Special from James C. Watson
Midland, Texas

In the Huldale area of north-central Schleicher county, Delta Gulf Drilling Company of Tyler has staked a west offset to its Strawn discovery, No. 1 H. F. Thomson.

The offset will be drilled as the No. 2 H. F. Thomson estate, 467 feet from south and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 71, block TT, TC survey.

The No. 1 Thomson was completed from open hole at 5,751-5,803 feet for a calculated daily potential of 1,270 barrels of 42-gravity oil.

The Ohio Oil Company No. 1 Thomson, east offset to Delta's discovery, is at total depth of 626 feet shut down for repairs. The Ohio No. 1 Thomson is being drilled 467 feet from south and west lines of section 81, block TT, TC survey.

Hiawatha Oil & Gas Company No. 1 J. Forrest Runge, wildcat in north-central Schleicher county, is progressing below 4,497 feet in shale. Location is at the center of the southwest quarter of the sw¼ of section 66, block M, GH&SA survey.

Another Huldale project, American Republics Corporation No. 1 H. F. Thomson, southeast offset to the field discovery, is at total depth of 1,396 feet in shale preparing to run 9 inch intermediate casing. The prospector is located 467 feet from north and west lines of section 82, block TT, TC survey.

J. Ralph Stewart and W. C. Daniel of San Angelo No. 1 Will Lovelace, shallow cable-tool wildcat in central Schleicher county, is digging below 670 feet in sand and lime. The prospector logged a fair show of oil when the section from 658-62 feet was drilled.

Location for the 1,500 foot test is 760 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 4, block M, GM&SA survey. That makes it eight miles east of Eldorado.

Westbrook Oil Corporation No. 1 A. L. Baugh, wildcat in the central portion of Schleicher county, is shut in waiting for potential test to be taken.

At last report, the discovery flowed from 7 to 10 million cubic feet of gas per day from perforated section at 5,728-58 feet. Those perforations were washed with 1,000 gallons of acid. Operator estimated three barrels of distillate per day from each million cubic feet of gas.

Pipe was set in the well at 5,789 feet. Perforations at 5,765-85 feet were swabbed and salt water was recovered. Operator then went back up the hole and perforated at 5,728-58 feet.

Location of the possible gas-distillate producer is 467 feet from southeast corner of section 8, block M, GH&SA survey.

Designated as the opener of the Tankersley Clear Fork field, Frankel Bros. and Shell No. 1 R. S. Williams, recently completed north western Schleicher county strike, has been assigned a 235-barrel a day allowable by the Railroad Commission.

It will be exempt from shutdown for 90 days, dating from Dec. 19. No. 1 Williams was re-completed for a 24-hour flow of 298.1 barrels of 34.2 gravity oil plus 9.5 per cent water through a 20-64-inch tubing choke and 68 perforations from 4,288 to 4,305 feet.

The Clear Fork strike was earlier completed from the Walcamp thru perforations from 5,520 to 5,540 feet, but it was plugged back after production declined.

ANOTHER TEST NEAR "BRUSHY TOP"

C. L. Norsworthy, Jr., and Lone Star Producing Co. staked location for No. 2 R. M. Thomson, southwest offset to No. 1 Thomson, Sutton County's first oil producer, from upper Permian sand at 930-1,016 feet. The slated 2,000-foot, rotary test will be 330 feet from south, 2,310 feet from the east line of section 67-A-HE&WT, 8½ miles northeast of Sonora.

Eldorado to be Location For New Highway Dept. Maintenance Station

With state highways soon to be leading out in all four directions, the importance of Eldorado as a highway center was emphasized this week when the State Highway Department took title to three acres of land here for a new maintenance station.

In a special meeting recently the County Commissioners deeded the State Highway Department three acres of land out of a 13-acre block which the county owns east of the railroad track.

The 3-acre tract lies along Highway No. 151 (the Menard road.)

A Highway Department maintenance station usually consists of offices, material yard, repair shops, etc., and it will probably mean the addition of several permanent families to the population of Eldorado.

Various Road Jobs Under Way

In addition to the new highway which is now being pushed on west to Big Lake, there is tentative approval of a new highway from Eldorado to Mertzon—something that will be worked out over the next three years.

