Commissioners to meet in Regular Session

The Commissioners' court will meet Monday in regular session in the Schleicher County courthouse. To date there is little except routine business to come before the group. It is probable that the court will discuss and pass the customary county tax cut for those who pay taxes before the end of the year: 3 percent reduction if paid in October, 2 percent if paid in November and 1 percent in December. The county tax rate was recently set at 82c which is the same as last year's figure.

OLD SADDLEMAKER ON VISIT HERE MARVELS AT HEIGHT OF MESQUITES & RECALLS STAGE-COACH DAYS OF 1900's

George F. Strickland, veteran cowpuncher and saddle-maker, and a business man here when Eldorado was in its lusty infancy, is back in town after an absence of 40 years.

To the oft-heard question, "Do you find the place changed?" he just ejaculates, "Changed!"

For one thing, he can't find the highway, the old Sonora road, down which the old Sonora-San Angelo stage coach used to come rocking and clattering at 4:00 a. m., with the driver blowing his bugle a mile from town to warn travelers of his approach. It was quite a sight, says Strickland, to see the stage come in, with its railing at the top, and four prancing horses at the front. Four o'clock wasn't too early, he assures you, not when you wanted to take a trip to Angelo, for that wide-open settlement was a long way off as horses measured it, and a day was only a day! Everyone was interested in the stage coach, for it took you to the metropolis about once a week, and it brought mail every day! Now the old road is gone and a modern highway stretches out toward the flat horizon—a stage coach traveling on it would be an anachronism.

Strickland came to Eldorado in the early 1900's, to open a saddlery; here he sold saddles and harness, decorating his leather wares at his leisure with original designs, drawn free-hand and carved out with engravers' tools. Business was good in his line, for demand for harnesses and saddles was heavy. He worked alone in the store, taking orders and filling them without aid of clerk or apprentice.

The business district then was small. Judge Whitten was there, C. C. Doty was Tax-assessor, and such old timers as Fency Bates, the Sillmans, the McWhorters, Bob Evans, Ack and Ben McCartney and others furnish names to be remembered. The courthouse, an old lumber building, was a busy place, for it housed the law in the days of the land rush, when settlers in Schleicher County were so anxious to file claim that they came to Eldorado days before the filing dates and formed long lines at the courthouse, the woman bringing food to the men as they held their place in line. Those were the days when impatient settlers would try to catapult a friend over the heads of others.

Strickland remembers that the county was dry when he came, his arrival having followed closing of a saloon, the building for which has long since been torn down. But Angelo was not dry, and that fast growing little settlement was always hospitable to thirsty neighbors.

Even the vegetation has changed, says Strickland. The mesquite dotted streets that are now Eldorado used to be open prairie on which mesquites had little chance to grow, what with prairie fires so prevalent! "Why they tell me even Lipan Flat up Angelo way has mesquites on it—it used to be as treeless as this country around here!" he says.

Typically Texan is the story of Strickland's life. He was born in 1880 in Tom Green County, in a neighborhood between San Angelo and Sherwood, now known as Mertzton, the farm being located in the Middle Concho lowlands. Because the schoolhouse was four miles away, by foot, and because school kept only three or four months a year, the children received only the rudiments of a formal education. "And we all studied out of the same book," reminisces Strickland. The children were untamed and uninhibited. "I grew up like a coyote behind the mesquite trees," he chuckles.

The boy punched cattle and broke horses until he was grown. Often he went to Angelo, where as a wide-eyed youth from the ranch country he drank in the sights of the city! the gamblers, some of them big names; the beer kegs and rows of arched lights; the cowboys riding into the saloons on their mounts and demanding service.

Somewhere along the way he resolved to settle down so he drove to Christoval for his bride on Dec. 24, 1900. He worked at the Bird and Mertz Ranch for a time, punched cattle in the Territory, moved to Eldorado to operate a Saddlery, went on to Sonora, moved later to Live Oak, then to Menard County, where he remained 17 years, and finally settled in Real County where he owns a ranch at Leaky.

Mr. Strickland has prospered modestly, if one judges his success by his comfortable ranch home into which water has been piped from the numerous springs which dot the hillsides surrounding the house. Yet much sorrow has come to him. Two children died of measles and pneumonia, another, George, a railroad man, was killed last year in a car accident at San Antonio, and his wife died Dec. 17, 1944. Only one son, Melvin, remains to help with the ranch work.

His father was jailer and sheriff at Benficklin, back in 1880 when George was born. All of the Conchos converge there, providing an ideal place for a gigantic flood such, for instance, as struck the town in 1882. Strickland the elder let out the prisoners and with his family headed for higher ground and safety! That town was never rebuilt. But the child who made that trek out of the flooded lowlands in his father's arms in 1882 remembers that happy community "I'm headed that way now," he says. "I want to see it all again before I go back home."

