LIONS CLUB HOLDS INTERESTING MEET

An interesting program including music songs and talks was enjoyed at the luncheon hour of the local Lions Club, held at the Eldo Hotel Wednesday at noon.

A musical program was rendered by Miss Wakefield, Miss Isaacs, Miss Wilton, and Miss Koy.

A new member, Mr. Wiley Ratliff, was introduced by Lion N. P. Wilkinson. Mr. Ratliff is the consignee for Gulf Refining Company products in this county. He recently moved here with his family from San Angelo, where he has been in the employ of the Gulf Refining Company for many years.

A report from the Safety Committee recommended a number of things for safety in driving on Eldorado streets. A safety program will be planned this week.

An entertainment will be held tonight at the Baptist church, honoring the teacher of the Eldorado Schools. All Lions and their families and all teachers and their families are expected to be there. Refreshments will be served.

ENOCH BUIDING IS BEING REPAIRED FOR CHEVORLET CO.

The R. & M. Chevrolet Company have moved their display rooms to the Enoch building east of the court house.

Painters are at work giving the building a new appearance and other repairs are being made.

A service department will be added, and shop equipment will be installed as soon as repairs are completed.

Texas and Arkansas Will Cooperate in The 1936 Centennial

Texas and Arkansas will work hand in hand during 1936 to sell the commercial possibilities of the Southwest to the rest of the nation. It will be Centennial year for both states and the Arkansas Centennial Committee and the officials of the Texas Centennial Exposition will cooperate in every way possible for their mutual benefit.

Harvey Couch of Pine Bluff, Chairman of the Executive Committee in charge of the Arkansas Centennial celebration, recently visited Dallas for a conference with Walter D. Cline, Managing Director of the $15,000,000 Exposition which opens next June. It was agreed that maps and literature issued by the Arkansas Centennial authorities should note Dallas as the Texas Centennial Exposition site and feature the highways of Texas leading to the Mexican border.

In return, the Texas Centennial Exposition will, in its literature, comment on the Arkansas Centennial celebration and feature Arkansas as being on the logical route to Dallas and Texas from the North and East. The Arkansas celebration is statewide during 1936 but will have no central exposition.

"Arkansas and Texas are bound together historically and commercially", says Walter D. Cline. "It will benefit both to co-ordinate their Centennial efforts."

Mrs. D. E. Tinnamon of Dallas is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Page. Mr. Tinnamon will arrive about the 15th of this month, for a visit.

Initial Enrollment In Local Schools Large

Despite very unfavorable weather, a large number of students, compared to other years, have enrolled in the Eldorado Public Schools. Many students, especially in the lower grades, have not yet enrolled because of the rainy weather and impassable roads. Students are still enrolling, however, and the indications point to a larger enrollment than the local schools have ever had.

Approximately 50 beginners have already enrolled or will do so this week. In the second grade 25 have enrolled, 34 in the third, 27 in the fourth, 34 in the fifth, 55 in the two sections of the sixth, and 52 in the two sections of the seventh. This makes a total approximate enrollment for the grammar school of 287 pupils.

The high school enrollment for the year already exceeds that of any year in the past with the exception of last fall, when a large number of oil people were in Eldorado and placed their children in school. This year's enrollment should be much more permanent than that of last year, because of the more permanent location of the students in the community. Approximately 125 have already enrolled, which makes a grand total for the high school and the grammar school of 412 pupils.

The Alpha Delta Study Club will have its initial meeting on Friday 13th with Mrs. J. N. Davis as hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Ramsey left Thursday morning for Gonzales, Texas where they will visit relatives.

Dave DeLong who lives 12 miles west of town made a trip to Eldorado this week by way of Merton on account of road conditions.

Henry Speck and Sam Mather live 11 miles from Eldorado, made a 65 mile run for their mail. They reached town by way of Sonora.

Mrs. D. E. Tinnamon of Dallas is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Page. Mr. Tinnamon will arrive about the 15th of this month, for a visit.

Will We Get Good Roads in Schleicher County?

That depends to a great extent on county officials. It's up to them to get the proper application submitted for government funds with which to repair the lateral roads.

August 7, the Lions club appointed a committee to make an investigation of the government's offer to furnish money to take care of the unemployed, and at the same time give to the states and counties some permanent improvement for public benefit. After a trip to the District WPA office, the committee met with the County Commissioners and recommended that immediate steps be taken to secure government funds, and offered the help of the entire club in assisting the officials of the county in any way possible.