The county was informed this week of approval by the Department of a $14,500.00 seal coat job on the Menard road. This job starts at Eldorado and goes east 14½ miles—a job which will cost exactly $1000 a mile. This highway is only several years old, and the new coating will put it in first class shape before it has a chance to start wearing out.

Out on our west road, equipment was moved in this week to a caliche pit on the Speck ranch. The work now under way is putting the caliche base on the new grade. There are other caliche pits on the University land which will be utilized as the road work moves farther west.

North of Eldorado at the T. K. Jones crossing, work is under way on a job that will eliminate the sharp curves at that crossing.

Three From Eldorado Take Their Physical

Twelve men selected by the five-county Draft Board 110 reported to San Antonio December 28 for physical examinations, according to Mrs. Andre Truden, clerk. Mrs. Truden replaces Mrs. T. K. Neville who resigned recently. Three from Eldorado were included in the list.

Those reporting for physicals were David Shurley, B. M. Halbert III, Roberto Zapata, Fidencio Cardona and Johnne Flores from Sonora; Thomas Black Jr., James Gentry, Junction; Albert Stanford, Arthur Mund and Arthur Espinosa, Eldorado; Daniel Brewer and Rosalio Longoria, Ozona.

Head-On Collision On Highway Friday

James Alexander underwent dental surgery as the result of injuries sustained in a car wreck Friday night on the Sonora road.

Both cars were badly damaged in the accident, and the Mexicans who were driving the other car were lodged in jail pending their trial.

James lost several teeth in the accident, and surgery was required to remove the teeth and close the cuts.

The two cars ran head-on into each other on the Sonora highway near the ball park Friday night. Both will require extensive repairs if they are salvaged.

REORGANIZATION PLANNED FOR BOY SCOUT TROOP

Plans for reorganization of Troop 18, Boy Scouts of America, were announced this week by the Lions Club, which sponsors the troop, and by Scout leaders. Monday night at 7 o'clock the Boy Scouts and prospective members will meet at the Scout hut to lay new plans. The troop has been inactive since James Linsley, Scoutmaster, moved away a while back.

New leaders named for the troop are T. P. Robinson, Jr., and Bill Gunstead, who will be in general charge of the troop and its activities. Robinson is a former Boy Scout and has been a counselor at summer camps for the past several years. Gunstead is also a former Scout and accompanied the local troop to Camp Fawcett one summer.

Named as head of the Boy Scout committee is Jack Black, principal of the Eldorado High school. Mr. Black was active in Scout work in Big Lake before coming to Eldorado last fall, and is well experienced in the administrative duties of troop chairman.

Requirements in the various ranks of Boy Scouts have changed some over the years.

To become a Tenderfoot the boy must be at least 11 years old and pass tests on the Scout oath and law, badge and uniform, and must know the Scout salute and hand-clasp. In addition he learns how to handle simple emergencies and is taught elementary first aid. Also brought out in this study are history of the Flag and its use, fire building precautions, and the uses of ropes and knots.

When a number of Scouts complete their Tenderfoot requirements they are brought into the troop with the Tenderfoot investiture ceremony, by which they are formally welcomed into the troop.

The Second Class rank requires demonstration and use of equipment for hiking, a five-mile hike, first aid, use of the compass, measuring, and map making and reading. These tests also require the cooking of a meal in the open and demonstration of tracking and stalking.

The higher ranks of Star, Life and Eagle call for the development of the numerous skills covered by the merit badge program.

The regular Boy Scout organization now consists of boys aged 11 through 13, leaders point out. Scouts 14 and older are automatically Explorer Scouts, and in some places have their own uniform and troop set-up. However, in a town the size of Eldorado, Explorer Scouts will assist the Scout leaders by helping give tests and in other ways put over the program.

All interested Scouts and their parents, and Scout committeemen are urged to attend Monday night's meeting. Immediate plans for the troop and the advancement program will be discussed.

The other phase of Scouting is Cub Scouting for boys ages 8 through 10. The Cub Scouts meet Monday nights at the Memorial Building with Cubmaster Grover Lee Johnson.

J. B. Morris, Scout executive from the Concho Valley Council, San Angelo, was here this past week assisting local leaders with their plans.

