Mrs. Cornelia Mund Rites Held Tuesday

Elder Newman Lykens of Lometa conducted funeral services at 4 p.m. Tuesday at the Ratliff home for Mrs. Cornelia C. Mund. Mrs. Mund died early Sept. 21, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Anna Faulk.

Blind over 25 years, Mrs. Mund had never fully recovered from a recent fall. Born Cornelia Nixon, in 1865, in Fredericksburg, she lived there or nearby until 1920 when she came to Schleicher Co. to live with some of her children. In 1883 she was married to August Mund and the mother of seven children. One son, Emil, of Fredericksburg, preceded her in death. Other survivors are two sisters, Mrs. Minnie Gibson of San Antonio, Mrs. Hannah Baethge of Doss. Four brothers, Willie Nixon of Brownwood, Philip and David of Valley Springs and Ed of Fredericksburg. Three sons, August Jr. of Fredericksburg, Otto of San Angelo, Arthur J. of Eldorado, three daughters, Mrs. Edna Cornbl of Fredericksburg, Mrs. Anna Faulk and Mrs. Bertie Faught of Eldorado. Thirty-one grandchildren, 47 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Burial under direction of Ratliff Home was in Eldorado cemetery and grandsons acted as pallbearers. Mrs. Mund was a faithful member of the Primitive Baptist Church for over 50 years.

Kenneth Doyle and Mrs. Ruby Dameron drove to Seadrift Saturday night after their parents Mr. and Mrs. Will Doyle who have been visiting there two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Blackmon.

Take It Easy!

Vacation is over and our children are back in school, romping and playing, to and from and around the school, are apt to be mighty careless where safety rules are concerned, which means we are going to have to drive twice as careful.

Check yourself on the following points.

1. Drive slowly in the school area when children are crossing the streets.

2. Co-operate with the Safety Patrol. These little boys are safety minded. They are protecting our children.

Give the children the right-of-way — stop and give them the go ahead signal, if you are worried about a little fellow dashing in front of you. It is better to get there a little late, than to be sorry you got in a hurry.

4. Drive defensively in thickly populated areas where children play after school.

5. Stay clear of bicyclists—they may lose control and fall in your path.

Be safety minded. It may not be your child, but it might be your neighbors child. Take it easy.

—P.T.A. Safety Chairman

Ginners Report 528 Bales To Date

528 bales of cotton had been ginned at the local gin at the time the Success went to press late Wednesday. This is a gain of only 183 bales ginned since the same time last week. Last week's score was 206. This might or might not indicate that a peak had been reached.

Ray Bruton, who farms in the Reynolds community is reported to have brought in the largest number of bales so far this season.

In addition to his recent employment at Sweetwater, Mr. Biggs' newspaper experience goes back some twenty years when he set type by hand on the Lometa Reporter. Other Texas towns where he gained experience include Sulphur Springs, Denton, Temple, Cameron and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Biggs have two children: Laura Sue, 4, and David Michael, 2. They are making their home in the Finnegan rent house, formerly known as the Mrs. F. B. Clark place. The family are members of the Methodist church.

Eagles 'Outplay' Melvin and Lose By 25 to 6

In a razzle-dazzle game before a large crowd here last Friday night, the Eldorado Eagles went down to defeat 25-6 before the free-wheeling Melvin Bulldogs—and still a spectator could claim the Eagles out-played the Bulldogs about two-thirds of the time.

The game opened with Melvin receiving the kick-off. In their next four attempts to advance the ball they were unable to get any where, and Eldorado took over.

From that point it began to look bad for Melvin. The Eagles advanced the ball in a series of first downs all the way down the field and into Melvin's pay-dirt area. Then something went wrong and the ball went over to Melvin. The Bulldogs began to stiffen up and it started to look like a good game. The Eagles continued to look good and they penetrated Melvin's 20-yard line three times, losing twice on fumbles. At the end of the first quarter the score still stood 0-0.

Melvin got their first score in the middle of the second quarter, and the half ended with Melvin 6 and Eldorado 0.

