

MEDITATIONS

By The Editor

In a trades publication coming to this office in recent days was an article commending a Kansas editor upon his getting farmers as well as business men to sponsor War Bond advertising in the 5th Loan Drive.

The Success editor can get "chesty" and even "cocky" over the claim that he had ranchers in the Second War Loan Drive in '43 who sponsored ads in cooperation with the Treasury Department.

We would like to call attention to and refer Editor Elmo Scott Watson of the Publishers Auxiliary to our files of last year and he will find that in Schleicher county ranchers were sponsoring these advertisements not in dollar ads but far exceeding that amount, not alone in the 2nd Loan, but in the 3rd and 4th loans.

In fact, the idea was suggested for a new field of sponsorship, but they will have to make another endeavor to make that an original for other than professional and business institutions for The C-B Ranch at Fort McKavett and the Palomino Rancho and J. W. Lawhon, also L. T. Wilson proved liberal contributors in these drives.

Yes, sir! When Kansas or any other state in the union can outdo Schleicher county folk, we will openly confess our error in over-estimating our people.

A good friend of ours who is a member of a local church which has been receiving a barrage of eggs for the last two weeks asks us to request that whoever might be trespassing in the sanctuary to the extent of throwing eggs should not do such, for it is the house of God and should be respected as sacred place. To this we might add: Eggs are now needed in the war effort to feed hungry people and our men and women in service. Don't waste the eggs, boys, and confine your throwing to the sand lot. You will have more fun and stay out of a lot of trouble and not cause worry, expense and unnecessary work.

TAILS WE WIN!

Going the whole hog, the Ossining, N. Y., Citizen-Register has seized on Dr. Victor Heiser's no-coats-for-men-in-the-summer suggestion and come up with a proposal of its own.

They want to form the Westchester League of Outside Shirt-tail Wearers.

JEAN SPROUL TRANSFERRED TO SONORA LUMBER YARD

Miss Jean Sproul, who has been employed by the local Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Company office here for the past several months, has been transferred to the Sonora yard of the company's. The transfer is a promotion for the young lady who, according to the local manager, J. H. Mace, has proven to be very efficient in her work here.

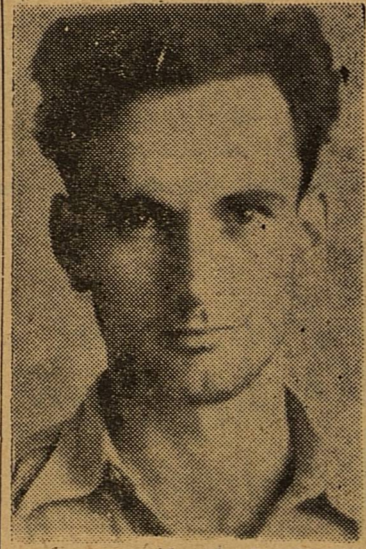

It was not announced this week who would succeed Miss Sproul at the Eldorado office.

Miss Frances Thompson left Monday for Corpus Christi where she will spend her vacation and visit with her aunt, Mrs. J. L. Kanipe and her cousin, Lieut. Billy White, who is spending his furlough with his mother, Mrs. Kanipe of that city.

Among The Derricks

No definite facts concerning last few days' development in the local field could be obtained from an official source, and information herein is based on reports from daily papers the first of the week, with the exception of Cardinal's No. 1 Koy, reported to have made preparation to swab Monday, and swabbing is probably under way on the well today following rigging up of a cable tool unit.

Reports are that when the well was last swabbed 30 to 40 barrels of fluid daily, partly oil and part water, the oil coming through four gun perforations per foot in 7-inch casing between 5,555-75 feet. It had been previously treated with 3,000 gallons of acid. The salt water may be coming from lower perforations that were cemented off.

Cardinal No. 2 Jess Koy, C SE SE 48-L-GH&SA, two miles west and a quarter mile south of No. 1, had filled the hole from 350, the total depth, to 340 feet, and was drilling out to straighten. It was to continue to 360 feet, then run and cement 10-inch casing.

Rotary derrick is up but rotary has not been moved in for Cooper Gas Co. No. 1-E Bert Page it was reported Thursday. The hole is standing with 13 3/8-inch casing cemented on bottom at 400 feet. It is in the C NE SW 33-L-GH&SA, 3/8 mile northwest of Globe No. 1 Tom Henderson, northeast extension to the Page gas-distillate producing area.