Whites Move Here, Rent Evans House

Byrd White of Iraan, who recently leased the Rock Station, has rented one of the Evans rent houses which the Fundamental Baptist congregation has been using as a parsonage, and is moving there this week.

O. B. Bradshaw trucked their household goods to Eldorado Wednesday from Iraan, and the couple have moved here to make their home.

The family consists of Mr. and Mrs. White, both of whom will be associated. Their children are married and living elsewhere.

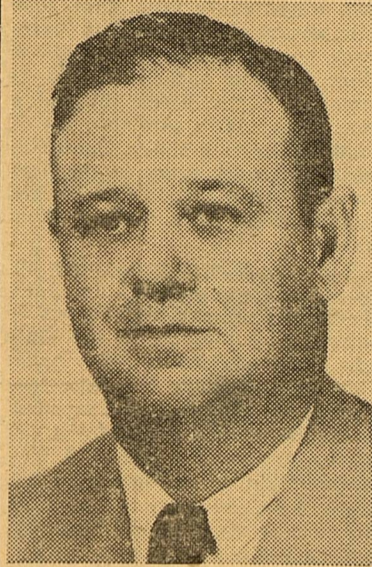

The Kruegers, who had occupied the Evans house, are now living in a trailer.

SINGING THIS SUNDAY

The regular Sunday singing will be held Sunday afternoon from 2 to 4, it was announced this week. Those in charge say they are expecting some visiting song leaders, and urge the attendance of everyone.

The Logans are in charge of carpenter work on renovating and enlarging of the old Scout Hut, now the property of the school. The building is to be renovated for use of the band.

School Shop To Be Available To Adults

According to an announcement by W. M. Griffin, shop instructor at the Eldorado High School, a plan is being worked out whereby the equipment is to be made available for use of adults of this community.

The various tools and machines in the shop are especially adapted for woodwork, such as cabinet and furniture making.

An organization meeting will be held in the shop at 7:30 p.m. Monday, January 11th, and all who are interested are invited to attend. According to Mr. Griffin, he expects to make the shop available on one night each week. What particular night this will be will be decided at the first meeting.

Mr. Griffin points out that he is not setting up "night classes" in woodwork—rather what he aims toward is those people whose hobby is woodwork and who would enjoy the use of modern equipment.

There will be no charge for the use of the machines, but each workman will be expected to pay for the lumber he uses.

Remember, men, the first meeting will be held Monday night at 7:30.

Carrolls Are Back; Purchase Business, Also Lot For House

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Carroll have bought the Noel Jones Service Station, and are planning to operate it as a station, repair shop and laundry.

Their new machines were installed Monday, and the building is being prepared this week for the businesses. Four new Maytags are now in place, and others will probably be installed later.

The Carrolls have been in San Angelo recently, where they sold a store soon after they bought it and returned to Eldorado to go back into business. They made the deal for purchase of the Noel Jones Station last week, and are now doing the work necessary to accommodate service station, repair department, and new laundry.

In addition to the station, the Carrolls are making plans to provide themselves with a renovated residence, which they bought in Marfa and which they are moving to the block east of the telephone property. They bought a 100 by 200 foot lot from Fred Gunstead, and will locate the house on this lot.

They expect to improve the house, which will have six rooms and bath and hardwood floors, and will have an exterior finish of asbestos shingles.

Pending completion of their house, the family are living in the Jones rent house built several years ago by Thurman Zimmermann.

A GOOD OMEN?

One of C. O. Bruton's ewes started the new year Monday by giving birth to three healthy lambs. This particular ewe has had 11 lambs in five lambings—four sets of twins and one set of triplets.

A short crop, increased mill consumption in the U. S., and increased exports have reduced the supply of American cotton to a very low level—less than 17 million bales.

The need for a larger crop in 1951 is clear. A larger crop next year would tend to preserve the market for Texas cotton and the U. S. abroad.

The Schleicher County farmer who works toward diversification and a lesser degree dependent on cotton for his income as a matter of improving his farm business, may find cotton a more attractive cash crop than it has been. He must consider these questions: (1) For how long? If in his judgment the answers to the questions justify an increased cotton acreage on his farm in 1951 and any shifts in other parts of his farm business which such an increase would entail, he should act accordingly. If not, there is nothing in the present cotton situation that would impel him to act against his individual long time best interest.

