Company reported that thirteen bales of cotton were ginned yesterday. This runs the season total for that gin to six hundred and four bales.

Lions To Take Action

In a letter to the people of Eldorado, R. A. Stuart, director of the West Texas district of the Better Housing Division, urges the people of Eldorado to organize and sponsor a Better Housing Move in Schleicher county.

"It is very urgent that your town cooperate with the Federal Housing Program and organize a local better housing campaign," Mr. Stuart writes.

"About November 1 the 2 section of the Act will become effective. It is necessary, in order that your town receive all the necessary benefits of each section of the Act, that a local organization be formed. We have written several people in your town without results," he states.

It is rumored that the second and third sections of the Housing Act will allow an individual to build from the ground up, his payments being made like rent. The first section deals with repairs only.

Mr. Stuart states that a man may be sent out from Ft. Worth to explain the Housing Program if the people of Eldorado request it.

The Housing Program is said to be one of the finest of all Federal moves, allowing people to modernize their present homes; and it their is any basis of present rumors, the Act will permit these who have long desired to own their own

The Vilest Thing On Earth

The most dispicable, the vilest, the lowest most vulgar, commonest of all human practices is that of gossiping, petty lying about one's acquaintances, and inventing tales about one's friends. Some people have the habit so badly that they invent stories about people with whom they hardly have a speaking acquaintance. This most dispicable of all human practices has been the cause of many rifts in happy home life, many breaks between friends, much heartache for the victims of the gossip. It has caused feuds—even wars; and the gossipier is no better off—no, really worse off, having lowered his or her self-respect and dignity.

This saddest of all human failings is found most frequently in small communities where intimacy is more easily attained. Why? Purely because the jealousy of one's intimate acquaintances breeds fanciful faults and misdoings which one attaches to the person of whom one is jealous. Yes, that's the chief cause of gossip, even though you may deny it—jealousy and envy, the vile breeders of that abominable habit. Women are the chief offenders in this "Great Human Tragedy," not because they are any worse than men but because they are generally inclined to more envy and because they generally have more leisure time in which to invent tale. What a dispicable pastime!

Gossip generally runs into slander of character which hurts the victim seriously and does the originator no good whatsoever. We have a law against such things, known as the libel law, but unfortunately it isn't used enough, and gossipers feel free to invent whatever they please. We suggest that a campaign be started to eradicate all gossipers. While we are making laws, why doesn't someone introduce a bill to have all gossipers put in jail? Gossipers are a menace to the peace and liberty of humanity, much as any other criminal is. We have just been wondering how some gossipers would feel if the tales which they invent, coupled with their own name, should appear in print?

OUR PARKING SITUATION

Since the city council's move to tighten up on the local traffic and parking ordinances, our traffic situation has shown a marked improvement. We admire the move exceedingly, and we challenge the city officials to see that the move is kept in full force. Just a little slackening and the old situation will appear again as bad as ever.

Someone remarked that it was just a little matter of no great importance; but, as we suggested in an editorial during the time in which our traffic was the heights of its disorder, endangering human life and property is a great matter of chief importance. Of course most of us did not realize that by parking disorderly we were endangering anyone's life, but—wrecks happen at the most unexpected of times and in the least expected manner; someone darting from the center of the street would almost run over someone passing on down the street. We all would consider it a foolish, bone-head drive on the part of the other fellow and we would never think about how serious an accident it MIGHT have caused.

We also pointed out that it was a matter of civic pride that we keep our traffic orderly; and, too, we stated that it was over-riding personal liberty to drive or to park in the street in such a way as to obstruct or hinder the other fellow's progress up and down the street.

Again we say that we both admire and approve the action the city council has taken in this matter, but let us issue this one warning again: just a little laxity in enforcing the law, and it will be only a matter of a short time until the situation will become as bad as ever. Let's keep our traffic in decency and in order.

Too Much Direct Relief

We have already sounded a warning about too much "handout" relief; and we are beginning to note the results of such more and more as time goes by. There is beginning to be a popular demand for relief—the handout kind. We have observed several instances in various parts of the United States where people had rather let the State and Federal governments feed them than to work at an honest job.

Where will it lead us to? When half of the people of this country get on the relief rolls, the other half will be so overburdened with taxes that they will be forced on the rolls, too, and the United States will then be truly a socialistic nation. Have the American people lost their self-reliance and their self-respect? They must have to demand that the Federal and State governments not only continue but also increase the daily "handout."

We realize, of course, that people must be relieved, but the "handout" is no way to relieve people. The "handout" is the thing that destroys that American self-reliance and self-respect. We suggest that some of the "wise guys" who have been worrying themselves sick over ways and means of raising money for direct relief should start worrying themselves sick over ways and means of creating some new jobs for the needy and thereby relieve the whole country, putting the American back on a higher standard of living, rejuvenating his self-reliance and self respect. Oh yes is CAN be done, too!