Resurfacing Of Main Street Under Way

Without any advance notice to a bewildered public, workmen began pushing vehicles around and directing guessing vehicle operators in parking here Wednesday in making preparations to resurface the main street, a highway, through town.

It was first anticipated that only a thorough street sweeping was taking place when dust began rolling in clouds into stores whose patrons were sweltering in 110 degree heat and store owners were kept busy closing and opening doors to keep dust out and letting in fresh air.

To the amazement of many gravel was dumped all along the street in the downtown section Thursday and surfacing was begun in earnest which is said to be of a better type than that which was previously used.

Funeral Services Held Wednesday Afternoon For Leonard Isaacs

Funeral services were conducted from the First Baptist church here Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, by the Rev. J. L. Ratliff, for Leonard Isaacs, 33, victim of an oil field accident which occurred eight miles east of Owego, nine miles from Fort Stockton and about 30 miles from McCamey Tuesday about 4:30 p. m.

Two other men, injured at the time of the fatal accident to Mr. Isaacs, have died since the wildcat blew in unexpectedly, blowing 400 feet of tubing from the hole and shattering derrick of a Standard Oil Co. of Texas well that was being drilled by the Arrow Drilling Company.

Other victims of the accident who have died are Joe Rice, 20, of Cisco and L. M. Patterson of McCamey. The condition of C. D. Reglin, drilling superintendent, who was also injured was reported as grave late in the week, while another employee, Ernest McFadden is reported as not seriously injured.

Isaacs died instantly of head and other injuries sustained when he was struck by the sudden impact and falling objects, it was reported by fellow workmen. He had been an employee of the drilling concern only a short while.

Leonard had moved the Eldorado Coffee Shop to McCamey from Eldorado following operating the business here. He and his family operated a cafe at McCamey until recent weeks when he closed the businesses to enter oilfield work.

Leonard (affectionately known here by his friends as "Cook") Isaacs, was born September 3, 1910 in this county where he had spent his life and up until 1943 prior to entering the cafe business had been engaged in ranching. He had been a member of the Presbyterian church since early childhood.

McCutchen, of Florence, Texas; two brothers, Robert Isaacs of Austin and Willie Isaacs of Fife, a number of uncles and aunts and other relatives.

Funeral arrangements were by the Ratliff Funeral Home with the body being laid to rest in the local cemetery.

Nazi Blood Bath

It is grimly ironic that Hitler should put to death many of his topflight generals of the traditional military caste, who backed him in his rise to power, won his initial, vast conquests and all the time naively regarded the former corporal as their creature who could be discarded at the proper time.

The fate of the executed generals was retribution, both just and inevitable, for those who elevate to power a man of Hitler's type, who invariably must turn upon his benefactors. The purge of German generals may well be sending chills down the spines of Hitler's more powerful backers, who now are fully at the mercy of a ruthless tyrant contemptuous of that virtue. Wholesale executions of military leaders are an ominous sign of the self-destruction inherent in Nazism.

The practical question for the Allies is whether Hitler has weakened the defensive power of his army and the stamina of the German home front. There may be able generals, subservient or genuinely loyal to Hitler, who are competent to take the place of Van Brauchitsch, Von Rundstedt, Von Manstein and other casualties, but it is highly doubtful. But apart from that consideration, the threat of terror overhangs the German army and home front—not terror of the enemy alone but of the national leader as well.

The German soldiers may offer the resistance of cornered rats in the weeks to come, prolong the war unduly, or they may break under the strain. —Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

The Time Is Now

Responsible authorities on both sides of the embattled Atlantic today agree that "Germany will fall with the leaves"—if not before. Should this be true, and one enemy disposed of, we can turn the full force of our might to subjugation of the savage Jap.

The pattern for victory is as clear as the pattern for peace is not. Without for a moment letting up in our magnificent production for war we should and could be planning—and performing—for the postwar period, at this moment and every moment to come.

What, for instance, is to be done about the considerable government-owned real estate, plants, equipment and supplies after military requirements are satisfied?

Will maximum employment be created if plants and equipment not needed for military purposes be used in private production at the earliest possible date. It is equally certain that private enterprise can be started going quicker than government enterprise and is more flexible and efficient.

