The school sextette composed of Jeanie Mund, Sandra Hall, Becky Mund, Genelle McCalla, Peggy Spencer, and Linda Bess Love, presented a musical number. Nancy Jo Jackson was accompanist for the group.

Supt. Whitis was introduced by Henry Moore, president of the school board. In speaking to the assembly Mr. Whitis emphasized the importance of learning to live with others, learning to work, and learning to play.

Curtis Humphries, grade school principal, introduced the grade faculty, and High School Principal Joe R. Andrews introduced the high school faculty. Others recognized during the program included County Judge W. R. Bearce, Mrs. Edward Meador, P-TA president, and others.

Following the announcements concerning the various school activities and programs, the crowd of visitors were dismissed.

Improved Airport Is In Offing As Result of Meeting Friday

Definite action toward improving the Eldorado airport so that planes can land in all kinds of weather was taken Friday afternoon when Schleicher county commissioners and other interested individuals met at the courthouse for discussion.

The improvements, as agreed on, will enable larger planes to land, more safely. The airport is located on C. C. West Estate land on the west edge of Eldorado, on which the city and county jointly pay the lease each year.

Main improvement is to consist of a 3200-foot strip which will be surfaced with caliche. It will run north and south inside the east boundary fence of the airport, and will take in some West Estate land at the south end not now used for airport purposes. At the south end the caliche strip will pass near the site of the old Nicks residence, which was torn down a few years ago.

A new fence is to be built on the west side of the runway to keep cattle out. At the north end of the caliched runway, another shorter runway will extend west, and will not be surfaced. It will be used only when a high east or west wind makes use of the north-south strip inadvisable. Schleicher's airport will thus be shaped like a capital L. The old north-west to southeast runway is to be abandoned. The Little League ball park is in its path.

Lighting the new strip for emergency night use will come later, it was stated.

Commissioners point out that the county's road equipment has been in use in recent weeks on bus routes over the county, so it will be a while before definite action can be taken on the airport—probably several months. It is expected that the city will participate in the costs.

In addition to the caliche land-

Destructive Storm Sweeps Part of Eldorado Tuesday

A rain storm—with a little twister in it, and preceded by brilliant lightning—hit Eldorado about 9 p. m. Tuesday, breaking up a Lions-Faculty barbecue, knocking out power lines, and damaging roofs and T-V antennas.

Glendale, in the north part of town seemed to catch the brunt of the storm, and it is reported that 2 to 3 inches of rain fell in that neighborhood, accompanied by enough hail to cause roofs to start leaking. Near the airport on the west side of town, a scant one inch was recorded and no hail.

New Oil Field Looms For Schleicher County

A Strawn oil discovery and a third well in a newly-opened Harkey sand field of Schleicher County have been assured.

The prospective Strawn oil discovery is Ashmun and Hillard No. 1 Ltd. of Midland and Fortune Drilling Corp. of San Angelo No. 1F E. Otto Williams. It is 1 1/2 miles northeast of Eldorado. Tuesday it was flowing new oil and waiting on storage preparatory to taking potential.

A third producer and a 5/8 mile extension to the Otto field has been assured with the flowing of new oil at the rate of 10 bbls. per hour at Ashmun & Hilliard Ltd. No. 2 and Fortune Drilling Corp. No. 1-B Otto Williams one mile due north of the No. 1-F Williams.

They are also waiting on sufficient storage to take potential.

The Otto field was opened in May when Ashmun & Hilliard and Fortune completed two projects, one of which was a re-entered

Scrimmages Held

The practice this year has been good, the coaches report. Two scrimmages were held last week. One was at Eden Thursday and Mason was here Saturday. Two a day workouts were held each day except Saturday.

Coach Herridge's assistants are Earl Barnett and Guy Whitaker.

Little is known about the San Felipe Mustangs except that last year they ran both single wing and T formations. Last year the Eagles downed the team 26 to 0, when they played on the Eldorado field.