Opening the second half the Eagles came back strong and in about the first two minutes of play Pennington went across for a TD. This tied up the score 6-6, since neither side had been successful in their attempt for extra point.

Right along here, when it looked like any body's game — Lady Luck decided to take up with the Bulldogs — or was it that the Eagles were getting tired? — at any rate Melvin came right back and scored with a nice long pass. They did it again at the other end of the field about two minutes later. Then, as if this were not enough, Melvin's Lynn Garner got off a lope of about 35 yards to make the fourth tally — in the last few minutes of the game.

The final — and amazing — score was Melvin 25, and Eldorado 6 — and we don't know yet how it happened.

TO BIG LAKE TOMORROW

Whatever lessons the Eagles learned last Friday will be put to good use tomorrow when the local boys journey to Big Lake for their third non-conference game. Just how good the Reagan Owls are is hard to tell, but they were badly defeated by Sonora last Friday.

Eldorado fans still think the Eagles have an organization that will give a good account of itself, and a large delegation will undoubtedly follow them to Big Lake tomorrow night.

PEP SQUADS PERFORM AT HALF LAST FRIDAY

The Melvin Pep Squad dressed in colors white and red, gave a drill at the half here last Friday night which was enjoyed by the large crowd.

They were followed by the Eldorado Band and Pep Squad — green and white — whose performance was also enthusiastically received.

NEIGHBOR GAMES

Football scores by some of the neighboring towns last Friday night were:

Sonora 60, Big Lake 13.
Junction 21, Llano 14.
Bronte 34, Robert Lee 25.
Ozona 31, Coahoma 7.
Mason 18, Menard 0.
Eden 7, Wylie 6.

Mrs. Frances Mund had all her children home for a visit this week end. Coming from New Braunfels on Friday night was "Tart" Mund and family. On Saturday the Wendell Yates of San Angelo joined with the local members of the family, the L. D. Munds and the Orville-Edmists to make the group complete.

OPEN HOUSE TUESDAY NIGHT OPENS PTA YEAR

The first meeting of the 1954-55 Parent Teacher Association year began with a large group of interested parents and patrons gathered in the high school auditorium. Mrs. Edward Meador was program leader for the evening. Invocation by Rev. Jas. Spencer was followed by presentation of the colors and pledge to the flag led by Jim Cheek, Supt. T. E. Holcomb in a brief address stated that it takes "many club organizations to make up a school." He added that 16 members of the faculty have masters' degrees, each member has a degree and that 23 of 34 of last years graduating class have entered college and it is up to everyone to work together to better the previous record each year.

The entire school plant valued at more than three-quarters of a million dollars was open for inspection. Band director Bill Saylor presented the band; and Miss Joan Fudge introduced the pep squad, leaders, twirlers and flag bearers. Coaches Algood, Warren and Baker introduced the members of their teams.

At the social hour refreshments were served in the cafeteria. Members of the executive board were hostesses and members of Mrs. Krelow's home making classes served punch and cakes from a table covered with imported linen and centered with an arrangement of sunflowers in copper. Room count awards went to Mrs. Hall's 2nd grade; Mrs. C. E. Love's 5th grade, the 7th grade and 9th grade.

Grilled Welsh Rabbit

Here's a Welsh Rabbit, that male-approved favorite of blended cheese and beer, in a new party version. It's given a decorative, broiled topping before serving.

Traditionally, a Welsh Rabbit is made in a chafing dish and prepared with ceremony—usually by the man of the house—before the eyes of guests. The illustrated "rabbit" is equally impressive and ideal for anyone who does not own a chafing dish. For easy, help-yourself service, set the prepared casserole on a large platter and surround it with toast triangles. Of course, the classic and only beverage that really belongs with Welsh Rabbit is zesty beer. A green salad also is a welcome accompaniment.