During the week beginning August 11, the committee met with the taxpayers and voters of the county at the various community centers throughout the county. At these meetings a great deal of interest was shown. The plans were explained, whereby the government would furnish the money to build farm-to-market roads. The county would be out very little money. Every man attending these meetings expressed a desire for good roads—and recognized this as a chance of a life time.

Tuesday, August 20, a county-wide meeting was held with the WPA officials present. They explained the entire setup and stressed the importance of "quick action."

Friday, August 23, a meeting was called in San Angelo for all county and city officials, the purpose of which was to familiarize them concerning the WPA set-up and tell them how to go about getting the applications in and for how much.

Several members of the Lions Club were present, and it was an inspiration to see the work of every county official in this district.

Those who attended the meeting in San Angelo went home and got busy. The committeemen who attended from Eldorado came back home and started out to get some action. After a week of inactivity the WPA men made a trip down here and did everything in their power to impress on us the importance of immediate action on account of the dead-line set by the Washington office. All applications had to reach the San Antonio office by September 6.

Finally three of the Commissioners were called, and an engineer tentatively employed, and an application filed with the WPA office. This application, in letter form was necessary to reserve the allotment for Schleicher county. However, the application will not be passed on until plans and specifications are sent in with the final application all signed up in the proper form.

Monday of this week the engineer who had a tentative agreement with the county, turned in his resignation.

This week an effort is being made to secure the services of a competent engineer in order that the plans may be sent in at the earliest date possible.

If these plans are submitted in the proper manner and reach the WPA office, we have a good chance of obtaining the money with which to build roads.

Mrs. Mable Parker and mother and son, Howard, are visiting relatives in Robert Lee and shopping in San Angelo this week.

Rev. and Mrs. P. S. Connell and son, Iorwin spent Tuesday in San Angelo.

John Rae made an attempt to reach Eldorado this week, but failed on account of bad roads.

Mrs. O. R. Burden of Wichita Falls, and son Jack, visited Mrs. Tom Johnson.

Honorary Degree for Vice-President Garner

The honorary degree of doctor of laws was conferred on John Nance Garner, Vice President of the United States, at the eighteenth annual summer commencement of the University of Texas. The degree was conferred in absentia. It was the second honorary degree ever awarded by the University. In 1923 the honorary doctor of laws degree was conferred on R. E. Vinson, who had just resigned as president of the University. Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president of the University, eulogized the Vice President as follows:

"At their last meeting, the Regents of the University of Texas departed from a fixed custom of the University and unanimously voted to confer the honorary degree of doctor of laws upon John Nance Garner, of Uvalde, Texas, and Washington, D. C. Because they did not wish either to interrupt his work at this particular juncture or to postpone the conferring of this degree, the Regents still further departed from general custom by voting unanimously to confer the degree in absentia at this commencement.

"He is particularly Texan, by birth and by nature, and his highly intelligent modesty, combined with a very unusual supply of common sense, ripened by years of Congressional experience, has resulted successively and deservedly in his election to the Speakership of the House of Representatives and to the Vice-Presidency of the United States. These high offices he has filled so well that he is now being rewarded by a nation-wide and rapidly increasing confidence and esteem.

"Without exceeding the powers of his office, by virtue of his intrinsic merit and strength, he has shown us how very useful that office can be at a critical time when difficult and vitally important legislation is under consideration by the Congress of the United States. For this reason he amply deserves the honorary degree of doctor of laws, which, departing from the custom of this institution, I now confer upon him in absentia by unanimous authority of the Board of Regents.

GOOD ADVICE TO ALL CHILDREN

(Tribune, Oakland, California)
Up in Oregon the sheriff of one of the major counties has had issued cards for distribution among children. They carry point in any state and it may be recommended that attention of children hereabouts be called to the following copy:

- 1—Don't ever ride with strangers.
- 2—Always walk on the left hand side of the road, and get clear off the road when you meet an automobile. Give them plenty of room.
- 3—Don't ever cross a road or highway until you are sure there are no cars coming from either direction.
- 4—Don't attempt to cross an intersection until you are certain that there is plenty of time.
- 5—If you see an accident go for help quickly.
- 6—Keep clear of the wreck. Let grown people give aid to the injured.

