COTTONSEED ARE RANKING HIGH IN THIS COUNTY

Schleicher County cottonseed has taken its place among the highest-ranking grade oil produced by cotton growers this year, the Fort Worth Office of Distribution which works under the War Food Administration Board stated in a bulletin on November 3.

Hugh McAngus was cited as having ginned 35 bales, sold 31 bales seed and received his ginning, 84 sacks cake and $165.70 net off of seed alone.

This is only one producer's report. Seed are ranking from 100 to 109 percent or more in grade. The average seed brought $60.50 to $62.70 per ton when sold at gin.

The ideal harvesting weather conditions which have prevailed in this county have helped in the picking and ginning of the crops.

Due to the war in the South Pacific, which keeps the United States from getting its pre-war supply of coconut oil; cottonseed average prices have gone up, and the demand for the oils still exceed the supplies.

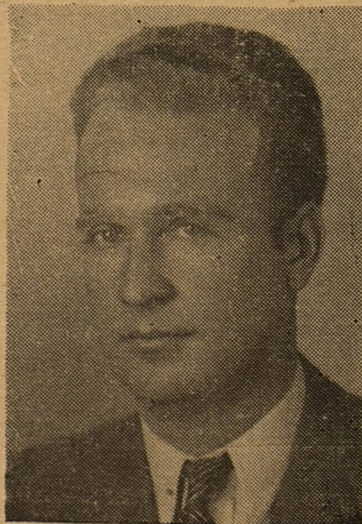

The Naval successes in the Pacific will bring closer the day when coconut oil may again be shipped to the States which will in time lessen the strain of the demand for cottonseed oil since it can be substituted for coconut oil.

LAYMAN'S MEET AND BANQUET WELL ATTENDED

Speaker of the layman's meeting, an annual event, and which was held Friday night of last week at the Presbyterian church, was Dr. Thomas H. Taylor, president of Howard Payne college, Brownwood.

Doctor Taylor spoke of the layman's "obligation to the church and the benefits that he would receive by taking God as his partner."

He cited as examples Clarence Kraft, who took God as his partner in the cheese business and has made such a success. He also mentioned Bob Le Torneau, who has built one of the largest factories of heavy machinery in the United States.

"There are many laymen, who, although they do not take part in the church affairs, benefit from them and would not care to live in a community in which churches were not maintained," stated the speaker in substance.

Some 60 or more men of the community were in attendance at the banquet-meeting. Ladies of the Presbyterians, Methodist and Baptist churches prepared and served the banquet.

Much Livestock Movements Are In Evidence This Week

Completing a contract to Lou Rusk for 56 head of Black Angus calves, Sam McGinnes delivered the calves here Tuesday for Ray Willoughby. Shipment was made from Eldorado to Van Court by truck.

Another sizeable herd was seen being loaded by Ben Meckel at Huldale Tuesday. These were fat hereford cows and heifers.

Truett Stanford returned from Fort Worth Monday night where he delivered some 440 head of sheep which he sold on the Monday market.

One of the best averages in lambs so far as weight is concerned coming to this publications attention this year, was the 1,427 head delivered by Carroll White last week to D. K. McMullen of Big Lake. The Rambouillets averaged 67 1/2 per head.

J. W. Lawhon was shipping out one car of calves and one car of cows this week. Delivery was made to Cleve Jones of Sonora in Eldorado. The cows went to Fort Worth while the car of calves were billed out to the Eastern market.

More Feed In Sight For Dairymen And Ranchers Is Outlook

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

The Department of Agriculture thinks the protein feed prospects are better for this winter than they have been for two years.

The report speaks of the bumper wheat crop and the corn yield which may surpass last year's crop by 60 million bushels.

In addition, Midwestern farmers have raised more soy beans than in any year before. The peanut yield is better, though there will be less cottonseed cake and meal than a year ago.

Therefore, if we can depend on statistics, it looks now like there will be a few more sacks of feed this winter for the dairyman, the farmer and the rancher.

