Richland Springs Beats Eldorado 6 to 0; First Home Game Tomorrow

Last Friday the Eldorado Eagles played the Richland Springs Yellow Jackets at Richland Springs, before a large crowd of fans. Some 300 Eldorado people were, there and were solidly behind the team to the last minute of play.

The score, in favor of Richland Springs, was 6-0 and it came in the last 2½ minutes of play. Richland Springs intercepted a pass on the 50 yard line and started a drive that seemed to bog down on the Eagle 10-yard line. The Yellow Jackets made a first down on the Eagle 10½ yard line and drove on down to the ½ yard line in four downs, making another first down. They slammed the line for three downs without success, but finally got across for a score on the fourth down, just two and one half minutes before the final gun.

Eldorado played a fine defensive game and only a slightly heavier Richland Springs team kept them from scoring. The Eagles made 11 first downs and gained 180 yards in rushing. At the half time, the Eldorado band put on an impressive show in precision marching.

Meet Boyd Tomorrow

Tomorrow the Eagles play the Boyd, Texas, team here. The record for their team for this season is unavailable, but they use a single wing formation and it promises to be a fine game.

The starting line-up of the Eagles will be changed somewhat as result of injuries which occurred in practice Tuesday. Dick Runge, the team captain, sustained a broken finger and will definitely not play. Billy Van Dusen had a concussion and will probably be out.

Boyd, incidentally, will probably make the longest trip of any team engaged by the Eagles this season. The town is located in north Texas between Fort Worth and Decatur, so the team and their backers will have a trip of nearly 300 miles.

Parking

The entrance gate to the parking area of the football field will be opened at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon to accommodate those patrons who would like to park their cars early. If you do park early, please park behind the signs marking the parking area and in the acceptable practice of parking beside other cars and leaving an alley in front and behind each car.

Parking attendants will be available to help park cars for this game. With your cooperation, it will not be necessary to have them park cars for the other home games.

The ticket booths will be opened at 6:45 p.m. and fans may purchase their tickets and enter the grandstand. The advance sale of tickets will be conducted as usual at the Eldorado Drug all day Friday. Those fans desiring to drive their cars into the "inside" parking area are asked to purchase their tickets in advance as no tickets will be sold at the east gate.

Dry Land Cotton Doing Better Than Expected

Just last week the first bale of cotton was ginned in the county and by yesterday 46 bales had been brought in. All of this is dry land cotton—picking on the irrigated crop will not start for two more weeks. Farmers with irrigation are getting shelters ready for the Mexican braceros who will be imported to harvest the cotton crop.

No estimate has been made for the total number of bales that will be harvested but it is coming in faster even at this early date than had been expected.

Mrs. Gene Edmiston is in Christoval taking treatment and resting. She will be gone about two weeks.