A high yield of cotton will most likely be profitable in 1951. Most farmers should consider improved practices to get higher yields, lower cost per pound, and increased profits, careful land selection and thorough preparation, good seed, effective insect control and good cultural practices are well justified in 1951. It is not advisable to increase cotton acreage on the individual farm at the expense of a well balanced program. Cotton can be increased on the good land without depleting soil fertility or using labor and other resources inefficiently, on most farms in this county.

Some Long-Term Considerations 1951 and Afterward

(1) In most years weather conditions can be expected to be more favorable for cotton production than in 1950.

(2) As more farmers follow recommended control practices, insect damage will be greatly reduced.

(3) Cotton exports could be drastically reduced in case of another war.

(4) Increasing competition with synthetic fibers can be expected, both at home and abroad. Technical improvements in these fibers and in methods of their production can be expected to continue. The present short supply of cotton will accelerate efforts to improve synthetics.

(5) Improvement in breeding, growing, processing, handling and marketing of cotton is expected to continue.

(6) Increasing population in the United States will tend to increase the American demand for cotton.

(7) A continued high level of employment and general prosperity in the United States would tend to hold domestic demand for cotton at a high level. This seems likely as long as the present program of national defense continues.

(8) Exports of American cotton have reached their pre-war volume for the first time during the year beginning in August 1949. Importing countries might buy American cotton in greater volume than last year (5.8 million bales) if it were available to them. Each cotton grower must decide what steps he will take to help preserve the foreign market for his cotton.

Some Bullish Factors

1. Short Crop. The 1950 crop of 9.7 million bales is 39% smaller than 1949 crop; 17% smaller than most recent 10-year average crop.

There were two major factors causing low U. S. production in 1950: Reduction in acreage from 27 million in 1949 to 18 million in 1950. Reduction in yield from 284 pounds in 1949 to 257 pounds in 1950. A yield of about 280 pounds in 1950 would have been in line with the recent 10 year yield trend.

2. Mill Consumption Up. American mills used 1.8 million bales of domestic cotton in August and September—an annual rate of 10 million bales. For the year ending July 31, 1950, consumption was 8.9 million bales, and the year before 7.8 million bales. Present rate of domestic use is not high when compared to consumption for the war period of 10.4 million bales. The amount consumed annually by U. S. mills for the 10 years preceding World War II was 6.2 million bales.

3. Export Demand Stronger. Exports for the year ending July 31, 1950, totaled 5.8 million bales—up 21% from the year before. This (Continued On Page 2)

rate of export may be compared with annual exports for the first 3 post-year years, of 3 million bales. It is about four times the rate of exports during World War II, but only slightly higher than the rate during the 5 years immediately preceding this period—5.3 million bales yearly.

4. Reduced Supply. The prospective supply for the current cotton year is around 16.7 million bales, (6.8 million bales on hand Aug. 1, 1950, plus the 1950 crop of 9.7 million bales plus prospective imports of around 0.2 million bales). This prospective supply is 22 per cent smaller than that of last year.

If mill consumption should continue at the August-September rate and exports this year should equal those of last, the carry-over on August 1, 1951, would be about zero. This would be impossible, for mills would have to stop running before stocks were entirely exhausted. The lowest carry-over in the past 30 years was 1.6 million bales on August 1, 1923. Average carry-over in the past 30 years has been approximately 6.5 million bales. In view of the short supply, exports other than to Canada have been limited to 2 million bales during the period August 1, 1950 through March 31, 1951. This quota has been increased some 62 per cent by the Secretary's directive of November 9.

Prices

Prices of cotton depend more upon general economic conditions—on employment and prosperity or the lack of them—than on anything else. However, they also depend on the supply of cotton and the demand for it. In the past 30 years there have been four periods when the total supply of American cotton has been less than 18 million bales—as it is now. The first was the 4-year period 1921-24. In that period cotton prices averaged 23 cents per pound. The second was the 3-year period 1927-29 when cotton brought an average of 18 cents. The others were 2-year periods, 1934-35 and 1946-47. In these periods, average prices were 11 cents and 32 cents respectively. All four of them were periods of high prices of cotton as compared with the periods of larger supply which preceded and followed them.