Mayer No. 1. Mrs. Frank Crawford, who taught in this school last year, returned for another year.

Mayer No. 2. No teacher for the school has been secured as yet and there is possibility that the school will not operate but that the scholastics may transfer to McKavett, in another county. This is not definite and a teacher may yet be secured for this school, in which there are usually about 18 or 20 scholastics.

Adams No. 3. Mrs. Bailey Montgomery is teaching this school, which is located in the Rudd neighborhood. About 9 or 10 are usually enrolled in this school.

Lofin No. 4. This school is no longer operating as there are no grade scholastics left, and the few High School students from the locality have transferred to Christoval, just over the county line.

Cliff No. 5. This year this school bought a bus and has transferred all of its grade and high school scholastics to Eldorado paying tuition on them in this school. The majority of these students are in High School.

Bailey Ranch No. 6. This school, the largest of the common schools in the county, employs High point of the Lions Club meeting Wednesday was the proposal that the club undertake to install lights on the Eldorado football field—using for money, the funds which are expected to be raised at the Annual Barbecue & Lamb Sale to be staged Saturday, Sept. 15th.

The proposal that the club sponsor lighting of the field was unanimously approved by the club, following a discussion in which it was pointed out that lighting was postponed at the beginning of the war. Material is now available and the members let it be known that the lights should be installed NOW!

Lion Dogey Finley was appointed chairman of a committee to see about the lights. Others on the committee with him are: Lions Reynolds, Topliffe, Doyle, Gunstead, McLaughlin and Hays.

Nearly 40 members and guests were present at the noon luncheon yesterday at the Eldo Hotel, including four ex-service men who were called on for brief remarks. Various members reported on the progress made for the coming Lamb Sale and Barbecue, and the committeemen reported that every thing was all set to handle the largest crowd ever assembled.

Four new members were admitted to the club: Lions Britton, Fondren, Hext and Bowes.

Mrs. Douglas Peel and children of San Angelo and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Peel of Salt Gap are expected to visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Peel the latter part of this week.

two teachers, who this year are Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Sturdevant of Winters, both of whom have permanent certificates. Mrs. Lester Henderson is operating the school lunch room at Bailey, under government sponsorship, this being a project started several years ago. The Sturdevants, who are new this year, are making their home in the teacherage.

Kaffir No. 7. This school has not opened as yet, but it is understood that the delay has been caused by the illness of the teacher, Mrs. Ford Oglesby.

Of the net scholastics totaling 119, about 80 are left to be distributed among these schools after the transfers are in.

Co. Board Meets

All of the members of the county school board met on Aug. 27 in regular session, with the following in attendance: V. H. Humphrey, president, of Eldorado, R. A. McDonald of Precinct 1, G. C. Crosby of Precinct 2, Miss Lotie Reynolds of Precinct 3 and Otto Sauer of Precinct 4.

An apportionment of $8 per scholastic was allowed for this year, as compared with $20 last year, from the county available land interest account, the previous higher apportionment having been made because of heavy collections. Another action of the board was appointing of Henry Howell to succeed M. W. Jones as trustee of Adams Community school district No. 3.

Adaptability of Feed Sacks Shown In Eldorado Demonstration Exhibit

Women of the Eldorado Home Demonstration Club held an exhibit in the window of the Hoover Drug Store for several days during the past week, for the purpose of showing uses of feed sacks, all of the pieces shown illustrating adaptability of the lowly feed sack. The exhibit was most attractive and was noticed by many people who stopped to see the individual pieces and to comment on the various uses to which the sack could be put.

One of the more difficult pieces of work was exhibited by Mrs. Hugo Mika, who showed an attractive chair covered with cretonne; the pattern chosen by Mrs. Mika featured overstuffed seat and back and ruffled skirt. Mrs. Buster Gunn showed two pairs of pillowcases, made of white and trimmed with crocheted scallops of yellow and white, and pink and white. Three women had made men's shorts for the exhibit: Mrs. Palmer West and Mrs. John Williams had made them of plain white feed sacks and Mrs. Lunn Burk of flowered material. An attractive pair of pillowcases was made by Ruth Baker, who used cut work to trim the plain white sacks.

Mrs. Will McClatchy exhibited a lunch cloth made of a flowered feed sack, trimmed with an edging of white. Mrs. N. H. Hodges had made a dress of fine striped sack- ing. Mrs. E. H. Coulter showed a twine holder made of similar material, and a hand painted plaque cut from mesquite. Mrs. Pittman showed a plain footstool frame before finishing and the finished product which had been varnished and covered with upholstery material. Hand-painted curtains made of feed sacks had been made and entered by Mrs. Pittman. Mrs. W. H. McClatchy showed a colored bonnet. The entire exhibit was carefully planned and tastefully arranged.