WILL BY-PASS MAIN STREET

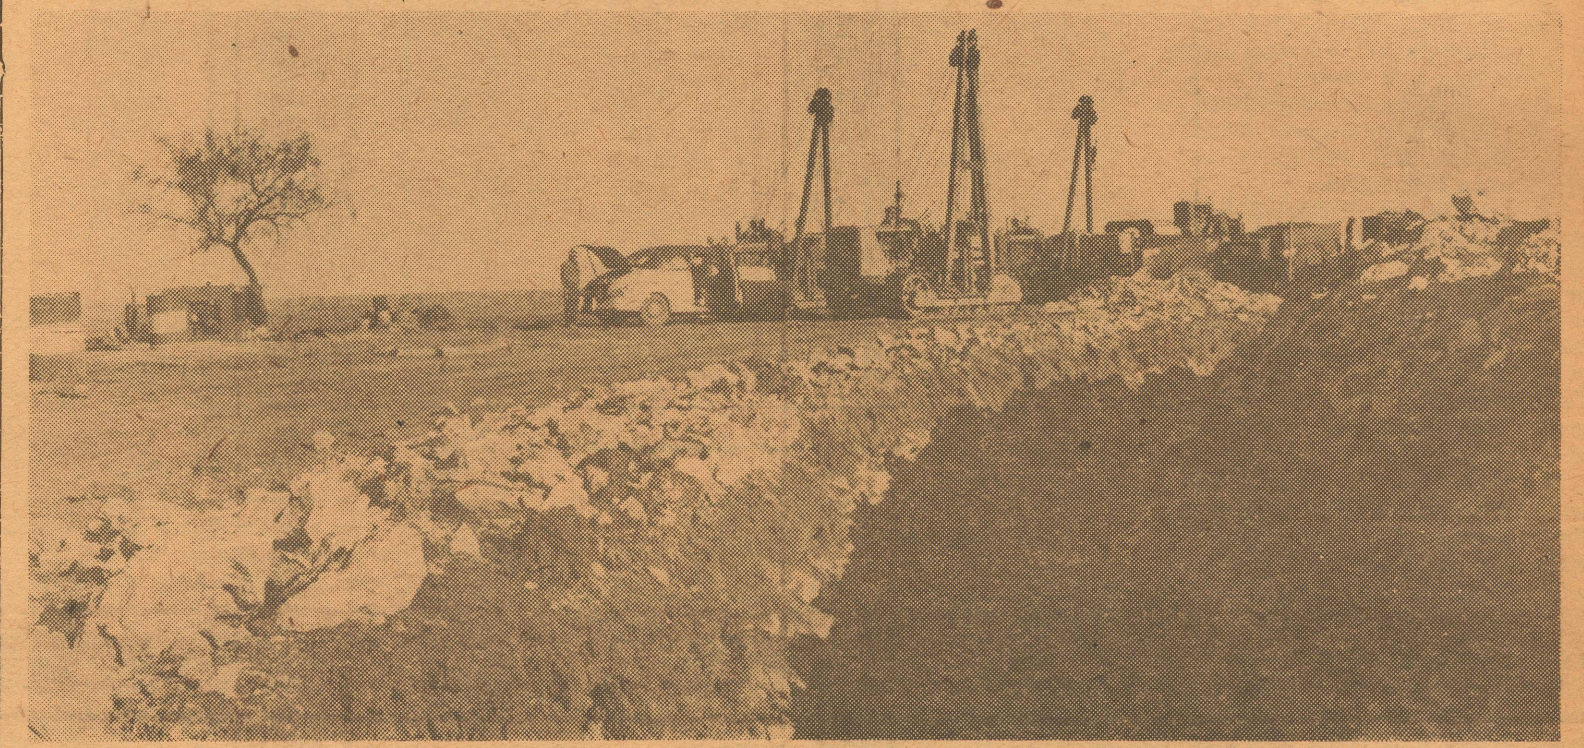

Route Is Mapped For Highway Through Town

A map showing the proposed re-routing of the highway thru Eldorado has been made and the survey to the middle of town has been completed. The map is on display at the city hall. According to the map of the proposed route, the new road will cut across the George Williams property, hit the old road to the football field, then go straight to Divide street after cutting across part of the Keeney place, the Haley property, and Lum Davis' field.

On Divide Street the Java Junction has a roof overhang that is over the proposed route by two feet and Taylor Welding shop is in the street a foot or two. The Hazelwood houses are on property that will be in the proposed route. At this time, the paper work on this project is being done so that an appropriation can be secured about January 1st for money to buy right of way and for the building of the road. The route will continue on Divide street past the school and to the north city limits. It will begin south of the town at the county line and will connect with the recently completed project in Sutton county.

It has been pointed out that this is only the proposed route as recommended by the highway engineer. No right of way will be bought and no further steps taken until the money for the project is appropriated sometime after January 1st.

40 Acres of Permian Gas Station Activity

Here are some of the things seen by an inquiring photographer who visited the Permian compressor station location recently in northwest Schleicher county.

A block of land that looks like 40 acres has been enclosed with a new chain link fence, and material, supplies, and equipment are now scattered all over the place.

The big ditch seen here is where the Permian pipe line will start and take off in the direction of Midland. The machinery in the background is pipe-laying equipment and all of it has the name "Lone Star Constructors" painted on it. The crews that are on this part of the job, are working out of Big Lake, it was reported.

This is one part of the job of opening up the gas fields of Schleicher and Sutton counties.