Demand is not as easily measured as supply, but it appears that foreign demand is at least as strong as in the late thirties. The present inability of foreign customers to buy all of the American cotton they would like to buy poses a problem on future foreign demand. However, synthetic fiber plants cannot be built and brought into production in a short time. The foreign carry-over of cotton is low and foreign production this year is not up enough to offset the reduced American crop. Thus the world supply for the current cotton year is expected to be somewhat smaller than for last.

American mill consumption is nearly 50 per cent larger than it was in the twenties and thirties. As long as demand is as strong as it now is, and until the supply is increased substantially, prices of cotton are likely to be high as compared with prices in most of the years past.

If there should be a carry-over of 1.5 million bales on August 1, 1951, and if a crop of 16 million bales is harvested in 1951, the total supply would be 17.5 million bales for the next cotton year. A crop of about 16 million bales each year would be about equal to current American mill consumption 10 million bales and last year's exports (5.8 million). A crop of 16 million bales would be about equal to that of 1949 (15.9 million). It may be compared with average annual production during the period 1933-40 of 12.3 million bales and during the period 1941-50 of 11.5 million.

Cotton Legislation

At present, law provides for support of cotton prices at 80 to 90 per cent of parity. They are currently supported at 90% of parity and the loan rate on middling 15/16 cotton is 29.45 cents per pound.

Under the present law, acreage planted to cotton in 1951 would be considered as a part of the base acreage in establishing future cotton acreage allotments.

Clean Up And Fix Up The Barn

COLLEGE STATION—Farmers in most sections of the state have either completed the job of harvesting or will soon do so. Chances are good that some time will be available now for doing jobs that have been neglected and one of these should be a clean up campaign that centers around the barn. During the winter months, most of the farm chores center around barns and they should be made safe.

Extension agricultural engineer W. L. Ulich of Texas A&M College says, the first step in the clean up campaign should be to go over the barn with a critical eye and locate the accident hazards and inconveniences. The second step is to correct them.

Here are a few things that should be on your check list. Watch out for loose objects or obstructions that might cause falls. High door sills, abrupt changes in floor levels, weak boards, protruding cleats or other tripping hazards should be removed. Better check the floors, says Ulich and be sure they are all solid and in good shape. The alleyways and work areas in the barn should be given a good cleaning and should always be kept clear of obstacles.

There is little excuse, points out Ulich, for farmers to do their chores in the dark since about 90 percent of all farms in the state now have electricity. He urges farmers to light up the dangerous corners the alleyways and especially the rooms where pitchforks and other equipment is stored. A well located light in the barnyard will make the night trips to and from the barn or other outbuildings safer he adds.

The loft doors, feed chutes and ladders should be carefully checked for a weak rung in the ladder can be the cause of a serious accident. Heavy loads should not be carried to and from the loft of the barn by way of a ladder. A well built stairway that is hand-railed and kept clean should be used. Feed chutes and elevated platforms should be constructed with guard rails.

Ulich says that all farmers should remember that their barns and other outbuildings will be safe and convenient only if they are constructed with these items in mind, and then only if they are properly maintained and cared for.

"Forage Program For The Dairy Herd"

COLLEGE STATION — "Good grass is the cheapest and best food for a dairy cow. Grazing must be supplemented with hay and silage to supply all the forage that cows will eat every day of the year."

There is nothing new in the above quotation, but the publication from which it was lifted is brand new. It appears on the front of a new circular prepared by Texas A&M College extension specialists.

Extension Circular No. 286, "A Forage Program for the Dairy Herd," is just what the title implies—a complete outline for a forage program. It was prepared by four extension specialists—Richard E. Burleson, associate dairy husbandman; A. W. Crain, associate pasture specialist; E. A. Miller, agronomist; and M. K. Thornton, agricultural chemist.

The publication gives in table form the recommended grasses and legumes for Texas. These pasture plants are listed under soil area, type of pasture, and growing season. On the back of the circular, the specialists have included a map showing the different soil areas of the state. The recommended fertilizer applications are also given for the different classes of pasture plants for each soil area.

Another table lists the grasses and legumes grown in Texas that are suitable for hay crops. It also gives the cutting stages for the different classes of forage plants and certain recommended hay production practices. The last column of the table gives suggestions for feeding the hay.