Clean-up Campaign to Stop Disease

Because of prevalence of typhus and infantile paralysis in Texas, Dr. H. Z. Pennington asks that Eldorado property owners and renters rid their premises of mosquitoes, fleas and body lice, to prevent spread of these diseases in this city.

To help kill mosquitoes, he asks that, in addition to giving attention to open pools of water, residents pour half a gallon of kerosene through the commode every three or four weeks. Eliminating of stagnant water will eliminate the mosquitoes which breed and spread disease. Fleas can be killed by sprinkling sulphur over infected areas.

Dr. Pennington states that cooperation of citizens in this cleanup campaign is absolutely necessary. He states that he hopes also to get some of the powerful DDT drug from the state but that he is not certain about this as yet. The greatest assurance of health is maintaining of clean premises; for infantile paralysis and typhus breed and spread in filth.

His Job May Be Over . . . Ours is Not

Reconversion should not be a problem in Schleicher County. Ours is a ranching county, not an industrial one.

In a county such as ours there should be room for servicemen . . . not scores, but hundreds of them. Let's give them a place at home . . . for Schleicher County has just started to grow.

Sheep Herder Buried With Masonic Rites

H. E. Sharp, veteran sheepman and bartender of Southwest Texas died suddenly of a heart attack Thursday noon at 11:30, when he was working in the sheep pen at Albert Bailey's Ranch, in Schleicher County, Texas. About two weeks preceding his death he had sustained a heart attack while witnessing the loss of his house by fire, this being the first indication the family had had that he was subject to heart trouble. Seemingly he was somewhat improved, and back at work when death claimed him.

Sharp was born at Flatonia, Texas, Gonzales County, and grew to manhood in Texas frontier country. His occupations were typical of that early day. He tended bar as an employee at Sonora for many years, during the time when that little Southwestern town was a typical frontier post; After he married Allie Connor at Brady the couple opened a country store and postoffice at Maer, a Schleicher County community which no longer exists; later he was sheep inspector for the state, a post which he held for about fifteen years. His wife died several years ago.

During the past several years, when he was unable to do active work, he served as herder for a little bunch of sheep, which he pastured on roads leading out of Eldorado. He lived alone in this city, but after the loss of his house by fire, he moved to the home of a daughter, Mrs. Jack Etheridge.

Funeral services for Mr. Sharp were held Friday afternoon at the Eldorado Methodist Church, conducted by the Rev. J. M. Hayes, First Baptist pastor, and interment was made in the Eldorado City Cemetery. He was a member of the Masonic lodge, having joined that lodge in 1911.

Committal services at the grave were in charge of the Eldorado Masons, led by Tom Davis, Sonora ranchman. Pall bearers were J. H. Mace, W. F. Meador, R. C. Edminston, Lester Henderson, Paul Haley and T. P. Robinson.

Three sons and three daughters survive: Mrs. Jack Etheridge, Eldorado; Mrs. W. E. DeLong, San Angelo; Mrs. Floyd Miller, Durant, Okla.; Edwin Sharp, McCamey; Quinn Sharp, Crane; and Cpl. Alfred Sharp, with the Army in Germany.

Japan Signs Surrender Document

Japanese delegates formally and unconditionally surrendered all remnants of their empire to the Allies last Sunday, September 2. The formal surrender took place on the battleship, "Missouri" where two nervous Japanese hurriedly signed the document.

Then Generals MacArthur and Wainwright, and British General Percival signed in turn.

"It is my earnest hope and indeed the hope of all mankind that from this solemn occasion a better world shall emerge out of the blood and carnage of the past," MacArthur said.

Minutes later President Truman broadcast from the White House—the White House where Japan once haughtily boasted that she would dictate surrender terms.

There was little of elation or gloating in the President's address. Rather, there was emphasis on what victory has cost and what it will mean.

President Truman proclaimed Sunday as V-J Day, but said that it had no legal significance, but that Americans will always remember it as a day of retribution.

"This is a victory of liberty over tyranny," he declared.

Allied armies continued to occupy Japan and the occupation zone now extends to a point near Tokyo.

When You Were Three

Tying your own shoes was a tough job. But your parents let you try. They knew it would help you to help yourself. Remember the thrill when the knot stayed tied?

Shifting for yourself has always been an American custom. As boy or man, just give an American an even break—a chance to get ahead—and he'll do the rest.

But when government goes into business, in competition with its citizens, the American idea of an even break is destroyed... for government in business takes special privileges that are denied the people.

Consider government power projects for example. They are TAX SLACKERS—DO NOT pay federal taxes; but get YOUR money from the U. S. Treasury at little or no interest; make up losses out of the pockets of the patriotic taxpayers.