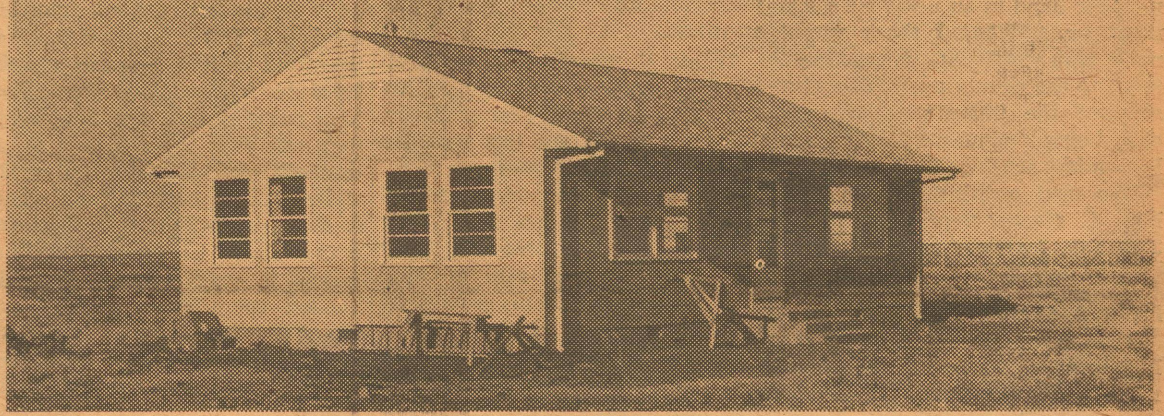

Gas will be delivered to Permian at this point, by Pioneer, a subsidiary company, which is laying a gathering system through Schleicher, Sutton and Val Verde counties.

While Pioneer Gas is a subsidiary of Permian—Permian in turn is a subsidiary of Northern Natural Gas Company of Omaha, Neb., which delivers gas as far north as Iowa and Minnesota; so gas from Schleicher county wells will eventually find its way that far north.

A water well was dug on the Permian location recently and a good supply of water has been obtained. Residences and power house are some of the things yet to be built. The whole system is expected to be in operation before spring.

Work on the interior is not yet complete, but this is an outside view of the new office building out at the Permian location 1½ miles north of the old Reynolds school house. The 40-acre tract seems to be teeming with activity these days, and more installations are promised in the near future. Among other things there will eventually be two residences, as housing for superintendent and engineer. Other permanent employees are expected to provide their own housing—most likely in Eldorado.

The First Methodist church has had two cleaning sessions on their outside premises and perhaps other churches in the city are getting similar projects under way.

Registration Sept 30 For P-TA Adult Ed. Courses

The president of the P-TA reports that she has had 113 replies to the questionnaire regarding courses for adult education. The three most popular subjects and the ones that will be offered at this time were Typing, Spanish, and Parent Education.

Each person will be allowed to take only one course at a time and the future of the adult education courses depends entirely on the interest shown by the public. More courses will be offered as interest grows and many different subjects will be taken up. No previous educational requirements are needed to enroll in any course.

There will be a two hour session every Tuesday evening and the actual program is expected to get under way by October 1st. Registration will be held at the school Monday, September 30, at 7:30, and it will be necessary for each adult to attend this session to be eligible for the course of his choice.

It is hoped that interest will increase as the school gets under way and that it will become a permanent project on a county wide basis with a large percentage of the adults of the county taking part.

Another cover crop has been tried in the Eldorado Divide soil conservation district, for soil improvement and soil and water conservation.

Truett C. Stanford planted 60 acres of Chinese red peas on his farm 8 miles south west of Eldorado the 20th of June this year. He planted 10 lbs of peas per acre. The peas were inoculated and planted about 2 inches deep. They came up to a good stand and received one inch of rain in July. This rain was the only beneficial moisture the crop has had.

To determine the amount of green weight produced per acre the peas were pulled from two areas. One of the areas from which the peas were pulled and weighed was above a terraced area. This site was benefited by water held by the terrace during the good rains in April and May. The green weight which included the entire plant was 6,274 pounds per acre.

The green weight from an area below a terrace that did not receive any benefit from water held by a terrace was 2,683 pounds. This weight also included the entire plant.

Truett is well pleased with the good growth made by the peas. He feels that the crop did exceptionally well with only one inch of rain after it was planted.