The boys are young, small and inexperienced, but work and hustle have been outstanding features of the week's work.

Soil Bank's Acreage Reserve Penalties Given

Any time a farmer harvests too large an acreage of a "basic" crop covered by a Soil Bank Acreage Reserve agreement—such as wheat or corn or cotton, he not only loses his acreage reserve payment but also is subject to a civil penalty.

"Farmers should be very sure that they understand the provisions of the Acreage Reserve program regarding violations. We are most anxious that there be no confusion resulting from the recent identification of the 1958 program's penalty provision regarding 'permitted acreage.'"

There are two acreage limitations that any farmer must comply with if he is taking part in one or more of the Soil Bank's Acreage Reserve programs. These limitations are: (1) The "maximum" acreage of the Acreage Reserve crop, such as wheat—which is the crop allotment less the crop acreage put in the Acreage Reserve, and (2) the "permitted acreage"—which is the farm's Soil Bank base less all the crop acreage put in the Acreage Reserve. If the land has been included in the Conservation Reserve, this also is deducted in determining the "permitted acreage."

The Soil Bank base for a farm is in general the average acreage of Soil Bank base crops harvested on the farm during the past two years. Soil Bank base crops include the basics, such as wheat and corn and cotton, and generally all crops produced on the farm except hay crops.

A recent modification of program regulations provides that if a farmer exceeds the overall "permitted acreage"—by harvesting excess acreage of some crop other than the crop covered by an Acreage Reserve agreement, he loses the entire payment he would have earned by complying with all provisions of the Acreage Reserve program. No civil penalty applies in this case. (As originally announced, a civil penalty would also have applied in this case.)

However, if the farmer harvests more of the Acreage Reserve crop than his crop allotment less the crop land in the Acreage Reserve, the farmer is subject to both loss of his payment and a civil penalty of 50% of the payment.

The civil penalty also applies to such program violations as grazing or harvesting a crop from land designated under the Acreage Reserve agreement.

Farmers in commercial wheat states may sign agreements to take part in the 1958 winter wheat acreage reserve program from August 26 to October 4. The program for spring wheat and other spring-seeded crops will be announced before planting time.

Wheat growers are urged to furnish without delay all information, including their farm's production history for 1956 and 1957, necessary for the County ASC Committee to establish a Soil Bank base for the farm. This base must be determined before a 1958 winter wheat Acreage Reserve agreement may be signed.

as much as was spent eight years ago. Local districts are pouring some $40,000,000 into new buildings this year.

Showdown On Water

It's now or never for Texans to solve their water problems in an orderly manner. This, in effect, is the attitude of Gov. Price Daniel as he sets the wheels in motion for a "big push" this fall.

First attack will be by a 100-person statewide water planning committee appointed by the governor. It is to meet in Austin beginning Sept. 9 to develop planning and leadership for a master plan for water conservation and flood control over the state. Committee members include civic leaders and persons interested in and acquainted with water problems from all parts of the state.

They'll also be asked to help plan future water legislation and develop support for the proposed constitutional amendment that would provide a $100 million bond issue for water projects. Second phase of the governor's plan is the special legislative session to pass needed additional laws. Target date for the session still is October, the governor has indicated.

Two pieces of water legislation are proposed by Governor Daniel: (1) Creation of a state water planning division to draw up a master plan and (2) a law enabling the state to purchase water storage space in federal reservoirs (a measure which failed last session).

Planning division would probably cost from $500,000 to $1,000,000 says Daniel. This can be obtained, he says, from special funds appropriated, but not used, for other purposes. If Texas doesn't face the responsibility for its water planning itself, declared the governor, the federal government will take over with a "take it or leave it" plan.

Cotton Crop Slow

Ginning of Texas' cotton crop is lagging behind 1956, but a larger yield than last year is still expected. By mid-August only 365,504 bales had been ginned, reports the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. Last year at this time almost twice as much had been ginned.