WE WONDER?

Why the county library is getting off to such a slow start? What has been done toward securing adequate fire protection for Eldorado? When we are going to get street lights, if ever? Why someone hasn't made a move to put natural gas into Eldorado. Someone suggested to us recently that all of these things couldn't be done. Well, don't shoot us that line, Buddy—where there is a will there is a way, and if there isn't a way, a will will make a way. But of course, if there isn't a will—OH, THAT'S DIFFERENT!

Schleicher's Best Specimen Of Milch Cow

A reporter for the Success has been hearing a number of rumors concerning a milch cow owned by Leonard Isaacs, but it was not until he encountered Sid Stapp on the streets the other day that the reporter got the real low-down on the cow. Sid, who has inspected the cow personally, gave us the truth about this matter concerning Leonard's cow, and here it is:

Last Spring the cow was suckling 24 doggie calves and 16 doggie lambs, during which time Leonard got four to five gallons of milk per day from her. One morning Leonard overslept, and about five o'clock, one-half of the cow's bag burst drowning 12 of the doggie calves and 8 of the lambs. Her bag has healed now and since the other 12 calves and the other 8 lambs have been weaned, Leonard gets ten gallons of milk from the two remaining teats, although the cow is raising another dozen doggie calves.

Sid, who carried the cow to the stock show last year for Leonard, reports that he brought back a truck load of prizes. Leonard plans to send the cow to the stock show again this year, but he said that since half of her bag had been ruined, he anticipated only thirty or forty prizes this year.

Texas Lady Tells How Black-Draught Laxative Helps All Her Family

Here's how Black-Draught fills the needs of a family laxative in the home of Mrs. J. S. Stoker, Fort Worth, Texas: "The grown-ups in my family," she writes, "have always taken powdered Thedford's Black-Draught for biliousness, headaches and other ailments (due to constipation) and found it a reliable remedy. I was very pleased when I saw Syrup of Black-Draught advertised. I bought it and gave it to my little daughters, ages 6 and 4. They needed something to cleanse their systems and Syrup of Black-Draught acted well."... Your druggist sells this reliable laxative in both forms. "Children like the Syrup."

Numerous Improvements Can Be Made Through New Housing Act

Washington, Oct. 4.—Timely repairs and improvements are essential to the modern farm. They enhance its efficiency, improve its appearance and increase its market value.

There are many improvements that can be made this winter when other farm work is not pressing, and which may be paid for, if cash is lacking, with the aid of the new seasonal payment loan system created by the Federal Housing Administration. If farm property is checked now many dollars in costly repairs may be saved later on. Here is a list of suggestions:

ALL FARM BUILDINGS: Repair. Provide new floors of concrete or other durable and sanitary materials. Provide new stalls or rearrange for convenience and livestock health. Build masonry foundations or repair old ones. Cut additional windows. Replace or patch roofs and siding. Enlarge overcrowded buildings. Provide efficient corn crib, potato house and other storage buildings. Repair or rebuild silos and silage carts. Replace inadequate doors. Insulate stock buildings and install ventilating systems. Build ice house, smoke house, summer kitchen. Pave barn approaches and ramps. Provide complete granary system. Provide modern housing for poultry, hogs, sheep, etc. Erect orchard sheds. Replace or repair hay sheds and buildings and roadside markets.

LAND: Construct durable fences. Make watertight tanks and troughs. Build manure pits. Pave feed lot floor. Build sales pavilions and county or local fair buildings. Provide adequate pens. Build new beehives. Build sheep shearing pens. Construct new curbs and platforms of masonry for pumps and springs. Build windmill, or repair with new platform, etc. Lay dry, serviceable walks of masonry or wood. Replace old septic tank for health's sake. Build pasture shelter. Build necessary bridges, culverts, dams and spillways. Provide irrigation canals and gates. Replace grapevine posts and build grape arbors.

EQUIPMENT: Repair old or build new milk houses and cooling tanks. Install butter-making plant. Erect milk loading platform. Install calf changers and stanchions. Modernize all present equipment. Build sufficient sheds or repair existing ones. Provide an electricity plant and running water equipment if lacking.

COMMERCIAL EQUIPMENT: Build roadside markets for direct sale of fruits and vegetables, dairy and poultry products. Build tourist cabins. Repair and paint existing tourist cabins. Build camp showers and modernize toilets. Provide camp tables and shades.