Truett has long recognized the fact that he needs a cover crop for soil and water conservation in his crop rotation. "The main purpose of the cover crop this year was to add organic matter to the soil and help open the soil so it will take more moisture," Truett stated. "The crop residue left on the land from the cover crop will help hold more of the water that falls where it falls," Truett added.

Realizing the need for cover crop in his rotation, Truett has planted other legumes in past years. He has had good results when moisture was sufficient. The results of this year's cover crop convinced Truett that a crop of this kind will do good with very little rain. This is very important in areas that receive light rainfall. The need for deep rooted legumes and high residue producing crops is further brought out by the yield per acre of the cover crop on Stanford's farm. The difference of 6,274 lbs. from the area benefited by level terraces and the 2,683 lbs. from contour rains alone, bear out this fact. By using crops that will keep the soil in a condition whereby all or most all of the water will go into the soil where it falls, the per acre yield of any crop will be increased. This also makes it very evident that the needed combination of soil and water conservation practices, should be applied and maintained to treat the land according to its needs.

Face Of Love

There is in existence, a copy of the Constitution of the United States, very skillfully engraved in copper plate, so that when you look at it closely it is nothing more than writing, but when you look at it at a certain distance, it is the face of George Washington. The face shines out in the shading of the letters so that you see, not the words but the face of a person. If we could only read our Bibles in that manner what a difference it would make. Yes, we need to read the words and when we look for the meaning they have for us we will forget mere words and see the radiant face of him who gave his life that we might live. We will forget the things that divide us into denominations and remember the things that make us Christian for we will be able to see the face of love shining through every page. Let's all try it.—Jim Spencer

Home Demonstration Agent's Column

By MRS. VIDA KREKLOW

Not long ago I was in Abilene to help judge the District 4-H Club girls clothing contest. I called the Pattersons (Pat and Elaine) and they did what I hoped they would do; invited me to spend the night. Following the pattern we were used to in Eldorado, Elaine and I soon got off on the subject of food, swapping ideas, what we'd had or cooked that was unusual or extra good since we'd last seen each other. I came away with this cookie recipe, really more of a confection, which for want of a better name I'll call

Pat's Quick Goodies

- 3 cups quick cooking oats
 - 1 cup angel flake coconut
 - 1 cup broken nut meats
- Mix and set aside. Use bowl big enough to mix in without trouble.

- Put in sauce pan:
- 2 cups sugar
 - 6 tablespoons cocoa
 - 1/2 cup sweet milk
 - 1 stick butter or oleo (equals 1/2 cup)

- dash of salt
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Cook this mixture for two minutes. Start counting from time it begins to boil around the edges. Have waxed paper ready. When sugar mixture has cooked long enough, pour over dry ingredients. Mix well, and using spoon and rubber scraper, put out on paper in size desired. If you are making these for anything special, hide immediately. They are that good. Makes about three dozen pieces.

Did anybody leave an iced tea spoon or a dinner fork at the County Home Demonstration Club picnic? Alma Sauer called the other night that she had been given these two pieces of table ware. So if you've missed the same call Jo Woodward at the county judge's office, 24281, and we'll see that they get to the right person.

And while I'm speaking of telephone numbers let me explain how the system works between the Extension and County Judge's offices. There is a separate telephone in the county agent's, the county judge's and the Home Demonstration agent's offices. All three have the same number, 24281. When that number is called all three receivers are lifted but Jo Woodward, Judge Bearce's secretary, answers, "County Judge's office." Mr. Godwin and I listen until we know who is wanted. The two who are not wanted hang up, or at least are supposed to. It's the only way one person can answer the phone for three offices. The point of the discussion is that you do have the right number for the county agent and the Home Demonstration agent when some one says, "County Judge's office."

The U. S. Public Health Service and the World Health Organization have sent me the following facts about flu.

The epidemic of Asiatic flu has the whole world on the alert. The U. S. Public Health Service and the World Health Organization have set up a network to trace and prevent U. S. outbreaks. According to the American Medical Association, attack rates in other countries have been as high as 19% of the population, but mortality rates have been less than 1 per 1,000 cases. Most deaths occurred in infants and persons already weakened by age, chronic illness or hunger. Uncomplicated flu rarely causes death. The killer is usually pneumonia which follows the flu. In 1918 we had no effective way of treating pneumonia, the USPHS notes. Today with potent antibiotics such as tetracycline and Terramycin doctors usually can clear up pneumonia in a matter of days. In addition, the virus responsible for the current epidemic has been identified and vaccines are being produced.