GRILLED WELSH RABBIT (Makes 4-6 servings)

1 tablespoon butter
1 pound aged cheddar or sharp processed cheese, grated or cut in small pieces

1/2 cup beer
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cayenne

In top of double boiler over hot (not boiling) water, melt butter. Add cheese and as it begins to melt, gradually stir in beer. Cook only until smooth and hot, stirring constantly. Mix in seasonings. Pour into shallow heatproof casserole. If desired, top with several thin slices of additional cheese. Broil only until top is bubbly and lightly browned.

Grass was meant to be eaten, but — like many other things nature has provided for the use of mankind, we quite often over do it. Instead of working with her in providing an abundance of grass we have taken away her very means of producing this much needed feed. By neglecting to leave enough grass each year to cover the soil and hold the rainfall where it falls we have also taken away its chance for reproduction and survival.

For example, F. J. Crider, retired nursery chief of the Soil Conservation Service, has been working with grass to find what happens when grass is overgrazed.

Everybody knows an overgrazed pasture has a hard time recovering, but exactly why is not always fully known. Now comes Mr. Crider to report that root growth stops for a while on both cool-season and warm-season grass, when it's bitten off by too large a mouthful, and the shorter it's bitten, the longer it takes for the root to resume growth.

When foliage was cut real short, he found that root growth stopped within 24 hours and remained dormant from 6 to 18 days, and didn't resume until top growth was well-advanced once more. In other words by eating his grass off short this man reduced his growing season by one to nearly three weeks and hence a lesser amount of forage. If the grass is kept cropped off real short for nearly its entire growing season you can easily visualize what happens to the roots. The grass is in a weakened and unproductive condition now; its roots are shallow and all but dead — it'll be the first to die if a rain and relief from grazing doesn't come fast.

There is a definite relation to the amount of grass clipped off to the amount of root growth down beneath. Clip half the foliage, and 2 to 4 percent of the root stops growing for 14 days. When 90 percent of the foliage was removed, root growth was halted completely for 17 days and 40 percent of the roots were still inactive at the end of a 33 day test. He also found more severe effects from frequently repeated clippings such as would occur with continued grazing, although he found that removal of 40 percent of the foliage doesn't halt root growth at all.

In other words, grass was meant to be eaten, but not all of it. It's just one more argument for not overstocking and for giving that grass a much needed rest. Let's plan on trying to lay out a pasture during the next growing season. Give it a chance to come back. The Eldorado-Divide Soil Conservation District will be glad to provide you with whatever assistance you may need in treating your land.

Beef And Cheese — October's Plentiful

College Station — Beef and cheese take the spotlight on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's October plentiful foods list.

Here's why, says U.S.D.A. Cattle slaughter is running ahead of last year's all time high and stocks of cheddar cheese are the largest in history.

With supplies of these two essential commodities so large, prices should be attractive enough to push consumption to the highest peaks ever reached, believes John J. Slaughter of the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Stocks of many foods which were heavy a month ago have increased, and still are listed as plentiful. These include: broilers and fryers, chicken hens and turkeys, milk and other dairy products, rice, salad oils and vegetable shortenings.

We have been emphasizing medium and small eggs, but now all eggs are plentiful and seasonally cheap, says Slaughter. Also, there are two newcomers to October's list, shrimp and frozen haddock.

Slugger Wins the "Home" Game

Slugger White, the home town's star hitter, dropped by the other day to talk baseball, and to "tell one" on himself.

Seems Slugger had been baby-sitting. "I was doing just fine," he said, "until it was time for a 'change.' I called Mom for advice. Still didn't get it right. Then Dad set me straight."

"Place the diaper like a baseball diamond with you at bat," he said. "Fold second base over home plate, and pin first and third base on home plate." That did it—with no errors!"

From where I sit, Slugger's Dad had the idea. Often, like his Mom, a lot of us tend to give advice in our terms without considering the other fellow's way of doing things. Even in choosing your favorite beverage, it's best to think of your neighbor. If you like tea, and I prefer a temperate glass of beer, we should both "play the game" and try to understand each other's point of view.