It is well to point out, however, that we may not get much benefit from the increase in soy beans unless more of that crop is channeled to mills in the Southwest for processing. We have by far the best mills in the country. Every effort is now being made to get the War Food Administration to assist in getting more of the soy beans sent to our mills.

A summary of all these rights provided by law has been printed. I will be glad to send a copy to any one who is interested.

Among The Derricks

Cardinal Oil Co. has abandoned its No. 1 Jess Koy, which early in the summer promised to become the second oil producer in the Page Field. Reports are that the hole tested from 5,700 up to 5,385 feet through gun perforations, acidizing some zones, but the one that was most promising was from 5,555-75 feet and later yielded water with the oil.

The location was 1 1/2 miles north and a quarter mile east of the nearest gas-distillate well in the field.

Rhodes Drilling Co., has moved rotary onto Cardinal No. 1-B Koy, two miles west and a quarter mile south of No. 1 Koy. The wildcat was recently spudded to around 300 feet and set and cemented 10-inch casing at 350 feet.

Cable tools are being placed on Cooper Gas Co. No. 1-E Bert Page, which location is three-eighths mile northwest of Globe No. 1 Tom Henderson, a wet gasser that extended the field 1-2/5 miles northeast. No. 1-E Page drilled to 5,409 feet and cemented 7-inch casing on bottom with rotary.

Deep in the Heart of Taxes

Deep in the Heart of Taxes

You've heard the song "Deep in the Heart of Texas." Most people today are deep in the heart of taxes. A bad pun to make a good point. Last year America's tax-paying electric light and power companies footed a tax bill of more than seven hundred million dollars. One-fourth of the electric dollar goes for taxes of one kind or another.

Still, taxes are necessary in modern war, and seven hundred million dollars or any fraction thereof will buy a lot of planes and guns, medical supplies, tanks and ammunition.

The business-managed companies which pay the taxes are glad to contribute to this fight for freedom. But a lot of people say: How can the electric companies pay these increased taxes and other wartime costs and still keep the price of our household electricity so low? For the truth is, if you're the average user of home electricity, you're getting about twice as much electricity for your money as you were getting, say, fifteen years ago. To do this takes the utmost operating efficiency and economy, and constant engineering research under sound business-management. You can be sure that experienced business management will keep your electric service dependable and low-priced.

Passion Play--

its home base in Spearfish, S. D. This great drama with all its old world splendor is being brought to San Angelo on its first American tour in English, by the Lions Club of San Angelo, and will be presented with night performances at Municipal Auditorium, San Angelo, opening Monday night, Nov. 27, through Thursday, Nov. 30th, with special student Matinee on the 27th, 28th, and 29th. The great Passion Play was established in the new home in the Black Hills in 1937. Here in the great American Garden of Eden, steeped in the tradition of early frontier days in a land where General Custer, Deadwood Dick, Calamity Jane, Wild Bill Hickcock, and many other early American historical names held sway and where the sweeping terrarian and the blue black pines reached toward the heavens where the clear, cool mountain streams, abundant with trout, trickle through the hills, the largest Passion Play grounds in the world have been erected at the cost of many thousands of dollars. The famous Passion Play is presented there three times a week, on Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday during the summer months from June 20th through September. The company of more than five hundred present the play against the background of mile-high Lookout Mountain, on a stage which is an authentic reproduction of Biblical days, two thousand years ago. Supporting the large cast of human players, to add authentically to the many scenes are beautiful Arabian horses, camels, donkeys, Great Dane Dogs and other domestic animals of the period. The great drama opened its summer season in the Black Hills this year, in June after concluding a road tour of major American cities where many all-time attendance records were established. Josef Meier, world-famous Christus portrayr is in the featured role. The play was first presented in 1242 A. D. by the Monks of the Capponburg Monastery. After the good citizens of Lubbock continued to produce the play, Meier, who plays "Christus" is the descendant of several generations of Passion Play artists. He first appeared in the production at the age of ten weeks as the Christ Child and has been in the play ever since. He is now 37 years of age.

Bobby Barber visted here the past week-end with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Wright and in San Angelo with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Barber. Bobby is attending Texas Tech at Lubbock.