Baptist Church Important In Texas History

Dallas, Texas, Sept. 27. (Special)—The history of Texas since 1836 is linked with the progress of the Baptist church since that time and members of faith, representing 3,153 churches with a combined membership of 576,945, will have a worthy part in the Centennial celebration in 1936 at San Antonio, Houston, Goliad, Brenham, Nacogdoches, Huntsville, Dallas and other points in the State.

Dr. J. Howard Williams of the executive board of the Baptist general convention of Texas announced here that a committee would be named to confer with Centennial officials relative to the part Baptists may have in the exposition.

The Texas Declaration of Independence was signed in the workshop of a Baptist preacher, Dr. Williams said, and since that time

Baptists have played a great part in the growth of the State, educationally and otherwise. He also pointed out that the Hall of Religion at the Century of Progress in Chicago is one of the most popular exhibitions at the World's Fair.

Members of the committee to confer with Centennial officials and make recommendations to the Baptist convention when it meets in San Antonio November 6 to 10, are Dr. Wallace Bassett, Dallas; Dr. W. W. Chancellor, Mineral Wells; and R. H. Coleman, Dallas.

HER HOUSE

(A Light Love Story)

SYNOPSIS

Faye Gullman and Leon Pearson met by accident during a gala downtown Halloween celebration, and after a few happy care-free hours, together helping celebrate the traditional holiday's evening, Leon took Faye to her home, only to discover that Faye lived in a large expensive mansion, more gorgeous than Leon had ever seen. Leon, a young accountant for the Gulf Company, could hardly become absorbed in his work the following day for thinking of Faye of whom he has suddenly grown fond. John Morgan, an elderly accountant, advised Leon to investigate the matter before falling too deeply in love with Faye, but Leon paid little heed to his admonitions.

Leon continued to see Faye. Things kept running smoothly until one Monday morning after an all-Sunday outing at Galveston with Leon, Faye received a letter which, her feminine intuition told her, she did not want to read. Her heart beat wildly as she opened the letter.

Now On With The Story

CHAPTER III

"Dear Miss Gullman," the letter began, "I happen to know you and I'm up to your game. I know the big house doesn't belong to you and it doesn't belong to any of your folks. You may be just playing a little joke, maybe, and that's all right, but I like that boy, Leon, who works down here in our office. He's deeply in love with you and you are ruining him. When he first came here he was the best man we had on the force, but he doesn't do any work now because he sits and pines over you. He thinks you or your folks own that house you're staying in, and he's going to get fired if you do not set him straight about yourself. Yours truly, John Morgan."

Faye finished the letter only vaguely realizing what it was about. She unconsciously tore it into tiny strips while she looked blankly through the big window into the garden beyond, but she saw neither the window nor the garden. She was worried now. The dissatisfied feeling gave way to hysteria. Her eyes filled and she began to imagine all sort of evil consequences. Things were actually going from bad to worse. The people who really owned the big house were coming home—she had seen it in the paper; and this old man who worked with Leon knew the truth. Why he even pictured her worse than she really was. It had all been done for a joke—only a joke. She hadn't even dreamed of falling in love with Leon then—but now—it was different. Was he really about to lose his job? On her account? What would he think of her when he learned the truth?

But this wasn't all: Faye's imaginations ran riot. What would she do—what could she do? How could she know what to do? If she stayed and tried to explain, she would be disgraced in the judgment of her kind benefactors, the people for whom she was working.

She would lose her friends and her classmates at the Institute. She would lose Leon; that was the worst of it—she realized it now that she faced the truth. She couldn't stand it.

Would she run away? If she did, she would lose her standing at the Institute; she would probably be discharged which would keep her out of any other school. She would lose her friends, her job, and her boy-friend as well. Why run away then? It would just be easier to run away and suffer the losses than to stay and suffer the same losses. It would be easier to run away than to face anyone, especially Leon.

The more she pondered the situation the more bewildered she became. She sought the big-armed chair and dropped weakly into it. Her hands trembled as she rubbed first the back of one, then the other. She had built up for herself a grave barrier—she had not seen these hours of agony when, through sheer mischief, she had let Leon believe, less than two weeks ago, that the house in which she worked belonged to her. She recalled the events of the past week hurriedly, and thought crowded thought, while all the time, blacker thoughts knocked for recognition. Mentally she pictured all the horrible sufferings and disgrace that was coming to her, no matter—it seemed—which course out she chose. It would be easier to run away.

While her consternation continually increased, Faye never moved from the big-armed chair. Her head burned. Nothing was clearly distinct, not even her thoughts. If she could only escape her troubles, some way, she would never do anything wrong again. The horrible-ness of mental agony was brought-home to her with a tremendous force now. She was insensible to any outside movements—her troubles were within. The door opened and closed, but Faye did not hear it.