But crops in many areas are late due to prolonged rains. USDA still predicts the '57 crop in Texas will be 3,775,000 bales compared to 3,615,000 last year.

Short Snorts

Texas ranked seventh in the nation last year on per capita income, reports the Bureau of the Census. Texas per capita income, $1,686. National average $1,940.

Another motor vehicle inspection period has arrived. You have until next April 15 to get your new sticker, however. But early inspections are urged by the Department of Public Safety.

Texas draft calls continue to shrink. October quota is 338. It compares with 387 for September and 547 for August. Inductees will be taken from age 22 and over, except for delinquents and volunteers.

Health Letter

Austin.—Texas' new "hazardous substances" law is now in effect, aimed at restricting the sale of poisons that last year claimed at least 15 young lives in this state.

Chief target of the law is thallium sulphate, a potent insecticide and rodenticide. But all substances, with few exceptions, which are hazardous for humans are included. The law was passed by the recent legislature with strong backing from the State Department of Health. The task of administering and enforcing it now falls to the state health commissioner with the help of city and county health officers.

In Houston alone last year, more than 50 cases of accidental thallium sulphate poisoning were reported. Almost as many occurred in San Antonio. In most instances the deadly material was mixed with graham crackers or vanilla wafer crumbs as a base, which made it especially attractive to children.

Even before the law became effective, Galveston authorities banned the sale of products containing more than 3% thallium salts.

The substance can kill by absorption through the skin or by inhalation, as well as by ingestion. Compounded originally for use only by professional insect and rodent exterminators, there is no known antidote for the almost tasteless product.

Even when the case of accidental poisoning doesn't end fatally, the victim's vision is often impaired and his sense of balance upset.

With the law now in effect, it will thereafter be unlawful to sell any product containing more than 1% of any thallium salt.

Austin.—Students are trooping back to school for another year of readin', writin' and 'rithmetic.

But the knottiest school problems are not in the math books. For parents the problem is the high cost of practically everything. Tuition at state colleges has doubled. Even the parents of first graders are wincing as they add up the outfitting bills. Cost of blue jeans, plus crayons, plus lunch money, takes an ever growing bite out of most family budgets. Many mothers will go back to work this fall to help balance the income-outgo equation.

On a bigger scale Texas school agencies and administrators have the problem of the "old woman who lived in the shoe." They have so many children they don't know what to do. Their problem of trying to balance school facilities against school needs is complicated by the fact that one side of the equation—needs—keeps on growing.

Some 1,885,640 children are expected to enroll this month. That is 70,000 more than last fall. To keep the education mills grinding, Texans will spend an estimated $526,000,000 this year. It's twice

Miss Lloyd Is Bride Of Robert A. Hasty II

Miss Retha Nell Lloyd became the bride of Mr. Robert Armistead Hasty II in the First Methodist church Saturday evening at 8:00 o'clock. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Lloyd of Eldorado and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hasty of Dallas.

Mrs. Ernest Hill played traditional wedding music on the organ and Mrs. Jodie Minnick of Midland sang "The Lord's Prayer." The bride entered the church on the arm of her father and was attended by Wilma Jean Lloyd as maid of honor and Claudine Lange of Balinger as bridesmaid. John Lamoreaux served as best man and Charles Hasty was groomsmen. Candle lighters were Jodie Minnick of Midland and John T. Alexander of Austin. Junior attendants were David Lloyd and Jimmie Hasty. The Rev. Russell Heaner united the couple in a double ring ceremony.

The bride wore an original white ballerina-length dress of white lace over satin, with short sleeves which she fashioned. The bridal veil of nylon illusion was caught to a tiara of seed pearls, and was shoulder length. She carried a bouquet in colonial design of white gladiolas, centered with an orchid and showered with streamers of satin ribbon. Her attendants wore gowns of aqua with matching hats and shoes.

The altar was decorated with tall candelabra of silver tapers, potted palms, and baskets of yellow gladiolas. The pews were marked with yellow gladiolas and white satin ribbon.