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK BY TED GOULDY

CALVES SELL DOLLARS ABOVE LAST SEPTEMBER

Fort Worth — Just a year ago this week the calf market was at its lowest ebb in years. There was virtually no stocker trade on calves and yearlings, with the heavy September receipts of 1953 moving largely into packer channels.

The break in calf prices of around 50 cents per hundred at Fort Worth Monday, with some spots on medium kinds of stockers around 50 cents to $1 per hundred lower, still left prices far ahead of a year ago on calves.

On Monday good and choice slaughter calves brought $14 to $17, and a year ago on September 24th, good and choice slaughter calves were quoted at $11 to $14.50, few above $13.50. Cull, common and medium slaughter calves Monday sold from $8 to $13.50, and a year ago at this time drew $6 to $11.

Stocker and feeder calves topped at $16 to $17 a year ago as against $18.50 to $19.50 at Ft. Worth Monday. Steer yearlings at $15 to $15.50 a year ago, compared with $16 to $18 Monday.

Fat steers enjoy a better market than a year ago at this same date, but cows and bulls are not selling as well. Good and choice fat steers and yearlings at $17 to $23 at mid-September of 1953, compare with $19 to $24 at this time. Common and medium grassers at $7 to $15 a year ago compare with cattle sold this week at $10 to $18.50.

Fat cows a year ago drew $9.50 to $13, and this week at Ft. Worth sold at $8.50 to $12.50, while canners and cutters a year ago drew $6 to $9.50, and cutters sell from $5 to $9, with some shelly canners under $5.

Bulls sold at Ft. Worth a year ago from $8 to $13, and Monday drew $8 to $12, a few $12.50.

Monday's trade at Fort Worth saw fat steers and yearlings steady to weak, spots 25 to 50 cents off. Cows were steady. Bulls were steady to strong. Slaughter calves were mostly 50 cents lower. High grade stockers were steady to 50 cents lower, with medium and plain quality from 50 cents to $1 off.

Hoes Under A Year Ago

The hoes were 25 to 50 cents lower at Fort Worth Monday and the top of $20.00 to $20.25 was the lowest ebb of the year. However, this was well above the $19.50 and $19.75 tops at Chicago and Kansas City.

A year ago this week, ton hoes drew $25.25 to $25.50 at Ft. Worth. Sows at $20 to $23.50 a year ago, compared with $14 to $18 on Monday.

FEED LAW CHANGES ARE PROPOSED

San Angelo — If the present and out dated feed laws of Texas are rewritten by the next legislature, a great deal of credit must be given three members of the Texas Sheep and Goat Ransers' Association.

It started several months ago when a committee composed of T. A. Kincaid, Jr., Ozona; Leo Richardson, Iraan; Raymond Hicks, Bandera, all TC&GRA members, was appointed by President Pfluger to study Texas feed laws and was brought to a climax a couple of weeks ago when the Texas Farm Bureau Federation held a meeting in Waco with this committee, representatives of Texas A & M College, and other livestock organizations.

Following a thorough discussion by the representatives of work each organization had done, it was agreed that probably the most practical way to get the type of program desired would be by a complete re-write of present feed control laws.

The next job of the combined committees is to present the proposed re-write to the legislature which will meet in January.

Hastily Signed Home Purchase Contract May Cause Trouble

The signing of a contract of sale is an extremely important step in the purchase of a home. Once buyer and seller have signed, they are bound by the provisions of the contract. Their respective legal rights in the transaction are thereby set and determined. If the contract is poorly and haphazardly drawn, a harvest of regret may be reaped at a later date.

Sales contracts are often called by other names, such as earnest money contracts, binders, receipts, etc. All of them are for the same purpose and almost without exception involve the deposit of money by the buyer. Some require the seller to put up a good faith deposit. The fact that such deposited sums are usually to be forfeited in event the depositor later fails to go thru with his specified contractual obligations lends additional weight to the often stated admonition that no contract should be signed without complete understanding as to its terms.