Should Congress by statute establish a Surplus War Property Commission, independent of existing agencies, with authority and direction to dispose—subject to existing agencies, with authority contractual relationships—of all property and financial interests therein acquired by any agency of federal government for use in connection with the national defense and war efforts and not needed for purposes of national defense?

Members of such a commission should, in the best interests of all America, have had at least five years of industrial or merchandising executive experience. The time of its creation and subsequent operation should be effected soon, if such a program is feasible!

Fault is one of the easiest things in the world to find, and yet too many people keep on looking for it.

Cattle were first brought to America by Columbus, on his second voyage.

Shortage or Plenty

Government agencies have conducted consumer surveys which bear out the general belief that at the end of the war American consumers will be in the market for every luxury and necessity in the book. Alarm clocks and garbage cans, carpet sweepers and teakettles, lawn mowers and frying pans are but few of the common articles needed. And it is predicted that demand for refrigerators, automobiles, new homes and even yachts will be insatiable.

If these surveys prove correct, the next job will be to fill the demand. Whether that can be done will depend upon the ability of American manufacturers and retailers to produce the goods and distribute them at prices the people can pay. War wages and material costs must be met and overcome, if possible, by unprecedented operating efficiency.

Before the war free competitive markets pushed efficiency up and prices down—and industry and labor prospered on a sound basis. The simple truth is that after the war the country must return to that system or suffer chronic shortages and a regulated existence.

Money may talk—but not half as much as the people who suddenly acquire it.

Eldorado Divide Soil Conservation District News

REPORTED BY DISTRICT SUPERVISORS

The President has designated this week—July 23 through 29—as National Farm Safety Week. In the past few years all major industries except farming have through organized safety educational programs, reduced their accident losses considerably. Today it is much safer to work in a munitions plant, a coal mine, a steel mill, an airplane factory, or to join the Navy and fight than to work on a farm. In 1934 agriculture employed 16 percent of the nation's workers and had 24 percent of all fatal accidents. The farm toll for 1943 was 20,000 killed, 2,000,000 injured, and an estimated money loss of one billion dollars.

A well-rounded conservation program on a farm should include a conscientiously followed safety whether you are sweeping the porch, driving a tractor, or working on a windmill.

Every man and every acre is being called on to produce everything possible for the war effort. Conservation practices on the land will increase the efficiency of each acre by 10 to 25 percent. Likewise, safety practices applied to the human being will improve the efficiency of our farm and ranch workers.

As we work to conserve the soil, we must also work to conserve the men and machinery needed to use it.

Infantile Paralysis Prevalent In Summer

"Infantile paralysis can be expected to occur more frequently during the next three months," declares Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health officer. "This disease is always more frequent during the hot months."

"The germ responsible for infantile paralysis is so small that it escapes detection even with the most powerful microscopes. The first symptoms are usually vomiting, headache, fever, stiffness of the neck, pain in the legs, irritability and drowsiness. Complete recovery may follow such an illness; but in more severe cases, the germ penetrates the nervous system, resulting in paralysis of nerves controlling one, or more, groups of muscles have been noted.

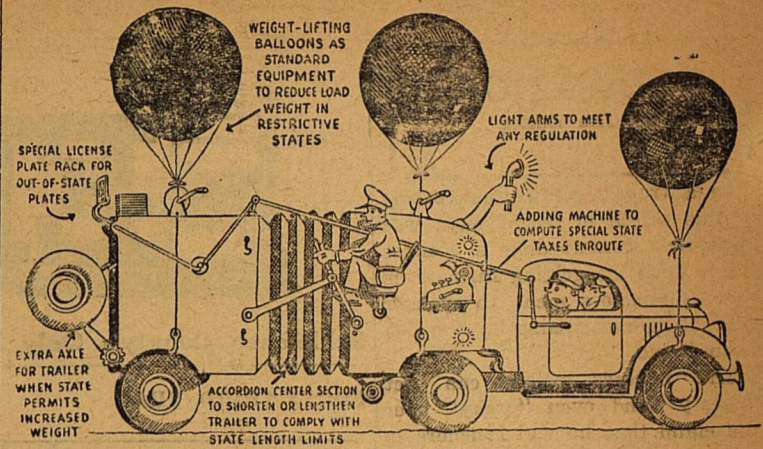

"Flies, or other insects, while under suspicion, have not been demonstrated to play a part in the spread of this disease. Infection spreads from person to person with the droplets attending coughing and sneezing. Children and grown people that are healthy may be carriers of the germ. When present in epidemic form, about one child in each hundred is apt to suffer an attack.

