With planting time only a short time away, farmers of the Eldorado Divide Soil Conservation District are busy getting their fields ready. Most of the terrace and contour work for this season is in the process of being completed.

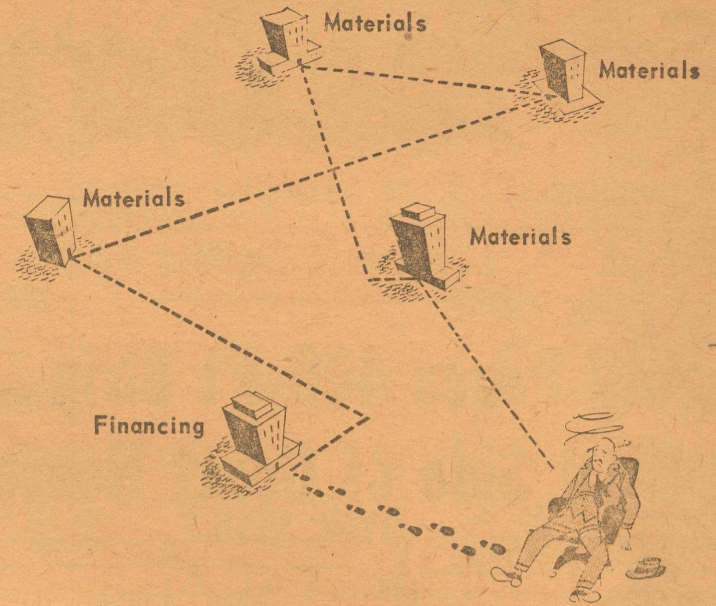

Contour lines have been run on the E. E. Newlin and Bob Faught fields the past week. Bill Burrus has a contractor building approximately 2 miles of terraces in his fields.

Bill Hixson and Cecil Townsend are making preparations for constructing net wire diversions on their ranches. Technicians assisting the soil conservation district have been assisting the men choosing suitable locations.

Farmers who might be looking for a good profitable crop to plant on land which cannot go into cotton this year should investigate guar. Although a small amount of it has been planted in this district in several previous years, its potential has not been realized. Guar can be grown for both a cash and a soil improving crop. Its greatest value will be realized when grown for soil improvement. Many farmers in neighboring soil conservation districts feel they can nearly double their cotton production in the future by using guar in their crop rotation.

Guar is best planted in late cotton planting time. Although, it can be planted later in the season its chances of reaching maturity are better when planted early. It will also serve to control wind erosion when strip cropped along with cotton. In this manner the strips can be alternated with cotton and other crops in a rotation.

Guar will serve to give the soil a much needed shot in the arm. As a nitrogen-fixing legume, guar will raise the fertility of the soil. Used in a regular crop rotation it will furnish the soil with an abundance of much needed residue. Farmers using guar in rotation find their soil much easier to work and more permeable for readily soaking up the rainfall. This crop will give a good assist in preparing soil for planting. It will also aid in breaking up your hard pan and provide a greater storage for moisture. A farmer using guar will find he has a much better underground moisture supply.

Guar seed should be inoculated at planting time. It should not be planted in fields heavily infested with Johnson grass or weeds as it does not compete well. Best planting time is reached when a warm seed bed and warm growing weather is assured.

For further information concerning any production or conservation problems contact the local office of the Soil Conservation Service or contact your Soil Conservation District supervisor.

How Much Is a Penny Worth?

It all depends on how you look at it. These are all American pennies. Worth, at face value, only one cent. But to a coin collector, some of these pennies are worth many times more. To him, their real value is high.

The real value of the pennies you spend for electric service is high, too. Think what you get for them in terms of comfort, convenience and easier living.

Electric service is always there to help with the housework, the cooking, the laundry and dishwashing. It will warm the baby's bottle late at night or help Dad shave in the morning.

When you count all the things your electric service does for you, don't you agree that you get more for the electric pennies than for the money you spend for anything else in your family budget?

In Mark 10:35 we find that "James and John, the sons of Zebedee, come unto him, saying, Master, we would that thou shouldst do for us whatsoever we shall desire."

Here we find two of the inner circle of disciples asking for more than they could do. Jesus had been trying to prepare them for true greatness. Though they might have heard his words, they did not really hear his plea. The world was at an all important time in history and needed big men for important tasks. Jesus was trying to lead the disciples to understand that spiritual things are what really count. They were too little for the jobs at hand. In our day, which is another turning point in history, let us seek to be worthy of the opportunities before us. May we choose the spiritual way of life as our way of life.—Doyle W. Morton.

Finally Talked Herself Out

A certain talkative young lady almost spent a night locked in "Doc" White's drugstore.

She entered Doc's store about 11 PM, going directly to the pay phone. At eleven-thirty Doc went home—not having seen a customer for a half hour. Around midnight he got a call from the store... she had finally run out of conversation (and money) and found the front door locked tight.