At the reception afterward Mrs. James Alexander registered the guests. Mrs. Earl Lloyd poured punch and Mrs. Victor Sauer and Mrs. J. Tom Williams served cake. The table was centered with the three tiered wedding cake placed on a reflector and surrounded by net and flowers. The punch was served from a crystal bowl.

After the reception the couple left for points in south Texas. Mrs. Hasty attended the Eldorado schools, San Angelo Junior college and the University of Texas. Mr. Hasty attended the Dallas schools and is a senior student, majoring in chemical engineering, in the University of Texas.

Out of town guests for the wedding included: Mrs. J. C. Hoffman and Mrs. G. C. Peek of Paint Rock, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Morton of Big Spring, Miss Janelle Powell, Roger Hatton, and Bobo Larson of San Angelo, and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Alexander and Miss Fae Davis of Austin.

After the rehearsal Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hasty of Dallas entertained with a rehearsal dinner at the Cactus hotel in San Angelo.

Miss Janna Sue Walker Marries Mr. Pennington In Sunday Church Rites

MRS. JERRY LYN PENNINGTON

The First Methodist church of Eldorado was the setting September 1 for the early morning wedding of Miss Janna Sue Walker and Mr. Jerry Lyn Pennington. The Rev. R. Russell Heaner, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Pennington, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman C. Walker of Eldorado, is a graduate of Eldorado High school where she was football sweetheart, a cheerleader, and active in all school activities. She also attended San Angelo Business college and San Angelo college.

Mr. Pennington, son of Mrs. Evelyn Pennington of Eldorado and Jerry M. Pennington of Hereford, is also a graduate of Eldorado High school where he was active in sports and other campus activities. He is a 1957 graduate of Schreiner Institute. A member of the football and track teams, he was named to Who's Who in the Recall, college yearbook.

"Because," "I Love You Truly," and other traditional wedding music was presented by Mrs. Marvin H. Gausemeier of San Angelo.

The bride wore a ballerina length gown of net tulle, and lace over taffeta. Fashioned with a scalloped neckline and long sleeves with pointed mitts of lace, the dress featured a design of scattered pearls and sequins. The fitted bodice of lace flared into a skirt of tulle and panels of lace. Her finger-tip veil fell from a hat of net and seed pearls and rhinestones. Mrs. Pennington carried a white Bible topped with an orchid and white carnations. She also carried a lace handkerchief belonging to her aunt, Mrs. L. L. Watson. The bride's jewelry consisted of a pearl necklace and pearl earrings.

Maid of honor, Miss Nancy Gary of Midland, wore a dress of pale pink fashioned with a full skirt and fitted bodice. Her picture hat of white braided horsehair was styled with pink velvet ribbon and streamers.

Miss Donna Beth McCormick of Eldorado and Austin served as bridesmaid. Her dress of pale blue was styled like that of Miss Gary's and she wore an identical hat with blue velvet streamers.

Misses Gary and McCormick carried bouquets of pink and blue carnations, respectively, outlined in white carnations.

Glen Greenlee of Odessa attended his former roommate as best man. Kenneth Pennington, brother of the groom, was groomsmen.

Following a wedding trip to points of interest in Texas, the couple will be at home in Austin, where Mr. Pennington will attend the University of Texas as a pre-law student.

For going away the bride wore a black sheath dress with jacket, black hat, and black broad tail shoes. She carried white gloves and wore an orchid corsage.

Thought For The Week
 Ministerial Alliance

Mr. Val Peterson, former Civil Defense Administrator, has said that there was no need for one life to have been lost in the hurricane that took some 500 lives in Louisiana not long ago. All were warned of the coming danger. About 1,000 heeded the warning and took refuge in the concrete court house at Cameron and were saved. Obeying the warning was just plain common sense. The 500 or more died because they did not heed the warning. The writer of Proverbs said, (22:3) "A prudent man sees danger and hides himself; but the foolish go on and suffer for it."