"Well of all things—what on earth is wrong with you?" It was Mrs. Calloway speaking. Faye jumped as if she had been brought face to face with a gun barrel, or had unwittingly walked too close to a rattlesnake. She was breathless—too frightened to speak.

"Aren't you glad to see us?" Mr. Calloway asked laughingly.

"You—you—scared—me." Faye managed to stammer. "I wasn't expecting you so soon."

"Didn't you get our letter?"

"N-n-no." Faye hadn't received any letter from them.

"Well I'll just be—" Mr. Calloway reached in his pocket and brought out an envelope. "Here's the letter," he said sheepishly, "you can read it now." He laughed boisterously.

"Just like you," scolded Mrs. Calloway.

"I-I saw it in the papers, but I didn't think you would come before Saturday." Faye was still stammering, still trembling, still groping for words—just anything to say—to relieve the embarrassment of the situation. She had not intended to be caught like this.

"We didn't intend to come until Saturday or Sunday," Mrs. Calloway explained, "but Mr. Calloway received a telegram asking him to get here before the fifteenth. It's strange that a man must hire men to run his business and then be forced to stay around it himself." Mrs. Calloway was a good-natured woman but she had to have her say in matters.

"What has happened to Jenkins?" Mr. Calloway asked.

"I don't know," Faye replied. "I think he went fishing. He wasn't expecting you either."

"Jenkins fishing?" Mr. Calloway roared. "That's a good one. I'd give a hundred dollar bill to see him fishing."

"How is school?" Mrs. Calloway asked.

"It's—alright—I guess." Faye's flush color deepened. She was recalling her intentions of quitting school.

"You're a great girl to work for us as hard as you do and go to school too," Calloway commented. Don't many of 'em do it these days. I like your spunk."

Faye felt even more gully. How could she ever manage to escape so great a predicament and so black a judgement as she now faced? She trembled at the thought of it. The door-bell rang.

THE BOY SCOUTS AND THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

By W. B. Gittau, Superintendent of Public Schools, Toledo, Ohio.

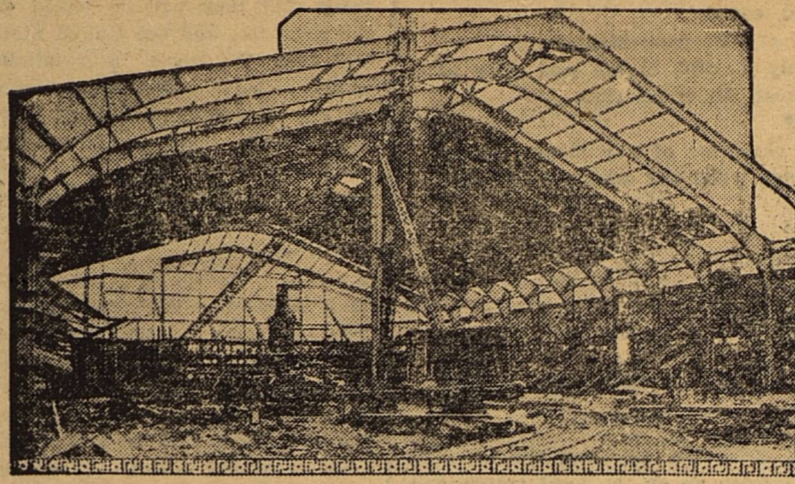

The chief aim and ultimate purpose of our public schools is to prepare the youth of the land for efficient and serviceable citizenship. In the following out this purpose, the schools need and welcome the cooperation of every effective agency which has the same object. The Boy Scouts constitute the most promising of all organizations, in my notion, that has been associated with the schools for the past twenty years.

The schools teach the theory of out-of-doors and back to nature, and your splendid organization makes possible the carrying out of this teaching. The schools strive daily to inculcate the duties of fidelity to a trust, or honesty without flaw, of truthfulness and of industry; the Boy Scouts endeavor to reinforce these teachings by embodying them in the laws and traditions of their organization, and by enforcing them in practice.

The teacher who makes use of the boy's membership in the Scouts only as a text for sarcastic rebuke when that boy misbehaves, will probably not derive any help from this organization. But the great rank and file of our teachers everywhere know how to use Scout membership as an efficient aid in the work which they themselves are striving so earnestly to accomplish.

They realize that Scouts will misbehave at times, for membership is not a guarantee against all the mischief which boy nature is capable. It is, however, a guarantee that on many occasions the best that is in boy nature will be called forth, not once but many times, and that the true meaning and full significance of the Scout Oath and the Scout law will in time enter into the warp and woof of the boy's life experience.

Crop Conditions Improve In Texas

Intermittent rains over Texas during the last few weeks definitely ended the drought, and have been of material benefit to all growing crops, as well as improving the outlook for the fall season for other crops.

