NUMBER 18.

MEDITATIONS

By The Editor

Mother's Day—a day long to be remembered by mothers of men in service, remembered by their sons who sent letters of appreciation, tokens of love, and cards, has just passed.

It was our pleasure to see many of these mothers just after they had received such gifts—beautiful flowers wired from far-distant lands—representing many dollars were received and in almost every instance there was a card in the package expressing some thought of love or appreciation in few words that was more highly prized than was the gorgeous, fragrance of the expensive flowers.

By no means are we intimating that the flowers were not received with the deepest appreciation of love and affection, but the one thing that most mothers expressed they prized more highly was the acknowledgement of love by their sons in the few words that were written on the cards.

So it is—"There Is No Love Like A Mother's Love."

Monday's issue of a San Angelo paper, in listing rainfall of surrounding territories, listed Eldorado as having received no rain Sunday evening. Now Dean Chenoweth and Al Sledge are both friends of the editor, but we want to say right here and now that we don't want to be cheated out of this last bit of precipitation. In fact, since we have been told so many times since coming here that it never rains in this county, we were rather elated over the fact that this fine little rain, gauging from 3/4 to 1 1/4 inches over the area came, although it was accompanied by hard winds and traces of hail. Now we want to know: Is this report of "no rain" here Sunday any way to treat our rain campaign after we had asked Albert Bailey if it would be all right for a Sunday rain?

It might be well to start now and run a campaign such as H. B. (Henry) Fox, editor of The Madisonville Meteor, Madisonville, recently ran, and which account was released by the Associated Press in larger dailies over the country last Sunday. It went something like this:

Editor Fox carried a front page advertisement Thursday in his weekly Meteor publication headed: WANTED: A rain—Meteor pits its pulling power against the elements, advertises for rain.

"Recently we have heard dozens of cattlemen, farmers and businessmen say they practically had to have a rain . . .

"Knowing that advertising in this celebrated rag has found lost dogs, sold chickens, hogs, cows . . . and many other things, we decided it was time to turn our abilities to a really profitable use. We're advertising for rain," the ad continued.

Twenty-one persons who had demanded a rain most insistently were named, but Fox declared they didn't know anything about it. "We just put their names to it, knowing they want a rain . . .

"If this advertising is successful and it rains an inch before next Thursday, the following will owe us a dollar apiece, if we can collect it. If it doesn't, they don't owe us anything.

"Get your roof patched; its bound to rain."

"Henry says: (we call him Henry because we were once connected with The Meteor and worked with Fox on the publication) "Shucks, it wasn't anything. Twenty-four hours after this (ad) appeared an

Supervisors of Soil Conservation District In Meet

The Board of Supervisors of the Eldorado Divide Soil Conservation District in their regular monthly meeting Friday, May 7, approved completed plans on 11 farms and ranches, and approved applications for planning on six additional places.

The completed soil and water conservation plans represent the intentions of the owners or operators to conserve as much soil and moisture as is possible, in an effort to produce the maximum pounds of beef, lamb, and other food and fibre crops. Each plan is based on the physical factors of the farm or ranch, such as soils, slopes, and conditions of pastures, correlated with the operator's own methods and his knowledge of the farm or ranch.

Each plan contains maps showing fences, acreage by fields, amount of erosion, kinds of soils, and other factors which will help the operator analyze his place and apply proper conservation measures.

The plans and applications approved by the Supervisors included farms and ranches as follows:

Completed Plans
Name	Acreage
G. E. Woods	80
A. P. Thigpen	320
E. V. Gibson	80
C. O. Bruton	480
C. D. Biggs	472
A. J. Halbert	150
Jim Hoover	195

C. W. Yancy	320

Applications on hand in the Soil Conservation office, either awaiting planning, or in process of being planned include 15 farms and ranches, totaling 46,774 acres.

Supervisors present at the monthly meeting were J. Forrest Runge, chairman; B. E. Moore and E. E. Foster, Jr.

COMPLAINTS MADE ON GARBAGE DUMPING

Officials have requested that attention be called to the fact that some persons are placing garbage in the bar-ditch and on the shoulders at the City Dump. Officials ask that rubbish, cans and other materials be placed well over onto the grounds and eliminate damage and expense being caused by the present practice.

CITY URGING CLEAN-UP DATES BE OBSERVED

The City of Eldorado is this week urging all tenants and property owners to co-operate in the city-wide clean-up campaign, dates for the final work being set for May 25 and 26th.