While the sheriff is doing this good work in the interest of the smaller citizens, the Oregonian of Portland suggests that he might get out another card directed to adults, and that it read:

- 1—Don't ever pick up strangers.
- 2—Always drive on the right hand side of the road, and when you meet a pedestrian give him plenty of room.

3—Maintain a look-out for persons crossing the road.

4—Have your car under control when entering an intersection, and recognize the right of the pedestrians to cross ahead of you.

5—If you see an accident, offer help.

6—If you cannot be helpful, leave the wreck. Don't block the highway out of curiosity.

With one or two exceptions, the points in each apply to the grown-up as well as the children. It will hurt no one to read what the Oregonian thinks he might add.

A TRIBUTE TO WILL ROGERS

The following beautiful tribute appeared in the El Paso Herald last Friday. It was entitled "If Will Could Wire," and is supposed to be a wireless Will is broadcasting from Heaven to his friends on earth.

Heaven, Aug. 18th, 1935
"Will Rogers Says:

This is the Sabbath day up here, too, folks, and I just thought maybe you'd like to hear a word from me and old Wiley.

"Seems to me you folks are making an awful fuss, down there about us taking off the other day.

"We had a swell time already, and you can't expect fun to last forever you know. Everybody is going to die sometime.

"Furthermore, they had us all wrapped up nice in white sheets and blankets, looked kinda pretty, almost like all that snow up there. Don't see why they didn't just dump us off in one of the snowbanks and say, "Au Revoir, old pals," and let it go at that, instead of moving us around like they are.

"Course, Mother and the children is going to miss me a little I guess, and I reckon they'll feel better after seeing me again, even if I can't talk to them. Say, they are going to have me at a terrible disadvantage this time, ain't they?"

"There's another thing, I bet folks forgot about. If all this stuff is on the up and up about old Doc Willard being able to freeze folks, then bring them back to life, they ought to have left me up there in one of them fleecy clouds of snow, then next spring, bring old Doc up there and let him do his stuff. Now, I bet you forgot that.

"But on the level folks, I've traveled a lot, seen a lot of country and all that, met a lot of fine folks, but this has got them all skinned. There ain't no crying, no worries, about money or anything; nobody is picking on anybody else; everybody happy and smiling. You see one of our boys is already there, and Mother and the others will be coming along soon, now, then everything will sure be fine.

"O don't spend too much time on that old crate I left down there, do something for somebody that's still with you. Me and Wiley are happy. We ought to be, we've made the highest flights it's possible for any man to make.

"So, to long folks, I'll be waiting for you.

"I believe if Will Rogers could send us a message today, it would be on this order."

(Written with the sincerest reverence for Will Rogers and Wiley Post.)—Mrs. Alma Neely.

For Bad Feeling Due to Constipation

Get rid of constipation by taking Black-Draught as soon as you notice that bowel activity has slowed up or you begin to feel sluggish. Thousands prefer Black-Draught for the refreshing relief it has brought them. Mrs. Ray Mullins, of Lafa, Ark., writes: "My husband and I both take Theford's Black-Draught and find it splendid for constipation, biliousness, and the disagreeable, aching, tired feeling that comes from this condition." With reference to Syrup of Black-Draught, which this mother gives her children, she says: "They like the taste and it gave such good results."

Speculation as to the range of legislative subjects to be submitted by Gov. Allred, which will determine the length and the number of special sessions, filled the atmosphere in Austin as the solons prepared to answer the Sept. 16 call for an extraordinary session. Financing a state old-age pension program, authorized by the voters in the special election by an overwhelming majority, may reopen the entire subject of state revenue. This would be an opening for the governor to resubmit all or part of his extensive tax program, most of which fell by the wayside in the regular session. Such highly controversial subjects as chain-store taxes, sales taxes, state income tax, liquor taxes and others doubtless will be offered and debated at length, if the governor's message opens the way.

The governor has clearly indicated he considers liquor regulation under repeal the paramount subject. He has advised against hasty action. The legislature is probably as closely divided upon the liquor question as were the people who registered less than 10 per cent majority of votes cast, in favor of repeal. Bitter controversy is forecast by the lengthy battle that was necessary for the legislators even to get the matter before the voters as a constitutional amendment. Opinion ranges all the way from state monopoly, from the bone dry block, down to minimum restrictions and free flow of hard liquor by the extreme liberals. It will take many hours of committee sessions, hotel room caucuses and floor debate to enact finally a state law to license the sale of liquor and enable dry communities to protect themselves by local option.