Chicken and turkey are 'good meat buys right now. For an easy to do week-end meal try this

- #### Crunchy Oven Chicken
- 1/3 cup butter or margarine, melted

 - 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
 - Dash pepper, (coarse ground better)

Dip chicken in melted fat. Combine potato chips, garlic salt and pepper. Roll chicken in potato chip mixture. Place pieces, skin side up, so that they do not touch, in greased shallow baking pan. Bake uncovered, at 375 degrees F. for one hour. Do not turn. Serves 4.

With the crunchy chicken serve: au gratin potatoes, frozen English peas, vegetable salad mold, brown and serve whole wheat rolls, strawberry jello whip with cookies.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

School Segregation

With schools opening for the fall semester, the matter of segregation is back in the headlines in Texas and elsewhere, and some school boards may now be pondering upon a law passed by the 55th Texas Legislature.

By now everyone knows that the Supreme Court of the United States has decreed that segregation of public school pupils by race is unconstitutional. Since the court's decision, however, the Legislature passed House Bill 65. The constitutionality of this bill has not as yet been tested.

In effect the bill provides for local option elections to determine whether dual school systems shall be continued or abolished. It prohibits any board of trustees or any school authority from abolishing its dual system (desegregating or integrating) prior to an election on the question. A prerequisite to such an election is a petition filed by at least 20% of the qualified electors residing in the school district.

The election is to be conducted in a manner similar to elections for school trustees. It can be called on the same date as a school trustee election if the petition was filed within 90 days of the trustee election. Otherwise the election must be called within 60 days after the petition has been filed. Subsequent elections upon the same questions cannot be called within two years of any prior election.

Under this law those schools which integrated during the 1956-57 term are permitted to continue integration unless this system of operation is abolished by an election held in the manner mentioned above. Another provision under a section of the law dealing with integrated schools is that a student shall be denied transfer from one school to another because of race or color.

The bill provides that if a school district should desegregate without first being authorized to do so by an election of the qualified electors residing therein, then the district becomes ineligible for accreditation and ineligible to receive any Foundation Program Funds. In other words, it loses State School Support funds.

The same penalty is placed upon a school district, already integrated, which fails to segregate its schools after an election calling for such action.

A fine of not less than $100 or more than $1,000 is provided for any person guilty of violating any of the provisions of this Dual School System Law.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney, who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Highlights and Sidelights FROM your State CAPITOL

For the 72nd time in Texas, the Legislature will convene in special session October 14.

Throughout the summer there was lively debate as to whether such a step should be taken. Gov. Price Daniel put an end to speculation by setting the date. Purpose: to enact laws in regard to lobby control, representation before state agencies, crime study and water development.

Calling special sessions has been more the custom of Texas governors than not. Of the 71 previously called since Texas became a state, 41 have fallen in the 46-year period since 1911—almost one a year.

Almost all Governor Daniel's predecessors in the past 30 years called lawmakers back at least once. (exceptions: Beauford Jester and W. Lee O'Daniel.) Gov. Dan Moody holds the record for keeping the Legislature busy. In 10 months of 1929 and 1930 he called five special sessions. Runners-up are Gov. Miriam Ferguson, who called four in 1933 and 1934, and Gov. Ross Sterling, who called four in 1931 and '32. Gov. James V. Allred called three in 1935-36 and two more in 1936-37. In those days a legislator had to keep his bag packed.

Water Program Okayed

In one area—water development—legislators have their work cut out for them. A 150-members statewide water committee approved a three-point program proposed by the governor. It calls for:

1. Appropriating $1,024,000 to set up a planning division under the State Water Board.

2. Laws enabling the state to contract for water storage space in federal reservoirs.

3. An all-out push to rally support for passage of the $200,000, 000 water bond amendment to be voted on Nov. 5.

Officer Hits Traffic Laws

Texas is behind other states in traffic regulations and ahead on traffic accidents, says a Texas safety official. C. G. Conner, assistant chief of the Highway Patrol, said Texas has one of the highest traffic death tolls in the nation. It is as much as three times as safe to drive in some other states where more up-to-date laws are being enforced, he said.

