A memo from the U.S.A.

We Americans don't get mad easy.

But when we do, look out!

We pitch in and turn out guns, tanks, planes and ships faster than anybody on earth.

But nobody boots us into line. No commissars. No bayonets. No slave labor. We just get to work—because we've got something to work for... our liberties and our individual freedoms.

And back of our men and machines is electric power—as much as all the rest of the world has.

It's steady, dependable power—the kind produced only by free men—the kind that helped perform production miracles in World War II. Today, the business-managed electric companies have doubled the supply of electric power available before that war—and they're stepping it up all the time.

Yessir, we have power—with more on the way—and we know how to use it. That's a good thing for everybody to remember right now. And it's a good thing for some people here at home to remember that America's tremendous electric power was developed by the free enterprise system which has made America greater than any other nation.

Peanut Hulls For Fattening Steers

COLLEGE STATION — Finely ground peanut hulls were less valuable than prairie hay as roughage for fattening steers in a 133-day test at the Prairie View unit of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

J. C. Williams, associate professor of animal husbandry at Prairie View A. & M. College, who conducted the experiment, reports that 20 long yearling steers used in the test were Medium to Good in grade.

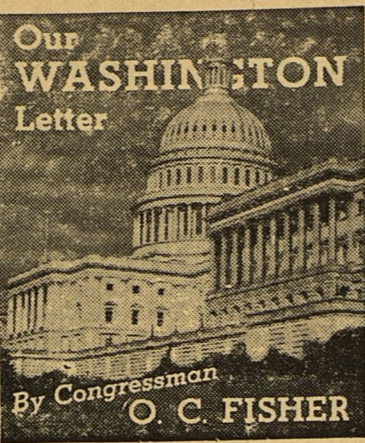

The steers were divided into two lots of 10 head each and hand-fed the same concentrates—ground ear corn and cottonseed meal. They had access to granulated stock salt. One lot was fed finely ground peanut hulls, mixed with the concentrates, as a source of roughage. The other received locally-produced prairie hay from an open bunk.

The hull-fed steers received an average ration of 53.3 percent ground ear corn, 9.4 percent cottonseed meal and 37.3 percent peanut hulls. The hay-fed steers received 59.8 percent ground ear corn, 10.5 percent cottonseed meal and 29.7 percent prairie hay.

Market weights at Houston revealed an average daily gain of 1.29 pounds for the hull-fed lot and 1.23 pounds for the hay-fed lot. On the carcass basis, however, the hay-fed steers had an advantage of 24 pounds per head in gain.

Greatest difference between the lots was in carcass grade. Although single tests do not warrant definite conclusions, Williams points out that the grade and yield of the steers in this test indicate that the use of finely ground peanut hulls is not practical unless the cost of other roughages is extremely high. Other feeding tests with peanut hulls are planned.

A TIDELANDS bill topped the legislative calendar in the House last week, so far as Texas is concerned. On the first test vote it became apparent that the vast majority of the members recognize the need for correction of the confusion and injustices brought about by Supreme Court decisions. By a vote of 270 to 92, the House decided to take the bill up and final passage by a comparable margin was assured.

The bill would wipe out the rank injustices done by the Supreme Court in the Texas case when the high court, by a vote of 4 to 3, brushed aside the solemn agreement between Texas and the Federal Government whereby Texas was admitted to statehood with its boundaries defined as extending 10 1/2 miles from the coast seaward. Other coastal states extend out for a distance of three miles. In other decisions the Court stripped California, Louisiana, and all coastal areas of oil rights under tideland and submerged surfaces. This novel policy was directly contrary to prior decisions and custom and usage that had been universally recognized for 150 years.

ACTUALLY, the fight against tidelands legislation now stems primarily from special interests which hope to preempt leases under submerged lands for nominal sums and get rich at public expense. Many of them, courting the favor of the Administration, have already filed for leases and the Big Grab is on. The passage of the tidelands bill would play havoc with their playhouse.