Sensational charges that certain major oil companies are preparing to demoralize the market for crude oil, break the $1 crude price that has held steadily in Texas for many months, and fill their empty storage tanks during the ensuing chaos, made by Col. Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas railroad commission marked the week's developments in oil. Thompson asserted the move was planned as a "punishment to Texas" for the successful fight the state, thru its officials, has made on federal control, advocated by some major companies. First step Thompson said, was a cut in gasoline prices, which would then be carried back to the crude market as justification for a slash there. The commission last week denied the plea of certain major companies that the proration basis be changed to an acreage factor, instead of the well-established well-potential basis that has been in use for two years.

Thompson charged then the movement was a "share-the-wealth program with reserve English" that would take the property of small independents and give it to the large companies. Testimony at the hearing showed that 200 millions of property values in east Texas would be confiscated, that the permanent school fund would lose $300,000 a year in royalties and the state many thousands in taxes, if the proration formula were changed. The commission renewed its proration order on the potential basis, which Thompson charges, is another reason why some of the disappointed majors seek to demoralize Texas' billion-dollar oil business.

It is broadly hinted in Austin the commission may meet such an attack by ordering a complete shut-down of all fields in Texas for a period, to take bottom-hole pressures, as it has done in east Texas on other occasions.

Behind every man who has achieved greatness in history, there is usually the shadow of a good woman. Close friends of United States Sen. Tom Connally, 2000 of whom gathered at Marlin to pay their last respects to Mrs. Connally, say this is true to an unusual extent in the case of the distinguished junior Sen. from Texas. Possessed of a remarkably keen mind, and a sure instinct for the right, which hurdled easily the hazards of politics, Mrs. Connally was not only the constant companion, but the influential adviser of the senator. From every corner of the state friends came to the family home at Marlin last week, to extend their condolences to Sen. Connally and his young son, Ben, and to express their conviction that all of Texas, as well as her loss in her death.

FLAME WITHIN

With Ann Harding & Herbert Marshall

The same friction by which the Indian created a flame caused the easy ignition of the first Friction Match made by the Frenchman, Dr. Chas. Sauria, in 1831. . . . This was a basic discovery that we still use today. But how obsolete a smudging flame now seems in contrast with the convenience, safety and cleanliness of Electric Heat.

Mankind has an innate sense of cleanliness in relation to his food. Hence, the ever-increasing demand for such Electric Appliances as the Range, Electric Water Heater and the Electric Refrigerator.

These modern electric appliances can be had on convenient terms, and you will be surprised at the moderate cost of such added superior service.

The Greatest Path

"The greatest path in the world is the path from your door to the door to your Church. If all of us faithfully used this path and were guided by its radiant influence, the nation would be safe, crimes subside, business prosper, and all hearts have peace. For this path was made by the Son of Man for the sons of men, that walking humbly into His Holy Presence in the Church, they might afterwards walk together as brethren in the world. Are you using the greatest path?"

"CHEAP AS DIRT"

A long time ago, probably in the days when settlers were few and land so plentiful that when a man "wore out" a farm he could move to a new country and clear new land, there originated one of our common American sayings, "Cheap as dirt."

We still use the old saying when we wish to express contempt for a thing,—to convey the idea that something is mere trash and so low in value that it can be compared to nothing besides dirt itself.

Times have changed. There is no longer land free for the taking. Yet there are many of us who still take the old "cheap as dirt" attitude toward the land, instead of conserving it. We mine it instead of building it up. We do little or nothing to check erosion which is year by year thinning the layer of top soil from which we get our sustenance. We forget that for centuries to come people, and more people will struggle to make a living in this home land which we have so badly abused.

Let us discard the old "cheap as dirt" idea and attitude. Remembering that life depends on ability to secure food, and clothing and shelter, and that these things are products of the soil, let us set up a new standard by which things of highest value may be compared. For those who come after us, and must wear the yoke of our neglect, nothing will be so "Priceless as the soil."—The Duck Creek News.

THE LETTER BOX

(The Success welcomes expressions of opinion on any subject from our readers. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers, and are not to be taken as expressing the sentiments or policy of this paper. All communications for this column must be signed by writer.)