Cotton still is blooming and fruiting in many sections of the northern half of the state, but most of the crop is made, and more than half of it has been picked. Practically all sections show improvement recently. Rains have stopped premature opening, and bolls are filling out better than heretofore. Top crop prospects have improved. It is too late to expect material crop increase as maturing of late bolls will depend on escape from early frost and increasing insect damage. Picking is making rapid progress and will be completed two to six weeks earlier than usual. Grade of lint is from average to good with much short staple reported. Holding by producers is about normal.

Conditions are favorable for late-planted feed crops. Small grains are being planted throughout the entire state to provide fall and winter grazing. Feed on hand is scarce. Large acreages of grain, mostly wheat, have been planted in the northwestern counties. Some growth has been satisfactory, but much of it is backward.

Rice harvesting and threshing have been delayed in some localities by rains, but delay is not serious and the general outturn is good. Condition of birds, and ample feed and water, give assurance of a normal turkey crop this season. With the advent of rains and cooler nights birds rapidly are putting

Eagles Down Brady Hi, 13-0

INVADE MENARD SATURDAY

First District Match

After supping the nectar of victory in two games of non-district competition, Coach Williamson's Eldorado High School Eagles invade Menard Saturday for their initial game of district 17 play.

The Eagles enter Saturday's game with the Yellow Jackets as favorites to come out on the long end of the score as their work in the non-district games has been more impressive than that of Coach Lane's cohorts yet no game is a cinch. Both teams will be battling hard to ring up the first district game on the winning side of their percentage column.

Last Saturday's encounter with the Brady Bulldogs was a pretty fair test for the Eagles and they looked more impressive in almost every department than they did the previous Saturday although they failed to run up as large a score as they did against Miles. Playmate against a much heavier team, the Brady boys, the Eagles demonstrated some good tackling, some heavy charging and some pretty fair team work in ringing up the 13 to 0 victory.

The first score came early in the first quarter after Eldorado came into the possession of the ball on the 50 yard marker. From that point the Eagles launched an offensive drive which carried the ball over on eight successive plays. Bill Smith started the drive by going off-tackle for 6 yards. After Milton Spurgers, subbing for Hext, failed to gain on a line play, a pass from Spurgers to Captain Kerr was good for 15 yards. Smith followed with another play off-tackle for 8 yards; Alexander hit the line for 4; Davis lost 4 on an end run; Smith came back with a 13 yard gain, placing the ball on Brady's 5 yard line. From there, this same Smith went over for a touch down on a line play. Sam Cloud entered the game at this point and added an extra point by kicking a goal from placement. On his first try, the kick was blocked but the play was called back on off-sides, and Sam demonstrated his ability by sending the ball straight thru theuprights.

The Eagles launched another effective drive in the fourth period which finally led to their other six points. Brady fumbled on Eldorado's 40 yard line. On the first play after this, the elusive Hext got loose for a 35 yard run, placing the ball on Brady's 25 yard line. Alexander picked up ten yards and a first down but on the next play, Smith lost 12 yards. The Eagles gained some yardage on the next three plays but not enough to make up for the loss along with the ten yards to go on downs, the ball going over to the Bulldogs at this stage on their 8 yard line. The Bulldogs attempted a couple of running plays which were stopped at the line of scrimmage. They then went to the air and completed a pass which was good for 14 yards and a first down. After an incomplete pass and a running play, which was futile, Steffens elected to punt but the ball was blocked, it rolling back to Brady's 9 yard line where a Bulldog recovered. The ball went over to Eldorado, however, on downs. After Hext and Alexander had picked up 3 yards each, Hext went over for a touchdown. Cloud re-entered the game to try for the extra point but failed.

The Bulldogs were rather potent at ground gaining in several stages of the game but most of this was done in their own territory. When they would finally work into Eldorado territory, the Eagles line and secondary would tighten and subdue the drives. They piled up the same number of first downs as the Eagles, each making seven.

Joe Turner Hext turned in a great exhibition of broken field running right after the game got underway running 75 yards down the sidelines to the Bulldogs 2 yard line. However, Hext stepped out of bounds on his 47 yard line and the ball was brought back to that mark.

The entire Eagle team played an instrumental part in Saturday's victory. Alexander, Hext and Smith were outstanding in the backfield. The work of Alexander on the defense was particularly noteworthy.

For Brady, Steffens, fullback was the whole show. His running, passing and defensive work was unexcelled on the field.

SPORT SLANTS

BY OTHO JONES

Frankie Frisch, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, is now participating in the eighth World Series. In this, the Stellar secondbaseman of the National League pennant winners, is surpassed by only one man,—that being Babe Ruth. Ruth had the honor of playing in ten of the fall classics while he was a member of the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees respectively. Frisch, however, is ahead of Ruth in the matter of games as the former Fordham flash has been in more World Series games than any other player, this number being forty three before the present series.