A third table contains information on silage. Suitable plants, cutting stages, and recommended production practices are listed along with information on storing silage.

The requirements per cow for the three forms of forage—grazing, hay, and silage—are given at the top of the respective tables. This six-page circular carries a great deal of information in a very condensed but easily understood form. Dairy men may obtain copies from their local county agents.

Two Eldorado, Texas, seaman apprentices, Harlan Clark McAlpine, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McAlpine, and Donald Ray Dannheim, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Dannheim, recently completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif., and have been assigned to one of the Navy's schools for specialized training.

During this period of training, they underwent intensive drill in such subjects as signaling, navigation, basic ordnance and seamanship. They also were indoctrinated into the ways of the Navy and learned the customs of the service.

Texas Draft Call Has 80 Percent Hike

State Selective Service headquarters has been notified officially by national headquarters that the Texas combined January-February draft call has been increased by 80 per cent.

Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director, said this week that a telegram was received from Washington showing the new adjusted January-February call as 8,279.

The original combined call for the two months was 4,596, an increase of 3,683. The adjusted calls to Texas followed Department of Defense action increasing national call for the two months from 90,000 to 160,000.

State Selective Service headquarters is now preparing adjusted calls to local draft boards for January, the state director said. Calls to the local boards for February will not be sent out until January.

"Texas is in good position to fill these adjusted calls without running short of examined and acceptable men," General Wakefield said. "We had a lot of men examined during August, September and October."

The state draft director indicated that the state "must step up physical examinations for the months ahead," and said that "our headquarters already has been in conference with Army examining officials to get the job done."

General Wakefield said that "only a few hundred men were examined in November and a similar amount scheduled in December." He revealed that about 4,000 men are being called for examination after Christmas, this decision being made after increased calls for January and February were received.

The state director also revealed that physical examinations to be made in January, originally planned for 7,500 men, have been increased to almost 15,000. Local boards will receive adjusted calls later. No decisions have been made in regard to physical examinations for February.

Guests of the Sam Oglesbys during the New Year's weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Oglesby of College Station, and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Lovelace of Brownwood.

DAR Chapter Meets In Regular Session

The El Dorado Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. L. M. Hoover with Miss John Alexander as Co-hostess. The Regent, Miss Alexander, presided and Mrs. E. C. Hill served as secretary in the absence of Mrs. V. G. Tisdale. The Chaplain, Mrs. J. E. Tisdale, used the subject of her devotional "Jesus Christ, the same yesterday, today and forever" and urged the members to have Faith in God during these uncertain times. Mrs. J. M. Hays led in singing the national anthem. In the business session the hour of meeting was changed from 2 to 3 p.m.; the Chapter voted to place a D. A. R. marker at the grave of our recently departed member, Mrs. Joe B. Edens; Mrs. Mary D. Coupe was elected to fill out the unexpired term of treasurer; a nominating committee, consisting of Mrs. E. C. Hill, Mrs. C. M. McWhorter and Mrs. L. M. Hoover, was elected.

Mrs. A. E. Prugel, Music Chairman, gave a brief history of the writing of "America" and the group sang two verses of this familiar song.

National Defense was the subject of the program which followed, with Mrs. W. O. Alexander being leader. Mrs. Hoover gave news items concerning plans for our National Defense and what is being done to prepare our nation for an emergency. Mrs. Prugel read a paper on "What the D. A. R. can do for National Defense." The important part that women can play in Civil Defense in case of attacks was emphasized by both speakers. The holiday motif was used in decorating the mantel; and the National Colors were emphasized by white flowers, flanked by tall blue tapers in red candle holders on the lace covered dining table.

A salad course was served to the following members: Mesdames W. O. Alexander, Ernest Hill, John H. Lueddecke, C. M. McWhorter, J. E. Tisdale, J. M. Hays and the hostesses from Eldorado: Mrs. Ernest S. Goens and Mary Hoover of Dallas, and Mrs. Prugel of Sonora. Visitors were Mrs. C. E. Gary who is a member of a chapter in San Marcos and Mrs. Gene Harvey, of San Angelo.

Range Notes

By W. G. GODWIN
Ranchers are nearing the time of year as dry as it is that the feeding of alfalfa hay or alfalfa leaf meal is a necessity.