Well people one of our commissioners is doing some good work on my road to town. And I hope he keeps up the good work. All Schleicher County needs, is good wide awake County officers and the people to back them. And we will have as good roads as anybody, if we can only get that WPA money and do the work on our roads right. Old Schleicher will come to the front, but as long as we have such roads as we have now it will never do any good. The only permanent work that has ever been done on most of our roads is the fences. They built when it was laned and some of them are in bad shape. But I want to say I am proud of the work Commissioner McAngus is doing. It is hard for some of us to realize that times have changed. We hear people talk of the good old days when Pa and Ma went to school in the old log school house and got to about the 4th grade and thought that was good enough. Some think what was good enough for Pa and Ma is good enough for me and mine. It seems like Schleicher has some of that sort of folks. We are not as progressive as we should be. We should at least have three rural mail routes in the County. And all we need to get them is better roads. I am glad the people are waking up to our needs. So here's to better roads, better mail service, better schools, and anything else that will help us to be better friends. PERRY JOHNSON

THE RURAL PRESS

There are some 15,000 newspapers and periodicals published in this country. The greatest proportion of them are small-town weeklies, dailies and semi-weeklies, and magazines whose principal appeal is to the rural dweller.

The importance, the influence, and the worth of these publications can hardly be exaggerated. They are, as the San Francisco Argonaut has written, "the chief influence in the thought habits of our rural population of fifty-four million." And the character of their comment, both in news and editorial departments, well repays those who peruse them.

As a result, the recent contest held by the magazine "Country Home" to pick the best country newspaper correspondent in the United States, was of much more importance and interest than contests usually are. The winner, a woman, lives in a Missouri town which has a population of twenty-seven, and is fifteen miles from the nearest railroad. For forty-four years she has been local correspondent for a rural paper in her county.

Urban editors, on reading excerpts from her correspondence, have been amazed by its quality. It does not deal with crimes and misdemeanors. Instead it tells of the crops, of the trials, tribulations and achievements of farm people who rarely make the metropolitan headlines, but who, are more numerous and more vital to the nation than our gangsters, our political and business renegades, and our ex-show-girl divorces.

Most interesting of all, this woman's correspondence, fine as it is, is not greatly different from that of our rural correspondents. Winners of lesser prizes in the contest show the same qualities—the same command of clear and vivid English. The country newspaper, little known as it is to the city dweller, is one of the inest, most permanent, and most deservedly successful influences in our American life. Last, but not least, it is the outstanding guardian of the nation in upholding our Constitution and American ideals.

When these tobaccos are welded together you get a combined flavor which is entirely different from any one type of tobacco.

It is this welding of the right amounts of the right kind of tobaccos that makes CHESTERFIELD a milder and better-tasting cigarette.

A WAY TO INCREASE DRINKING

When so competent and courageous a managing editor as Malcolm W. Binyay assures Editor & Publisher that his paper, the Detroit Free Press, did not drop a widely syndicated Hollywood movie column because of pressure from theater advertisers, we believe him.
Mr. Binyay's vivacious discussion of newspaper ethics and newspaper integrity adds much to the gaiety of this professional magazine and would constitute only an interesting intramural debate among the journalists, were it not for the wide implications of his candid words.
In comparing the practice as against the theory of journalistic independence, Mr. Binyay is strong in not overstating the case. He does not assume over-righteousness either for his own newspaper or for all newspapers. The press is constantly faced with propaganda and pressure to distort the news and to sell its influence, and he puts the problem frankly:
The producers have protested against destroying the (artistic) illusion. I see nothing wrong in that protest. I think that they are entitled to fight it with every legitimate means at hand—even to the canceling of advertising. What paper would long get cigarette or motor-car or any other advertising that persistently and wilfully did everything it could to injure that business and prevent it from making profits?
When advertising serves a constructive industry, no newspaper can have any right or reason to injure that industry. But what is going to be the role of the great body of American newspapers when the social conditions produced by the licensed liquor trade become worse and worse? The increased profits of the liquor trade mean increased crime, increased destitution, and increased misery.
The purpose of any form of liquor control is to decrease drinking. The purpose of liquor advertising is to increase drinking. In considering this problem, Mr. Binyay's words may well give us pause: "Whatever paper would long get—any advertising that persistently and wilfully did everything—to prevent it from making profits?"
Could a more persuasive argument be presented to every state in the Union for abolishing liquor advertising?—Christian Science Monitor.

ETHIOPIA—WHAT IS LEFT?