Evinced that Babe Ruth is thru as a ball player, sport writers of the big time are proclaiming Dizzy Dean as his successor as a drawing card. They see in Dean a great figure who has all the qualifications to induce the public to turn out. Ability plus a lot of color and plenty of exploitation. And Dizzy has no equal when it comes to advertising himself.

By winning thirty games this season, Dean firmly stamped himself as one of the outstanding pitchers of this era.

Not since the feat of Grover Cleveland Alexander in 1916, has a National League pitcher won thirty games in a single season. Alexander won thirty games that year for the Phillies. In the American League, Jim Bagby won thirty two for Cleveland in 1920 and Lefty Grove won thirty one for the Athletics in 1931.

Dean's dramatic achievements or pitching the Cardinals to this year's National League play by winning three games in six days is hardly paralleled in modern baseball. He worked all of these three games, scoring shutouts in two of them. Paul Dean, the other member of the DEAN & DEAN PITCHING STAFF is purported to be right behind Dizzy in ability but leans too much toward the taciturn in disposition to be the gate attraction of his older brother.

Coach Williamson has been sending his charges through some stiff practice sessions this week in preparation for Saturday's opener in district play. Blocking, charging, driving, punting and passing have all been stressed in the daily drills.

The Menard Yellow Jackets have had three non-district games this far. They opened the season's play with a 6 to 0 victory over Melvin, lost a 6-0 game to Mason the following week and this past week they entered the winning column again by trouncing Richland Springs High 12 to 0.

Regardless of Menard's season's record thus far, and notwithstanding the fact Coach Lane has around forty hefty out for the Yellow Jackets team this year, we presage a victory for the Eagles Saturday. They are far better equipped in the fundamentals of the game than their opponents to date and from what we can gather, this goes for the Menard boys also. There was no comparison between the Eagles and the Bulldogs last Saturday in the matter of tackling, blocking and charging. The Brady boys went about this work in a half hearted way, leaving the impression that

SENIORS TO WEAR CAPS AND GOWNS FOR COMMENCEMENT

Jess Ella Johnson

The Senior class of Eldorado High School had a business meeting Monday, in which they discussed whether or not to wear caps and gowns for Commencement. After a heated argument the seniors finally decided to wear caps and gowns. The color of the caps and gowns will be navy blue. The seniors are expecting their class rings in a few weeks.

IMPORTANCE OF THE MENARD FOOTBALL GAME

W. C. Parks

Next Saturday October 6, the Eldorado Eagles go to Menard where they will play the first conference game of the season. The past two games were only practice games. Eldorado came out on top in the practice games, but things could change very easily if Eldorado became over-confident.

Menard has nine letter men who have had plenty of experience. They should have a very good team, and both teams weigh about the same. We have two regulars who may not be able to start the game due to injury and other causes. Harold Susen sprained his ankle in the Brady game. Bill Smith has taken a very bad cold and can hardly talk. He may not be in there, but we are hoping he is.

As the Menard game is the first conference game, we would like to win it. We played Menard last year and beat them, and we can do it again this year. If the town of Eldorado will give the Eagles the backing they gave then last year they feel that they will have another successful season.

Everyone is urged to go to Menard Saturday, October 6, and back their High School Football Team.

HOME ECONOMICS GIRLS WORK

Alice Doran

The Home Economics class is large this year. Home Economics is a very practical and interesting course for girls. Sewing is taught the first semester; and when the new school building is finished, it will be possible to teach cooking the last semester.

The class is just beginning on the first problem which is to make sleeping or undergarment. Each girl is asked to make one. The girls have been busy selecting patterns and materials. Each girl is keeping an expense account.

they either didn't know how or didn't care.

A backfield combination of Hext, Smith, Davis and Alexander is likely to give the Menard forward wall much trouble with their line plunges and off tackle thrusts. All of these men are showing a marked ability at gaining yardage with Hext demonstrating some nice broken field running. Coach Williamson also has a pair of flashy backs in Milton Spurgers and Ardrain McDanials. Spurgers, however, is to get the call at the center position in Saturday's game as Harold Susen is on the side lines with an injured ankle sustained in the Brady game. This is a tough break for the Eagles as Harold has been putting up a great game at the pivot position.

The Eagle forward wall is looming up better than many expected. Felix Susen and John E. Rodgers at the tackle positions with Jack Shugart and Edward Butler at guards have all been instrumental in the success of the team thus far.