The co-operation of citizens in this will help the appearance of the town and at the same time help to hold the insurance rate down.

inch rain fell, and what is more phenomenal, I'm collecting, from all except a few and I'm instructing them never again to bellyache to me about the weather."

Temporary Pastures Will Serve As Insurance Against Losses

"The efficient use of every available acre for emergency livestock pastures for both summer and winter grazing is more important this year than ever before," states J. E. Spencer, member Eldorado Divide Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors.

Livestock numbers on Texas farms and ranches are at an all-time high level. On January 1, 1943, the total head of cattle in Texas was 7,518,000 compared to a total of 7,444,000 on January 1, 1942. The number of sheep on January 1, 1943 was 19,677,000 head compared to 10,552,000 at the same time in 1942. Other livestock such as hogs and goats have also increased proportionally.

Pasture acreage, on the other hand, has not kept pace with the increased livestock numbers. In some cases, for example, it is estimated that the amount of pasture available per pasture consuming unit has been reduced as much as 13 to 20 per cent below the 1941 level.

Pasture Production and Crop Yield High in Recent Years

For several years pasture conditions and crop yields in many areas have been far above normal. The year 1942 was a particularly favorable year with pasture conditions averaging close to 10 per cent above those for 1941 in most areas. It is questionable if 1943 conditions can be expected to be as good.

The tremendous reserves of grain are diminishing rapidly and it may become more difficult to obtain supplementary feeds for livestock on pasture. Protein feeds are especially limited, and adequate temporary pastures with proper use on the native pasture grasses will go a long way toward meeting the protein requirements.

Putting Each Acre Into Its Most Productive Use

On some farms and ranches there is land not suited to high production of so-called war vital cash crops. Much of this land will make the greatest contribution toward production by being used as temporary pasture. A means of providing the information from which farmers and ranchman may properly evaluate the various uses for which their land is adapted and the various soil and moisture conservation practices to be applied for increased production is available through your local Soil Conservation District Supervisors. If you are not familiar with the services of the Soil Conservation District, contact your County Agent, the AAA office, a County War Board member, or the Soil Conservation Service office in your locality.

Temporary pastures can contribute toward maximum production of livestock and livestock products by:

- Maintaining feed supplies during the entire pasture season.
- Providing needed roughage for additional livestock on many farms and ranches.
- Furnishing additional protein at economical costs.
- Increasing reserves of feed against possible drought.

There Is Still Ample Time

On range land opportunity remains for adjusting grazing plans to allow for areas for reserve grazing to be used in late summer, fall, and winter. The temporary pasture crops as sorghums and sudan grass may be planted well into the summer months. Your County USDA War Board has prepared specific information in the form of a guide-sheet for use in planting small grains and sudan for temporary pasture. If you have not received yours, request it from any member of your County War Board.

Scouts Enjoy

Overnight Outing

Twenty-two Boy Scouts, accompanied by their Scoutmaster Buster Gunn, Committee Chmn., W. M. Patterson and Neighborhood Committee Chairman Jerry Pennington Scout Executive Joe Galbreath of Ranch District of Del Rio, enjoyed an overnight camping trip to Christoval Friday night of last week.

An enjoyable time was had—but little sleep—says the local men who accompanied the Scouts. Also they say that if there are any Doubling Thomases they are invited to accompany the next group going on an outing and see how much sleep can be lost.

Four patrols were represented on the outing. From the Buffalo was Billy Edmiston, Buddy McMillan, Hal Whitten, Jackie Hodges and Jodie Whitten. In the Navajo Patrol were Sonny Stanford, Sam Edd Ashmore, Floyd Isaacs, Fred L. Speck. In the Flaming Arrow Patrol were Billie Lewis, Humphrey, Billy Sam Breedlove, "Possum" Speck, Howard Parker, Walter Jones, Ray Long, Melvin Dee Jolly, Donald F. West. In the Beaver Patrol were Davis Patton, Abe Jarrett, William Spurgers, Rubel Aldredge and Ray Smith.

Notice To Our Subscribers

Beginning this week subscribers will note the change in mailing of papers. However, all the mailing list has not been changed over, due to the length of the list and lack of time, but the change is prevalent on the local list.