Texas had 250,000 accidents last year, Conner reported. He suggested more driver education courses for teen-agers, more traffic courts, more arresting of drunk drivers.

Officer Licensing Proposed

Serving as a peace officer should be a profession, like law, medicine and teaching, says Atty. Gen. Will Wilson. Wilson suggested a state licensing program whereby would-be peace officers would have to meet certain requirements. It would be slow getting established, said Wilson, but would raise the standards and emphasize the importance of the officer's work.

Cotton Crop Up

Good farming plus early spring rains are paying off for Texas cotton growers. U. S. Dept. of Agriculture predicts the state's 1957 crop will be well above average—4,050,000 bales. Average for 1946-55 is 3,742,000. If the crop comes out as expected, it will mean yield per acre has almost doubled in the past few years. Texans put only about half as much acreage in cotton this year as in previous years when crops of similar volume were harvested.

B. E. Moore and Cap Fry are spending this week at Buchanan Dam on a fishing excursion.

Good Crowd Turns Out For First Meeting of PTA

Eldorado Parent-Teacher Association met Tuesday night for the first meeting of the year with a large crowd attending. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Ed Meador. The P-T-A prayer was read in unison.

The adult education program was adopted by the assembly. Plans will be made concerning the first meeting and registration will be held September 30th at 7:30 at the school.

The budget totaling $639.30 for expected expenditures was adopted by the association.

Mrs. Roy Phelps was the leader for the program, "Operation with Cooperation."

Donald Reed, band teacher, directed the band in several musical numbers. Miss Dana Ray Owens, sponsor of cheer leaders, introduced the following girls: Joy Dodd, Jeannie Mund, June Williams, Martha Graham, and Linda Jones.

Mr. Whitis spoke on "Operation with Cooperation," stressing the importance of P-T-A work and the help that P-T-A can be to the school. The teachers were introduced and went to their classrooms where they met parents and friends.

A social hour followed.

Room awards were given to Mrs. Nimitz, first grade; Mrs. Whitaker, 5th grade; Miss Fudge and Mrs. Preston, 8th; and Mr. Herridge and Mr. Clayton, Sophomore.

Methodist Notes

Last Sunday we had 144 present at Sunday School and 144 present at the morning church service. There have been only five other Sundays in the last year and a half when we have surpassed this mark. This increase is due partly to the attendance campaign that is now under way in our church. Every member of our church is earnestly urged to make every effort to attend church at least once each Sunday from now until the first of January. They are being asked to come both morning and night, but one service a Sunday is the minimum goal. This renewal of loyalty to Christ and His church should mean much to all of us spiritually and it should mean much to the witness that our church gives.

The Official Board met last Monday evening at the church. Plans were made for a revival this fall—perhaps some time during the month of October. It was also suggested that perhaps we should have another bigger revival next spring.

The new officers of the Methodist Men were publicly installed last Sunday morning at the regular church service. They are: Everette Warren, president; W. H. "Buster" Hale, vice-president; Jim Martin, secretary; and E. G. "Sandy" Donaldson, treasurer. The Hon. W. R. Bearce was presented with a gold past-president's lapel emblem and was highly commended for his fine work in organizing the Methodist Men and getting them off to such a good start their first year.

The Methodist Men had another work day at the church yesterday afternoon. The group will meet next Monday evening at 7:30. All men are invited.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Tim Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

Under a law enacted April 2, 1956, farmers are entitled to claim refunds each year for Federal excise tax on gasoline used on a farm for ranching purposes. Farmers and ranchers may claim a refund of the tax on gasoline purchased after December 31, 1955, and used during the 12 month period July 1, 1956, through June 30, 1957 if they have not already done so. September 30, 1957 is the last day for filing this claim.

The County Agents office still has a few forms 2240 left to file a claim. Call the office and request the form and it will be mailed to you.

This is the time of year that tree borers strike. Eggs are generally laid on trees that are unhealthy. The best defense against tree borers is keeping the trees and hedges healthy by the use of fertilizer and adequate water. All dead limbs should be removed immediately. A heavy coat of DDT or a mixture of DDT and Chlorodane half and half can be applied to the tree now.

Should your trees or shrubs become infested there are two treatments. A borer solution available by trade names can be poured around the base of the tree. This is a solution of tetra chloroethylene. Follow directions on label.