If the ewe is not in a strong condition at present and is to be lambd in March or April, pregnancy disease will probably show up.

The last six weeks of the gestation period the total feed requirement is increased 15-25% in protein, 25% in ton requirements. The fetus of a ewe develops 75% in weight the last six weeks. The average weight of the lamb at birth is 5-12 pounds.

During the lactation period there is a 12% increase in the amount feed over the last six weeks of gestation period, 30% increase in the digestible protein, 25% increase in total digestive nutrients.

Usually the first ewes effected are those that are to bring twin lambs.

The best way to prevent pregnancy disease is to feed some alfalfa hay before the last six weeks the ewes are to lamb—feeding a liberal amount during the last six weeks, when green pasturage is not available.

Drenching with blackstrap molasses after the ewe is down is advisable as the 88% sugar in black strap is readily available to the ewe.

Stock farmers have reported 3 cases of pregnancy disease in December.

Jack and Gene Moore attended the Cotton Bowl game at Dallas last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Thad Thomson have gone to Houston to visit.

Holiday visitors in the W. O. Faulk home were Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Adkinson and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ray Daniels and son, all of San Angelo.

News From Our Neighbors

Water For Santa Anna

The Santa Anna water supply from Lake Brownwood is undergoing a test period at the present time, and it is expected that the City Officials will accept the project sometime early in January. The water is being pumped 6 hours each day, with the water being run in Lake Sealy. Early this week the contractor was getting releases from property owners, finishing fixing fences along the right of way and getting the project ready to turn over to the city. —Santa Anna News.

Union Christmas Tree

This year the Baptist, Methodist and Christian Churches of Mertzon joined in a union tree at the Methodist Church.

The tree, a native cedar, one of the largest trees we ever saw, was brought in early in the week by Hayden Ellis, Irion County ranchman, and erected in the southeast corner of the new Methodist Church auditorium and decorated with Christmas lights and ornaments. Truly a very beautiful tree. It was loaded to capacity with presents that spilled out on the floor underneath the tree. —Mertzon Weekly Star.

Road Work Okayed

Announcement was received this week that the State Highway Engineer in Menard County has been directed to proceed with the following road work: Additional surface and a seal coat is to be done on Highway 151, 6 1/2 miles East of Menard to 6.6 miles west of the Mason County line. This will be a six-mile project. Additional surface and a seal coat is to be applied to State Highway 151 from Menard to the Schleicher County line. This will be 20.8 miles of work. The above work is to be done in the most feasible and economical manner, and is a result of the National Emergency just proclaimed by the President. The State Highway Commission has taken this action to preserve the investment in our existing highway system. —Menard News.

Printshop for Bronte

At first glance at this paper, we know our readers will say, "What, No News?" and that is exactly the way it is this week. The reason is simple and we feel that under the circumstances we are entitled to come out early. Here's the reason: Our printing plant is enroute from Abilene to Bronte, thus making it necessary to print this paper a week ahead of time. We have filled these four pages with New Year's greetings from your friends, the merchants of Bronte, and with highlights of the happenings of 1950, the year which will be gone in another two days. A few New Year's features were thrown in, too, where we needed a filler. —Bronte Enterprise.

Suit Filed vs Board

A suit for damages in the amount of $50,000 has been filed in 112th district court here by Jack McIntosh, former superintendent of the Ozona schools, against T. A. Kincaid, Jr., Crockett county ranchman, automobile dealer and member of the school board which on October 23 asked for McIntosh's resignation as superintendent "for the good of the schools and the community."

The suit was filed by a Big Spring law firm on behalf of the former superintendent, the petition alleging among other things that McIntosh was "forced to submit his letter of resignation from such position on threat of being discharged."

Named in the petition as members of the school board at the time of the incident were Max Schneeman, chairman, Vernon Ratliff, secretary, W. E. Friend, Jr., Brock Jones, Beecher Montgomery, C. O. Walker and T. A. Kincaid, Jr. The other board members, however, were not named as defendants in the suit.

The petition alleges that at a special meeting of the school board on October 22, the defendant "falsely and maliciously represented to the other members of the aforesaid school board that the plaintiff herein, Jack McIntosh, was a person of immoral character and unfit, morally, to hold the public office of Superintendent of the Crockett County Consolidated Common School District No. 1."