Coach Williamson is fairly well equipped at the end positions with Captain Billie Kerr and Richard Jones getting the starting calls and Cecil Moore and Clayton Trotter in reserve.

JUNGLE MADNESS

"The Owl"

When the hoot-owls hoot at twilight

While the heavy shadows fall—
You lay awake 'till mid-night
And learn to love it all.

Love the forest, love the rivers
Love the wild cry of the night,
Though you kinda get the shivers,
And your heart ain't beatin' right.

You hear the yodel of the panther
As he hunts about for food.

And the rats and rabbits scamper,
In a manner rather rude.

You hear the clatter and the fuss
Of a dozen different birds:

You hear 'em and you cuss
'Em in a dozen different words.

Wild animals in the day-time—
Have to keep the doors all shut;

Can't sleep there in the night-time,
'Cause the 'squitoes eat you up.

The drums they beat a symbol,
And they 'orter sob and moan.

And you kinda sorta tremble
And you wish you were home.

When the monkeys laugh and giggle,
And you start to feel alone,

And the snakes and lizzards wiggle
Its the jungle in your bones.

BONE TICKLERS

Robert Mather

Stranger (to boy chopping corn):
"Your corn looks kind of yellow doesn't it?"

Boy: "Sure, that's the kind we planted."

Stranger (coming up to fence):
"Don't look like you will get over half a crop."

Boy: "Don't expect to—the land-lord gets the other half."

Stranger (indignantly): "Not much between you and a fool, is there?"

Boy: "Nope your right, only a fence."

Book Agent: "I assure you sir, this book will do half your work."

Mr. Cooper: "okay, I'll take a couple."

"And what part of the chicken do you prefer, sir?"

Wilbur: "Some of the meat, please."

THE SPECIAL INTEREST

Lois Whitley

High school students, especially the boys, are immensely interested in the new gym. Being 50x92 feet, our gym will be slightly larger than the gym at Ozona. The west side of the gym will be filled with bleachers capable of seating something over five hundred persons. The basketball boys are already planning big tournaments to be held there. Ticket windows will be constructed and the gym may be entered from both sides and the back. There will be six showers, three for the boys and three for the girls, all equipped with hot water. The old bath house will not be used but according to present plans, the agriculture class will be held there.

Maple flooring will be used in the gym. First the floor will be sanded with a machine. Jet-black flat paint will be applied on the basketball lines for the court, and two coats of C. D. floor finish will be applied to both floor and bleacher seats. All paints will be perfectly matched and according to advice of architects the walls will be finished with light colored smooth common brick. The windows are made with special window guards of strong mesh.

The basketball back stops will be installed by the contractor. The gym will be lighted by ceiling lights. Electrical clocks are to be installed in both buildings which will ring the period bells.

Both boys and girls have access to the new building when the gym is completed, but we sorely envy the grammar school children because they (for once) have the upper hand in the school and town's special interest. We hope to be using the new building by Christmas, but we hardly hope to have it finished by mid-term. The football boys will not be able to use the gym this season, but they'll make up for lost time when we do get it (to such an extent as to prevent the girls from "visiting" even we bet.)

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP ISSUE IN CAMPAIGN

Questions Aspirants for Congress Should Be Asked to Answer.

WASHINGTON.—The federal government's broadening ventures into fields of public ownership and operation appear to be developing an issue with which voters can deal at the polls in November, according to word that is filtering into the National capital.

There are throughout the country several dozen of these experiments, the greatest of which, of course, is the Tennessee Valley Authority. That agency, wholly government owned and operated, is developing and distributing electric power on a gigantic scale. It is rapidly driving out all private enterprise having to do with or built up around the power business.

Further than that the TVA lately announced the organization of a subsidized corporation which will sell electric household equipment to whomsoever will buy. Sales of washing machines, irons, vacuum cleaners, and other such equipment are being made on the installment plan, much to the chagrin of local dealers handling such merchandise.

Vast Sums Expended.

The federal government is backing a hundred million dollars or more in bonds of the TVA and it is paying the governing board and its personnel. The dams in the Tennessee river were built at government expense.

Public Works Administration funds are being expended in a score or more localities in the construction of dams and hydro-electric plants. Public Works officials in Washington repeatedly have called attention to the vast supply of electric power to be developed from these government plants and all of it will be sold in direct competition with the products of private industry.

In addition to the utility phases in which Public Works Administration money has been spent—money borrowed by the federal government—funds are being used in the building of whole towns, such as Reedsville, West Virginia, and in numerous other experiments of a government ownership character. Most of these obviously, are in competition with some or several lines of private industry, and they are being carried on with funds provided from the federal treasury.

Definite Statements Sought.