"Early recognition and diagnosis are essential. The use of immune serum may be a factor in preventing paralysis. A period of complete rest is essential for muscles that are affected. If parents note symptoms of illness in their children, the family doctor should be consulted at once," said Dr. Cox.

Farmers are completing harvesting of a wheat crop that will set an all-time high in cash returns. Experts predict the second largest yield on record, surpassed only by the 825,000,000 bushel crop of 1931. In 1931, though, prices slumped until Kansas farmers were selling wheat at 26 cents a bushel compared with an average of $1.45 being paid this year. The combination of high prices and yields described in the Texas Panhandle, Oklahoma, Missouri, and Kansas as "downright miraculous," will roll back more than a billion dollars to the winter wheat areas.

OPA has taken action to carry out the mandate of Congress that it give to industry a more important role in setting up price regulations. Price Administrator Bowles appointed Mrs. Ethel B. Gilbert director of the newly-established Office of Industry Advisory Committees through which more than 480 industry advisory committees will function.

Congress is getting ready for a close study of postwar federal taxation. Colin F. Stam, chief of the Congressional Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation, is exploring possibilities for slashes in rates, while the subject is foremost on the calendar of the Special Republican Committee of 25 House members.

Opposition to "federalization" of the unemployment compensation systems of the various states has been voiced by the Special Senate Postwar Economic Policy and Planning Committee.

Better Modes in Living

HOUSING

© FAITH HORTON
Associate Editor
AMERICAN FAMILY Magazine

Children as well as adults require stability. Frequent moving has a disastrous effect upon children. They need their friends, school, home and neighbors for long uninterrupted periods of time. Great care should be taken in selecting a home for your family. Next to the food dollar, the rental dollar is the most important in your budget.

Because better homes make better citizens, one should spend as much as possible for proper housing. It is not just the number of rooms, or the floor plan, but whether or not there is space for your way of living.

Only when absolutely necessary should one be cramped for space since confusion and lack of privacy may have permanent ill effects upon your children.

It is often better to spend less for food and clothing in order to have proper housing.

It is well to make a list of all your family requirements. For example, is the neighborhood conveniently located to your work, to schools and shopping districts? Is the contemplated move advantageous or just a desire to live in a new location? Will your family live more contentedly in the new home? Is there room for work, rest and hobbies? Every member of your family needs proper relaxation and sleep just as much as they need food and clothing, and the home should provide the facilities.

All these conditions make for a happier family life, for there is nothing that takes the place of pleasant memories of HOME.

A Book Holder Keeps Cover For Identity

Holders of A gasoline ration-books must preserve the back cover of the book which bears their name, license number and other information if they expect to get quick service when they make application for the new A book which becomes valid Sept. 22.

The back of the current A book, along with the tire inspection record, must be sent to the ration board with the application form. If such is done ration clerks will be able to issue the new books without delay. Otherwise it might be necessary for the records to be searched, meaning delay and inconvenience to the applicant.

Boards are expected to have supplies of the new A books and application forms on hand shortly after Sept. 1.

ATTENTION! ALL HOME CANNERS!

Before you begin your 1944 canning, Good Housekeeping Magazine advises you: use the boiling water bath method for tomatoes and fruits, only. Can all vegetables except tomatoes by the correct use of pressure cooker to be sure of killing botulinus germs. In the last few years, cases of botulinus poisoning have cropped up in widely different parts of the country. Buy, borrow, share a pressure cooker—but don't can low acid vegetables any other way. If you want further information, write Good Housekeeping Magazine, 959 Eighth Avenue, New York 19, N. Y.

YOU GET SO MUCH FOR SO LITTLE!

War causes costs to go up. Your dollar buys less of almost everything... it takes plenty more of them to run your business and your home. Taxes have soared, but one thing that remains the same is your electricity. Your dollar buys twice as much electricity for your home as it did in 1939. Today your electricity is carrying two jobs... a war job and its regular job of peace. You are asked not to be wasteful in its use, but in spite of this double task your electricity has been there when and where you wanted it... there is never any "standing in line."

PLANE TALK
BY
Rowland Burnstan

To regulate air traffic and to facilitate landings and takeoffs at airports, control towers are erected. The tower, in order to give the attendants a clear view of the surrounding air, is located at a strategic point of the airport (usually on top of the administration building). Equipment includes a two way radio supplemented by a system of signal lights for communication purposes.