But many home purchasers (and sellers) rush to sign a hastily prepared contract with very little knowledge of its contents. The pressure of time, the informality of the occasion, the casual appearance of the contract, and perhaps the fact that a partially printed form is used may contribute in causing the true importance of the act to be overlooked. At any rate, many are lulled into a lapse of good business judgement.

Every significant detail of the bargain should be crystallized in unmistakable terms in the contract of sale. Land and fixtures being sold should be clearly described. A complete description of the property by lot and block, or by metes and bounds, is a must, the street number being inadequate by itself.

Articles and fixtures included in the sale but not always sold with houses generally should be specifically listed. Included in this category are such items as venetian blinds, removable floor coverings, draperies, air conditioning units and others. In purchasing property under construction, complete plans and specifications form an essential part of the agreement.

The price to be paid must, of course, be specified, along with method and terms of payment. If a certain sized loan is a prerequisite to the buyer's ability to complete the purchase, this fact should be noted. Sad indeed is the prospective purchaser who loses his earnest money when a contemplated loan transaction falls through, his contract requiring payment of the entire consideration in cash.

The sales contract should also state the quality of the title to be conveyed to the buyer and the type of title evidence to be furnished.

The buyer's individual circumstances and desires may require that various matters not mentioned above be provided for in the contract. All too often people try to squeeze a sales contract to fit the type of printed form on hand, omitting or leaving to easily misconstrued or forgotten oral agreement many vital provisions. Do not fall into the "pitfall of the printed form." Too many unfortunate entanglements have been announced by clients to lawyers with the words, "I have just signed a receipt for a house on Blank Street. Will you take over now and see that everything is O.K.?"

A free pamphlet containing useful information on legal problems involved in buying a home has been prepared by Texas lawyers. To obtain a copy, print your name and address on a postcard and mail to State Bar of Texas, Colorado at Fifteenth, Austin 1, Texas.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

NEW WHITE ONION AVAILABLE FOR FARMER PLANTING

College Station — Eclipse, a new attractive white onion with mild flavor, excellent yield and high resistance to pink root, bolting and splitting, is available for farmer planting this fall.

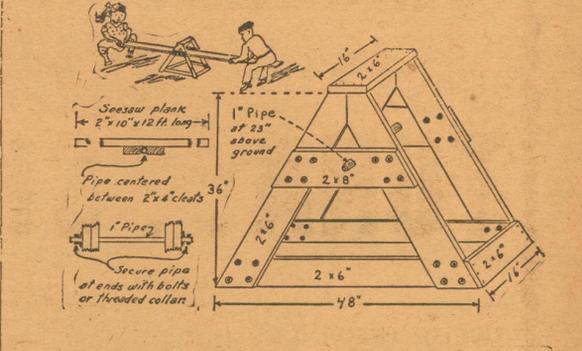

Eclipse was developed by the Station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture from a cross made in 1946 of the old standard varieties Crystal Wax and Excel. Although not bred for pink-root resistance, Eclipse proved to be highly resistant to the disease and produced excellent yields in 1953-54 on soils heavily infested with the pink-root fungus.

HERE'S HOW . . . MAKE A SEESAW
A safe, sturdy, portable seesaw is easily made, using 2-inch lumber.
First make two A-frames as shown in the drawing. To avoid angle measurements, a frame pattern may be drawn, full-scale on large paper or on a basement floor. Then the angles are marked off on the lumber.
The frames are joined with 3 pieces of 2 by 6: a cap and two lower connections. These may be nailed with 40-penny nails. All other fastenings are 4-inch carriage bolts, with the smooth heads of the bolts on the inside of the structure.
A 1-inch pipe, 23 inches from the ground level will support the seesaw plank. If threaded at both ends, the pipe may be capped with a flange or collar to prevent slipping. If it is not threaded, holes may be bored for a bolt, used as a cotter pin.