With all of these circumstances confronting them, according to the word reaching Washington, an increasing number of voters are reported to be asking the candidates in their areas how they stand. Some of these candidates, who are seeking re-election, have let it be known at their offices here that they do not see how they can avoid definite statements very much longer as to whether they are for or against government ownership.

Two questions are reported to be agitating the voters who have become interested in the fight against government ownership. One of them is whether, under government ownership, there can be operation without that particular function becoming a political football. The other question concerns taxes. The voters are said to be inquiring what the total cost will be if the government continues to acquire or construct government owned and operated economic units. The information is that people are becoming concerned over the mounting tax burdens of federal and state and local governments and have fears as to the future.

Fear Revenue Loss.

Several members of congress lately have received letters from officials in their respective states indicating alarm over the reduction in revenue of local governments if the federal government continues to expand its ownership of what has heretofore been private business. The state authorities, as well as the county and municipal officials, foresee sharp curtailment in the receipts upon which they depend for payment of their running expenses and the necessary improvements, such as highways and the like. In one instance, the state official asked point blank what would happen to the state or local treasuries if the federal government took over the railroads. He added a paragraph to the effect that if the expansion of government ownership continues "there will be nothing left for us to tax except farm lands now being blown away by hot winds."

Among the groups who are mustering strength in opposition to government ownership of the railroads, the word is being sent out to every one who will listen that the railroads are paying approximately $290,000,000 in taxes to the federal, state and county treasuries. They are pointing out that this revenue will be lost if the government decides to buy the railroads and operate them under public ownership.

In some instances, it has been shown, that the taxes paid by the railroads in a local community amount to as much as forty per cent of the entire revenue received by that local government's treasury. If, in addition, there should be a publicly owned power plant or street railway or storage warehouse taken off of the local tax rolls by federal government purchase, it becomes obvious that the local taxpayers would be called upon to raise approximately twice as much as heretofore.

EASING PROBLEM OF SCHOOL LUNCHEES

It is a simple matter to pack a nice school lunch occasionally, but when it comes to packing one every day for eight, nine, or ten months of the year, it becomes quite a problem. The ideal lunches are those which are perfectly balanced from the standpoint of nutrition, are easily packed, and yet different enough from day to day so that there is no monotony—here is where planning ahead helps.

The easiest way to handle the school lunch problem is to plan for them in advance, just as for any other meal. Have fruits, crackers, and cookies, sandwich spreads, and jellies on hand for the lunch boxes. On the day before choose a larger cut of meat than is needed for one meal and use what is left for sandwiches. Cold meats, such as roast beef, pork, lamb and veal, baked ham, corned beef, boiled tongue, and meat loaf are all excellent for sandwiches when sliced thin. Further variety may be gained in sandwiches by using different kinds of bread and cutting it in different shapes.

Cold, cooked meats may be ground and used to good advantage for sandwich fillings. Here is a recipe for one suggested by Inez S. Willson, home economist.

Ham Salad Sandwich Filling
1 cup ground baked ham
1 cup celery, chopped very fine
1 hard-cooked egg, chopped
1 tablespoon cream
1 teaspoon tomato ketchup
Few drops Worcestershire sauce

Combine ham, celery, and egg, season with ketchup and Worcestershire sauce and moisten with cream. This is especially good with rye bread.

A very satisfying, as well as an easily prepared luncheon for the child who comes home to lunch is a nourishing hot soup and a meat sandwich. Like to serve them together. A creamed vegetable soup, such as potato and carrot soup or a corn chowder, is relished by children, and this is a luncheon menu that the adults will enjoy too.

Interpretative Flashes War?

It looks like nations may keep on until a good war is stirred up yet. Japan declares that Russia and the United States are her enemies, and a pamphlet prepared by the Japanese war department has urged the officials of that nation to begin preparing for war on Russia and the United States. Japanese officials have pronounced the pamphlet as surreptitious, but nevertheless, it will have its weight with a people who are inclined to be militant.

Appearing almost simultaneously with the Japanese pamphlet, was the admission of the retired U. S. Brigadier General, William Mitchell, that the United States bluster its air forces with machines designed to attack Japan which, he pointed out, is America's most dangerous enemy.

England has become irked at Japan because of her aggressive attitude toward Russia and America.

Italy and Germany are both well prepared for war and each is turning a suspicious eye on the other.

Political, social, and economic unrest is apparent throughout the world; and it is obvious that unless conditions change, another twelve months will see the world aflame again.

Do we, are do we not want war? We can have it easily enough, or we may, by diplomatic dealings, keep out of war. At any rate, unrest has finally brought us near the crossroads at which we must choose, between peace or war. And if we ARE TO KEEP PEACE, ALL NATIONS MUST OPEN THEIR PORTS TO WORLD TRADE AGAIN.