AIR TRAFFIC CONTROL TOWER

The pilot of a departing plane contacts the control tower by radio when ready to taxi to the flight strip. From the tower he receives, by radio, taxi instructions to the flight strip and any additional information regarding the weather, wind speed and direction, and positions of other planes in the vicinity. The pilot is then cleared for flight and can take off when ready.

When an airplane is approaching an airport the pilot contacts the control tower by radio to report his position and the expected time of his arrival over the airport. The control tower then gives the pilot landing instructions. This includes the altitude and route of approach, the landing strip to be used with wind speed and direction. Unless the pilot has been instructed to come directly in, he is instructed to circle the airport until he is cleared for landing. After landing he is directed in taxiing his plane to the proper hangar.

Important to employers was the report's conclusion that most veterans are seeking jobs different from those held previous to entering the service. Only 25 percent have returned to their old positions.

Home Canners Advised How to Avoid Deadly Botulinus Poisoning

THERE is vital need to can as many vegetables as possible as well as fruit; but the only safe way to can any vegetables, except tomatoes, is by correct use of the pressure cooker," advises Katharine Fisher, Director of Good Housekeeping Institute. "This method is the only one which provides the hotter-than-boiling heat that's necessary to kill botulinus germs which may be on any non-acid food you can—and that means all vegetables except tomatoes. When botulinus germs are not killed in the canning process, they thrive in sealed jars and create a powerful poison.

"This botulinus poisoning comes from bacteria that live in the soil and cling to vegetables. Although rare, this poison is particularly dangerous because it usually does not change the food's appearance, odor or taste. Analyses of soil indicate that there is a chance that botulinus spores may be found almost anywhere. Fortunately, they are harmless until they get in air-tight jars of canned food."

Use Pressure Cooker

"Correct use of the pressure cooker also protects against other types of spoilage," Miss Fisher said. "A recent national survey showed that home canners who put up non-acid vegetables by the hot water bath method reported a hundred per cent greater rate of spoilage than those who used the pressure cooker method."

"Never taste to discover spoilage," Good Housekeeping advises. "All home canned products should be examined carefully when opened and, if there is any evidence of spoilage, the food should not be used."

Turkeys For Soldiers Holiday Dinners

COLLEGE STATION, July 26. —Texas farmers and those in 23 other states have been requested by the War Food Administration to set aside their marketable turkeys to provide Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's dinners for the fighting forces at home and abroad.

Under an order which became effective July 17, 100 per cent of the turkeys marketed and processed in Texas are required to be set aside for purchase by the Quartermaster Corps. This means that until the full requirement of the armed forces is met, Texas producers can sell only to authorized processors or to dealers buying turkeys for processors. The birds must be slaughtered by authorized processors and held for sale and delivery to the Quartermaster Corps either directly, or through wholesalers or from cold storage.

"Generally speaking," said Ted Martin, poultryman for the A. and M. College Extension Service, "this means marketing turkeys through many of the outlets the producers are in the habit of using. The all-important thing, however, is to market them as early as possible so that they can be delivered abroad in time to serve Thanksgiving dinners to the men on the fighting fronts on land and sea."

Where there are no authorized processors or turkey buyers purchasing under the order in a given locality, producers who wish

I want to express to the people of Precinct No. 4 my appreciation for their faith and trust in me for the writing in of my name on the ballot in the Primaries Saturday that re-elected me to the office as your County Commissioner of Precinct No. 4.

Although I failed to qualify in time to have my name printed in on the ballot you saw fit to return me to this important office expecting me to continue giving my best efforts to same and which I pledge to you I shall continue to do.

Again thanking you for your support, to market turkeys may obtain the name of processors from either the officer in charge, Quartermaster Market center, attention poultry section, Produce Terminal Building, 1201 Jones Street, Fort Worth 2, or to a similar source at 409 Milam Building, 115 West Travis Street, San Antonio.

The actual quantity required for holiday dinners for all of the armed forces is not disclosed, but the WFA estimated it is likely to exceed the 35,000,000 pounds obtained under a set aside order last year. While the 1944 Texas turkey crop is large, Martin said that it was not possible now to appropriate the percentage which might be finished for the holiday dinner pool. The contribution last year was substantial, and already spring laying hen turkeys had been marketed under a preliminary set aside order which recently was terminated.