Premier Mussolini has said "no." The three-power conference is brought to an end with the Italian dictator's refusal even to consider suggestions of Britain and France for a peaceful settlement of his dispute with Ethiopia. In the face of treaties in which Italy is committed to respect the territorial integrity of this African state, in the face of Italy's obligations to the League of Nations, in the face of world opinion and the danger of starting a chain of catastrophe the end of which cannot be foreseen, Il Duce evidently prefers a trial of arms in Africa to a trial of through mediation.
The Ethiopian question is back where it belongs—on the League's doorstep. On September 4 the Council of the League will meet to consider the "threat of war" mentioned in Article II of the Covenant, and which says that the League "shall take any action that may be deemed wise and effectual to safeguard the peace of nations."
Three courses lie open before the nations on whose shoulders the responsibility for meeting this crisis rests. They may stand aside and let the conquest go on; they may give Ethiopia to Italy for the sake of averting a war whose consequences are not calculable; or they may take concerted action—and take it as determinedly as Mussolini has taken his course toward Fascist empire—to enforce the requirements of the League and of treaties to which Italy is a party.
Italy already has been offered a virtual monopoly of "foreign assistance" under League auspices in Ethiopia, in economic, financial and even administrative affairs. Neither France nor Britain desire to assume a part in this overlordship which in the last few days Ethiopia has shown a willingness to accept. But even such a diplomatic victory as this would be has failed to satisfy Premier Mussolini. Perhaps it is not spectacular enough. He demands a full protectorate over Ethiopia, military occupation of most of the country, and annexation of much territory.
Will those nations intent on preserving European peace stand aside and let Italy's conquest of Ethiopia go on? This might be to sacrifice the League as well as the Ethiopians to the present peace of Europe. The alternative is to employ sanctions against Italy as provided for in Article 16 of the Covenant, and let her bolt the League if she will.
Yet are there two choices? How can Great Britain, whose foreign policy is based on the League, and how can France, who is in the same position, allow the League to declare itself impotent by giving the assent of silence to an international crime? As long as the possibility existed that Mussolini was bluffing, as long as there was a chance that he was attempting to settle a just grievance against Ethiopia, there was reason to speak softly. But not now. Mussolini has said "no" to all efforts to preserve peace or the League. Now, if the world is not to abandon the experience and progress made since the World war, it is the League's turn, and the League's duty, to say "no" to Mussolini.

Our Churches

By N. P. Wilkinson

About the best thing you can say about a community is that it is proud of its churches and that its people attend and support them. You can judge the moral health of a community by the interest shown in the churches.

Many of the finest men our nation has ever produced have openly shown and spoken their sincere endorsement of the Church and its work. In his nine reasons for going to church Theodore Roosevelt speaks plain enough for any person to understand. The reasons follow.

1. In this actual world a churchless community, a community where men have abandoned and scoffed at or ignored their religious needs, is a community on the rapid down grade.

2. Church work and church attendance mean the cultivation of the habit of feeling some responsibility for others.

3. There are enough holidays for most of us. Sundays differ from other holidays in the fact that there are fifty-two of them every year. Therefore on Sunday go to church.

4. Yes, I know all the excuses. I know that one can worship the Creator in a grove of trees, or by a running brook, or in a man's own house, just as well as in church. But I also know as a matter of cold fact the average man does not thus worship.

5. He may not hear a good sermon at church. He will hear a sermon by a good man who is engaged all the week in making hard lives a little easier.

6. He will listen to and take part in reading some beautiful passages from the Bible. And if he is not familiar with the Bible, he has suffered a loss.

7. He will take part in singing some good hymns.

8. He will meet and nod or speak to good, quiet neighbors. He will come away feeling a little more charitable towards all the world, even toward those excessively foolish young men who regard church-going as a soft performance.

9. I advocate a man's joining in church work for the sake of showing his faith by his works.

KEEP OUT OF WAR

Quick and hard comes the disgraceful denouement of the Ethiopian oil drama. After repeated denials from Standard Oil officials that they had anything to do with or knew anything about a concession which was upsetting world peacemaking efforts and threatening to involve the United States in war, a principal branch of the oil company confesses ownership and agrees to abandon the project.

Had this whole performance been stagemanaged it could hardly have provided more forceful object lessons for a people eager to learn how to stay out of war. Three things at least this experience teaches:

1. That where a chance for profits appears private enterprise cannot be depended upon to place the public welfare and the preservation of peace first.

2. That governmental power to prevent commercial entanglements must be improved.

3. That, important as neutrality legislation is, the mental attitude of the people is more important.