Paradichlorobenzene crystals may be mounded around the tree by digging a shallow trench and sprinkling 1/4 to 1 pound in the trench, depending upon the size of the tree. The crystals should be covered to form a mound to keep the gas from escaping. These last two treatments should be applied only after the leaves have fallen from the trees in the fall.

All of us desire a good healthy lawn in the spring. Here is how to get results. Fertilize your lawn now and give it a good watering. This gives the grass time to establish a deep system before the first killing frost.

New publications are available to farmers irrigating. They are L-355 How to Estimate Soil Moisture by Feel; and L-358 Irrigation Siphon Tubes. These leaflets are available at the County Agent's office.

Proper methods of handling of cotton as demonstrated the last several years should be emphasized more than ever this year by producers. Make sure the cotton trailer is large enough to hold a bale of cotton so no packing will be necessary.

Should strippers be used on dry land cotton, harvest only in the day time in absence of dew. $2.50 to $10.00 per bale may be saved if careless methods are eliminated.

Land owners of the soil conservation district, Zone 4, will elect a supervisor October 1, 1957. The soil conservation supervisors will be in charge of this day. Barbecue will be served at noon, immediately after which the election will be held. The winners of the age classes of the boys and girls divisions of the range contest will be announced following the election.

Under the community property laws of the State of Texas the wife of a land owner is eligible to vote. No poll taxes are required.

Your tomorrow is going to be what your today makes it.

COTTON ROOT ROT CONTROL HINTS ARE OFFERED

College Station. — Losses from cotton root rot can be reduced if a planned program involving a combination of practices is carried out on infested soils, says Harlan Smith, extension plant pathologist. Currently, Smith says, the plant diagnostic lab is receiving specimens of cotton plants infested with root rot from every section of the state except Northwest producing areas. Losses in some fields is said to approximate 90 percent.

The fungus causing the disease is a tough customer to control but Smith offers three suggested practices which have proved effective in holding losses from the disease to a minimum. The fungus may be killed by drying out the infested soil. The land should be plowed to a depth of 6 to 8 or more inches in the summer or early fall. Smith points out that the fungus has been found as deep in the soil as cotton roots go and that plowing to this depth is recommended for some areas. The important thing is to turn the soil and expose the fungus to the hot sun and drying. Replowing at regular intervals during the summer and early fall is recommended.

A second practice, starving the fungus by reducing its host plants or food supply, has also proved effective. Smith suggests planting sorghum, corn, oats, wheat, barley or grasses for 1 to 4 years before cotton. The severity of the infestation should determine the number of years the nonsusceptible crops should be grown. Too, summer fallow and deep tillage should be practiced on idle land to control weeds susceptible to the fungus.

Thirdly, Smith says plowing into the soil large amounts of organic matter will aid the growth of beneficial micro-organisms in the root zone and apparently these organisms prevent the fungus from spreading. The growing of a cool-season adapted legume or a green-manure crop or the addition to the soil of cotton burs prior to planting cotton has proved successful in many areas of the state.

Finally, Smith says local control measures vary with areas of the state and he urges farmers to contact their local county agent for the best practices for the area.

Mrs. Olge Halbert and four boys are visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Woodward. Sgt. 1cl. Halbert has been stationed in New Foundland for the past several months and the family has been there with him. They will stay in Eldorado until he receives his next assignment, that will be to a post in Massachusetts.

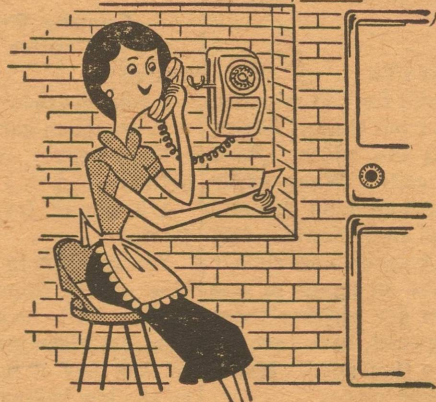

Mrs. R. J. Bagley was a visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hill this week. She is from Corona, N. M., and is the sister of Mrs. Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young have as guests this week their son and daughter-in-law and family, Mr. and Mrs. Buford Young, of Casper, Wyoming.