Installation of the mailing machine enables us to get our subscriptions up to date—which must be done soon. We want to keep all our readers on the list, but the subscribers must be paid up in advance—this is a government regulation and must be complied with.

You may see how your subscription stands by looking at the numerals by your address. If it reads: "(Your Name) 5-14-42" it means that your subscription is delinquent since May 14, 1942, etc.

We will sincerely appreciate your co-operation in renewing your papers to date and know that you are going to enjoy every issue of The Success and will not want to miss a single one.

The price will remain the same for a short while longer in order to give all an opportunity to renew at the old price, but with printing materials, like every other commodity, advancing rapidly, no doubt we will be forced to go up on the subscription price soon.

Iraan Minister Gives Conception of Book of Revelation

Following is the conception of the Book of Revelation by Rev. W. M. Justice, pastor of the Iraan Methodist Church. Rev. Justice has just recently conducted a several-day course here on the book.

Like an intricate pattern of Oriental tapestry, we see in the Book of Revelation, symbolism intertwined with symbolism, highly wrought imagery plied on top of imagery. Practically every device known to the literary artist is employed. Metaphors, similes, personifications are blended and interblended into such a hodge-podge of colors until confusion becomes worse confounded and the reader loses all sense of unity in its labyrinth of meanings.

There are lightnings and thunders and voices, smoke coming out of the pit, great earthquakes, beasts rising out of the sea, shooting stars and rivers of blood, smoking altars and angels with trumpets, Death and Hell on horseback, lakes of fire, red dragons with seven heads, giant angels riding on clouds with sickles in their hands, armies marching to battle, burning mountains hurled into the sea, vials of wrath to be poured out on the earth, mysterious seals to be broken—all seemingly jumbled together without rhyme or reason like the characters of a Chinese puzzle.

The scene is constantly shifting. Now on the land, now on the sea. One moment we are on earth, the next moment in heaven. There are voices from the pit, cries of despair, shouts of triumph, oracles of judgment, peacons of victory, moments when heaven and earth are silent with the awe of pending events. The specter of famine stalks grimly over the earth to the tune of vast armies marching to battle. The mad dance of death goes on as Hell laughs with glee.

But through this wild confusion of Oriental symbolism the central unity of Revelation runs like a scarlet thread. A giant angel flies through the midst of heaven crying, "Babylon is fallen, is fallen, that great city which did corrupt the earth with her fornication." It is the announcement of the doom of evil and the final victory for the forces of righteousness. Out of all the mad jumble of voices, like the undertone of a great symphony, is heard the victorious announcement of the herald angel, "The kingdom of this world is become the kingdom of our Lord and of His Christ and he shall reign forever and ever."

Nothing more remains. Anti-Christ has been destroyed. The New Jerusalem descends from heaven. Death and Hell are cast into the abyss; and from the multitude of redeemed in heaven, an ocean of voices swells the vast crescendo, "Hallelujah for the Lord God Omnipotent reigneth!" The storm is over at last. A rainbow is round about the throne.

This is the central message of Revelation. The Lamb is on the throne and he must reign until he hath put all enemies under his feet. Light will finally triumph over darkness. The forces of evil cannot hold out against the irresistible might of God.

The message of Revelation is the clarion call which nerved the early Christians to challenge the might of imperial Rome. They saw towering above the throne of the Caesars the throne of the invisible God. Caesar is but as a wisp of straw before Him who holds the future in his hands. Victory is with God.

This message, the early Christians sorely needed. It is a message which has put iron into the saints throughout the centuries and made them dare to pray and hope and work and suffer that the Kingdom of God might come on earth as it is in heaven knowing as they did so, that their labor was not in vain in the Lord.

Mrs. Joe B. Edens, regent, opened the meeting and Mrs. L. M. Hoover, chaplain, led the devotional.

Subject for the program was "National Defense" and the roll call was answered with an interesting fact about national defense. Mrs. J. E. Hill discussed "The Contribution of each citizen to National Defense."

The group held a round table discussion on labor strikes, our international policy and postwar conditions and how to meet them. Mrs. Hill gave the rules governing the Red Cross bandaging unit which will open here soon.

Present for the meeting were: Mesdames Edens, E. C. Hill, Hoover, W. O. Alexander, Hill, Tisdale, Miss John Alexander and the hostess.