HERE'S HOW . . . MAKE A PORTABLE ICE BOX
An insulated box is handy for picnics and camping. The box is made of 1-inch lumber, joined as shown in the Section drawing, and securely fastened with 1 1/2-inch wood screws. The lid, 10 by 20 inches, is hinged to the top of the box.
A rigid insulation liner is made of wall board, cut to fit flush with the top of the box. Insulation is added also to the box lid to fit the opening. A sheet metal liner may be made by the craftsman or by the local tinsmith.
The dimensions of the liner will be the inside dimensions of the box, including the insulation, with a 1-inch flange all around the top. A lid liner, also made of sheet metal fits over the lid insulation, with a 1-inch flange for fastening. Use non-rusting nails or brass screws.
A strip of 3/16-inch sponge rubber weatherstrip tape cemented around the edge of the lid flange completes the insulation.
Additional hardware consists of trunk handles and a lock hasp to secure the lid.

The Williams flock of registered Rambouillet sheep is one of the nation's outstanding flocks. Mr. Williams was forced to quit the registered sheep business because of his health. Mr. Kincaid plans to maintain the fine breed to the standards set by Mr. Williams which put the Williams Rambouillet among the nation's top sheep. — Ozona Stockman.

Increase Dam Elevation
In a written report received Monday by the Commissioners Court of Pecos County at a busy September term, Sillman & Walker, Fort Stockton engineers, reported on a re-survey and inspection of the Comanche Creek flood control dam at the south edge of Fort Stockton, declaring it capable of handling any normal rainfall in the watershed, as demonstrated in August, but recommending additional elevation of 2 feet on the dam for increased margin of safety, and continuing of the rip-rap which the county's trucks and men have been carrying forward steadily. — Fort Stockton Pioneer.

Reckless Driving Discussed
The Board of Trustees of the Mason Independent School District met last Monday night in regular session with all members in attendance.

Sheriff Carl Bauer and Deputy Alf Kuhlmann met briefly with the Board to discuss the problem of reckless driving on the part of teenagers. A committee of the Board stated it had conferred with the highway patrol and had received a promise of that organization's cooperation. Sheriff Bauer stated his office would also help in any way possible to not only curb speeding but also devices which cause cars to make excessive noise. — Mason County News.

Rate Increase Refused
At the regular monthly meeting of the Eden City Council held

Tuesday morning at City Hall the body rejected proposals of the General Telephone Company for rate increases for the City of Eden.

The telephone company's proposals were presented to the council by Euston Woullard, General's district manager, in which he cited increased operational expenses of the Eden exchange, which included salary increases, material increases, and so forth.

The Council voted unanimously in rejecting General's proposed rate increases which would in some instances more than double present rates. — Eden Echo.

Hospital Aid Proposed
According to a letter from Dr. George Turner of El Paso, vice-president of the Texas State Board of Health, the Brewster county hospital project came up for consideration in a meeting of the Board of Health in Houston Sept. 12-13 and was acted upon favorably.

A Hill-Burton grant of $200,000 is approved for a Brewster county hospital, contingent upon passage of the bond issue election for $200,000 set for Oct. 2. — Alpine Avalanche.

Paving For Bronte?
Quite a lot of talk is going around town concerning working out some kind of plan whereby part or all of the streets of Bronte can be paved. We certainly hope this work can be brought to a successful conclusion. We can think of nothing that would improve the looks of our town so much as pavement. With valuations in this precinct at nearly eight million dollars, we can see that now is the time for all good men and women to come to the aid of their city with their support of this paving project. — Bronte Enterprise.

For a "Morning Glory" breakfast that perks up sleepy heads - and provides the energy they need - include the following:

Fruit
Cereal Milk
Bread & Butter

If your family wants a bigger breakfast, add meat, eggs, or pancakes. To get the most efficient and thrifty use of the food you serve your family, serve about a third of the day's food at breakfast.

Food eaten early in the day is absorbed largely during the most active daytime hours. That means you need an energy breakfast.

With no effort at all, you can dream up ways to serve cereal every day.

Serve ready-to-eat cereals with sliced bananas, berries, canned or stewed fruit.

Top any cooked cereal with brown sugar, jam, stewed fruit.