Unless the Supreme Court's outrageous decisions are corrected by Congress it is feared that the next step, using these decisions as precedents, may be for the Federal Government to eventually lay claim to all petroleum deposits everywhere, along with all other minerals under the ground.

But even with strong House approval, the tidelands legislation has a rough and rugged road to travel before it is finally enacted. It must be approved by the Senate and will then face a Presidential veto, according to all indications. President Truman vetoed a similar measure a few years ago. The House should be able to override a veto handily, but it may not be so easy in the Senate.

THE ECONOMY drive which has been doing some good in the House this year got a set-back last week when a conference report on an appropriation bill increased the number of public housing units to be begun during the next year from 5,000 in the original House action to 50,000 by the Senate.

The House voted, however, to recommit the conference report for further study by the Conference Committee. But it was a close squeeze, the vote for recommitment being 188 to 186. I joined with 8 other Texans in voting to recommit. With the Senate approval of the 50,000 units and the close vote in the House, chances for scaling down the public housing program this year are not very encouraging.

It will be recalled that when public housing was approved by Congress two years ago, the House version squeezed by with a five-vote margin. The mammoth public housing program calls for 800,000 units to be built by Uncle Sam and then rented to so-called "low income" tenants at low rentals. These are designed mostly for the big cities, and the ultimate cost will run around $20 billion. Outside of totalitarian countries it would make the Federal Government about the biggest landlord in the world, and is believed by many to be the strongest single evidence of state socialism which this country has embarked on in its history.

A waste of pennies...

Probably you know a farmer in your community who uses electricity in many different ways, both in the house and on the farm. His bill may be two or three times what yours is.

Probably you say, "I wish I could afford it. He has the money to be able to buy the electric equipment and pay those big bills each month."

You may be putting the cart before the horse. That farmer is making money through the use of electricity, not wasting it on electricity. He is using electricity to free him from chores for more important work. He is using it to prepare and preserve his output so that he can get top prices. He is using it to cut his labor costs.

His wife uses electricity for all of these purposes and also to add a note of luxury and comfort to their home and life. But the luxury is just a by-product. The primary purpose of their use of electricity is making money, not spending it.

Ask your neighbor to give you a profits and loss statement on the use of electricity. Maybe you can also profitably invest some money in electrified farming and living.

Mississippi Flood Is Biggest Sight, State Vacationing Joneses

Naming the Mississippi River flood as the biggest sight of their two weeks' trip north, with skiing in summer a close second, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jones report enthusiastically about their visit in Chicago with their niece and her family, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Curovsky, and daughter Suzanne.

They found other things interesting also; the large Field Museum of Natural history, in which they spent many hours, the sunken gardens, the lakes, Lincoln Park, the beautiful farm lands—to mention a few.

They found it most interesting also to see television everywhere—even in such places as tourist courts. They also attended a summer skiing exhibition: on runs made of crushed ice—Chicago's first try at that particular sport in the summer.

Most interesting to them was the chance to see the huge Mississippi River flood—the first flood of any kind they had ever seen. They report that going into St. Louis their train went very slowly for the last 1½ hours before reaching the station—that there was a mass of water everywhere, and in places only the rails above water.

They were impressed with the destruction—the many acres of corn lying flat in the fields, the bodies of stock in the water, the damage to buildings and other property. They brought back a picture of a horse which was stranded on top of a brick building. They state that they consider themselves fortunate in being able to see a flood of such magnitude, and consider it the biggest sight of the whole trip.

They report that they felt fine during the two weeks they were gone but that they were glad to get back to dry Schleicher County.

Guests Sunday in the O. B. Bradshaw home were Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Dunan of Calf Creek. Supper was served to the guests and to Mrs. Emma Bradshaw, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Dunan, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wade.

Notice: Doctrinal Emphasis week from August 6 through August 10. This is a course for adults and especially those who have recently united with our church by baptism. We trust that many of you adults will take advantage of this study.