Bill Sproul, Miss Bettie Garrett Wed

Miss Bettie Garrett and Bill Sproul were united in marriage in a single ring ceremony Friday evening with the Reverend N. J. Schnearz, pastor of the St. Paul's Lutheran Church at Mason, officiating in the study of his home.

Mrs. Sproul is the daughter of Pev. and Mrs. J. P. Garrett of San Marcos and is a graduate of the Southwest Texas State Teachers College at San Marcos and has taught home economics in the Eldorado High School for the past four years.

The groom is the son of Mrs. C. T. Sproul and has been reared in Eldorado, having completed his high school education here. He was assistant manager of the local Red and White Store until recently when he became manager of the Red and White Store at Christoval.

After the ceremony the couple left for a short wedding trip to San Marcos and San Antonio.

Mrs. Sproul expects to continue her teaching here. The couple will be at home at Christoval after school is out.

Save And Share For Victory

Schleicher County Home Demonstration Council meeting was held in the office of Miss Mary Lewis Saturday afternoon with 14 members present. Reports of the Texas Home Demonstration Association, held in Monahans May 4th, were given by Mrs. Will Isaacs and Mrs. John Williams.

One interesting point brought out in the meeting was that our job on the home front is just as important as that of General McArthur. We must raise and preserve food for Victory.

The Council voted to have the "Save and Share for Victory" school in July for each club in the county.

Co-operative buying committee reported the failure to be able to buy pineapple but hoped to get other fruit later on. Mrs. Victor Sauer resigned as a member of the yearbook committee. Mrs. Bert Blaylock was appointed to fill her place.

Mrs. Ervin Mund reported members of the Bailey Ranch Club had voted to entertain visiting soldiers in the various homes during the summer. This plan will be adopted by all the Clubs. If there are other than club members who want to provide entertainment for our boys, please get in touch with Miss Lewis.

Mrs. H. K. Dillard of Artesia, N. M., is at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Luke Stephens, recuperating from an operation recently undergone in a San Angelo hospital.

"Hey, Mister, You Dropped a Watt!"

REDDY: What on earth are you going to do with all those candles?

MAN: Light my home. I'm cutting down expenses.

REDDY: H-h-u-u-m-mm. Then you need about 500 pounds of candles a month to give you the same kind of good light. D'you know what that'd cost?

MAN: Nope. But I guess it'd save me money.

REDDY: Well, let's do some figuring. That many candles would cost you about $200—

MAN: Wow! I couldn't afford that. My monthly electric bill is only three dollars or so.

REDDY: Well, that's just about average. But remember that only about 85c of it goes for light. The rest pays for electricity to run your radio and refrigerator—

MAN: Say, that's not so much when you come to think of it.

REDDY: Right! Electricity's cheaper than it's ever been. You're getting about twice as much for your money as just 10 or 15 years ago.

MAN: How can that be? My bill hasn't changed.

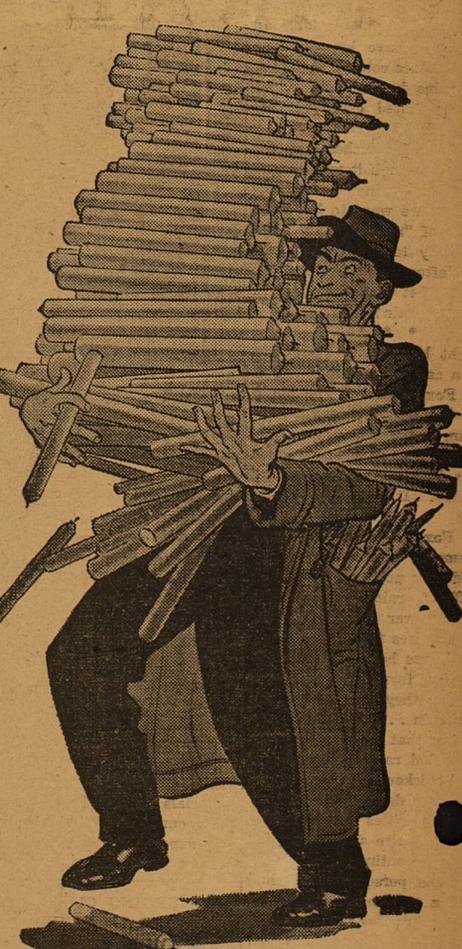

REDDY: Maybe not. Think of the bigger and better lamps you're using and the electric appliances you've added. Fifteen years ago, did you have an electric refrigerator?