Details of the accusation were recounted and denied and the petition alleges that the defendant's "sole intent was to secure a discharge of the plaintiff from the position he held."

McIntosh's resignation was announced by the board chairman following a meeting in which the board interviewed a 13-year-old Junior High School student and an Ozona business man. —Ozona Stockman.

Shelter Should Be Provided For Hogs

COLLEGE STATION — Swine influenza and human influenza are closely related. In fact, the virus of human influenza have been known to produce flu in swine. Therefore, the same basic principles apply for the control of flu in swine as in human beings.

If good shelters are not provided, hogs are in great danger of contracting flu when cold damp nights follow warm days, says Dr. W. C. Banks, veterinarian for the Texas A&M Extension Service. He says that hogs, like human beings, need a warm, dry place in which to sleep.

At this time of year, he recommends that all hogs be inspected daily for symptoms of flu. Once swine influenza appears, it spreads rapidly through the entire herd.

Infected pigs become listless and go off feed. Their breathing is labored and jerky and they cough and usually have a high temperature. They appear to be very sick. The animals usually recover rapidly after five or six days of sickness.

Although swine flu is seldom fatal, it causes a big loss in flesh and slows down the rate of gain, says Dr. Banks. He advises putting infected hogs on a laxative diet—one that contains some bran or some oil meal.

Some of the new drugs are effective in helping to control flu in swine. However, Dr. Banks warns that they should not be expected to take the place of a warm, dry hog house.

Post Script

The holly and the Santas have disappeared from Eldorado stores, and show windows and store shelves are beginning to look natural again, after the long holiday buying period. Merchants are glad to put the goods away for another year, and to gear their business to normal demand and normal pace.

Not that things are normal yet. There's a lot of work ahead. There is the routine first-of-the-month work, the bills and collecting, and reordering to fill in depleted stock.

And, too, there is the annual reckoning with Uncle Sam confronting everyone—whatever system a businessman uses, it's work, and it hurts in the pocketbook.

Monday was New Year's Day, and a few of us old slaves to the business system were on the job, on the QT.

Coulter was working on books—the two lumber yards, Cameron's and Foxworth, had their crews on the job, inventorying—Mr. and Mrs. George Long were working behind soaped windows in their new building in which new shelving and tables for their new store have appeared practically by magic—the Roy Phelps and Archie Wright and Ray Hudgens, were on the job—so were the Turnbows, closing out their news stand, and the Tom Carrolls, moving into their new filling station and laundry—to mention a few. And Earl Parker was proud of the fact that he and his crew were nearly through with their inventorying before the day was over.

And nearly everyone faces the new year with a feeling of dread. It's an uncertain time. There may be serious shortages again—and there may be problems a lot more serious than that. Everyone has the feeling that things may get rougher, and he should be braced for it.

Winter coats will take part in the Easter parade this year, if the date is any indication.

The 1951 Easter date will be March 25, the earliest the religious holiday has been designated in some time. It will fall earlier in 2008—in case people living today would like to look forward to a real early date—March 23. It fell that early in 1913, but not since.

Commemorating the resurrection of Jesus, the third day after Calvary, Easter is primarily a religious holiday. Governed by the ecclesiastical calendar, the date is not fixed as Christmas is, but is movable.

A variation of 35 days has been chalked up in the past, the date falling as early as March 22 and as late as April 25.

The method of setting the date of Easter was set in 325, at the Nicean council at Nicaea. At that time, in addition to formulating church creed, it was decided to set Easter the first Sunday after the vernal full moon on or after March 21. Choice of that time was guided by the moon—a full moon was needed in those days of dark streets and roads—many pilgrims traveling at night to take part in church observances on Easter Sunday.

It is stressed that computation of the date is made according to an ecclesiastical, not an astronomical, full moon.

So—because the date has nothing to do with the modern Easter parade—Milady must remember that she may need a coat one year, and may get by with summer things, the next.

The Leonard Lloyd family spent the day Sunday in Paint Rock with Mrs. Lloyd's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hoffman. They were accompanied by James Logan.

Milton Faught and his family and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Sauer were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Sauer on New Year's Day.