The Beginner department of which Mrs. Galbreath is superintendent, won the efficiency banner for July. They will keep this banner all the month of August and may also retain it for September if they are the high department again. Congratulations to Mrs. Galbreath, her teachers, and the fine boys and girls of the Beginner department. Are some of you other departments going to take this banner away from the beginners in August?

Pastor will preach Sunday morning on the subject, "Facing Facts," and the message for Sunday evening will be, "Grace for Divine Satisfaction." We extend to each and all a cordial invitation to be in all of our services. We do try to be, "The friendly church with a spiritual program."

We express our thanks to each worker who helped in the Vacation Bible School at the Baptist Mexican Mission. This mission was closed Saturday night with a commencement program.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Alexander will leave tomorrow for Snyder to take Junior back home after a three weeks' visit in Eldorado.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Alexander left Saturday for Houston where they will help Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Alexander, Jr., move.

Hendersons' Son Weds In California

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Henderson received a phone call from their son J. L. Henderson, of San Francisco, notifying them of his marriage Saturday to Betty Steel, San Francisco business girl.

The marriage took place at 2:00 Saturday afternoon, and the couple are honeymooning in a California resort, after which they will be at home in an apartment in San Francisco. He told his parents Saturday by phone that they expected to get a vacation at Christmas and to visit here then.

J. L. formerly traveled over a large western area as a drug salesman, but at the first of the year started work for the firm in the city of San Francisco.

Barbecue Honors Departing Coaches

Honoring two coaches who are leaving—Coach Ted Kirby and Coach Bud Hopkins—a group of local friends entertained with a picnic supper at the Roadside Park Thursday night.

Coach Kirby will be moving to Crane, and was passing through Eldorado on his way to coaching school; Coach Hopkins will coach at Iraan. Both will move as soon as coaching school is over.

Present for the occasion were Coach and Mrs. Kirby and son, Coach and Mrs. Hopkins and daughter, the Wyndell Hall family, the E. W. Craig family, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Black and family and John Waldrum.

Canadian Trippers Back In Eldorado

With Tabor, Mrs. Hudgens' home town, as their destination, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hudgens made a long trip into Canada which took most of the month of July to complete.

They left Eldorado on July 3, and returned Friday. The trip to Tabor took 3½ days, and they took it straight through, stopping for any length of time, only for the night.

Upon reaching Tabor they found that Mrs. Hudgens' mother was in Edmonton, 400 miles north, preparing for surgery in a hospital there. They drove there and remained with her during the operation and for several days afterward.

On the way back, they went through Waterton, and visited the international peace park, the Glacier National, which is located in Canada and Montana. They stopped at Salt Lake City, where they visited places of interest in the Mormon city, including the tabernacle where they heard an organ concert.

From there they went on south through Nex Mexico, Carlsbad and northwest Texas, arriving home Friday in time for Ray to be back on the job at the Wright and Hudgens' grocery Saturday morning.

Lift Up Your Heart

Valleys or Mountains
We do not like to contemplate the end of life. We are too busy living now. But in our more sober and saner moments we must face up to the fact that life ends. We see the evidences, and if God permits even we of vigor and hair of gold must give way to faltering steps, and hair of silver.

In the realm of the material man has come to be much wiser. In the days of life's springtime we who are wise lay by in store for life's winter time. We who love so much to assert the independence of active youth wish to maintain a semblance of that independence in our last days. Certainly that is a commendable goal.

We like to provide well for those who will carry on our name in posterity. We long to see our children well trained, happily married, and materially independent. That is no selfish wish for a parent, for God put that desire inate in the breast of every true parent.

We wish to put our business in good order for coming of sunset. Wise men leave estates well executed. He who has spent his life in accumulating in honest and orderly manner wishes to see it disposed of in same manner. This is highly desirable and commendable.

But what about the end of our days spiritually? Will there be at the end of the way for us mountains or valleys? The choice, like all the others I have mentioned, must be made before the call to lay down arms comes. The only difference there can be is Jesus. We will either walk into the mountains of eternity at sunset alone, or we will walk into the valley at sunset with our hand in His. Have you made your choice in this vital matter?