MAN: No-o-o.

REDDY: Radio? Electric mixer? Air conditioner?

MAN: No . . . Say, how come I get so much more electricity for about the same money I used to pay?

REDDY: That's easy. Experience. Training. Well-balanced business methods.

MAN: I don't get it.

REDDY: It's like this. The men and women who run the West Texas Utilities know their job. That job is to give you the best possible service at the lowest possible cost. And they're doing it! Today—when most everything else is going up—ELECTRICITY IS STILL CHEAP!

We are grateful for the good attendance in all of our services Sunday. We were happy to have the many visitors, too. Our services are always open to our friends with their church affiliation in other places, or other denominations, as well as those who have no church home.

If you have not been in regular attendance in Sunday School and church, how well it would be for you to come and fill the place of a son, relative, or a friend that is in the service of our Government, that we might maintain all of the freedoms we enjoy. And one of these freedoms is the freedom of religion. Are you taking advantage of the freedom of religion by going to the church of your choice?

Our Vacation Bible School will start May 24th, which is on Monday, at 2:00 P. M., and will continue through June 4th. The time will be 2:00 to 5:00 P. M.

We have secured most of the workers for the school, and plans are well under way in every department, but we can use some more helpers. Whether you have children or not, will you not give some of the time the Lord has given you for the training of these fine boys and girls we will have in the Vacation Bible School.

The WMU met at the church Monday and had a good program as well as good attendance. We are thankful for the splendid interest that our church has in all of our missionary work. And no doubt the WMC has had a great part in bringing about the missionary zeal that we have.

There has never been a time in all of our lives when Christians should be so willing to do all they

Cull Those Hens

By E. A. PRUGEL
County Agent

Now is the time to start your first job of culling those hens in the laying houses that are doing a sit-down strike. You should be able to remove about 10 percent of loafers now and the same number next month. Feed is too expensive and too scarce to waste it on any hens that won't pay for her keeps.

The way to do the job is to pen your birds in the house and get a good catching hook. Walk around among the hens so as not to disturb them and keep that good chicken eye open for loafers. If you spot one with a shriveled comb pick her up and examine her. If she is a low producer, cull her. If she is still in good production, turn her out so she won't confuse you again and cause repeated handling. Those that are moulting should be culled. If you spot one with yellow pigment in the beak and shank, chances are she is a loafer. Look for those with saggy abdomens—this is a good indication of an egg organ breakdown. If you spot a few pale and weak-looking hens get them out. While you are looking them over, keep a sharp lookout for birds showing grey eyes. They should be removed because that is a sure sign of range paralysis.

You can do a good job of culling if you look for these few things. It will save on feed give more housing room, and cull hens will bring you a good price on the market. Next month do the job over again.

Mesdames P. W. Hazelwood, Henry Mund, Clyde Galbreath, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin McDowell, and Mrs. Gordon McDonald spent Sunday in Christoval with Mrs. Roy Andrews and Mrs. J. W. McDonald. Mrs. McDonald is the mother of Mrs. Galbreath.

Measurement Data Still Obtainable For Farmers

Farmers still have the opportunity to obtain measurement data on the fields in their farm by calling at the county AAA office, Myrl B. Fitzhugh, County AAA administrative officer, announced this week.

Practically every farm in the county has been mapped on aerial photographs and the sizes of the various fields recorded. Arrangements have been made to furnish this information to farmers in the county office. When requesting acreage data, farmers should bring in their cut-outs, which are aerial photos of their own farms, or any other farm maps in their possession.

This service should be particularly helpful to the farmer this year, Mrs. Fitzhugh said, since he will be responsible for reporting his performance under the 1943 program. Furthermore, in the case of cotton, the farmer cannot remove excess acreage after performance is reported, in order to obtain full payment under the program in 1943.

In cases where a field will not be planted according to 1943 boundaries but will be split into two or more parts in 1943, the farmer will need to furnish enough of the principal dimensions to enable the county office to revise its records accordingly.

Every Schleicher county farmer is urged to take advantage of this offer, even though some of his fields may already be planted. The information furnished under this plan will compromise the official acreages for the farm during the 1943 program year, provided the farmer plants his crop according to boundaries on which the acreages were determined.

Mrs. Fitzhugh said many farmers already have obtained their field acreages from county office records, and urged that others take advantage of this opportunity as quickly as possible. There is no charge for this service.