On the other hand, America's business-managed power companies—owned and operated by millions of folks like you—are on their own. They pay their full share of taxes (near one-third of each gross dollar collected). They pay through able management, fair interest on money loaned by people like you to build the property.

Maybe you run a store or service station or beauty shop. View them—a next-door government politically managed competitor who has little or no rent, or taxes, or interest to pay, and who is kept in business partly by your tax money.

It is a tribute to American self-reliance that tax-paying, self-supporting companies supply over 80% of the tremendous amount of electric power used in this country. And it is a further tribute to the American system of private initiative that these companies provide America with enough electricity to meet even the gigantic demands of war—and, when most things cost more—still deliver this electricity at low pre-war prices and without political tax favors or subsidies.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Lest we forget, I want to remind all our people that our first loyalty is to the church of our preference. And with the coming of the autumn months just ahead it should be some encouragement to make preparation for attending all of our church services.

And too, we have many people who have come to our town the past few days and weeks; and we want to extend to them the most hearty welcome to our town and to the church of their choice. If you have no church preference we cordially invite you to attend our church services.

We are still working on our church library. And you can buy a book for the library and place it in our care in honor of some loved one. We want each member of the church family to have a part in such a worthy project. Not only can we honor a loved one who has been, or still is in service of our Nation; but we can give someone an opportunity to read the best literature.

Our church services - Sunday, Sunday school and worship, 10:00 and 11:00 a. m. Training Union and worship, 8:00 and 9:00 p. m. Our mid week service each Wednesday evening at 8:30. The Women's Missionary Union meets each Monday afternoon at 4:00.

PTA Repeats Request for Cake-Walk Cakes

To assist housewives of Schleicher County who will be called upon to furnish cakes for the cake-walk at the annual Lamb Sale Saturday, September 15, the members of the Parent Teacher Association have collected the following list of recipes, all of which are guaranteed to be easy on the sugar sack.

Mrs. Perry Mittel is chairman of the cake committee and she especially recommends the Karo Cake which she has tried a number of times and reports it to be a "never-fail recipe."

Mrs. W. C. Sproul submits the first three recipes and advises that they are "sugar-saving" and simple to make.

Spice Cake

- 2 cups sifted cake flour
- 2 tsp. baking powder.
- 1/4 tsp. salt.
- 1-4 ginger.
- 1-3 cup fat or butter.
- 1 cup sugar.
- 2 tbsps molasses.
- 1-4 tsp. mace.
- 1-4 tsp. allspice.
- 1-2 tsp. nutmeg.
- 3-4 tsp. cloves.
- 3-4 tsp. cinnamon.
- 2 eggs, unbeaten.
- 3-4 cup milk.

Sift flour, measure, add salt and spices, sift three times. Cream fat and sugar. Add eggs, beating well after each addition. Add molasses. Add flour alternately with milk. Beat well. Bake in two pans in moderate oven.

Sugarless Devils Food Cake

- 1-3 cup shortening.
- 1 cup Karo, white.
- 1 egg.
- 1-2 tsp. salt.
- 2 cups flour.
- 1 cup buttermilk.
- 1 rounding tsp. soda.
- 1 tsp. vanilla.
- 4 tbsps cocoa (added with last of flour) or 2 sp. chocolate melted.

Cream shortening and Karo together, add egg and beat well. Mix soda and buttermilk and add alternately with dry ingredients. Add vanilla and chocolate or cocoa. Place in greased pan and bake at 325 degrees.

Honey Apple Sauce Cake

- 1-3 cup fat.
- 2 cups flour.
- 1 tsp. nutmeg.
- 1 cup seeded raisins.
- 3-4 cup honey.
- 1 tsp. soda.
- 1-2 tsp. cinnamon.

- 1-4 cup nuts.
- 1 cup applesauce.
- 1-4 tsp. cloves.
- 1-4 tsp. salt.

Cream fat and honey well. Add applesauce, flour, spices, salt and soda sifted together. (Raisins can be added before the flour is mixed in, thereby flouring them). Add nuts, beat well and bake about 1 hour in moderate oven. This cake can be made several days before needed.

The Karo Cake

- 1-2 cup shortening.
- 1-2 cup sugar.
- 1 cup Karo, blue or red label
- 3 egg yolks.
- 3 cups sifted cake flour.
- 4 tsp baking powder.
- 1-2 tsp. salt.
- 1 cup buttermilk.
- 1 tsp. vanilla.
- 1 cup milk.
- 3 egg whites.

Cream shortening, add sugar and one-half of the Karo gradually and cream until fluffy. Add egg yolks, one at a time, and beat well. Sift dry ingredients alternately with milk, stirring well after each addition. Add vanilla. Beat egg whites until stiff, add remaining Karo gradually, beating until a stiff meringue is formed, fold into batter until well blended. Bake in two layers in moderate oven. Frost as desired.