God sent his son into the world to warn people. The wise follow his instruction and are saved. Those who do not will surely die. (Read I John 4:9-12.)—Jim Spencer.

HIGH EGG QUALITY DEPENDENT UPON PROPER HANDLING

College Station.—Egg quality declines rapidly unless the eggs are handled properly from the time they are laid until consumers use them. Thousands of dollars are lost annually by poultrymen and egg handlers because of this loss in quality.

But this loss can be greatly reduced if the eggs are cooled and handled properly, says F. Z. Beamblossom, extension poultry marketing specialist.

He points out that heat is one of the greatest causes of loss in egg quality. Research indicates that 50 to 55 degrees F. is a good temperature in which to hold eggs on the farm when they are marketed at least two or three times each week. Any temperature above 70 degrees causes a rapid deterioration of quality—the higher the temperature, the quicker the deterioration.

The specialist advises gathering the eggs at least three times daily, and cooling rapidly to remove animal heat. The egg temperatures is about 105 degrees F. when laid. If the temperature in the hen house is around 100 degrees, it is obvious that little will occur unless the eggs are removed.

Beamblossom says that age, or length of time eggs have been laid, is another factor affecting egg quality. This loss of quality is reduced greatly if the eggs are kept at 50 to 55 degrees F. The eggs will maintain quality even longer at 30 to 31 degrees, but this low temperature is not recommended for short holding because of the cost and the greater tendency toward sweating.

Humidity is another factor in maintaining favorable egg conditions, continues the specialist. Eggs are more likely to hold their maximum quality at a relative humidity of 70 to 80 percent, but a low humidity will not cause undue quality loss unless eggs are to be stored for several weeks.

The new egg law makes it even more important to maintain good egg quality. A leaflet, "Most Important Enemies of Egg Quality," gives recommendations relative to the above factors as well as some important suggestions on maintaining high egg quality. It may be obtained from county agents or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for L-339.

Cyrus K. Holliday Recalls Pioneer Days of Railroadng

Famous Antique Train To Be Shown In Dallas At State Fair of Texas

An antique train reminiscent of the pioneering days of railroadng will be exhibited by the Santa Fe Railway at the 1957 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 5-20.

The famous old Cyrus K. Holliday locomotive, a replica of the original engine which hauled the first freight and passengers over the Santa Fe line in Kansas in 1869, will be brought to Dallas along with its two ancient wooden coaches.

The diminutive locomotive has the famous "diamond stack" with a brass eagle figurehead gracing the engine head, a big oil-burning headlight, brass fittings and other paraphernalia of the early days of railroadng.

Although the locomotive is but a replica of the original, the present Cyrus K. Holliday ranks as a museum piece in its own right. Built in 1880, the old engine was subsequently downgraded to a switch locomotive and finally withdrawn after 60 years of active service.

Restored to its original appearance, the train has been used many times in movies of the old West. The engine still operates under its own power.

With the Cyrus K. Holliday, the State Fair will have on exhibition trains spanning nearly 90 years of rail progress. The Texas & Pacific Railway Company will exhibit its old retired steam locomotive No. 909 and one of its crack modern Texas Eagle streamliners. In addition, the Fair's Monorail line, only such system operating in the U. S., offers a sample of yet another type of rail transportation said to hold great promise for the future.

Make playtime paytime too— with U.S. Savings Bonds

Here's how to make your "two weeks with pay" pay even better.

Make sure you have some U. S. Series E Savings Bonds at home working for you while you relax.

Interest earning Savings Bonds never take a day off. No matter where you go or what you do, they stay on the job earning money for you.

And now Savings Bonds are better than ever! Every Series E Savings Bond purchased since February 1, 1957, pays 3-¹/₄% interest when held to maturity. It pays higher interest, too, in the earlier years, and matures in only 8 years and 11 months.

Now, more than ever, it's wise to save with U. S. Series E Savings Bonds. Buy them regularly where you bank or through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.