Doc vowed he'd leave her there to teach her a lesson. But Mrs. W. spoke up: "Now you go turn her loose. It's hard to cut a good conversation short — something only a woman understands!"

From where I sit, however, plenty of men are as hard to pry away from a telephone as any female. Some people are just naturally long-winded, while others are the silent type—just as some of us like coffee and others prefer a glass of beer. The important thing is to be considerate... before friends start giving us the "busy signal."

LARGE CROWD APPLAUDS CAST AT SENIOR PLAY

Playing to a full house and an appreciative audience, the Seniors of Eldorado High School evidenced good coaching and sympathetic interpretation of their parts when they presented their class play, "Hot Ice" in the school auditorium Friday night.

Jack Heffernan introduced the characters and Alvin Atkinson assisted the class by auctioning off a number of cakes between acts. Coaches were the Senior sponsors, Joan Fudge and Frank Baker.

Donna Beth McCormick in her smooth character portrayal of a gossip neighbor, provided some of the comedy of the story as the plot unfolded. Another difficult character part, that of the maid, was well portrayed by Juanita Phillips.

Bill Holcomb played one part of the detective with ease and naturalness, as did also Jerry Pennington, around whose love interest much of the plot was built.

Martha Dell Williams and Janna Walker portrayed the parts of attractive and emotional young women with smoothness, as did also blonde Lola Menees. Colleen Hicks was a convincing woman lawyer.

Good make-up and character interpretation caused the difficult parts of the middle-aged couple—Jean Kuykendall and Ronnie Mittel—to be well-received by the audience. Billy Sam Hale, as the movie hero, also gave a good performance. Stage managers were Sonny Moore, Jim Stewart, Kenneth Love and Tony Kerr and prompters were Lanelle Cox, Jo Ann Trentham, Bessie Thigpen and Patsy Taylor.

The cast showed much evidence of good coaching and thorough application to the task of producing the comedy. The class made a good sum on the play, to be applied on expense of their Senior trip.

Dinner guests in the R. L. Wilson home last Sunday night included Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie B. Smith and Loran of California, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith, Dale and Donna, of San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Duncan of Calf Creek, Mr. and Mrs. Dumca Bolt of Mason, Mrs. Gladys Bosteck of San Angelo, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith and Jimmy and White Smith of Eldorado.

Explanation of the National Wool Act of 1954

(By W. G. Godwin)

There seems to be some confusion on the part of wool producers concerning the operations of the new wool program. It is hoped that this short discussion of the program will help to answer a few of their questions.

The National Wool Act of 1954, which became law August 28, 1954, represents a significant change in agricultural policy. This is the first time that a government price program has been designated with incentive payments to producers as its basis.

The National Wool Act calls for support for shorn wool at the incentive level that the Secretary of Agriculture determines is necessary to encourage an annual production of 300 million pounds. The incentive price is announced far enough in advance of the marketing year for the growers to have the price in mind when planning their operations.

Under the new program, a grower sells his shorn wool through normal marketing channels, obtaining at the time he sells, an "account of sale" which describes the sales transaction. This account of sale is used in support of the grower's request for payment filed with his local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The rate of payment, announced by the Department after the close of the marketing year, will be based on the difference between the previously announced incentive price and the average price received by all producers for wool sold during the marketing year. For example, the announced incentive price for the 1955 marketing year is 62 cents per pound, grease basis. Should the average price received by all producers for the wool marketed during the year turn out to be 53 cents, the average price would need to be raised by 17 percent in order to bring returns up to the 62-cent level. In that case the payment to each grower would be 17 percent of the amount he received for his wool sold during the year. Obviously, the higher the price obtained in the open market, the higher the payment. For example, with a payment of 17 percent, the producer who sells high-quality wool at 70 cents would get an additional payment of 11.9 cents, whereas the producer who sells low-quality wool for 30 cents would get an incentive payment of only 5.1 cents.

Incentive payments for shorn wool will become effective with the marketing year beginning April 1, 1955. Wool produced prior to January 1, 1955, is not eligible for payments. Because the actual rate of payment will be determined at the end of the marketing year, and the marketing year will end March 31, 1956, the first payments under the program are expected to be made in 1956.

Operations under the mohair price-support program will be, essentially the same as those authorized for shorn wool.

The National Wool Act provides that "price support shall be limited to wool and mohair marketed during the period beginning April 1, 1955, and ending March 31, 1959." But the House committee on Agriculture stated that this was not to be interpreted as a determination that the wool program should be of a temporary character. On the contrary, the Committee said that it believed that the program would provide a relatively permanent solution to domestic wool problems. The Committee wanted an opportunity at the end of the period to review the operation and effects of the program.

Since the new wool program incorporates the features of incentive payments to producers as its mechanism for price support, it is possible that the results of the program will be carefully analyzed for ideas that can be used in other price programs.
